FIVE NEW QUAKES IN ITALY, RAZING WEAKENED HOUSES; KNOWN DEAD PUT AT 1,883

KING WEEPS AT SCENES

Victor Emmanuel Cheers Distressed Subjects on Tour of the Region.

DEAD BY PROVINCES LISTED

But Total Is Likely to Increase Greatly as Many Villages Are Still Unheard From.

COLD RAIN ADDS TO PLIGHT

Huge Quantities of Supplies Sent to 100,000 Homeless—Many Still in Great Privation.

By The Associated Press.

POTENZA, Italy, July 25.—Five new earthquake shocks were felt today in the quake-stricken area of Southern Italy as King Victor Emmanuel arrived on the scene to guide and comfort his subjects.

Many buildings, weakened by upheavals of Wednesday, crumbled and fell, but no new injuries or loss of life were reported.

The first shocks closely succeeded one another at about 10 A. M., bringing new terror to the worn and sleepless populace. Three briefer ones followed at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. All were felt throughout the devastated districts and were especially strong at Melfi, a community that has already suffered most severely.

Death List to Be Very High.

By ARNALDO CORTESI.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AVELLINO, July 25.—Reports received during the night again swelled the proportions of the earthquake disaster in this country. It was officially stated today that the total number of known dead was 1,883, but unofficial estimates for the total number killed but not yet listed are much higher. The official figures do not include data from some villages which have sent no reports at all.

The government figures list 3,188 houses totally destroyed and 2,757 partly destroyed. Therefore, according to the present figures on the deaths there were more houses destroyed than persons killed. In view of the fact that the earthquake occurred during the night, when the entire populace was asleep in their homes and therefore had no chance to flee, it appears probable that, on the average, at least one person was killed in each house.

It is feared that when the complete statistics are available they will show a loss very much greater than is now shown. The latest government communiqué gives the following figures for deaths ascertained to date:

Province of Avellino—1,497 dead, 2,072 injured, 30 municipalities damaged.
Province of Potenza—232 dead, 535 injured, 19 municipalities damaged.
Province of Foggia—120 dead, 1,557 injured, 13 municipalities damaged.
Province of Benevento—20 dead, 87 injured, 21 municipalities damaged.
Province of Naples—8 dead, 13 injured, 2 municipalities damaged.
Province of Salerno—2 dead, none injured, 6 municipalities damaged.
Province of Campobasso—None dead, none injured, 3 municipalities damaged.
Province of Bari—None dead, none injured, one municipality damaged.

600 Killed in Lacedonia.

According to General Baistrocchi's figures, the greatest sufferers were Lacedonia with 600 dead, Aquilonia and Villanova with 400 dead each, Montecalvo and Ariano with 300 dead each, and Sannicola and Rochetta with 125 dead each. He admits ignorance of conditions at several places. Of St. Antonio, for instance, he says the number of dead and injured is unknown, but the known damage is very great. As to Monteverde he says he has no information.

It is estimated that 100,000 persons are homeless and obliged to camp out in the open, because, besides the 6,000 houses totally or partly destroyed, a large number of houses were evacuated because they were unsafe.

King Victor Emmanuel arrived in the quake-stricken region today to comfort his sorely tried citizens in their grief. He proceeded by train via Foggia to Rochetta, whence he continued by motor car through the damaged zone to Avellino. Here he was welcomed by the Duchesses of Aosta and Apulia, who had already visited the most damaged villages and encouraged the inhabitants by their presence.

The King's visit had the effect of spreading hope and confidence among the stricken villagers. There was nothing formal or official in his visit. On the contrary, he mingled with the people sharing their grief. He en-

Hoover Sends King of Italy American People's Sympathy

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Sympathy over the losses suffered in the earthquake disaster have been sent to the King of Italy by President Hoover in a message transmitted yesterday and made public by the State Department today. It read as follows:

July 24, 1930.

His Majesty Vittorio Emanuele III, King of Italy, Rome.

The people of the United States join me in extending to your Majesty and to the people of Italy sincerest sympathy in the great losses suffered in the earthquake which has wrought such widespread destruction in the vicinity of Naples.

THREE CRAFT READY FOR ATLANTIC FLIGHT

British Dirigible R-100 Starts Final Trial—Take-Off for Canada Likely Tuesday.

COSTE WAITS ON WEATHER

Two Germans on Berlin-Chicago Trip Halt at British Field for Favorable Reports.

Three transatlantic flights will start as soon as favorable weather is reported from midocean. The British airship R-100 is flying over England on her last test before starting for Canada in three or four days.

Captain Coste and Maurice Bellonte are in readiness to hop off from France, but were informed yesterday that the "deplorable" weather would not change for at least forty-eight hours.

Wolf Hirth and Oscar Weller, German airmen, arrived at Hanworth, England, on their way from Germany to Chicago. They will fly by way of the Orkneys, Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland.

R-100 Leaves for Trial Trip.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—The British airship R-100 left Cardington tonight on an extended trial flight before starting for Canada. Today was the first day for several weeks on which the weather conditions were sufficiently improved to permit the airship to leave the hangar for the adjacent mooring mast.

The Air Ministry said tonight that if the weather conditions were favorable the start for Canada might be made on Tuesday or Wednesday.

During the flight tonight weather maps are being transmitted by wireless to the airship from the meteorological station at Cardington.

Crew in Official Uniform.

CARDINGTON, England, July 25 (Canadian Press).—When the giant airship R-100 swung free from the mooring mast this evening for a twenty-four-hour trial trip over England, the officers and men of the great dirigible were wearing their official uniforms for the first time.

Their uniforms are of navy blue serge cut in naval style, with double-breasted jackets but without trimmings of any kind. The naval peaked caps have white dust covers. The cap badge is of gilt for the offi-

SOVIET MANGANESE CLOSES MINES HERE; EMBARGO IS SOUGHT

Head of Producers Group Says Dumping Threatens Ruin to $20,000,000 Industry.

URGES FISH TO INVESTIGATE

Lowman Bans Importation of Russian Pulpwood—Moscow Talks of Trade Reprisal.

PRIEST LINKS FORD TO REDS

Detroit Witness Says Failure to Employ Thousands Aided Spread of Communism.

Paralysis of the American manganese ore industry through dumping of huge quantities of Russian manganese in this country was revealed yesterday when the American Manganese Producers' Association, through J. Carson Adkerson, the president, let it be known that it was planning an appeal to Washington for an embargo on Russian manganese similar to the one placed yesterday by the Treasury Department on Soviet paper pulpwood. A similar embargo was ordered recently on Soviet matches.

Mr. Adkerson urged also the advisability of joint action by manganese ore producers and other industries alleged to be suffering from Soviet dumping, such as the anthracite and lumber industries, in an effort to force an American embargo on all objectionable Soviet exports.

That the appeal contemplated by the manganese producers might be successful was indicated in dispatches from Washington announcing the embargo on paper pulpwood from Russia. The embargo was based on that provision of the law forbidding the importation of goods made wholly or in part by convict labor. Information received by the government was that lumber and pulpwood in Soviet Russia were being produced by thousands of peasants and workers who as political prisoners are being sent to lumber camps to work without compensation.

The Washington dispatches indicated also that the government authorities shared the view of American manganese producers and others on the danger to American interests involved in Soviet dumping to obtain capital for the industrial development of Russia.

Blames "Slave Labor."

Mr. Adkerson declared that as a result of the Russian competition, at prices which cannot be met by American producers because of what he termed "the slave labor" used in the production of the Soviet ore, all American manganese mines had been closed, an industry with an investment of $20,000,000 was being threatened with ruin, and more than 3,000 workers had been thrown out of employment.

Pending the appeal of the producers' association to the authorities in Washington, Mr. Adkerson addressed a letter yesterday to Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., chairman of the Congressional committee investigating communism, asking that the committee investigate and establish the facts concerning Soviet dumping of manganese ore. The committee concluded its hearings here on Thursday and proceeded to Detroit.

During the sessions in this city Representative John E. Nelson of Maine, a member of the committee, emphasized the eventual danger to America in trade with Soviet Russia because of what he, too, characterized as the system of indentured, cheap labor employed under the Soviet system. Speaking of the dumping by Soviet Russia of hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat and of coal and lumber, Mr. Nelson pointed

Hilly Gives Pay Rises to 251 of His Staff; Saving in Fees Offsets the Cost of $56,870

Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly will notify today 251 of his legal assistants, stenographers and clerks that their salaries, dating back to July, have been increased in amounts varying from $180 a year to $1,000 a year.

The pay increases, possibly the largest dealt out in any one city department in many years, are calculated to adjust the compensation to the amount and quality of work the employes were doing.

The increases will cost $56,870 a year, but as the year was half over on July 1 only half this amount will be needed this year, Mr. Hilly pointed out. There will be no increase necessary at present in the budget of the Law Department in the form of additional appropriations, he said, since the money being used had been saved from the funds normally allotted for the hiring of special counsel.

By trying a number of cases himself and by assigning more to his experienced assistants, the department was able to save more than enough to meet the pay increases.

Mr. Hilly pointed out that the budget of the Law Department for this year is about $1,600,000, and that the department handles annually about 35,000 cases. A private law firm, with an average fee of $100 a case, would cost the city $3,500,000 a year, or more than twice as much, he said. He praised the work of his assistants and deputy assistants, as well as the clerks and stenographers.

The principal beneficiaries of the increase among Mr. Hilly's legal assistants, are as follows:

JOSEPH P. REILLY, in charge of the Brooklyn office, salary increased from $10,000 to $11,000.
JOEL J. SQUIER, Bureau of Street Openings, from $9,000 to $10,000.
WILLIAM H. KING, Division of Taxes, from $9,000 to $10,000.
JOSIAH A. STOVER, in the Real Estate Division, from $8,500 to $9,000.
J. JOSEPH LILLY, in the Appeals Bureau, from $8,000 to $8,500.
JOSEPH I. BERRY, in the Penalties Division, from $7,250 to $7,500.
MORRIS STRAUSS, in the Compensation Bureau, from $7,250 to $7,500.
JOSEPH P. MORRISSEY, in the Franchise Division, from $7,000 to $7,250.
WILLIAM E. C. MAYER, from $7,500 to $8,000.
WILLIAM T. KENNEDY, from $7,000 to $7,250.
GEORGE DRAPER, from $6,750 to $7,000.

Mr. Hilly's own salary was increased from $15,000 to $25,000 in the general pay rise voted by the Board of Estimate this Summer. No action by the board is necessary to confirm Mr. Hilly's increases in his own department.

The increase is one of the few selective ones in a city department. Most departmental rises, it was pointed out yesterday, have been, when on a large scale, directed toward elevating the general pay level of a particular class of employes.

MERCURY GOES TO 90 IN NEW HEAT WAVE

Two Die, Three Prostrated in the City—Middle West Sweltering.

NO RELIEF FOR WEEK-END

Toll of Lightning Deaths Is 3—Drought Suffering Grows in Maryland and Kentucky.

Uncomfortably warm weather returned to harass New Yorkers yesterday after a brief respite from the excessive heat early in the week. The official thermometer on top of the Whitehall Building climbed to 90 degrees at 3:05 P. M. and maintained an average of 80 for the day, six degrees above the normal for July 25.

With the Middle West sweltering under a new heat wave which developed during the day, the local Weather Bureau forecast continued fair weather, with warm, moderate winds over the week-end. It admitted that New York and its vicinity might get a touch of the Middle West wave, although it was said the temperatures probably would not be as excessive as a week ago.

Two deaths and three prostrations were reported here during the day while The Associated Press brought word of three deaths in Milwaukee and five in Baltimore from the excessive heat, and the toll taken by Thursday's freak electrical storms was increased by three fatalities reported from about the city yesterday.

The heat victims in the city were as follows:

Dead.

BRESSAN, CHARLES, 50 years old, a hotel solicitor, of 9,250 246th Street, Bellerose, L. I., stricken with a heart attack brought on by heat while boarding a train in the Pennsylvania Station.
KURFF, ANNA, 60, of 252 East Sixtieth Street, who was stricken at home.

Prostrated.

DOEHRING, HANS, 35, of 86-35 Woodhaven Boulevard, Queens, was overcome at Liberty and Sutter Avenues, Brooklyn, and taken to the Kings County Hospital.
SCOTT, ROBERT, of Bedford Avenue and South Ninth Street, Brooklyn; overcome at Sixty-seventh Street and Third Avenue. After first aid he was able to go home.
STEIN, SAMUEL, 27, of 66 East Ninety-ninth Street; collapsed at Third Avenue and Seventy-seventh Street. He was treated by an ambulance surgeon and went home.

Killed in His Doorway by Bolt.

Daniel Casaza, a farmer of Flemington, N. J., was killed by lightning as he watched the storm Thursday evening from his own doorway.

Edward J. McCullough of Newburgh was blown from the top of a conveyor belt to the ground thirty feet below by the strong wind which preceded the storm. He died of a fractured skull. Sherman Hoyt, 74, of Shenandoah, N. Y., died yesterday of the effects of a lightning shock Thursday.

The temperature yesterday rose steadily from a minimum of 69 at 6:30 A. M. until the 90 mark was reached, but an equally steady decline in the humidity from 82 at 8 A. M. to 35 at 4 P. M. helped to make the day bearable. The maximum temperature of 90 was only 4 degrees below the record for the date, made in 1892. The coldest July 25 was in 1920, when the temperature dropped to 58.

In the Middle West temperatures ran between 90 and 100 from practically every place reporting. In the Chicago area the mercury was above 95, The Associated Press reported, while southwest winds held back the lake breezes which usually cool that region. Throughout Kansas intense heat prevailed, in some places reaching 100 degrees.

The rains, which visited much of the East and South on Thursday, served to moderate temperatures through most of those sections and brought some relief to parched crops which had been causing farmers below the Mason-Dixon line great anxiety. New England, however, was still totaling the damage resulting

MAGISTRATES STOP FIXING LIQUOR BAIL

Strike at Bond-Runners and "Fixers" by Refusing to Free Volstead Act Defendants.

JAIL LOOMS FOR ARRESTED

All Seized at Night Will Have to Stay in Cells Until Federal Commissioners Can Act.

The board of city magistrates, according to an announcement by Chief Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan yesterday, has decided to have nothing more to do with bail in liquor cases. Under the decision the magistrates will refuse to set bail and accept bonds in Volstead act arrests.

Designed to wipe out reports of "fixing," extortion and graft around the magistrates' courts, the decision, it was predicted, will cause a far-reaching shake-up in the professional bail-bonding business and also make it necessary for liquor law defendants who are arrested in the evening to spend at least one night in jail.

Although the magistrates' action severs one of the few remaining links connecting city authorities with prohibition enforcement, Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell saw in it no sign of a lack of cooperation. On the contrary, he said, "the magistrates are to be complimented."

Commissioners Must Fix Bail.

The responsibility for fixing bail will now fall entirely upon the United States Commissioners, of which there are only two in the Federal court district embracing the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx and three in the district which includes the rest of the city.

These Federal commissioners have received court instructions not to accept bail at night. Hitherto those arrested either by the police or Federal prohibition agents have been able, if they so desired, to find some magistrate willing to break up an evening to set bail for them. Now, whatever their financial resources or social standing, they will have to await the regular sessions of the commissioners in Federal court. Should the arrests be made on Saturday afternoon or evening they will have to spend two nights in jail.

If the decision of the magistrates had been in effect a month ago, when the Central Park Casino was raided, it was pointed out at Federal court, the patrons who were arrested there would have had to be locked up. As it was, Magistrate Maurice H. Gotlieb was summoned and released them in $500 bail each.

While admitting what would be the plight of those arrested in the evening, Prohibition Administrator McCampbell yesterday voiced no sympathy for them.

"Why should special consideration be shown to these offenders," he said. "They are violators of the law. Let them take the consequences."

Sees Graft Eliminated.

The administrator added that the Federal statutes authorize magistrates to accept bail in the case of Federal prisoners, but that if the magistrates do not wish to exercise that authority they are within their rights. It was his opinion that the ruling would eliminate a considerable amount of corruption.

"Bail bondsmen and others don't get up at midnight for nothing," he suggested.

Chief Magistrate Corrigan said that the board had adopted the resolu-

Morning Skirts to Be 12 Inches From Floor, Afternoon 8, Evening Longer, Paris Decrees

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 25.—The first day's exhibitions of Paris Winter fashions fulfill the expectation of style modifications. Femininity is confirmed, with reservations. Tanagra statuette lines eliminate the Dresden shepherdess. Grecian nymphs go tailored for daytime.

There is a strong effort to consolidate the double standard of fashions by unifying skirt lengths. Sport hems remain unchanged, morning frocks are twelve inches from the floor and those for afternoon eight inches. Evening skirts vary between the ankles and the toes. Trains are cut off in their prime.

Inside blouses retreat before the onslaught of tunic blouses and one-piece dresses. Dresses and coats shake off their ensemble shackles. Coats are more decorative than dresses. Slim, flared and fitted coats vie with straight coats, with separate belts accentuating the normal waistline. Wrist-length, eleven-twelfths length and full length predominate.

Chantal favors short peplum jackets. Marthe et Renée show flared cutaway fronts and flat backs. Huge patch pockets and supercuffs, sometimes in fur trimming, are features. Shoulders are important on both coats and dresses.

The year 1930 has evolved its leg-of-mutton. Berthas and capelets fade out of the style-scape. Ankle-length evening coats, often in velvet, are sponsored by Chantal, Heim, Lyolène, Marthe et Renée and Yteb. Daytime dresses are extremely simple, high-necked and collarless, with a moderate skirt fullness from pleat panels. Lyolène, a new house, finds favor with buyers for the sophistication achieved by school girl simplicity.

The average waistline is normal, some of the bodices blousing over.

Evening hems are level. Chantal features a grayed rose, a garnet-red and a combined rose-vermilion in Lyons velvet and glossy satin. These fabrics also are liked by Yteb. Marthe et Renée and Heim show triple georgette evening gowns and long-sleeved dinner gowns.

Black leads at all hours, with dark browns, blues, wine reds, in hot pursuit.

AGREEMENT SIGNED ON MEXICAN DEBT BY WORLD BANKERS

Fair to Each Side, Say Montes and Lamont, at Final Session in Morgan Office.

INTEREST ARREARAGES CUT

Refunding Provides Also for Extension of Term of Payment to 45 Years.

SECURED BY CUSTOMS LIEN

Issue of $492,000,000 in 5 Per Cents Planned for Government and Railroad Debts.

Announcement that an agreement for settlement of the $500,000,000 debt of the Mexican Government and the Mexican National Railways, now in default, had been reached by the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico and Luis Montes de Oca, Mexican Finance Minister, after a conference of five weeks, was made last night in a joint statement issued by Señor Montes de Oca and Thomas W. Lamont, chairman of the bankers' committee.

The settlement, which is the third of its kind, follows the precedent of recent European debt agreements in being based on the principle of capacity to pay. It provides, in effect, for the refunding of virtually the entire principal of the debts with a drastic reduction of the amounts due for accrued arrears of interest.

Following the signing of the agreement by the Finance Minister in behalf of the Mexican Government and by Mr. Lamont for the International Committee of Bankers in the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. yesterday afternoon, the joint statement, outlining the general provisions of the understanding, was issued. A more detailed account of the agreement has been prepared for distribution to the bondholders and will be made public early next week.

Chief Provisions of Agreement.

The chief provisions of the agreement, as applied to the direct debt, call for reduction of the amounts due for arrears of interest and extension of the term of payment of the debt to forty-five years. The standard payments to cover both sinking fund and interest charges on the new refunding 5 per cent bonds, to be issued in exchange for the outstanding securities, will amount to $15,000,000, beginning with 1936. Prior to that year there will be a period of transition, the statement says, when the annuities will be smaller. The first of these reduced annuities, due in 1931, will amount to $12,500,000.

The status of the National Railways Company, at present, may be considered one of insolvency, according to the statement. Nevertheless it has been deemed advisable to avoid bankruptcy proceedings and accept instead a plan of reorganization proposed by the Mexican Government.

In furtherance of this plan the agreement calls for a reduction of arrears on the railway debt, according to the same method adopted for the direct debt. The entire existing debt is to be consolidated in a new issue, secured by a general mortgage, to bear interest, after a certain interval, at 5 per cent per annum, and payable in forty-five years; with regular amortization to begin in 1936.

Holders of the railway bonds are to renounce a part of the interest payable during the next five years, thereby making available a sum of more than $25,000,000 to be used for additions and betterments designed

VAUSE CONVICTED OF FRAUD WITH 2 OTHERS; 4 CLEARED; HIGGINS FINDS A SHORTAGE

Will Ask $2,000,000 More For Embassy Buildings

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—When the Budget Bureau begins executive hearings next month on appropriations for the fiscal year 1932, the State Department will ask for an increased appropriation for diplomatic activities abroad.

Although no figures have been made public, it is understood that $2,000,000 will be sought to carry on the program of constructing permanent embassy and legation buildings. An increase of 10 per cent in the foreign service personnel in the Latin-American field will also be asked through an item to add eighteen new foreign service officers at various posts in Central and South America. There also will be requested an increase of $13,000 for the annual support of the Pan American Union, making that contribution $147,000.

COURT AIDE INDICTED IN $35,000 SHORTAGE

Richmond Public Administrator Accused of Withdrawing Funds From Estates.

HIGGINS FINDS EVIDENCE

Before Grand Jury 30 Minutes—Walker Says Revelation Is Outside Bureau Inquiry.

After James A. Higgins, Commissioner of Accounts, had appeared before the Richmond County grand jury yesterday with evidence of a shortage of between $35,000 and $40,000 in the accounts of James W. Hennessey, Public Administrator of Richmond County, Mr. Hennessey was indicted for second degree grand larceny and a bench warrant was issued for him.

County Judge Thomas F. Cosgrove, to whom the indictment was returned, received Hennessey's resignation and appointed James C. Crane, West New Brighton attorney, as his successor. Mr. Crane was sworn in yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hennessey waited at the court house most of the afternoon, but left before the indictment was voted. His office is at 42 Richmond Terrace, St. George, and he lives at 99 Hendricks Avenue, New Brighton.

It was said no difficulty would be encountered in serving the warrant on him. He was appointed Public Administrator in 1927 by former Surrogate J. Harry Tiernan. He receives no compensation except his fees. Mr. Hennessey's term would have expired Dec. 31, 1931. He is under the supervision of the Surrogate, who can remove him for cause.

Routine Audit, Says Mayor.

Shortly before the indictment became known on Staten Island, Mayor Walker told newspaper men at City Hall of the shortage, saying that Commissioner Higgins had turned the matter over to the District Attorney, Albert C. Fach. The Mayor said the shortage had been discovered in a routine audit of accounts such as is made each year in each department by Mr. Higgins. The discovery was quite apart from the inquiry ordered by the Mayor into the Dock

VERDICT DAZES EX-JURIST

Guilty on All 13 Counts, Schuchman on 7, and Harry Cruso on One.

62-YEAR PENALTY POSSIBLE

Sentence to Be Imposed on Wednesday for Mail Frauds in Columbia Deals.

BOND INCREASED TO $10,000

Still Faces Indictment on Pier Lease Fees—Walker Declines to Comment.

Former Judge W. Bernard Vause was convicted in the Federal Court yesterday of using the mails to defraud in the failure of the Columbia Finance Corporation.

A jury which deliberated two hours and forty minutes pronounced the former Kings County jurist guilty on all thirteen counts of the indictment which carry a maximum penalty of sixty-two years in prison. The jury found Samuel Schuchman guilty on seven counts and Harry Cruso on one, but delivered a verdict of not guilty for the remaining four defendants, including the ex-judge's brother Louis.

Judge Coxe announced that he would impose the sentences on Wednesday.

Informed last night that former County Judge W. Bernard Vause had been convicted, Mayor Walker said he had no comment to make.

"The verdict speaks for itself," the Mayor remarked.

Vause received the verdict as read by the jury foreman without a show of emotion, seeming unable to shake off the dazed attitude which he had maintained almost throughout the six weeks of the trial. His brother, Dr. Frank Vause, remained at his side. Later, in an ante room while awaiting the increased bail in the custody of the Federal Marshal, his hands twitched and he shook his head from side to side, but he said nothing.

Acquitted Men Cry Out.

His brother Louis likewise remained immobile as did Schuchman, but the acquitted minor defendants, Max Barmak, William Rayman and Samuel Cruso gave vent to their feelings as the foreman announced the verdict. Barmak leaped to his feet with a cry and a court attaché shouted him down. Then Rayman seized him around the neck and they beamed at each other. There was no demonstration in the courtroom itself, but a crowd in the corridor burst into confusion when the verdict was made known.

With the jury polled, United States Attorney Tuttle, who directed the case for the government, pressed Judge Coxe for increased bail for ex-Judge Vause and Schuchman over the objections of their counsel. Their bail was increased from $2,500 to $10,000 each, which was furnished later in the afternoon. Harry Cruso's bail of $2,500 was not changed.

The jury received the case at 11:35 A. M. after listening to the charge by Judge Coxe in which he requested the jurors to weigh the evidence without prejudice and without attention to "public clamor." The charge was said to have been one of the longest ever delivered in the Federal Court here and was praised as fair and impartial by both defense and government counsel.

Verdicts Reached Quickly.

The jurors went out for lunch soon after getting the case and when they retired to their room for deliberation, Schuchman, characterized by the government as the "brains" of the Columbia, and the minor defendants, waited in the court room. Ex-Judge Vause and his brother Louis remained outside.

The jury, members said, quickly decided on the guilt of the former jurist and Schuchman. Most of the debate concerned the other defendants, they said, and to settle this they sent out for the evidence concerning Harry Cruso, who did not take the stand in his own defense.

When it was made known that the jurors were coming in with a verdict there was a rush for seats. Ex-Judge Vause, his brother Louis and his other brother, the doctor, came in a moment before the jurymen entered the box. In a front row of the spectators' benches Mrs. Schuchman leaned forward.

Harry F. Gall, the foreman, in response to the clerk's query, arose with a paper in his hand and read slowly:

"W. Bernard Vause, guilty on thir-

160 Taximen Lose 3 Days' Pay for Untidiness; Drove Without Coats and Hats in Heat Wave

Three hundred and ten taxicab chauffeurs who sacrificed neatness for comfort in the recent heat wave appeared yesterday before Deputy Police Commissioner Felix Muldoon, in charge of the Hack License Bureau to answer charges.

All were found guilty of violating regulations of the department and 160 of them, with records of prior infractions had their licenses suspended for three days. The others received suspended sentences but were reprimanded.

The round-up in which they were caught was opened a week ago upon order of Police Commissioner Mulrooney after several complaints had been received relative to the untidy appearance of many taxicab drivers during the hot spell. It will continue indefinitely, it was said at Police Headquarters.

During the heat wave, according to the policemen of the taxi inspection squad, chauffeurs were seen driving taxicabs in their undershirts or in bathing suit jerseys. Few wore caps or coats. Mr. Mulrooney pointed out that although the Police Department had been denied the right to prescribe uniform caps and dusters for the chauffeurs, it did have authority to enforce regulations governing the display of license badges. The regulations provide that hackmen wear their badges conspicuously upon their caps and their coats.

The accused taxi drivers appeared before Deputy Commissioner Muldoon in the Greenwich Street Police Station. Most of them had spruced up for the occasion, hoping no doubt that their past derelictions might be forgotten if they gave tangible evidence of tidiness when they appeared to answer the complaints. As each one stepped before Mr. Muldoon the charge against him was read—driving without a coat, driving without a cap, failing to display license badges, driving in a bathing suit and failing to shave before going out in search of "fares."

Each case was considered separately. Every man pleaded that it had been so hot last week that he—Excuses were not accepted, however. Mr. Muldoon explained that the rules were as effective in Summer as they are in Winter and would be enforced as rigidly. Untidy hackmen, he pointed out, made a bad impression upon visitors to the city and the Police Department purposed to do its share to preserve the fair name of the city.

The three day suspension of licenses which Mr. Muldoon imposed upon 160 of the accused taxicab drivers amounts to a fine of three days' income. In the case of those who received suspended sentences another offense might lead to revocation of their licenses.

teen counts. Samuel Schuchman, guilty on counts one to six and on count thirteen. Harry Cruso, guilty on count thirteen. William Rayman, not guilty. Samuel Cruso, not guilty. Max Barmak, not guilty. Louis N. Vause, not guilty."

It was at this point that Max Barmak leaped to his feet. Max Schlivek, counsel for Schuchman, asked for the poll of the jury, and when that was completed Mr. Tuttle moved for immediate sentence.

Nathan D. Perlman, counsel for Vause, started to interpose an objection, but Judge Coxe cut it short with the announcement that he would put off sentence until Wednesday at 2 P. M. An argument developed among counsel over Mr. Tuttle's demand for increased bail, and Mr. Tuttle, insisting that he did not want to be "oppressive," said the custom called for it in the case of ex-Judge Vause and Schuchman.

Defense Plans an Appeal.

With former Judge Vause still sitting silent in the court room crowd, Judge Coxe restored order and thanked the jurors for the task they performed. Announcing that they had found a verdict which was "fair and just" he excused them from further jury duty for five years, but said he regretted doing this because of the intelligent services they had rendered.

Mr. Tuttle's only comment was that he shared the opinion that the verdict was a "fair and just one," while Mr. Perlman and Mr. Schlivek, asserting that they had no comment to make, announced that an appeal would be taken for the three convicted men. When the court room was cleared a Federal marshal took ex-Judge Vause and Schuchman into custody, pending arrival of their bail.

Faces Heavy Penalties.

The first twelve counts on which Vause was found guilty charged specific mail frauds and carry penalties of five years each, which are, however, usually served concurrently. The thirteenth count was a general conspiracy count and carries a two-year maximum. Schuchman was convicted on counts one to six and the thirteenth count, while Harry Cruso was convicted on the thirteenth count alone.

The jury's verdict brought to a close a trial which attracted wide attention as the first test of a criminal indictment against one of the several judicial officers under fire in recent months. Vause was charged with having played an important part in the activities of the Columbia Finance Corporation which failed last December for more than $400,000.

Ten persons in all were indicted for mail fraud, but Solomon Cruso, Abraham Rayman and Joseph P. Barmak pleaded guilty and testified for the government. Another witness for the government was Austin H. Montgomery, ex-convict and disbarred lawyer, who was called into the Columbia near its collapse in a vain effort to salvage it. Montgomery, blaming the former Kings County jurist for his previous conviction, linked ex-Judge Vause closely to the affairs of the Columbia.

Charged Poor Were Duped.

Mr. Tuttle presented evidence to show that the Columbia officers had misrepresented the finance corporation to "poor and ignorant east siders" as a bank under the supervision of the State Banking Department and had mailed misleading circulars. He showed by the books that the corporation had declared dividends when deficits existed, and offered testimony to prove that although more than $300,000 in cash had been received only $600 in cash was on hand at the collapse.

The government contended that Louis Vause received $125 a week salary only as a "dummy" for the former jurist, a contention which Louis Vause did not take the stand to deny. Ex-Judge Vause also refrained from taking the stand, his counsel asserting that his health would not permit it. Harry Cruso was the only other defendant who did not take the stand. The others, testifying in their own behalf, insisted that they were only subordinates and knew nothing of the Columbia's affairs.

Former Judge Vause still faces a perjury indictment in Federal court growing out of conflicting testimony regarding a $250,000 fee for a pier lease for the United American Lines, and also two grand larceny indictments in connection with the Columbia, which were returned in General Sessions Court. Mr. Tuttle said that he did not know whether he would press the perjury indictment.

LONELY PARK EWE SAD AS WOLF DOG VANISHES

Outcast of the Flock Bleats When Animal Which Protected It From Mates Disappears.

At the sheep pen in Central Park, at Sixty-sixth Street, a dog, said to be three-quarters wolf, has been guarding a bleating ewe to prevent its being killed by the rest of the flock. The dog, by a coincidence, answers to the name of Wolf. At least he did until yesterday.

The ewe was born four months ago. Its mother, for some reason, despised it and would push the ewe away with its head at meal times and reserved its affections for the ewe's twin brother. Thomas F. Hoey, shepherd at Central Park for a score years or so, could not understand it. He had never seen anything like it before.

When the mother deprived the ewe of food for the third or fourth time he decided he had to do something to save the little animal's life. He did. He bottle-fed it.

At the first feeding Wolf was somewhat jealous, until he tasted what was in the bottle; then he appeared to understand.

The ewe thrived. It became Hoey's pet, and Wolf's, too. It was a common sight to see the three walking through the pasture in Central Park. People stopped and stared. Some would venture to pet the lamb, now named Queenie. Wolf would growl until quieted by his master. If the other sheep romped in the direction of where Queenie was lying Wolf was immediately on his feet, at attention. When they had passed on he would lie down again, near the ewe.

Queenie, because of the hatred of the rest of the flock, had to be kept in a separate pen, outside of which Wolf would lie. Queenie would bleat and Wolf would bark in response.

Yesterday while Hoey was showing how Queenie would follow him, Wolf disappeared. Hoey was heartbroken. He jumped into his car and searched everywhere. He reported the loss to the Sixty-eighth Street station. He told his friends in the Police Department. He gave two boys $1 each to look for the dog.

But, meanwhile Queenie bleats in vain.

HITTITE DOOR EXCAVATED.

Chicago Oriental Institute Party Makes Find at Alishar, Turkey.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ISTANBUL, July 25.—The Chicago Oriental Institute expedition, excavating at Alishar, has discovered a large Hittite castle door ornamented with bas-reliefs representing deer. The door has been transferred to the Angora Museum.

Road builders in Scalanova recently uncovered a chiseled stone, which aroused the curiousity of a highway engineer. He continued the digging and found Byzantine vases and pieces of money, apparently deliberately buried beneath the rock which may mark a treasure trove.

A man attempting to smuggle to France two antique statues found in Smyrna, one representing Venus, was arrested while the statues were being lightered to his ship.

POLICE HOLD PAIR IN BUCKLEY KILLING

Movie Operator, Near By When Radio Orator Was Shot, Fails to Get Release.

SIX GANGSTERS ALSO JAILED

Gillespie, Mayor Bowles's Chief Political Aide, Quits in Stir in Detroit Administration.

DETROIT, July 25 (AP).—Pressing their investigation of the slaying of Jerry Buckley, police tonight were holding a man and a woman whom they consider important figures in connection with the killing.

The man is Jack Klein, motion picture operator, who was sitting beside Buckley in the lobby of the La Salle Hotel when Buckley was shot dead by three gunmen early Wednesday morning, a short time after he had completed announcing the results of the election, recalling Mayor Bowles, over station WMBC, where he was political commentator.

Klein failed in an effort to obtain release on a writ of habeas corpus. The woman's name was not revealed. County Prosecutor James E. Chenot said that he was seeking through her a man she said intimated to her in advance that Buckley would be killed.

Another woman, Miss Jeanne Alexander, a singer at the radio station with Buckley, was questioned briefly, but could tell police nothing they considered of value. She left for Buffalo, where she has a stage engagement tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox announced that an affidavit purporting to accuse the slain radio announcer of extorting money from a bootlegger, which he had earlier admitted was unsigned, had been signed later.

Gangsters Rounded Up.

Besides Klein and the woman, the police are holding six reputed gangsters in connection with the Buckley case. Frank Connizero, Rosario Acosta and Alfio Castiglione were arrested in the house where they had been rooming. A shotgun and revolver, the latter of the same calibre as the eleven bullets which pierced Buckley's body, were found in their room.

Frank Lipore, Anthony Musnoaski and Frank Forestieri were arrested by State police near Ann Arbor. Police said they were Chicago gangsters "hiding out."

Amid these activities, thousands of men, women and children paid tribute to Buckley in a never-ending line past his coffin in the living room of his home. The procession, which started last night, grew throughout the day and showed no signs of diminishing as the hour for closing the home approached. Police estimated the crowd at 50,000 or more.

Mayor Bowles, holding office in the interim between his recall and a special election on Sept. 9, received during the day the resignation of John Gillespie as Commissioner of Public Works. Mr. Gillespie, the Mayor's chief political aide and who has been the storm centre of the administration and target for its critics' sharpest darts, announced that he was through with politics forever.

Mr. Gillespie managed Mayor Bowles's campaign in opposition to the recall, spending a great deal of money—newspaper estimates put it as high as $100,000—but he will have no part in the coming campaign in which Mr. Bowles will be a candidate.

CAPT. SAUL SAILS FOR HOME

Navigator of Southern Cross Sees Brother, Then Starts for Dublin.

Captain J. Patrick Saul, navigator of the Southern Cross on its transatlantic flight, sailed yesterday morning for Ireland on the Laconia. Captain Saul's comrades left New York ahead of him. Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith and John W. Stannage, the radio operator, sailed on the Europa Wednesday night and Captain Evert van Dyk sailed for Holland a week ago.

The Irish navigator remained longer than his comrades to see his brother, William Saul, chief engineer of the Bermuda, which docked on Thursday. Captain Saul said that he would go directly to his home in Dublin, where he is the head of a real estate and contracting business.

Germany Bans Carrying Arms To Insure Peaceful Election

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—A peaceful election next September is the purpose of an emergency measure signed by President von Hindenburg today and promulgated under Article 48 of the Constitution. The decree makes the carrying of weapons of any kind punishable by not less than three months' imprisonment.

The measure explicitly mentions that armed participation in political organizations bent on staging demonstrations will be punished. It is aimed at the extreme Left wing and Right wing groups, which are forever mixing upon the slightest provocation, favoring knives, clubs, "knuckle dusters" and sometimes guns as persuaders in political discussions.

UPHOLDS MRS. HOLMES ON SPEAKEASY CHARGE

Mrs. Sabin Says She Is Sure That Allegations Can Be Supported Before Nassau Grand Jury.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., July 25.—Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, expressed confidence today that Mrs. Christian R. Holmes of Sands Point, L. I., had evidence to support her assertions that there were now five speakeasies for every saloon that formerly existed in Nassau County.

Mrs. Holmes, who is chairman of the meetings committee of the New York State division of the organization headed by Mrs. Sabin, has been summoned to appear before the Nassau County grand jury at Mineola next Tuesday to explain the assertions. The summons was issued by District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards.

Commenting on these developments today, in an interview at her Summer estate, Mrs. Sabin said:

"Mrs. Holmes made a personal investigation in regard to the working of the prohibition law in Nassau County and I am sure she has evidence to substantiate her statement."

Mrs. John S. Sheppard, chairman of the New York State Division of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, said:

"It is well that the notorious conditions in Nassau County have been brought before the public. The statement of Mr. Edwards, District Attorney, seems weak and misleading when he tries to differentiate between a speakeasy and a roadhouse. Both are public nuisances and menaces to a law-abiding community."

ASK VARE SUPPORT FOR WET CANDIDATE

Anti-Prohibition Leaders Seek to Organize Philadelphia Opposition to Pinchot.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Conferences in which William S. Vare was a central figure were held today with a view to swinging the Philadelphia Republican organization solidly behind a wet Gubernatorial candidate to oppose Gifford Pinchot in the November elections.

Leaders of the Pennsylvania Association Against the Prohibition Amendment conferred with Mr. Vare after he had discussed the political situation with Francis Shunk Brown, the Vare candidate whom Mr. Pinchot defeated at the primary; James M. Hazlett, chairman of the Republican City Committee, and Harry C. Davis, executive director of the committee.

While no definite statement was made after the meeting, it was declared on good authority that the Vare organization, whatever stand it might take, would act as a unit. Some of its members said privately they thought Mr. Pinchot could be defeated by 250,000 votes.

B. Dowson Coleman, vice president of the wet association, declared that he and John H. Mason, a banker, visited Mr. Vare for the purpose of asking him "to help the wet cause in the November election."

American Piano to Pay 50 Cents.

All creditors holding undisputed claims against the American Piano Company will receive fifty cents on the dollar, according to an order signed today by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, which directed the receivers of the company to meet all obligations on that basis. It is believed that $260,000 will be disbursed under the order within a week or ten days and that further payments will be made later.

Department and the Board of Standards and Appeals, though Mr. Higgins is directing those investigations.

Mr. Higgins, who went before the grand jury with two of his investigators, would not discuss the case upon leaving the grand jury room, nor upon his return to his office at 2 Lafayette Street. While many persons knew the audit of the Public Administrator's accounts was in progress, the indictment came as a surprise to most of Mr. Hennessey's associates.

Mr. Hennessey refused to comment on the indictment at his home last night, but said he would make a statement after he pleaded to the indictment on Wednesday.

Had 249 Estates Under Control.

District Attorney Fach said the shortages had occurred in several estates administered by Mr. Hennessey. Two hundred and forty-nine estates under his control have been investigated, and the District Attorney said estates handled by other persons would also be investigated. According to the District Attorney $35,000 had been taken from one estate in which Mr. Hennessey had been appointed temporary administrator in his private capacity and not as Public Administrator.

Mr. Hennessey is said to have used the money to buy Liberty bonds. He displayed the bonds to Mr. Higgins to show that he had securities sufficient to cover the shortages. Mr. Fach described this procedure as "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Mr. Hennessey was notified of the indictment at his home and was ordered to appear in the County Court for pleading next Wednesday. Mr. Fach said the $40,000 had been misappropriated in the last two years, but refused to disclose the estates from which he said it was taken. Mr. Hennessey was indicted an hour after the grand jury heard the evidence. Commissioner Higgins spent about thirty minutes before the grand jury. Mr. Fach promised a full disclosure of facts in the case after Hennessey is arraigned on Wednesday. Mr. Hennessey is 53 years old and is one of the best-known Democrats on Staten Island.

The post of Public Administrator is his first political office, though he has always been active in Democratic politics and has refused the nomination to several elective offices.

Mayor Walker recalled that after Mr. Higgins had found irregularities in the office of the New York County Clerk, the Queens County Register and other offices he had changed the system of handling funds as a precaution against the repetition of such actions. The Mayor said Commissioner Higgins would take similar steps in the Richmond Public Administrator's office to safeguard its funds.

The Public Administrator receives control over estates in which the decedent dies intestate leaving no next of kin, heirs-at-law or creditors within the jurisdiction who are authorized to apply for letters of administration to control the estate, or where the decedent is unknown. In such cases the Public Administrator petitions to receive the administration of the estate. If relatives, heirs-at-law or creditors living outside the jurisdiction have claims on the estate, they have the right to designate some one within the jurisdiction, usually an attorney, to take out letters of administration for them. Upon their failure to do so within a reasonable time after the decedent's death, the Public Administrator applies to the Surrogate for control of the estate.

Higgins Continues Inquiry.

The Commissioner of Accounts continued his inquiries into the Dock Department and the Board of Standards and Appeals yesterday and answered a letter to him by Norman Thomas, former Socialist candidate for Mayor, asking what he had done in relation to complaints of improper and unauthorized paving in Queens. Mr. Higgins said he had been instrumental in reducing contract prices when contractors on paving jobs had not fulfilled their specifications, had succeeded in extending the maintenance periods and in some cases had caused the rebuilding of unsatisfactory paving.

Mr. Higgins said he had also eliminated the practice of paying 85 per cent on contract paving work upon the certification of the chief engineer of highway construction in Queens that the work was satisfactory. Now, he said, these payments are not made until reports of the Queens Borough testing laboratory showed the paving to be up to specifications. While his investigation into paving methods is not yet complete, Mr. Higgins said he had made progress in trying to determine whether maintenance squads were acting legally when they laid permanent paving on previously unpaved streets. Corporation Counsel George P. Nicholson ruled in 1928 that it was not legal to lay preliminary pavement to a temporary grade in any street, and Mr. Higgins said he was applying this decision to the work of the Queens Highway Bureau.

The Commissioner of Accounts informed Mr. Thomas that he was also trying to determine whether funds used to pave previously unpaved streets should come from the budget appropriation for highway maintenance or from a special appropriation for the improvement of dirt roads. Mr. Higgins said he would present a full report of his findings to Mayor Walker, including the exact cost of each paving job done by highway maintenance squads.

Replying to charges by Mr. Thomas, that seven streets in Arverne, Queens, were paved without proper authorization, Irving Klein, Queens Superintendent of Highways, took a party of investigators to the streets yesterday to show them that the work characterized as new paving by Mr. Thomas was really repaving. Repaving may be done by the Highway Superintendent underr the City Charter with express authorization from the Board of Estimate. Records show that the seven streets were originally paved in 1897, Mr. Klein said, adding that test borings proved without doubt that an original base of macadam had been put down in each street.

THOMAS GETS USE OF WOR.

Radio Station Is Offered to Him for Reply to Walker.

Norman Thomas, former Socialist candidate for Mayor, received an offer of the use of Radio Station WOR for half an hour on Wednesday or Thursday night to reply to Mayor Walker's defense of the City Administration, it was learned yesterday.

At City Hall it was reported that the Mayor was reluctant to allow Mr. Thomas to use the municipal station, WNYC, for the same purpose. The Mayor extended the privilege to the Republicans, but was said to feel that to do likewise for the Socialists would open the door wide for all groups in the city to ask the same permission. He has not yet decided, however, whether to grant or deny the use of the station to Mr. Thomas. The Mayor's address last Monday night was broadcast over WOR, WNYC and WJZ.

MAGISTRATES STOP FIXING LIQUOR BAIL

tion at a meeting in his office, 300 Mulberry Street, on Thursday.

"The announcement speaks for itself," he said, refusing further comment. Bail bonding was the subject of both Federal and county grand jury investigation this year and resulted in charges that some magistrates were "indiscreet and lax" and that some police and court attachés practiced extortion.

Other reports have emanated from the magistrates' courts to the effect that bondsmen made most of their living out of Volstead act arrests and that magistrates signed about three times as many bonds in liquor law offenses as in all other Federal arrests. In January United States Attorney Howard W. Ameli in Brooklyn investigated a report that certain city magistrates had been signing bail bonds in blank for bondsmen so as to expedite the release of Federal prisoners.

United States Attorney Tuttle refused to comment on Magistrate Corrigan's announcement yesterday. There were reports, however, that some means for bailing prohibition violators at night might be sought. The Federal grand jury which investigated bail bonds urged in one of its recommendations that a Federal commissioner be apppointed to sit at night.

PREPARES TO FIGHT WESTCHESTER WETS

R. A. Patterson, Tarrytown Banker, Expected to Seek Congress Seat as Dry.

HAS F. A. VICTOR'S BACKING

Holzworth Renews His Attack on Millard, Charging He Will Accept Ward's Dictation.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 25.—It appeared almost certain today that Robert A. Patterson, president of the Tarrytown National Bank, would run as a dry against two wets for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Twenty-fifth District. Fred A. Victor, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said Patterson "is most acceptable in every way, and he fills the bill in every particular."

Several days ago it was reported that Mr. Patterson would receive first consideration in the choice of a dry candidate. Mr. Patterson said he hoped there would be a dry candidate, but declared he had not been approached. He indicated today that he might enter the race because of many requests that he do so. Mr. Victor will confer with him on Monday.

John M. Holzworth of Port Chester is the insurgent wet candidate who hopes to displace Charles D. Millard, the choice of William L. Ward, Westchester Republican leader. Mr. Millard has also taken a wet stand.

Mr. Holzworth attacked the wet position of Mr. Millard last night in a radio address, charging that Mr. Millard would be bound by the orders of "Boss" Ward and could not stand alone when the time came for a vote on the prohibition question.

"Millard has not yet made his position clear," Mr. Holzworth said, "and when the opportunity comes to vote on the most important issue of the times, he will follow the direction of Mr. Ward, always known as an ardent dry, who has not receded from his stand despite the acknowledged failure of the attempt to enforce the amendment."

Mr. Holzworth predicted defeat for the Republicans in New York State if a definite stand against the Eighteenth Amendment were not put in their platform.

"Westchester with its forty delegates could swing the party away from the shackles of the Anti-Saloon League," he said. "For the first time in history three Westchester Republican Assemblymen have been dropped from the county's delegation to the convention. Because they voted wet on the Cuvillier bill, Mr. Ward dropped them from the delegation."

Special to The New York Times.

SPRING VALLEY, N. Y., July 25.—Ignoring the recommendation of the county executive committee, the Rockland County Republican Convention voted tonight not to endorse a candidate for the nomination for Representative from the Twenty-fifth Congressional District, which includes parts of Westchester and Rockland counties.

The executive committee had endorsed Charles D. Millard, who has the backing of the Ward organization in Westchester, but the convention refused to choose between him and John W. Holzwarth of Port Chester. The primaries will be held on Sept. 16.

Morton Lexow, for thirteen years District Attorney and the son of Senator Clarence Lexow, famous for his investigation into New York City vice conditions thirty years ago, was nominated for the combined offices of County Judge, Surrogate and Judge of the Children's Court.

Leon Woodworth of Pearl River was named as the candidate for District Attorney and Ray K. Masters of West Nyack as the candidate for the Assembly. After a two-hour deadlock the convention endorsed Alonzo Scofield of Nyack for Sheriff.

COUNT PLANS SUIT FOR SEIZED LIQUOR

De Polignac Threatens Tuttle, Ameli and Federal Marshal With Damage Actions.

Damage suits against Charles H. Tuttle, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York; Howard W. Ameli, United States Attorney for the Eastern District, and Jesse D. Moore, United States Marshal for the Eastern District, were threatened yesterday by counsel for Count Maxence Thomas Marie Joseph Michael de Polignac and the J. M. Dooley Fireproof Warehouse Corporation of Brooklyn on the ground that $30,000 worth of seized liquor was ordered destroyed, together with other articles from the warehouse, which a court order now decrees returned to the owners.

The intention to sue on the surety bonds of the public officials was made known yesterday by Thomas O'Rourke Gallagher, the counsel. He contends that while an order to vacate the seizure was pending in the Southern District Federal Court, Mr. Ameli filed a miscellaneous libel of about 200 seizures entitled "United States against one quart bottle partly filled with whisky and other lots," and obtained a decree by default and an order to destroy the libeled property on Aug 21, 1929. This gave no indication that the $30,000 seizure was included, according to Mr. Gallagher. In the lot were said to be 100 cases of brandy of the vintage of 1848.

While forty prohibition agents were seizing large quantities of liquor at several points in Brooklyn and Manhattan on June 6, 1929, the Dooley warehouse at 445 Twelfth Street was entered and the Count de Polignac's liquor was seized along with certain papers and other property belonging to Dooley. The liquor had been taken there by the Count, brother of the Marquis de Polignac, in his connection with the firm of Pommeri & Grenot, champagne manufacturers.

PORTES GIL ROBBED IN CUBA

Thief Gets $4,500 From Hotel Room of Former President of Mexico.

HAVANA, July 25 (AP).—Police today were investigating the robbery at a hotel during the night of Emilio Portes Gil, former President of Mexico, who is a visitor here.

It was stated that the thief, who entered the Mexican's suite by way of a balcony window, got away with $4,500 in cash from a trousers pocket.

Radio Amateurs Here Chat With Hudlin, Indian Pitcher

Eric Palmer Jr., youthful Brooklyn radio enthusiast, and several of his fellow devotees were fishing about in the atmosphere from Palmer's station at 305 Avenue C last night when they established contact with station W8BSG in Cleveland and began a chat with its owner.

It developed that he, like them, was a member of the "Fraternity of Hams" organized by amateur radio experimenters and a minute or two later the dots and dashes clicked out the information that he was Willis Hudlin, star pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

"Do you think the Robins will win the National League pennant?" Palmer at once demanded.

Hudlin discreetly gave the query the "go by" and clicked back "cu agn"—amateur radio parlance for "see you again."

35 FAMILIES SAVED FROM SMOKY BLAZE

Aged Woman and Children in Fire at 101 Second Av. Are Taken Over Roofs to Safety.

Quick work by police of the East Fifth Street station, aided by the man who discovered the blaze, saved the thirty-five families in the five-story brick tenement at 101 Second Avenue, at the southwest corner of Sixth Street, from being overcome by smoke from fire which started in the cellar at 9:30 A. M. yesterday.

Herman Taub of 865 East 167th Street, who was in a restaurant next door, was the first to smell the smoke. He notified William Levin, owner of the building and proprietor of a drug store in it, and then joined Patrolman Edward Manning, Walter Davis and Morgan Rowland in going through the house to warn the tenants.

On the top floor they found 80-year-old Mrs. Anna Cea, a paralytic grandmother, and her family. Her grandson, Frank Coscia, 19 years old, had brought her to the head of the stairs in her wheel-chair, but was unable to carry her down through the smoke. With them were his mother, Mrs. Conchita Coscia, and his five sisters and brothers, ranging in age from 16 years to 6 months. The rescuers carried the aged woman and led the rest of the family over adjoining roofs to safety.

Going back through the building they came upon Birdy, Ray and Mary Klein, the daughters of Mrs. Mary Klein, who lives on the fourth floor. Their ages run from 9 to 12 years; they had been left in the apartment while their mother went shopping. They were taken out the same way as the Coscia family.

While the blaze was largely confined to the cellar, the smoke from burning rubbish was so intense that the firemen had to work in relays, coming out periodically for air. Deputy Chief Henry Helm found it necessary to turn in a second alarm. Firemen ascribed the blaze to a carelessly discarded cigarette. The drug store and a delicatessen next to it were badly damaged.

FIVE DIE IN COLLISION OF MEXICAN AIRPLANES

Four Army Fliers Are Killed in Crash Over Capital—Wreckage Falls on Handball Playet.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, July 25.—Four Mexican army fliers and a civilian were killed today when two military planes met in a midair collision and fell 2,500 feet to crush a handball player on a court on the outskirts of the city.

The dead are:

Captain RAUL MUGICA.
Lieutenant HUMBERTO ENRIQUEZ.
Lieutenant NAPOLEON ROJO.
Lieutenant PABLO CASO LOPEZ.
AN UNIDENTIFIED MAN, found in the wreckage of the planes, still clutching a handball.

The collision took place just after midday in the course of manoeuvres of eighteen planes comprising two squadrons of the first air regiment. It is said that the pilots of one of the squadrons had made a bet with the others, the losers in demonstrating their skill at manoeuvres to pay for dinner tonight.

Witnesses of the crash assert that Captain Mugica lost ground in one turn and in attempting to regain his position increased his speed so much that he hit the ship piloted by Lieutenant Rojo. Lieutenant Enriquez was in Lieutenant Rojo's plane and Lieutenant Lopez was with Captain Mugica.

Lieutenant Rojo jumped from his plane, but his parachute did not open until he was within thirty or thirty-five feet of the ground.

The handball court on which the tangled wreckage of the planes fell was of concrete, but the force of the fall cracked it and knocked part of the top off a concrete wall separating it from another court.

All of the fliers were skillful and daring members of the Mexican Military Aviation corps and their deaths have brought sorrow to the entire army and nation. The accident, the worst in Mexican military aviation history, was the first in manoeuvres. Colonel Pablo Sidar, who met his death over Costa Rica in an attempt to fly non-stop to Buenos Aires, and Captain Emilio Carranza, who crashed on the way back from Washington to Mexico, were not engaged in military movements when tragedy overtook them.

National mourning for the dead officers probably will be declared tomorrow by President Ortiz Rubio.

FISHHOOK SPEARS INCE.

Operation Taking It From Movie Chief's Skull Ends Fear for Him.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—A three-inch fishhook was embedded in the skull of Ralph Ince, motion picture director, while he was fishing off Malibu Beach this afternoon, and for a time it was thought the accident would prove fatal. Five hours later an operation was performed by Dr. S. R. Broadben in the Hollywood Community Hospital, after which Mr. Ince was reported out of danger.

Mr. Ince and a party were trailing lines while heading out to sea when the lines became entangled in a kelp bed. Mr. Ince suddenly tore his line loose from the seaweek.

The strain gave the line tremendous speed and it lashed over his head, to flash back and snap the hook deep into the back of his head. Mr. Ince fell to the deck in pain. He was rushed to land in the motor boat of Al Jolson.

STILL DEADLOCKED ON CHICAGO BABIES

Second Test by Other Experts, Finding No Shift, Fails to Convince the Watkinses.

SHAPE OF HEADS NEW BASIS

Bambergers Are Satisfied, but Counsel for Rivals Talks of Court Action to Establish "Heir."

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—An impasse in the Bamberger-Watkins baby mix-up apparently was reached today, with Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins affirming stoutly that, although they were intensely fond of the little fellow who came home from the hospital marked "Bamberger," they nevertheless were still doubtful of just who he might be.

Charles Bamberger, in his household, still retained with some defiance his supposed offspring, whom he has claimed as a perfect Bamberger all along.

"Nobody will dare to take that boy away from me," he said. "I'm satisfied he's mine and I always have been."

At a "secret conference" late last night, arranged by an attorney for the Bambergers in the Keystone Hospital, Dr. Lewis Keastman, head of the hospital, and five doctors appointed by him decided that the babies were in the right homes.

"There was no agreement that each of us had the right babies," Mr. Watkins said today. "Mr. Bamberger was satisfied, but they didn't convince me. I told them that flatly at the time.

"The way it is now with me and my wife," he continued, "we don't know what to think. Yesterday at the Health Commissioner's conference of experts I felt sure the Bambergers had our baby and so did my wife.

"But last night some of Mrs. Watkins's folks said the baby looked like her, and the doctors in the meeting at Keystone Hospital said he looked like me. I take more stock in that than in anything the doctors said."

Health Commissioner Kegel's conference of scientists voted yesterday that the babies were at present in the wrong homes. Their verdict was based largely on blood analysis and on the findings of anthropology regarding the shape of the babies' heads compared with those of the parents.

The investigation conducted by Dr. Eastman and his aides consisted of looking at the shapes of the babies' heads, according to Mr. and Mrs. Watkins. Since the Watkins heir is their first born, the doctors said, it would have an oblong head. The Bambergers, who are parents of two other children, aged 4 and 3 years, would inevitably have a child with a round head as their third, Mr. Watkins was told.

Counsel for the Watkinses announced tonight that his clients would take the case into the court to establish the parentage question legally. Otherwise, he pointed out, if Watkins became a millionaire, the present Bamberger baby would have a good case against his millions on Mr. Watkins's death.

"I'm not worried about my future millions, but I want to get this thing settled now," Mr. Watkins said. "If we wait much longer, we'll be so crazy about this baby we'll hate to give him up."

"If only people wouldn't keep telling me he looks like me or like his daddy and get me mixed up!" Mrs. Bamberger sighed.

PROTRACTED HAGGLING WITH GANDHI EXPECTED

Indian Politicians See Little Hope for a Speedy End of Civil Disobedience Campaign.

BOMBAY, July 25 (AP).—Indian politicians who know Mahatma Gandhi intimately today foresaw nothing but long negotiations growing out of the visit of the Sapru-Jayakar commission to the "holy one" in the Yerovda jail at Poona, which led to a long discussion and the writing of a letter to the Pandits Nehru at Allahabad jail.

The opinion was ventured by observers that Mr. Gandhi did not commit himself to any cessation, compromise or change of the campaign of civil disobedience which his salt raids, beginning last March, set in motion.

Not only Mr. Gandhi himself but both of the Pandits Nehru are lawyers, as also are Sir Tej Sapru and Mr. Jayakar. It is this feature of the situation which causes the belief that, after the coming conference on Sunday or Monday at Allahabad, the two negotiators probably will return to Poona for a further conference with Mr. Gandhi. The government, having granted them the privilege of seeing the Mahatma alone, it is felt, scarcely can refuse to permit continuation of conferences which it has allowed to be opened.

The Indian leaders point out that Mr. Gandhi would be likely to abide by the formality of the congress constitution which would leave any decision with Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru as the last real congress president.

Those on the inside of the situation assert that, as the two envoys of peace had no proof to offer the Mahatma that there had been any change of heart on the part of the government, there was very little likelihood of any modification of the congress terms by either Mr. Gandhi or his confrères.

HOTEL STAFFS ENJOINED.

Paramount and Cavanagh's Put Under Dry Law Ban by Judge Knox

Personal injunctions against the managements and employes of the Paramount Hotel, 235 West Forty-sixth Street, and Cavanagh's Restaurant, in West Twenty-third Street, which the government sought to shut down by padlocks, were ordered yesterday by Federal Judge John C. Knox.

Judge Knox was informed by Arthur H. Schwartz, Assistant United States Attorney, that the alleged overt acts charged against the Paramount Hotel had occurred in March and April, 1929, prior to a receivership created on application of creditors, to whom more than $1,000,000 was owed. In his announcement the Judge said:

"I want some evidence that hotel owners are trying to obey the law. I mean to see that the law is obeyed by their employes and others in their establishments. It isn't a mere matter of hanging up a sign, but one of good faith."

The proprietors of Cavanagh's were obliged to file a bond of $1,000 to insure compliance with the law.

RUMANIA ROUNDS UP ANTI-SEMITIC LEADERS

Prisoners Include Associate of Angelescu's Assailant and Head of The Iron Guard.

BUCHAREST, July 25 (AP).—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that the Rumanian Government is becoming more active in checking the spread of the anti-Semitic movement throughout the country. Many arrests of anti-Semitic agitators are reported from the provinces.

M. Zamra, a close friend of George Beza, who this week shot the acting Minister of the Interior, Dr. Constantine Angelescu, was arrested today. He is a lawyer.

Zelea Codreanu, leader of the anti-Semitic youth organization, the Iron Guard, was brought by police from Jassy to Bucharest today to explain to the State's Attorney his connection with anti-Semitic posters that have been placarded all over Bucharest under his signature.

Together with Codreanu came the general inspector of the Rumanian secret police in Jassy. He was recalled by the Ministry of the Interior and the Ministry of Justice to report on the anti-Semitic activities in his region.

C. Skreuk, detained by the police in Telepeni, Bukowina, was caught distributing leaflets to the peasants calling on them to burn Jewish houses and to plunder Jewish shops.

The meeting of the All-Rumanian Congress of Jewish Students, scheduled to open this week in Czernowitz, has been prohibited by the local authorities. The students' association intends to file a protest with the government.

The Ministry of the Interior kept in close touch today with the authorities of Bereshty, a town near Galatz in Bessarabia, where a bazaar was in progress and where the Jewish leaders have asked for protection.

Reports said that the Iron Guard, armed with rifles, had flocked to Bereshty by hundreds and assaults on the Jews were feared.

Bucharest awoke today to find the city placarded anew with anti-Semitic posters, including another manifesto by Zelea Codreanu, Iron Guard leader, openly urging pogroms on the Jews.

King Carol today visited Dr. Angelescu to wish him speedy recovery from his wounds.

ASTRONOMER FIGURES ROTATION OF STARS

Puts It at 50 Kilometers a Second as Compared With Earth's Lazy 400 Meters.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The stars are rotating with an average velocity of fifty kilometers a second, as compared with the sun's rate of two kilometers at its equator and the comparatively poky revolution of the earth at about 400 meters per second at the Equator. These figures on stellar movement were computed by C. T. Elvey of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago and are published in the university's Astrophysical Journal.

Because the stars are so far away from the earth, it is impossible to get an image larger than a dot of light, even with the biggest telescopes. Their rate of rotation cannot be determined, therefore, by the same means used to measure the rotation of the sun, which is large enough and sufficiently close to the earth to give a large image in a telescope.

Mr. Elvey has used the absorption line of the spectrum of ionized magnesium given off by the stars to measure their rate of rotation, measuring the spectrum line of fifty-nine different stars to get his average of fifty kilometers per second.

Because a star is rotating, half of it is approaching the earth and half receding, so that the light waves change in length just as the pitch of a bell changes as a person hearing it approaches or travels away. This change in the light waves produces a widening of the spectrum band, the amount of widening indicating the speed of rotation.

There is a considerable element of error in the figures, it is admitted, because a true rate of rotation can be obtained only when the rotation is at right angles to the line of sight from the earth.

The more the axis of the star is inclined away from a right angle to the earth, the less reliable is the reckoning, and it is impossible to ascertain the angle of any star. The average figure for a large group of stars, however, gives a fairly accurate result.

So different from each other, covering such a variety of tastes, but each possessing an irresistible appeal that has made them tremendously popular with the American press and reading public.

CHINA WHEAT DEAL BARRED BY LEGGE

Farm Board Head Declares Such Plans for Disposal of Surplus to Be 'Impracticable.'

CONSIDERED WITH HOOVER

China Is Found Unable to Buy and Gift Is Held Beyond Authority of the Board.

OPEN TO NEW PROPOSALS

Suggestions From Experts Are Being Studied as Acreage Reduction Is Being Pushed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25. — Constantly recurring rumors here and in New York that some mysterious cure for the ills of the wheat situation caused by over-production had been found through the avenues of Chinese trade today brought an explicit denial from Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, who said that financial and other conditions at present made this appear impossible.

China had been considered as a possible outlet for the hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat which are bulging warehouses and holding the price down to a point, in some cases, below the cost of production, Mr. Legge said, but nothing tangible had been developed.

The rumors, however, have multiplied almost as fast as impractical schemes for disposing of the excess grain, it was stated.

"No Authority" for Gifts of Wheat.

One report had it that China planned to buy 200,000,000 bushels and another that the United States Government was going to donate this amount to the Chinese famine areas. A third reported plan was that the Farm Board would sell or donate large quantities of wheat to the Red Cross for use in the Far East.

All of these reports were denied by Mr. Legge, who, as head of the board which holds 69,000,000 bushels of wheat purchased last year to stabilize the market, would be a central figure in any such movement.

These plans and many others, he said today, have been considered, but the sales schemes were found impracticable and the Farm Board, he added, had "no authority to give away produce bought with the taxpayers' money."

Solution Still Being Sought.

"We have studied each of these plans and many others, not only in connection with wheat but with all trade in general, particularly farm products," Mr. Legge added. "I have discussed them with President Hoover, and various financial departments of the government have studied the problem of opening up trade in the Far East.

"However, no solution has been found. First, there is the financial difficulty, and then there must be considered the instability of various powers, the transportation difficulties, banditry and many other factors which would interfere with a trade program."

However, he emphasized that the government had not dropped consideration of possible solutions, noting a new manifestation of interest from individuals, which he discussed as follows:

"Within the last two or three weeks a new interest by private individuals who are experts in these matters has been manifested in letters I have received. These people are studying the problem and making suggestions. We hope that there will be some way found to get around the financial problem and the others, and if there is a practicable one suggested we shall gladly receive it."

It was explained that the Farm Board was waging its principal campaign against the wheat surplus through work affecting future production rather than by attempting to dispose of the surplus now existing.

It has declared definitely against the policy of buying more grain and withdrawing it from the market.

Plans for Growers' Parley.

Meanwhile, the Farm Board and related departments of the government are pushing the work of crop regulation to eliminate the surplus.

The next move, the Department of Agriculture announced today, will be made when Mr. Legge and Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, will go to Indianapolis on Aug. 1 to confer with growers about the problem.

This conference will be attended by agricultural extension leaders from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and Kentucky and directors of experiment stations, economists, agronomists and editors.

Stating that the plans of the soft Winter wheat belt would be laid there and that decisions made would be communicated to farmers through meetings of local extension agencies, the announcement continued:

"The long-time outlook for wheat and the present foreign and domestic market situation, as summarized by the Department of Agriculture, indicate that growers should carefully consider the increasing competition in the world wheat markets and the probability of lower prices during the next few years.

"Low wheat prices, such as those recently prevailing, will cause a contraction of acreage in some parts of the world, according to the department economists, but the trends of wheat acreage and production in the past few years indicate that expansion is likely to continue in many countries, even at prices lower than the average of the past seven years.

"Attention should be given everywhere to the possibilities of reducing production costs as one of the means of meeting competition."

CUTS GRAIN RATES THROUGHOUT WEST

Commerce Commission Adopts 'Rate-Break' Basis to Equalize Shipments to Ports.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A sweeping reduction in grain rates from the territory west of the Mississippi River to all ports, and from Lake Erie ports to Atlantic ports was ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission today.

The general readjustment, which is to take effect on Oct. 1, is a result of the Hoch-Smith resolution which directed the establishment of "the lowest possible lawful rates compatible with the maintenance of adequate transportation service."

The effect of the revision will be to make one rate applicable on both wheat and coarse grains, and their direct products, such as flour and meal, for domestic and export shipment.

The prescribed rates represent, on the whole, substantial reductions on both wheat and coarse grains, though some of the wheat rates from North Dakota are increased.

Missouri River Markets Affected.

Substantial changes, mostly reductions, are made in the proportional rates from Missouri River markets to Minneapolis, Duluth, Chicago and St. Louis, and from Missouri and Mississippi River markets to the Southwest and Mississippi Valley, including Memphis and New Orleans. Also included in the reductions are export rates from the Missouri River, Chicago and St. Louis to Eastern and Gulf ports.

The "rate-break" combination used in the general revision is illustrated in shipments from Western territory by way of the lakes to Eastern ports. Flat rates are employed as far as Chicago or Duluth, and then steamer rates to Buffalo, Georgia Bay and other lake ports, and so-called ex-lake rates beyond the last mentioned points.

"There is a certain amount of equalization of routes and gateways under the present rate-break plan," the commission declared in its decision."

The proportional rate is the same from all of the Missouri River gateways to Chicago; also to St. Louis, except that from Sioux City the rates are higher than from Omaha and Kansas City. There is a reshipping rate from Chicago to New York, applicable on all shipments with a previous rail transportation to Chicago, and reshipping rates to other North Atlantic ports on the basis of fixed differentials over or under New York.

Rates Are Same Through Chicago.

"The through rate-break combination on Chicago is therefore the same from all Missouri River markets to New York and other North Atlantic ports. It is also the same through St. Louis and Peoria as through Chicago, inasmuch as the inbound rates to St. Louis and Peoria are as much less to Chicago as the outbound rates from St. Louis and Peoria are more from Chicago.

"The situation is therefore that, except from Sioux City, through St. Louis, shipments from the Missouri River gateways can move at the same aggregate charge to New York through either St. Louis, Peoria or Chicago.

The commission held that "making rates through primary markets exclusively by combination of flat rates to and proportional rates from the markets, would not only preserve, but would substantially increase, carriers' revenues, even with substantial reductions in both the inbound flat rates and the outbound proportionals, because of the discontinuance of transit balances much lower than the proportionals."

"This situation, if properly before us, and found to be improper, could be readjusted to accord substantially with the contention of Minneapolis, either by reducing the all-rail rates from Minneapolis to New York or by increasing the ex-lake rate from Buffalo to New York. It need not be here further discussed, inasmuch as the rates from Minneapolis to New York are not directly within the scope of the investigation, and are not sufficiently related indirectly to the issues within the scope of the investigation to warrant definite action thereon."

$15,000,000 Reduction Predicted.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—Members of the Interstate Commerce Commission estimated today that the application of the new grain schedules would reduce earnings of Western railroads by $15,000,000 or more per annum, but said that some of this had been compensated for by recently granted increases in classified freight rates.

It added that the exact consequences of its new schedules were impossible to foretell in advance, and that "in the light of increased revenues already granted in certain other cases" to Western railroads the grain reductions will not threaten the maintenance of an adequate system of transportation.

Commissioner Lewis, in commenting on the effects on the railways, said that, notwithstanding, the "more equitable rate structure" created by the finding of the commission majority deserved support, though he added that "a survey of specific rates reveals cuts of 20, 30, 50 or even 60 per cent in the present charges," which would bear severly on "some of the carriers which are not at this time in a position to stand such reductions."

DIES AFTER 3 DAYS IN RUINS

Italian Girl Under Debris Killed as Wall Falls—Rescuers Powerless.

MELFI, Italy, July 25 (AP).—For three days soldiers and workmen had been trying to extricate Giuseppina Bocheppi, 20 years old, from a mass of débris in what had been her home.

The girl was pinned down in such a manner that it was impossible to get food or water to her.

Today, just before the King arrived, a wall of masonry fell, killing the famished girl instantly.

FIVE NEW QUAKES RECORDED IN ITALY

By ARNALDO CORTESI.

tered every field hospital on the way and spoke a few words of comfort to the injured. He inspected the relief work and encouraged the rescuers to persevere in their efforts. He expressed his sympathy to peasant women, who had lost their children and fondled children who had lost their mothers.

Tears came to his eyes on several occasions, as when in Lacedonia thirty-five mangled bodies were taken from the wreckage under his eyes, and when he saw the long lines of bodies under army blankets in a street of the same town.

Peasants Gather Round King.

Wherever the King passed the people improvised receptions which were touching in the extreme in their unaffected simplicity and spontaneity. Italian flags, roughly made with red, white and green rags, appeared as if by magic, and many of the few walls still standing had painted on them the words "Viva Il Re."

The peasants were allowed to approach the King freely and they took full advantage of the opportunity, crowding round him in large numbers and seeming to derive comfort from his presence. Many peasants accosted the King in democratic style and tugged at his sleeve to call his attention to their wrecked houses or damaged possessions.

For each the sovereign had a smile and words of encouragement.

Pathetic incidents occurred during the King's tour, too numerous to bear relating in full. In Aquilonia the King was deeply moved to see a man and woman pass by bearing the bodies of two small children on an improvised stretcher. At a word from the King, two aides dashed after them to help, but the couple refused to be assisted, saying they wished to bury their children with their own hands.

Ruler at First Aid Station.

Again in the same town the King made no secret of his emotions when he saw a group of black-shirted Fascisti digging like men possessed amid the ruins of a collapsed house, spurred on by a woman's voice calling for help from under the wreckage. Two shifts of Fascisti had been digging there in turns for the last twenty-four hours without being able to reach the woman. The work had to be continually interrupted to prop up the tottering walls, threatening to fall in.

The King put aside royal dignity before this scene and wrung his hands with anxiety till his suite reminded him that there were other unfortunate people further on awaiting to be heartened by his presence.

At Melfi the King remained in a first aid station improvised under a tent, encouraging a dying man till the victim breathed his last.

At Mirabella he watched a group of soldiers rescue a man who had been imprisoned in a cellar since the disaster.

At Vallata the King fondled a child whom he found crying disconsolately in the middle of the street.

At Anzano he and his party were in real danger for a few moments when a wall suddenly crashed to the earth while they were passing.

King Shows Effect of Strain.

On his arrival at Avellino, the King clearly showed the effects of the intense emotional strain he had been under in seeing such extensive suffering. His face seemed to be more lined than usual and he appeared listless and tired. He did his best to answer affably the cheers with which he was greeted by the crowds, wild with enthusiasm at seeing him among them.

The King retired early after receiving the local authorities, who gave him the latest news of the relief operations.

Unhappily there was small comfort for him in the news received, since the toll of dead is constantly increasing as the rescue work progresses.

Rain fell heavily during the night, adding to the discomfort of the homeless. They made fires to protect their half-naked bodies from the cold. Despite the Summer season, it is cold at night in the middle of the Apennines, and when it rains it is bitterly cold. This explains why the calls are so insistent for tents, bedding and blankets.

The situation is rapidly being remedied, however. Three thousand army tents arrived at Melfi today and 3,000 more are expected tomorrow. Fortunately, there is no lack of wood, for any number of wooden beams can be obtained from the wreckage of the houses.

At night, darkness veils the damage done by the earthquake and the scene is not devoid of beauty, if one may speak of beauty with reference to such a disaster. The countryside is dotted with the flickering lights of the bonfires, around each of which dozens of men, women and children lie huddled in groups to keep warm.

Long lines of glittering headlights on the winding mountain roads show that the much-needed supplies are continuing to come. Every now and then one meets stretcher bearers, reeling under heavy loads and preceded by a soldier who lights their way with a torch.

Red Cross Tents Dot Scene.

Many villages are brilliantly lit up with army searchlights to permit the rescue work to proceed during the night. Wherever there is an open field there is a Red Cross tent, where army doctors work feverishly in the light of headlights of conveniently placed motor cars. Red Cross nurses in their neat uniforms may be seen hurrying to and fro. At night everything looks almost peaceful, until the roar of some crumbling wall reminds one that the scenes of destruction are hidden.

There are constant reminders also that the whole zone is in the hands of the military. Every few miles sentries halt all cars and all passengers show their passes. The reason for this is that every effort is being made to keep all unnecessary persons out of the earthquake region, because every extra person means an additional mouth to feed and transport facilities over the insecure roads already are stretched to the limit.

For the same reason it is deemed inadvisable to send additional help to speed the rescue work. There are now as many people in the damaged zone as it is possible to feed.

Near Sant' Agata we met a large double-decker bus. On its front it bore the inscription, "Railroad Station to St. Peter's Square." It was one of the buses from Rome which were sent to the south to aid in the rescue work. It was filled with injured persons being rushed to a hospital at Foggia.

Melfi Heavily Damaged.

At dawn we reached Melfi, where very extensive damage was reported. At first the town appeared almost intact, for the havoc of the earthquake was comparatively slight in the upper portion of the town. Its historic castle, which once towered high above it, was almost completely wrecked. The lower part of the town was in lamentable condition. Few houses were standing and wreckage was strewn all over the streets.

On closer inspection it was found that the damage in the upper part of the town also was greater than appeared because many houses, though their four external walls were standing, were completely wrecked inside. One of the few buildings left completely intact is the church tower, built in 1100 A. D.—a great compliment to ancient Italian builders.

A cattle market just outside the town is occupied by several hundred motor trucks which are discharging enormous quantities of stores. Melfi is the headquarters of the relief work in the surrounding zone. The railroad station, though still standing, was so severely damaged that it had to be abandoned and the railroad offices transferred to several trucks on a siding. Other trucks have been transformed into temporary shelters for the homeless.

Despite the early hour the town was buzzing with the activity of wrecking gangs and rescue parties at work among the ruins, while there was a steady stream of trucks bringing supplies or departing with the injured.

Huge Quantities of Supplies Sent.

One of the badly damaged buildings in Melfi is the prison, which at the time of the earthquake held seventy prisoners. They were prevented from escaping by warders who, despite terror and confusion at that tragic moment, drew their revolvers and kept the prisoners covered until help could be called. All the prisoners have been removed to Foggia.

Melfi, being the centre of supplies, the condition of the inhabitants is less terrible than that of those in other towns and villages. Besides those sleeping in vans in the station, the majority of the others are now under canvas in large camps erected outside the town. They also have plenty of food and are fairly comfortable. The conditions here cannot compare with wretched situations existing round Ariano, where the difficulty of transportation has caused a deficiency of all supplies.

The extent of the disaster, which has struck the whole region between Naples and Bari, can perhaps best be gauged by the list of supplies which the Naples Army Corps alone sent into the stricken region in a single day. This list includes 16,000 tins of canned meat, 11,000 rations of hardtack, 12,000 rations of bread, 7,500 tents capable of sheltering 30,000 people, 15,000 blankets, 6,000 mattresses and enormous quantities of medical stores, including stretchers, disinfectants, anti-tetanus serum and the like.

These supplies were sent in 250 motor trucks. Twenty-five large tank cars for transporting water also were supplied.

Besides, supplies were given by four regiments stationed in the stricken regions, and Foggia, Benevento, Avellino, Bari, Potenza and points as far away as Rome added supplies. The city of Naples sent 70,000 rations of bread in a single day.

FULL DEATH LIST ORDERED.

Mayors of Villages Told to Speed Reports—New Quakes Raze Palace.

POTENZA, Italy, July 25 (AP).—Among other things brought to the sovereign's attention was the fact that this region until recently had been almost depopulated by the rush of emigrants to America, which lasted until the passage of the United States immigration laws. In fact, many of the townships affected by the earthquake had more of their native-born in the United States than within the home boundaries.

To reassure relatives far and near, an order, perhaps inspired by the royal visit, went forth from the provincial prefects to all the mayors to to make every effort to compile during the course of tomorrow a final estimate of the dead.

One of the most trying tasks for the Italian army is supplying the populace with water. The breaking of conduits and filling in of wells have obliged dwellers in some communities to go two or three miles for any drinkable liquid. A good deal to alleviate their distress has been done by tank trucks.

In Melfi the Pacchioli Palace collapsed and many houses developed dangerous fissures from the earthquakes that occurred today. The town jail was badly shaken, one wall crumbling and seventeen prisoners tried to escape. All were panic-stricken, but were held at bay by two guards with drawn revolvers. They were later taken in irons by special train to the jail at Foggia.

Woman Dies in New Quake at Ariano

ARIANO, Italy, July 25 (AP).—A new earth-shock here at about 10 o'clock yesterday morning added another death to the long list from the disastrous quake of Wednesday.

The Registry Office toppled and an elderly woman was killed when débris fell upon her. All the inhabitants were terror-stricken at the new shock. A militia commander and a newspaper man narrowly escaped injury.

Two New Shocks Felt at Avellino.

AVELLINO, Italy, July 25 (AP).—Slight undulatory earth-shocks were felt in this vicinity at 1:10 P. M. and at 7:40 P. M. yesterday.

The inhabitants were frightened anew, but no word of damage was received.

Papal Envoy Goes to Stricken Area.

ROME, July 25 (AP).—Mgr. Spirito Chiapetta, a special envoy of the Pope, started a tour of the quake-stricken region today and reached Benevento, which also suffered heavily in the disaster.

The exact number of dead in the great quake was still somewhat obscure tonight. The government was compiling a detailed account, which will be made public as soon as possible.

The latest government figures place the number of dead at 1,883, with the injured at 4,264.

Reports were received during the day quoting General Baistrocchi, commanding the Neapolitan zone, as placing the number of dead in Avellino at 2,573, but this was denied tonight in a communiqué issued by the Stefani News Agency.

The communiqué stated that the Ministry of the Interior was announcing "with scrupulous precision the number of assured dead which is reported to the Ministry by the authorities on the spot who have the general direction of and responsibility for relief service." "There is no motive for not telling the exact truth about the number of dead," the communiqué said. "When it will be possible, a list of victims will be communicated complete."

The government's figures of 1,883 dead, however, were qualified by the statement that they might undergo change as the final reports were received.

Alexander Kirk of Chicago, Chargé d'Affaires of the United States Embassy, today personally presented the formal condolence of the American Government to the Italian Foreign Office.

The Uruguayan and Colombian representatives, who are away from Rome, sent telegrams of sympathy as did also the Foreign Minister of Ecuador, who added his personal expressions of condolence to those of the Ecuadoran Minister at Rome.

Government agents and civil engineers today were going through all of the earthquake belt preparing estimates of the extent of the damage to property.

22 Killed in Hurricane in Piave Area.

TREVISO, Italy, July 25 (AP).—New figures on the hurricane which swept down the Piave Valley last night showed that twenty-two persons were killed, 100 were injured and 200 houses damaged.

The storm tore down many buildings, principally at Barco di Sesegana, Nervesa, Selva and Volpago, and swept over a stretch of twenty-five miles. Relief expeditions were organized immediately.

AMERICANS IN STRICKEN ZONE.

Newark Tourists Still Unreported—Others Cable They Are Safe.

Several Newark residents have been visiting in the earthquake region in Italy. Among those who have still to be heard from by their families in Newark are Miss Vera Castellano of 71 Mount Prospect Avenue and Dr. Dominic Matturri of 235 Mount Prospect Avenue. Andrew Calandra, also on a tour in Southern Italy, has telegraphed his son, Anthony A. Calandra, lawyer, of Newark, that he was uninjured in the quakes while staying at a Naples hotel.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., July 25.—Mrs. Joseph B. Cooke of this village and her daughter, Mrs. Hugh MacDougall of Cambridge, Mass., and Cooperstown, are believed to be in Naples. Latest advices said that they were leaving Carcassonne on July 13, en route for Tunis, where they would make only a short stay and then take a steamer for Naples. They were to arrive last Monday or Tuesday. Inquiries at the State Department and a cablegram to Naples have not yet been answered.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The transatlantic radio-telephone was pressed into service today by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silvers of this city to end their worry over the safety of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Silvers, who is traveling in Italy with a party of fourteen young women. Located in a hotel in Rome, Miss Silvers told her parents the party had passed through part of the devastated region en route to the capital. None of the members was injured.

Two young women musicians, Miss Gladys Virginia Dashiell of Stonehurst and Miss Lillian Irwin of Drexel Hill, cabled they were safe in Rome, and Dr. Louis H. Weiner, who is completing a course of medical studies in Italy, cabled friends of his safety.

LYNBROOK, L. I., July 25.—Bernard Maffucci, real estate dealer of this village, who left for Italy in March to build a Summer residence at Nola, Province of Avellino, in the heart of the earthquake area, has not answered two cablegrams sent by relatives since first reports of the quake reached this country.

AGREEMENT SIGNED ON MEXICAN DEBT

to place the railroad in a position to operate more economically.

Security for the Debts.

The direct debt of the Mexican Government is to be guaranteed with a lien upon customs revenues. In the case of the railway debt, security is provided by a direct mortgage on the properties. Provision has been made for the issuance of new bonds in the future, under specified conditions, both by the Mexican Government and the railways company. Details of these conditions were not provided in the joint statement except that it was stated that a prerequisite to government financing would be payment of service on the new direct debt at the normal rate of 5 per cent.

Both Señor Montes de Oca and Mr. Lamont laid stress upon the fairness of the agreement to both sides. They characterized the agreement as one which, all circumstances considered, is creditable to the Mexican Government and fair to the bondholders. Señor Montes de Oca expressed his gratification at the friendliness that prevailed throughout the conference and the helpful attitude adopted by the bankers, both European and American, who participated.

Several of the European delegates had returned home before the agreement was signed, the main features of it having been arrived at a week or ten days ago. The concluding details have been arranged by Mr. Lamont and Señor Montes de Oca.

Europeans at Conference.

The European delegates who took part in the conference were: William Egerton Mortimer, British representative; E. de la Longuiniere, Pierre Vinson and Henry R. Sabbag, French; Dr. Paul von Schwabach, German; Gustave Dunnant and Robert Dunnant Jr., Swiss, and Marcel Baelde, Belgian.

Present at the signing of the agreement, in addition to Mr. Lamont and Señor Montes de Oca were Thomas Cochran and Arthur M. Anderson of the Morgan firm; Javier Sanchez Mejorada, executive president of the National Railways of Mexico; Luciano Wiechers, vice president of the Bank of Mexico; Fernando Diez Barroso, Mexican adviser on the national debt; Fernando Gonzales Roa, counsel of the National Railways of Mexico; the French and Swiss delegates to the conference; Sir William Wiseman of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; De Witt Millhauser of Speyer & Co.; H. B. Lake of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.; E. S. S. Sunderland of counsel, and Vernon Munroe, secretary to the bankers' committee.

Members of Minister Montes de Oca's staff who have assisted him in addition to those who were present at the signing of the agreement are: Roberto Lopz, Ricardo Carrion, Captain Blas Tijerina and Gustavo Belasco.

Statement of Agreement.

Following is the complete statement of the agreement, given out jointly by Mr. Lamont and Minister Montes de Oca:

Joint Statement by Mexican Finance Minister Montes de Oca and Chairman Lamont as to New Debt Agreement.

In the course of the discussions which have been held during the last month with the European and American members of the international committee the Secretary of Finance made full exposition of the present economic condition of Mexico and of the outlook for the future. In the light of this information, as gained by the delegates, and of the different data made available, the members of the international committee have taken adequate account of Mexico's present and future economy, of its capacity of payment and of the other obligations which make up the national public debt; that is to say, of internal obligations, to the fulfillment of which the government attaches as much importance as to that of foreign obligations.

CHIEF POINTS IN AGREEMENT.

As a result of these discussions the Finance Minister and the International Committee have reached an agreement under which the committee will recommend to the bondholders that facilities be extended to Mexico for the resumption of the service on its foreign debt, through the reduction of the amounts due for arrears of interest and through the extension of the term of payment to forty-five years. The standard payments to cover both sinking fund and interest charges on the new refunding 5 per cent bonds which will be issued will amount to $15,000,000, beginning with the year 1936; in the interim, there will be a period of transition during which the annuities will be smaller, the first, for 1931, to amount to $12,500,000.

Provision will be made for a sinking fund to begin in 1931, which should provide a ready demand in the market for the bonds.

SECURITY AND REFUNDING CLAUSES.

The government will guarantee the new funded debt with a lien on customs revenues, in the form established for the heretofore customs secured debts. A method is provided by which, should the Mexican Government desire to make new bond issues in the future, it may do so under specified conditions, after the service on the new debt is being paid at the normal rate of 5 per cent.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS REORGANIZATION

The status of the National Railways Company may at present be considered one of insolvency, and although the natural order would be to initiate bankruptcy proceedings, in order to permit the creditors to take over its management or adopt other measures expedient for their interests, it was finally deemed advisable to accept as a better solution the plan proposed by the Mexican Government of reorganizing the present company through the formation of a new one in accordance with Mexican laws.

In order to make possible the financial rehabilitation of the company it has been considered necessary to reduce its obligations through the reduction of arrears of interest, according to the same method adopted for the direct debt. Through the renunciation by the bondholders of part of the interest payable during the next five years there will be made available a sum of over $25,000,000 for additions and betterments which are important in order to enable the company to operate with economy. The existing debt will be consolidated in a new issue secured by a general mortgage to bear interest, after the interval referred to above, at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, and payable in forty-five years; regular amortization to begin in 1936.

CLAIMS AND COUNTER-CLAIMS TO BE CANCELLED.

It is planned to refund all indebtedness now existing, such as floating obligations. All claims and demands between the government and the company will be canceled, in order to enable the new company to begin its operations with a minimum of floating debt and to facilitate successful operation.

As in the case of the public debt, a method is provided for the company to secure further loans through the issuance of new bonds, when necessary, for the expansion and completion of the railway system.

A FAIR AND CREDITABLE SETTLEMENT.

The Finance Minister and members of the international committee are in accord in attaching great importance to the character of settlement reached today. As has been already indicated, every effort has been made in the last four weeks of friendly discussion to enable the committee on the one hand to gain an adequate knowledge of the government's financial position, as bearing upon its ability to meet the service upon all its obligations; and on the other hand to acquaint the government fully with the concessions heretofore undertaken by its foreign debt bondholders. As a consequence the Minister and the members of the committee have no hesitation in declaring that the settlement as outlined is one that, all circumstances considered, is creditable to the government and fair to the bondholders. The agreement as now signed will be submitted first to the Mexican Congress for ratification and thereafter to the bondholders for their consideration and approval.

July 25, 1930.

Reduction on Direct Debt.

The principal amount of the direct debt of the Mexican Government has been fixed at $267,000,000 under the new agreement, representing a reduction of $7,000,000. The principal of the railways debt has been fixed at $225,000,000, compared with $239,000,000 previously.

Exactly how large a reduction is to be made in the amounts due on arrears of interest has not yet been announced, but it is understood the reduction has been substantial. There was due on the direct debt, prior to 1922, when the first Mexican debt agreement was reached, $112,000,000 in arrears, and current interest due amounts to $89,000,000, making a total of $201,000,000.

The first agreement between the Mexican Government and the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico was arranged on June 16, 1922, and went into effect on Dec. 8, 1923. It was negotiated by Adolfo de la Huerta and is consequently frequently referred to as the Lamont-de la Huerta agreement, although its official title was The Agreement of June 16, 1922.

Because of political disturbances in Mexico, service on the foreign debt under this plan was suspended by an official decree on June 30, 1924. This suspension continued until the International Committee, after a conference in 1925 with Alberto J. Pani, then Finance Minister, arranged substantial modifications in the agreement, chief of which was the separation of the agreements relating to the direct government debt and the National Railways debt.

The modified agreement, known as the Pani-Lamont agreement, was signed Oct. 23, 1925, and became effective on Jan. 1, 1926. Under this plan payments were made by the railways during 1926 and then discontinued.

Complications Caused by Revolt.

Remittances on the direct debt, under the Pani-Lamont plan, were made for approximately two years, but when full payments under the original loan agreements were to be resumed on Jan. 1, 1928, the service on the direct debt was again suspended, the government declaring itself unable to resume such full service. The situation was made temporarily more difficult by the revolt in the early months of 1929.

The discussions leading to the present plan were initiated on June 25. The first plenary session was held in the rooms of the New York Chamber of Commerce. Subsequent meetings were held, chiefly in the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. and of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Since the bonds are not registered, but are made out to "bearer," it is impossible to tell exactly where each bond now is. Most of the securities are held in seven countries, however—the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland and Holland.

The agreement must be submitted to the Mexican Congress for ratification and will thereafter be subject to the approval of the bondholders. The Pani-Lamont agreement was approved by approximately 98 per cent of the bondholders and the international committee is considered to represent approximately that proportion of holders of the bonds throughout the world.

SIMPSON FILES SUIT ON MEXICAN BONDS

In Jersey Action He Asks for Accounting of $43,000,000 Interest Fund on Issue.

DENIES A POLITICAL MOVE

Morgan & Co. on Defendant Committee, but He Says This Is Not Connected With Race Against Morrow.

Alexander Simpson, former State Senator of New Jersey, who will oppose Dwight W. Morrow for the United States Senate in the Fall elections, announced before sailing for Europe last night on the French liner France, that he had filed suit yesterday afternoon in the Federal court in Trenton demanding an accounting of a $43,000,000 fund set up by the Mexican Government several years ago to provide unpaid interest on the $500,000,000 bond issue of the Mexican Government.

Discussing both his suit, which he filed for a bondholder, and his political plans, which will be actively launched in September, Mr. Simpson declared that his action in the Mexican bond case had no connection whatever with his coming campaign as Democratic nominee for the Senate.

He said also that his trip abroad, on which he is accompanied by Mrs. Simpson, was primarily a vacation, but he said that while abroad he would confer with several foreign holders of the Mexican bonds, particularly in Switzerland. As evidence that his appearance in the case is without political significance, Mr. Simpson said that while he was abroad his work in the case would be carried on by a Republican attorney of Washington, whom he declined to name.

Mr. Simpson said he had filed the suit in behalf of Frederick Gallapin, a bondholder, but declined to say how many other bondholders, if any, were represented in the demand for a detailed accounting from the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico, which was meeting in Wall Street yesterday while Mr. Simpson was presenting his suit officially at the Trenton Federal court.

It was pointed out to him that J. P. Morgan & Co., of which Mr. Morrow was formerly a member, were a leading factor in the International Committee and had played an important part in the establishment of the bond issue several years ago.

Mr. Simpson said he knew this, but denied that it was anything more than mere coincidence.

Discussing the relief bonds, he recalled that the Mexican Government had defaulted in interest payment on the issue in 1914 and 1921. The voluntary committee of bankers carried on negotiations which resulted in the setting aside of $43,000,000 by the Mexican Government to be prorated among the bondholders, Mr. Simpson said, adding that only $6,000,000 of the fund had been disbursed. This sum, he said, went to pay expenses in carrying on the negotiations and to cover other mechanics of the transaction.

He explained that the suit was directed against the international committee of bankers because it was legally impossible to bring such suit against the Federal Government of Mexico.

Mr. Simpson said he would not actively open his political campaign until September. He said that no difference of opinion existed between him and Mr. Morrow on prohibition and that the principal issues, as he saw them, were unemployment and the influence of foreign nations in the domestic affairs of the United States.

He spoke in passing of the naval treaty and declared he saw the "finger of the League of Nations" in the agreement.

LIBERALS LOSE OUT ON VOTING REFORMS

Hope of Action by the Present House Ends as British Interparty Conference Breaks Down.

COMPROMISE EFFORTS FAIL

Delegates Unable to Agree Either on Proportional Representation or Alternative Vote.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Any hope the Liberal party may have held of securing from the present House of Commons an election on the basis of proportional representation was destroyed today by the publication of Lord Ullswater's letter to Prime Minister MacDonald announcing the breakdown of the interparty conference, of which he was chairman.

The Liberals hold only 59 seats for 5,300,947 votes received at the last election, against the Conservatives' 260 seats for 8,664,243 votes. David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, had not disguised his hope that in return for the support accorded to the Laborites during the present Parliament there might result legislation giving his party more liberal terms at the next election.

Lord Ullswater explains the conference spent its first ten sittings in discussion of the merits of proportional representation and of the alternative vote, as compared with each other and with the existing system. But, after a time, it became clear there would be great difficulty in obtaining any general agreement in answer to the question whether any, and if so what, system of election could be recommended in place of the existing system.

A resolution that any change from the present system should include the adoption of proportional representation with a single transferable vote received the support of the Conservatives and Liberals, but the support of most of the Conservatives was conditional on its being decided that a change of some kind must be made.

The Liberals explained that in the event of proportional representation not being finally accepted they would be prepared to consider the adoption of the alternative vote as preferable to the present system. The Conservatives, on the other hand, indicated they would not agree to the alternative vote in any circumstances, and the Labor group explained that none of them was willing to support the alternative vote in itself but that some were prepared to accept it on condition that other reforms were adopted at the same time.

Lord Ullswater states it was obvious after the fifteenth meeting that the chance of an agreement was so remote that it was useless to proceed. The principal purpose of the conference, he said, had failed, and the conference at best could only submit a few resolutions carried on party lines.

In Parliamentary circles it was suggested tonight that the MacDonald Government may consider the possibility of bringing forward a bill to cover a number of points its representatives had raised at the conference. It is understood the Liberals would support this if the government incorporated a proposal for the alternative vote.

Princess, 73, Pleads for Right to Be Happy By Marriage to Don Luis de Bourbon, 42

PARIS, July 25 (AP).—The desire of 73-year-old Princess Amédée de Broglie to marry 42-year-old Don Luis de Bourbon, son of the Infanta Eulalia of Spain and cousin of King Alfonso, was the subject of pleading before the Tribunal of the Seine today.

Henry Torrès, specialist in defending Communist agitators, appeared for the Princess. He pleaded for her to be granted the right to seek happiness wherever she sees it, no matter what her age.

Maitre Henry Aubépin, former head of the Order of Advocates of Paris, defended the suit of the Princess's family. Represented by her nephew, the Duke de Brissac, the family pleaded that the Princess was mentally unsound and asked the court to name three physicians to examine her.

The very fact that the Princess considered marriage with Don Luis, a discredited prince who was barred from France for misconduct, and who was a profligate, Maitre Aubépin argued, was enough to show she was unbalanced. The decision of the court will be handed down tomorrow afternoon.

A statement by the Princess, made through her attorney, created a stir. It said, "I realize that many persons think my marriage with this much younger man ridiculous, but I want to spend a few happy years before I die."

Maitre Torrès asserted that the Princess had known Don Luis eighteen years. Don Luis's conduct had been "regrettable," he admitted, but this constituted no legal reason for forbidding the marriage. He further contended that French law recognized the right of ancestral relatives to act in such family matters, but that it did not accord such authority to descendants.

Letters of friends and testimonials from alienists were introduced to prove that the Princess was in excellent bodily and mental health.

Don Luis, once reported betrothed to Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey of Pittsburgh, was believed to be at his San Remo villa as the case came to trial. He has been prohibited from entering France.

Princess Marguerite, a daughter, divorced from her aviator husband, the Marquis de Lubersac, wrote in a letter, which was placed in evidence, that her mother was mentally unsound because she "was too fond of chickens, dogs and other pets," taking them with her everywhere and renting rooms above and below her for them.

NEW AIR LINE TO LINK BOLIVIA AND BRAZIL

Lloyd Aereo to Operate Between La Paz and Puerto Suarez, Giving Route to Rio de Janeiro.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 25.—Lloyd Aereo Boliviano, which has been operating in Bolivia since 1925, using Junkers planes with American Hornet engines, will establish a new air line between La Paz and Puerto Suarez on the Paraguay River at the Brazilian-Bolivian border. The distance of 1,200 miles covers almost all unexplored jungle territory.

In Puerto Suarez a connection will be made with the Brazilian air line of the Syndicato Condor, operating from Puerto Suarez to Rio de Janeiro. This will bring into existence a 2,288-mile air route from La Paz to Rio de Janeiro.

The line operating between Argentina and Chile across the Andes is a much shorter line and shortens the railroad time by only one day. The La Paz-Rio air trip, which will take two days, will shorten land and sea trip time by twelve days. The new service will be extended later to connect with the Pan-American-Grace service on the Pacific Coast.

The new service to Puerto Suarez is made possible by the Bolivian Government's granting the use of several military aerodromes in the Chaco region.

FRENCH OUT ON STRIKE IN INSURANCE PROTEST

Tens of Thousands Quit Work—Seek Pay Rise to Offset Deduction for Plan.

PARIS, July 25 (AP).—Tens of thousands of French workers are on strike, particularly in the northern textile region. The purpose of this demonstration is to show that the organized workers are against the application of the government's vast social insurance plan.

Most of the strikers demand an increase of wages to compensate them for the deduction of 4 per cent of their earnings as the workers' contribution to the expense of the insurance.

The employers have to contribute a like amount, the government supplementing the contributions from the workers and employers by varying annual appropriations.

Communist organs, active in the agitation, say 75,000 workers are on strike, but other estimates are much lower.

WING DROPS; TWO KILLED.

Plane Falls in Sections at North Hollywood, Cal.

LOS ANGELES, July 25 (AP).—Two men were killed when a biplane dropped a wing as they attempted to nose it into a steep climb above the Lakeside Country Club at North Hollywood today. The craft fell in several sections.

The men were John S. Morse, pilot, of Altadena, and Dominick Gnoepff of Hollywood.

Sure Coste Will Succeed.

PARIS, July 25 (AP).—The establishment of regular postal airlines from Europe direct to New York is the next probable development in aviation, Laurent Eynac, Minister of Aviation, today told Colonel W. E. Easterwood Jr. of Texas.

The Minister added his conviction that passenger lines would be instituted soon after air mail lines had been regularly put into operation. He expressed the opinion that mail planes would take the southern route via the Azores and the Bermudas to New York or follow the northerly course via Newfoundland.

The Minister warmly thanked Colonel Easterwood for his offer to Captain Dieudonné Coste of a prize of $25,000 if he would fly from New York to Dallas after crossing the ocean from France. The prize, he said, would prove a big stimulus to aviation.

"I am convinced Coste will make New York," the Minister concluded.

Colonel Easterwood told the French Minister that he, like all Americans, was anxious to see the French airplane cross the Atlantic from east to west, as he believed such a feat would help to develop international aviation and incidentally bring France and the United States closer together.

"And I want Coste to land at Love Field, Dallas," he said emphatically.

Lebrix Now Plans Flight.

Naval Lieutenant Joseph Lebrix, famous French airman who was Coste's partner in his 1927 flight to South America, has thrown his hat into the ring as a prospective flier across the North Atlantic. He told Colonel Easterwood today that he expected to see his new plane now under construction completed within three weeks. Whether it would be able to brave the Atlantic this year, he said, naturally would depend upon the weather.

He added he would be accompanied by a pilot and a wireless engineer.

Captain Coste must wait at least two more days for weather good enough for a transatlantic attempt.

The aviator went to the Meteorological Bureau just before noon and talked with General Delcambre, chief of the service, who showed him charts and latest reports. Weather conditions were described as "deplorable" with no chance of a start for at least forty-eight hours.

Germans Reach Croydon.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Two German airmen, Wolf Hirth and Oscar Weller, arrived at Croydon today from Calais in a diminutive forty-horsepower monoplane in which they will attempt to complete a Berlin-to-Chicago air journey. Later they flew on to Hanworth airdrome to await favorable weather reports before starting their Atlantic flight.

"We intend to take the northern route across the Atlantic by way of the Orkneys, Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland," said Herr Hirth, who lost a leg in an air crash. "On this route the longest open-sea crossing is only a few hundred miles instead of 1,800 miles, as by the direct route. We shall not attempt a fast flight."

Their craft has one motor and no radio.

DURATION FLIERS PASS 120 HOURS OF TEST

Five Refueling Contacts Made During the Day as Pilots Take Turns at Controls.

Special to The New York Times.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., July 25.—With the 120-hour mark passed at 8:34 tonight, the red Lycoming-powered Stinson monoplane piloted by Louis Reichers and Robert Black continued to circle its way through the fifth night of a flight scheduled to last above Long Island until Labor Day for a new refueling endurance record. Inside the cabin the two men, who have already weathered several sudden squalls and electrical storms, took turn about at sleeping and piloting. The refueling plane made the last of the day's five contacts with fuel for the night shortly after 8 o'clock.

The five trips made during the day with fuel, oil, food and supplies began at 7:25 this morning, when sixty gallons of gasoline, five of oil, breakfast and the morning newspapers were passed to the fliers by John S. Donaldson and Philip Watson of the refueling crew. Again at noon seventy gallons more of fuel and another five of oil were supplied with luncheon and telegrams. At 3 in the afternoon the fliers radioed the base that more oil was needed immediately and another five-gallon can was passed on a special trip. At 5:30 sixty-five gallons of gasoline and five more of oil were lowered from the refueling plane with dinner for the fliers.

PLANS BLIMP OCEAN FLIGHT.

Otto Brinkmann of New York Having Baby Craft Built in Germany.

AUGSBURG, Germany, July 25 (AP).—A baby blimp is being built here with which Otto Brinkmann of New York plans to attempt a westward flight across the Atlantic.

The ship is 200 feet long and has a gas capacity of 5,000 cubic meters. It will be driven by two 120-horsepower motors.

Mr. Brinkmann, who in 1927 abandoned an attempt to fly from New York to Paris and sold his Sikorsky airplane to Mrs. Grayson, today was homeward bound aboard the steamship New York, arriving in New York on Sunday.

Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, an American woman, was lost, probably at sea, in an attempt in 1927 to hop the Atlantic from New York to Paris. With her perished Brice Goldsborough, her pilot.

BRAZILIANS HONOR BYRD.

Elect Explorer Honorary Fellow of Their National Aero Society.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, July 25.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, in recognition of his polar aerial trips, was elected an honorary fellow of the Brazilian Aero Society at Rio de Janeiro today.

The resolution, which was unanimously voted, reads: "The illustrious Richard Evelyn Byrd is hereby named an honorary fellow of this society in recognition of being the first to cross the North Pole by plane and for his extremely important explorations over the vast unexplored Antarctic regions."

BRITISH FLIERS KEEP LEAD.

Three Reach Breslau With German in Round-Europe Flight.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—The first group of the round-Europe fliers who started on Sunday morning on an international circuit of about 4,750 miles arrived at Breslau tonight. They were the British pilots, Captain H. S. Broad, A. S. Butler and S. A. Thorn, and the German, Reinhold Poss.

Fritz Morzik, last year's winner, remained at Prague. Dr. Georg Pasewaldt, another German pilot; the Frenchman, M. Flat, and the Archduke Anton Hapsburg-Bourbon, are staying at Vienna. The Canadian, T. E. Carberry, who flies the only American machine in the contest, and the Lufthansa pilot, Willi Polte, are spending the night at Munich. P. J. Andrews, another British flier, has reached Berne.

Though A. S. Butler and Captain Broad are leading with a score of 195 points awarded to them for speed, the two Germans, Herren Morzik and Poss, and especially the latter, who have a score of 183, have even better chances, as they are flying lighter machines in the second class and should be able to gain many points for quick starting and landing and for reliability.

The fliers who reached Munich this morning all complained of the unfavorable weather conditions encountered all along the route.

Thea Rasche, well-known German woman stunt flier, crashed to the ground at the Tempelhofer Feld today, but escaped with slight injuries. Her plane was wrecked.

BRITISH HEIR STOPS FLIGHT

Lands Owing to Bad Weather When Half Way to Carnarvon.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—For the second time this week the Prince of Wales has been prevented from flying to Carnarvon. He started from Hendon airdrome today to attend the Royal Welsh agricultural show but when half way there he was forced to land at Birmingham owing to the bad weather conditions.

The agricultural show officials received a message from the Prince's equerry saying the journey had been abandoned on the advice of the Air Ministry.

By the time the Prince had decided not to fly the rest of the way it was too late for him to reach Carnarvon either by train or car. The Prince has never postponed or abandoned an air journey before this week.

FLIER HITS PEAK, KILLED.

Chilean Strikes Mountain While Blinded by Fog.

IQUIQUE, Chile, July 25 (AP).—Lieutenant Jorge Lathrop, Chilean aviator, was killed today when his plane struck a mountain peak while he was flying through a heavy mist. The plane was destroyed and Lieutenant Lathrop died almost immediately.

LITHUANIA BANISHES FORMER DICTATOR

Sends Voldemaras for One Year to Krottingen as a 'Danger to Public Order and Safety.'

HE SIGNS EXPULSION EDICT

Insists on Prerogative as "Rightful Premier"—Government Also Suppresses His Paper.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

KOVNO, Lithuania, July 25.—Professor Augustine Voldemaras, former dictator of Lithuania, was banished today to the governmental farm at Kroettingen, where he will be interned until President Smetona returns from a trip abroad.

Professor Voldemaras, who has defied the government and the President ever since his overthrow, signed the protocol drawn up by the police ordering his arrest, claiming this prerogative as "rightful Premier and Foreign Minister."

The arrest is a direct result of threatening letters which he has addressed frequently to the President and in order to check complaints that Professor Voldemaras was being treated "with a soft glove." Further arrests among his followers are expected here hourly.

KOVNO, Lithuania, July 25 (AP).—Coincident with the arrest of Professor Voldemaras, his paper, the People's Pathway, was suppressed.

It was further asserted in government circles that Professor Voldemaras's political adherents, who are banded together in the organization of "the Iron Wolves," and whose number is estimated at 20,000, have recently become a menace to public order.

The man whose career has come to such a dramatic turn was one of the best known members of the League of Nations Assembly. His insistence that Wilno, now a Polish frontier city, must be restored to Lithuania as rightfully belonging to her, stopped the wheels of the League of Nations machinery on more than one occasion.

Professor Voldemaras was virtual dictator and Premier of Lithuania from 1926 to 1929. His dictatoral methods brought him many enemies, and his fall from power at the general elections last September was as abrupt as was his rise.

The former Premier is 47 years old.

TURKS CHARGE KURDS GOT ARMS FROM IRAQ

Supplies Transported Through Persia, Angora Believes—Six Aviators Killed.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ISTANBUL, July 25.—Turkish troops, in continuing their relentless extermination of the Kurdish rebels around Mount Ararat, have come upon evidence which the authorities say makes it certain that the Kurds were obtaining their arms and ammunition in Iraq, and that these supplies had been transported through Persia.

Late reports received here say that six Turkish aviators lost their lives in battles with the Kurds, but details are lacking.

Making one of his rare public utterances, President Mustapha Kemal pleaded last night for a better feeling between Turkey and Persia and for dispelling the bad atmosphere created by the Kurdish trouble. His speech was delivered at Yalova, a new health resort, where he is spending the Summer in the presence of Husrey Bey, new Turkish Ambassador to Persia.

"Turkish statesmen," said the President, "want Persia to be a well-organized and powerful State." He affirmed his belief in the personality of the Shah, who he said had agreed to accept the cooperation of Turkish troops against the Kurdish rebels. It is considered here that President Kemal's words can be construed both as a friendly gesture and as a warning to Persia.

At the height of the Kurdish rebellion the Turkish Government protested to Persia, alleging that the rebels were obtaining their supplies from that country. But Persia denied this and promised to cooperate with Turkey in stamping out the uprising.

A dispatch earlier this week from Angora reported, however, that Persia had actually lessened rather than increased her frontier forces. It also was stated that fleeing Kurds had abandoned 1,700 empty sacks, which had come from foreign sources.

A conference concerning the Ararat front is said to be pending, with Turkish, Persian and Russian officials participating.

GERMANS HAIL HAYS'S VISIT.

Believe Paris Film Conference Will Lead to International Accord.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—A new atmosphere in international film circles and especially between Berlin and New York has been created by Will H. Hays's visit to Paris and Berlin, in the opinion of the leading film producers here. It is expected that the settlement of the patent dispute and the agreement reached in Paris between the German and American electrical interests will lead to renewed activity here and will inject vitality into the film industry, which lately has been suffering from the uncertainty as to how the fight was going to come out.

It is pointed out Mr. Hays did not achieve all he wanted in Paris, but "he is a practical enough man to know politics is 'the art of the possible,'" as a leading film publication here remarks.

The German Film Theatre Owners' Association announced that the leading American talking films can now be exhibited in Germany, which is considered a friendly gesture calculated to show Americans that the German film interests are ready to back up the agreement reached in Paris and to cooperate in the fullest in the interchange of the best films of each country.

Berlin Taxi Men Would Check Congestion by Four-Day Week

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—That taxicabs with even license numbers should be allowed to operate on even-numbered weekdays only and those with uneven numbers on the alternate days is the suggestion submitted by the Taxicab Owners' and Drivers' Association here to the police as one way of relieving the situation due to the excessive number of cabs which is rendering the business unprofitable. All the cabs would be permitted to work on Sundays.

Berlin has 9,000 taxis and complaints have been frequently raised lately of overcrowding.

Another suggestion would permit only one driver to each cab, thus preventing the system of two and even three shifts.

It is realized that both methods will cause some hardship, but it is felt the situation demands drastic action.

Yugoslavs and Rumanians to Discuss Forming an Economic Bloc With Czechs as Possible Members.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, July 25.—A conference in session since Monday here between representatives of Yugoslavia, Rumania and Hungary broke up today without being able to attain its original object, the formation of a Danube grain cartel. According to an official statement today Virgil Madgearu, Rumanian Finance Minister, there is at present no possibility of forming such a group, since it would require the centralization of export and thus would lead to an export monopoly in the three countries.

It was decided, however, that the three countries could cooperate in the erection of grain elevators and the financing of harvests and that, when this was done, the time would have arrived to consider the possibility of a cartel.

Another positive result of the conference was the drafting of a joint answer to an inquiry by the League of Nations as to in what way and by what means economic cooperation could be achieved between the industrial and agricultural States of Europe.

Would Level Trade Barriers.

In answer, the abolition of the most-favored-nation clause in the case of agricultural imports was urged, since this would neither prevent the protection of domestic agricultural production in industrial States nor injure the interests of non-European countries. It is further suggested that grain trade be freed from all restrictions, including administrative measures designed to protect local agriculture, and that import duties be consolidated on a low level.

The conference just closed will be followed in a few days by another in Sianaia, where representatives of only Yugoslavia and Rumania will discuss the founding of a regional economic bloc, provisionally only on the inside framework of the Little Entente. If Yugoslavia and Rumania reach an understanding, Czechoslovakia will be invited to join in the discussion, as these three countries, it is argued, form an ideal self-contained bloc.

The failure to reach a similar understanding with Hungary is believed to be due rather to national jealousies than to economic difficulties. Some form of economic cooperation between the Danubian States to replace the freedom of trade which existed in the old Austro-Hungarian Empire is dictated by the iron logic of circumstances. No sooner, however, had representatives of the grain trade of Hungary, Rumania and Yugoslavia projected the idea of an agreement between these three countries with common agricultural interests than political jealousies were aroused.

Difficulties Beset Plan.

Prague, which scented therein danger for the Little Entente, did its best to shipwreck the conference. Hungarian die-hards, urging that until Hungary regained its lost territories there should be no trade with its enemies, also lifted up their voices. The result has been the partial failure of the proposal and the substitution therefor of a new bloc in which Czechoslovakia, which is only a partly agricultural State, could be included.

The Prague press comment tonight was none too favorable to the latter idea. It was also hinted officially that a larger scheme for an agrarian entente between nine European States, which Poland has broached, would not receive encouragement from Czechoslovakia or its Little Entente partners and would therefore have to be dropped.

The net conclusion drawn by impartial observers of the proceedings of the last few days is that the proposal for an agrarian bloc, however excellent in itself, will not be allowed to succeed if Czechoslovakia can help it. Czechoslovakia's Foreign Minister, Eduard Benes, founded the Little Entente and is not really anxious to see it lose its identity in any other or larger organization.

BRITISH BAR FRENCH ENTRY

Insist on $8,000 Deposit to Try for Schneider Cup.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Confusion over the holding of next year's Schneider Cup seaplane race became more confounded today when the Royal Aero Club rejected an entry received from the Aero Club de France.

As in the case of the recent rejection of Italy's three entries, the French entry was not accompanied by a forfeit fee of $8,000, required under conditions framed by the Royal Aero Club and agreed to last January by the International Federation.

It is expected that the Federation will summon an early meeting to discuss the impasse. The Royal Aero Club, it is asserted, will insist on the contest being held in British waters in accordance with the right conferred on the holder of the trophy.

BUDGET BILL PASSES HOUSE OF COMMONS

Expenditure of $4,000,000,000 in Year Is Approved by a Vote of 223 to 185.

CHURCHILL ATTACKS LEVIES

Snowden's Only Policy Is the Dole, the Whole Dole and Nothing but the Dole, He Charges.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Fought to the last by the Conservatives through long drawn-out debates, the MacDonald Government's finance bill passed on third reading in the House of Commons today and now goes to the House of Lords. The smallness of the government's majority—thirty-eight—caused some surprise.

There was more entertainment than debate, in which Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, with honeyed words caused the members on all sides to rock with laughter at his shrewd hits at the present Chancellor Philip Snowden.

"How pleasant it must be," said Mr. Churchill airily, "for the Chancellor to see the fruits of the Labor Government's policy so speedily mature in the fields of industry, unemployment and finance."

It was hurled at the Chancellor that Britain's industry was suffering from a large increase in taxation at a time of deep depression and that any benefit from any redemption of one kind of debt was being canceled by an increased debt of another kind. Mr. Snowden responded to all this with a pale smile and put up Frederick W. Pethick-Lawrence to reply for the government. He said:

"Mr. Churchill is beaten. Throughout he has threatened Mr. Snowden that the Opposition would force him to abandon certain clauses, but those clauses are still there. The Chancellor has got the money he wanted and in the way he proposed to raise it. He has erected the barriers against tax evasion which he intended to erect, and for the first time in five years the finances of the country have been put in a sound, intelligible position."

$4,000,000,000 to Be Spent.

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—Great Britain's budget bill calls for expenditures of almost $4,000,000,000.

Sir L. Worthington-Evans, Conservative, led the opposition by moving rejection of the bill, saying it imposed heavy additional taxation at a time when lightening the burden was necessary for the recovery of industry.

"It is more important today to increase employment than to increase the sinking fund," he said.

Winston Churchill, concluding for the Opposition, pointed to increased national expenditures, the falling off of railway dividends and increasing unemployment. He said this was caused by the Labor Government's policy of increased direct taxation and the uncertainty of its attitude toward safeguarding duties. Mr. Churchill berated the Labor policy of dealing with unemployment, adding: "Snowden's only policy is the dole, the whole dole and nothing but the dole."

The Chancellor, faced with the necessity of raising £42,000,000 (about $210,000,000) in new revenue for the coming financial year, prepared a budget levying an additional sixpence on the income tax rate in higher classes. Additional taxes were imposed on the brewing industry.

These together were counted on to bring in £23,750,000. The rest of the revenue needed will come from the death duties, an increased surtax and other minor taxes.

EXAMINATION TESTS TOLD.

Paris Professors Taking Legal Action to Check Students' Foreknowledge.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 25.—Legal action is being taken by the professors of the University of Paris against some person unknown in order to try to discover the origin of the leakage of the contents of examination papers.

In some mysterious way two days before the examinations were held every student in the Latin Quarter seemed to be perfectly aware just what passage of Cicero would be set for translation and just what subjects would be in the papers on philosophy, literature and science.

Every translation of Cicero in the Quarter was bought up two days before the day of the examination and the examiners found that while many students were letter perfect in the written examinations they failed dismally in the oral tests, where no subjects had been set.

It is believed the leakage occurred in the printing house and that some copies of the examination papers got into circulation.

Not only in Paris but at the provincial universities students have been found to have accurate advance knowledge of just what questions would be set.

POLES DISCUSS OUR TARIFF.

Ambassador to Washington Takes Up at Warsaw Effects of Rise.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, July 25.—Tytus Filipowitz, Polish Ambassador at Washington, who arrived in Warsaw a few days ago, is discussing with the government the effect of the new United States tariff on Poland.

Poland is not seriously affected by the increased tariff, as only 1.1 per cent of her total exports goes to the United States, it is pointed out. But it is felt here an increase in Polish exports to the United States is discouraged.

Competition in European markets is increasing export difficulties and Poland is more than ever handicapped. Furthermore, it is feared a fall in production in European industrial countries will be caused by the decline in industrial exports to the United States and by the expected extension of American trade in Europe, in which case industrial Europe will consume less agrarian products.

This and other considerations have induced the Polish Government to approach other European countries in order to find what could be Poland's part in meeting the new American tariff.

CHINESE RADICAL URGES NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Wang Ching-Wei, at Peking, Says People Should Have Chance to Ventilate Grievances.

PEKING, China, July 25 (AP).—Wang Ching-wei, chairman of the Canton Government, today said a national conference must be held to give the people an opportunity to ventilate their grievances. His statement added that the people were disappointed with the Kuomintang owing to Nanking's misrule.

Wang Ching-wei, leader of the Kuomintang Left wing, arrived in Peking this week on the joint invitation of General Yen Hshi-shan and Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, to organize anti-Nanking political factions with a view to forming a separatist government in North China.

"Nanking is opposed to holding a national conference," the radical leader asserted, "because of a fear that it would upset the program of the Kuomintang. In my opinion the program and the principles of the Kuomintang should be submitted to the people for acceptance or rejection. The Kuomintang should recognize the rights of other political parties to exist, provided they are not subversive of social order or the form of government."

Wang said he would leave shortly for the battle front to interview the Northern commanders.

EGYPT'S PARLIAMENT MEETS DESPITE KING

Nationalists Announce After Secret Session Defiance by Non-Cooperation.

CAIRO, Egypt, Saturday, July 26 (AP).—Nationalist Deputies held a secret, unofficially called "session of Parliament" early this morning at the Saadist Club and passed a motion of non-confidence in the government of Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha. The meeting was convened in defiance of King Fuad and the government.

The Wafdists met under the presidency of Abdel Salaam Fahmy, vice president of the Chamber of Deputies, which has been adjourned by order of the King.

After the meeting Nahas Pasha, former Premier and Wafdist leader, announced the Nationalists would immediately start a non-cooperation movement, beginning with refusal to pay taxes, much in the same fashion as Mahatma Gandhi did in the India civil disobedience campaign.

The Deputies read and approved a petition to King Fuad asking him to convene a special session of Parliament.

The Wafdist Executive announced that no further demonstrations would be held today. The regard their secret session, held just after midnight, as carrying out their threat to hold a session of Parliament in defiance of King and Cabinet, and have abandoned their project of holding a session in the Parliament buildings.

As King Fuad had not replied to their petition for a session, this morning's meeting will almost certainly be regarded as illegal and defiant.

BULL KILLS A MATADOR.

Fatality at Escalona, Spain—Five Gored in Filming of Fight in Seville.

TOLEDO, Spain, July 25 (AP).—A young bull was the victor over a young matador in a bullfight in the suburb of Escalona today. One of the horns of the bull pierced the right thigh of Pedro Montes, and the youth died in a hospital from loss of blood.

SEVILLE, July 25 (AP).—A bullfight scene in the filming of a movie became too realistic today when the bull leaped over a fence and charged into a crowd. Five persons were gored. One is expected to die.

Diestro Rayito, who had the part of a matador in the play, became a matador in fact and finally killed the animal.

The picture was being filmed in the Plaza Maestranza. A large number of people had gathered there to watch the actors and the camera men.

from the torrential downpours, with Lynn., Mass., reporting $100,000 damage and Springfield $50,000.

Storm Damage Repaired.

The damage caused locally by Thursday's storms was almost completely repaired yesterday, although 500 of the 2,718 telephone lines put out of commission in the Wall Street area were still dead at the opening of business. It was explained that the afternoon storm, Thursday, had undone much of the repair work done during the day.

While other sections were complaining of too much water (Westerleigh, S. I., reported a fall of 1.45 inches during the brief storm Thursday afternoon) Baltimore had a very different story to tell. The worst drought the city and much of Maryland has experienced in thirty years was causing considerable hardship.

While Frederick and Boonesboro were appealing to the Baltimore Health Department for aid in supplementing their water supplies, one of the city's pumping stations broke down and residents were warned to conserve water until repairs are effected. The five deaths in Baltimore yesterday brought the total for the last week to eleven.

Drought was also acute in Kentucky, where for four months only occasional thunder showers have broken the dry spell. Governor Flem D. Thomson directed the State Highway Department to offer its equipment for hauling water into the blue grass sections, while the War Department in Washington authorized the use of army trucks from Fort Thomas for that purpose. In several Kentucky towns water was being rationed.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and bring a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cooked food. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW NAVAL POLICY TO FIT LONDON PACT

General Board Is Undertaking Revision to Maintain Our Sea Strength.

BIG AIR FORCE PROJECTED

Designers Study Way to Launch Planes From Larger Treaty Submarines and Destroyers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A survey of the tactical and construction elements involved in the London treaty is being made by the navy General Board with a view to an entire revision of the American naval policy which has been in effect since the Washington treaty of 1922.

The 1922 policy, for which the board and the majority of naval officers contended during the London conference and the subsequent Senate committee hearings on the treaty, declared for a navy second to none and for maintenance of the 5-5-3 ratio, with emphasis as to cruisers placed upon 8-inch gun, 10,000-ton vessels.

The London treaty is considered to have departed from that policy in respect to the ratio with Great Britain and Japan on cruisers. To meet this situation the General Board has in prospect important amendment of the old policy or the drafting of a completely new one. Although the studies will probably require several weeks for completion, the general lines are already taking shape.

Some officers contend that the London treaty, so far as future limitation is concerned, has definitely placed emphasis upon the status quo of the world's navies, rather than upon any ratio as defined in prior treaties. Indications are that the General Board considers this problem, of maintenance of relative sea power through a revised American policy, a more immediate and vital one than the determination of what ships should be built within the limits authorized for the United States under the London pact.

Aircraft Experiments Under Way.

So far as the latter phase is concerned, some high naval officers predict that no new or unusual construction will be recommended.

However, naval designers, acting on their own initiative and in a speculative way, are working on projects for extensive development of aircraft strength, although these efforts, it was said today, were without significance so far as any settled departmental policy was concerned.

The designers are experimenting with the possibility of equipping all combatant naval vessels with one or more planes. This would mean the addition of facilities for launching and taking on planes to destroyers and submarines, as battleships and cruisers already carry aircraft.

Among the experiments is one calling for the use of an airplane to be folded and stowed inside a submarine. One such plane is under construction which would require a watertight compartment in a submersible with an opening sufficient to elevate the folded plane to the surface. No such submarine has yet been built, and experiments along these lines conducted in the past were unsuccessful.

The London treaty permits construction by the United States of three submarines of 2,800 tons each. These craft, it is believed by the experimenters would be large enough to handle a plane of the small scouting type which could serve as "eyes" to the undersea ship.

On Destroyers and Cruisers.

Plans to experiment with the use of airplanes on destroyers are also being studied by Assistant Secretary Ingalls in charge of naval aeronautics. These small vessels are so unstable in a heavy sea that it has been held that planes could be operated from them only with the assistance of airplane carriers in the immediate vicinity.

The London treaty provides for some 1,850-ton destroyers, while the largest now in service is of 1,051 tons. The aeronautical designers consider it possible that the larger vessels could launch an airplane.

Although there has been much speculation in naval circles of the world as to possible international competition in designing combined cruisers and airplane carriers so as to take advantage of the provision in the London treaty permitting 25 per cent of the cruisers to be equipped with landing decks, there is no present disposition among prominent American naval officers to look for any immediate competition in this field.

These officers consider that America's first naval needs will be found to centre largely upon destroyers and submarines, to take care of replacements. They indicated that their chief concern was over the readiness of Congress to make appropriations to bring the navy up to approximate treaty strength.

There still is apparent a strong disposition in naval circles to forego building many six-inch gun cruisers, as they are considered a type not needed by the navy, at least in great number. It was admitted, however, that in time it might be desirable to build several with landing decks so that they might carry perhaps twenty planes.

On the other hand, there is no present intention of equipping eight-inch-gun cruisers with these decks, it being maintained that these cruisers with normal equipment can carry as many as eight planes, sufficient for the dispersed operations for which the big cruisers are being developed.

The General Board's findings on all these questions are expected to be available by October, so that a program in the form of an authorization bill can be submitted to Congress when it convenes in December.

Naval Treaty Bill in House of Lords

Schmeling Dives to Save Life As Motor Boat Sinks in Lake

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—Max Schmeling, the world's heavyweight champion, had a narrow escape from death today when his motorboat went to the bottom of the Schermuetzelsee, a large lake thirty miles from Berlin.

Driving alone in the centre of the lake in stormy weather, Herr Schmeling saw the boat quickly filling with water. He was compelled to dive at once to get away from the boat. The craft had disappeared when he came to the surface.

While swimming, the boxer rid himself of his heavy overcoat, leather jacket and boots. When, after thirty minutes, another motor boat came to his rescue, the champion was practically exhausted.

Tonight Herr Schmeling had fully recovered and went to his new Berlin home.

ROOSEVELT HAILED BY CHILD CRIPPLES

Governor Speaks at Dedication of Home Built for Them at Newington, Conn.

LAUDS GAINS BY SCIENCE

Trumbull Sees Great Progress by State in Restoring Youth to Health.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 25.—Governor Roosevelt of New York delivered the principal address at the dedication this afternoon of the new building for crippled children in Newington and gained their enduring friendship, speaking as one who like them was benefiting by modern science and methods.

As he made his way to the rostrum Governor Roosevelt received a hearty welcome, especially from the little children, some of whom were wheeled in lying on their cots. The Governor was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Margaret Lehand and Corporal Earl Miller of the New York State police. Speaking directly to the children, Governor Roosevelt said:

"We are fortunate to be living in an age when science and modern methods may aid our afflictions. Fifty years ago we would not have been able to get off our backs because then there were no fine modern hospitals and infirmaries such as this beautiful and well-equipped building we are dedicating this afternoon.

"In New York we have a State home at West Haverstraw, but from what I have seen here this afternoon I realize we must reorganize our work in New York, for I tell you frankly we have nothing to compare with this wonderful structure and the splendid organization of your superintendent, Miss Constance Leigh."

Governor Trumbull of Connecticut in dedicating the new building, said in part:

"On the board of directors of the Newington Home I lay the responsibility of seeing to it that these buildings are properly cared for and adequately maintained. I give to them the task of caring for the welfare of the home, with a sincere expectation that in the years to come Newington will play a large part in providing increased mobility and economic independence for the handicapped children of this State."

Winchell Smith, playwright and son of Mrs. Virginia T. Smith, who more than thirty years ago founded the institution in Newington, unveiled a bronze tablet on a flagstaff dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Smith.

POSTAL RATE RISE CONTINUES IN FAVOR

Brown Expected to Urge in His Report Increase in First-Class Charge to 2½ Cents.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—While no definite action has been taken by the Postoffice Department toward increasing the rate on first-class mail from 2 to 2½ cents, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown is in favor of the incerase and it is understood he will recommend such action in his annual report this Fall.

First indications of the possible increase were given by the Postmaster General in a speech before the Bronx Board of Trade last month. Similar suggestions were made by Third Assistant Postmaster General Frederic A. Tilton before a group of publishers in Asheville, N. C., ten days ago. Since then there has been no statement on the subject by Mr. Brown or his associates.

Action in the matter is vested in Congress, which alone has the power to raise or lower the postal rates.

Added revenues which would result from the increase have been estimated at from $55,000,000 to $60,000,000 a year, eliminating much of the annual deficit.

ASKS CARE OF LADY HEATH.

Nurse Petitions to Be Guardian of Flier, Holding Her "Incompetent."

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP).—Lady Mary Heath, the aviatrix, who was seriously injured in an airplane crash here eleven months ago, was alleged today to be "incompetent by reason of mental disorders" in an application for appointment as her guardian, filed in probate court by her nurse and companion, Miss Florence Madden.

The application revealed that Lady Mary entered the Delhurst Sanitarium at Mentor on Thursday for treatment. Members of the sanitarium staff said she was suffering chiefly from a nervous condition which appeared to be the result of her injuries in the accident.

Lady Mary suffered a fractured skull when her plane crashed into the top of a building while she was testing it to enter the national air races. An unusually delicate operation saved her life, but she was unconscious for several weeks.

The petition said that Lady Mary was no longer able properly to take care of herself and her property consisting of a trust fund from which she receives an annual income of $3,500.

GEHLBACH GAINS IN AIR DERBY LEAD

Covers 325 Miles From Houston to San Angelo, Texas, in 2 Hours 15½ Minutes.

QUIMBY HOLDS 2D PLACE

Bayless Is Third and Eight Other Entrants Make Fast Time, One Being Delayed.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, July 25 (AP).—Lieutenant Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark., led the dozen fliers participating in the all-American air derby into San Angelo from Houston today, landing in his little Rocket plane at 11:16:35 A. M.

He flew the 329-mile lap in 2 hours 15 minutes 35 seconds, nearly sixteen minutes faster than his closest competitor, and his elapsed time since the racers left Detroit Monday was 17:38:07, almost two hours ahead of of the runner-up, Stub Quinby, of Moline, Ill.

Quinby made the flight from Houston in 2:31:20, bringing his total elapsed time to 19:29:29, for second place in the race thus far.

Lowell Bayless of Springfield, Mass., was the third to settle on the local field, his time for the lap being 2:38:29, bringing his elapsed time to 19:32:18.

Herman Hamer of Chicago, fourth to land, had third best time for the day's flying, 2:38 flat. However, he had no elapsed time to compute, since he dropped out as an official contender when he was forced to land before reaching Houston yesterday, losing several hours.

The fliers are to take off tomorrow for Douglas, Ariz.

Others reached the field in this order (with time shown for the Houston-San Angelo lap and total elapsed time):

Stanley Stanton of Blackwell, Okla., 2:45:49 and 20:11:50.

Harry Ogden of Englewood, Cal., 2:51:14 and 23:59:15.

Charles Meyers of Cleveland, Ohio, 2:55:50 and 21:42:02.

J. R. Wedell of New Orleans, 3:11:49 and 20:18:03.

Joe Meehan of Ironton, Ohio, 3:08:12 and 23:09:34.

Bill Cahill of Cleveland, Ohio, 3:10:05 and 23:10:57.

Cecil Coffrin of Brooklyn, 3:19:10; no available elapsed time.

Larry Brown of Los Angeles, 4:24:50 and 29:08:29.

Wedell said he lost an hour in a field near Brady, fifty miles from here, while he repaired a broken oil line.

Advices from Houston late today said H. W. Holladay, a straggling flier entered in the derby, had hopped off for San Angelo, hoping eventually to join the main group. He was delayed by a crippled plane at Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

HOOVERS AND 17 GUESTS GO TO MOUNTAIN CAMP

District Officials Go to Discuss Capital Improvements—Dust Envelops Party.

Special to The New York Times.

LURAY, Va., July 25.—The President and Mrs. Hoover are at their fishing lodge tonight in the Shenandoah National Park, near Rapidan, Va. They will not return to the White House until Monday morning.

They were accompanied here today by seventeen guests, including officials of the District of Columbia, who went to the camp to discuss the affairs of the District with the President. Mr. Hoover has not had any opportunity previously to consult with District officials regarding improvements at the capital.

The three District Commissioners, Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, Brig. Gen. Herbert R. Crosby and Major John C. Gotwals, were in the party, and Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, who is director of buildings and parks, also was present.

The other guests were Mrs. Reichelderfer, Mrs. Crosby, Senator David Baird of New Jersey and Mrs. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. David Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sullivan, Howard Heinz of Pittsburgh and A. W. Shaw of Pittsburgh, chairman of the committee named by President Hoover to study economic changes.

Mrs. Stark McMullin of Palo Alto, Mrs. Hoover's intimate friend, who is a guest at the White House; Lawrence Richey, one of the President's secretaries, and Captain Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, were the other members of the party.

The Presidential party ran into terrific dust clouds twice going from Washington to the camps while detouring from the main highway, once on the five-mile stretch of a new cut-off road near New Baltimore, and again between Culpepper and Criglersville. The dust was so thick that the windows of all the automobiles were closed.

There has been no rain of consequence in this section of Virginia for many weeks. The drought has made all dirt roads very dusty. The President passed several small forest fires today. While there are no such fires near the camp, there was much smoke there this evening from burning timber further away.

The President and his guests were pleased to find the weather cool, in striking contrast to the heat they left behind in Washington.

COOLIDGE CLASH DENIED.

His Inscription Will Be Judged by Rushmore Memorial Board.

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 25 (AP).—Representative William Williamson, member of the Federal Rushmore Memorial Commission, said yesterday that there had been no controversy between Calvin Coolidge and the commission or Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, over the brief history which the former President is to write for the mountain memorial.

Mr. Williamson said that news dispatches from Washington on Wednesday were "his first intimation" of a purported new invitation to Mr. Coolidge to write for the memorial a new inscription which Mr. Borglum would "not be allowed" to revise. The dispatches were credited to Mr. Williamson's Washington office.

"The correct facts," Mr. Williamson said, "are that the commission on July 8 adopted a resolution asking Mr. Coolidge to submit the complete text of his historical inscription at its next meeting, Nov. 19, at Chicago. Mr. Coolidge was invited to attend the meeting."

Denying that Mr. Borglum was to be allowed to revise or edit the text, Mr. Williamson said the whole commission is to pass on its acceptability as submitted by Mr. Coolidge.

He said that the former President had not criticized revisions by Mr. Borglum, but "had merely requested that his name not be signed to an edited version or that it be referred to in publicity as such."

Industry's Advance Menaces Church of Gray's Elegy

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—The little church at Stoke Poges, which Thomas Gray immortalized by his "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," is in danger.

The invasion of red brick bungalows and factories is creeping so close to the churchyard wall that an appeal for $150,000 was issued tonight to save the church and green fields around it for future generations.

Lovers of the district have already obtained options on nearly all vital parcels of land. It is hoped to purchase the manor house and an adjoining thirty acres for the Penn-Gray Museum to house precious relics of the William Penn family and the poet who made Stoke Poges known throughout the English-speaking world.

METHODIST GROUP SAILS FOR BRAZIL

American Members of Commission Will Help Set Up Autonomous Church There.

The American members of a commission authorized at the convention in Dallas, Texas, last May of the Methodist Episcopal Church South to set up an autonomous Methodist Church in Brazil left New York last night on the Munson liner Southern Cross. They will take part in three conferences to be held in August at Petropolis, Sao Paulo and Passo Funda, Brazil, at which the fifteen Brazilian delegates to the convention will be elected. Then the twenty will meet at Sao Paulo in a constitutional convention to set up the autonomous church.

Bishop James Cannon Jr., who numbers the bishopric of Brazil among his offices, will preside at the three conferences, but will not be a member of the American delegation to the convention.

W. Erskine Williams, an attorney of Fort Worth, Texas, and prominent Methodist layman, explained here yesterday that the identical procedure was being followed in setting up autonomous churches in Korea and Mexico. The Methodists of these countries were formerly under the combined jurisdiction of the Northern and Southern branches of the American church; in Brazil, however, the Southern body was in charge. Mr. Williams will write a series of articles about the convention for The Fort Worth Star Telegram and The Dallas Times Herald.

Besides Mr. Williams, the members of the commission include Miss Esther Case of Nashville, Tenn., a foreign mission secretary of the church; the Rev. Dr. F. S. Love, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Raleigh, N. C., and the Rev. Dr. J. L. Clark of Danville, Ky.

WAR MOTHERS MEET VETERANS IN FRANCE

Men of Rainbow Division Cheer Negro Gold Star Group—Former Name New Yorker as Leader.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CHALONS-SUR-MARNE, July 25.—Veterans of the American Rainbow Division were met with a warm reception at Châlons this morning when they revisited what was their headquarters on the eve of their biggest fight alongside the French under General Henri Gouraud during the 1918 German offensive. When the veterans arrived they were welcomed by the Prefect of the Marne Department and the Mayor of Châlons.

In the election of officers for the coming year the Rainbow Division Veterans' Association chose Colonel Cooper Wynn of New York as its president and Dr. John E. Soper of Minnesota, Marion Stephens of Iowa and Arthur Cunningham of New York as vice presidents.

During the veterans' luncheon, a party of Negro Gold Star mothers who are touring the battlefields arrived in the town. At once the veterans left their luncheon and gave the mothers a rousing welcome in the Place de la Republique.

At 6 o'clock this evening a reception was given to the delegation by French officials at the Town Hall, headed by General Gouraud, who motored from Paris. Many toasts were proposed and old war songs, both French and English, were sung. Later, General Gouraud and many civic officials attended the veterans' banquet at a hotel.

Every one of the veterans found his greatest pleasure during the day in revisiting the house where he had been billeted and seeing the streets and landmarks he remembered from when the division marched through Châlons in the early hours of the morning of July 4, 1918, en route for the sector the division held during the great German attack, which began at midnight July 14 and was successfully repulsed after six hours of intense fighting. Next day the French and American forces counter-attacked with equal success, and a great offensive was carried out on this line.

Tomorrow the veterans will lay two wreaths on the monument at Navarin Farm erected by General Gouraud in honor of his Iron Division and the Rainbow Division, which fought beside it under his command. The company will then visit other places on the front where the Rainbow Division was in action.

LADY EDNAM'S RITES HELD.

Prince of Wales Sends a Wreath With His Love for Air Crash Victim

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Viscountess Ednam, who met death in a Junkers air taxi crash over Kent, was buried today in her "Garden of Memory" in the grounds of Himley Hall in Staffordshire. This is the resting place she made for her 7-year-old son who was killed in Chelsea last December when his cycle ran under a motor truck.

The young Viscountess was immensely popular in royal circles. Among a vast number of wreaths which lay amid the grass at the feet of the apple trees was a sheaf of pink and red roses sent by the Prince of Wales with a card on which he had written, "With love from E. P."

TOPICS OF INTEREST TO THE CHURCHGOER

The Rev. T. A. Sparks, Clerical Club Head, Accepts Call of Philadelphia Congregation.

ROBES FOR DR. GILBERT

Group Is Formed to Buy Vestments for New Bishop—Evangelistic Committee Asks Aid.

The Rev. Thomas A. Sparks, rector of St. Clement's Protestant Episcopal Church, 423 West Forty-sixth Street, has accepted a call to the rectorship of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont, Philadelphia. He will begin his duties there on Sept. 15 next. He is president of the Clerical Club of New York, membership in which is confined to Anglo-Catholic clergymen.

At the convention in May of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, at which the Rev. Dr. Charles K. Gilbert was elected Suffragan Bishop to succeed the late Bishop Herbert Shipman, Mr. Sparks received the second highest vote, being the candidate of the extreme Anglo-Catholic group. In his new parish he will succeed the Rev. Charles Townsend Jr., who resigned after serving eighteen years to accept a call to St. Stephen's Church, Providence, R. I.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York, who sailed on Thursday on the Europa, will attend the celebrations of the 400th anniversary of the Augsburg Confession in Germany and will visit Lutheran leaders in that country, Austria, Hungary and France.

The Rev. Dr. Alexander G. Cummins, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and editor of The Chronicle, is chairman of a committee to provide for Episcopal vestments for the Rev. Dr. Charles K. Gilbert, secretary of the diocese, who will be consecrated Suffragan Bishop this Fall in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The plan is to give Dr. Gilbert two complete sets of robes. Other members of the committee are the Rev. Dr. W. Russell Bowie, rector of Grace Church; the Rev. John A. Wade, rector of St. John's Church; Professor Howard Chandler Robbins of the General Theological Seminary, the Rev. Francis A. Sanborn, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, the Bronx; R. Fulton Cutting and Charles Burlingham, vestrymen in St. George's Church.

The twenty-first anniversary of the death of the Rev. Dr. William Reed Huntington, who for twenty-six years was rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal Church, Broadway and Tenth Street, will be observed at 12:30 o'clock today with a service in Huntington Close, adjoining the church, the land for which was purchased soon after his death by the parishioners and made into a garden. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Eliot White and the Rev. W. S. Eddy, both of whom were closely associated with Dr. Huntington.

The Evangelistic Committee of New York City, with headquarters at 12 West Eighty-fifth Street, has issued an appeal for financial help.

"A crisis really confronts us," said a circular letter to the friends of the work issued this week. "Our income is so small that unless we receive funds immediately it will be necessary to close down the work, surely a calamity to the Master's cause, especially at this time, when prayerful Christian effort is so much needed to combat the forces of sin in this great city.

"We are in the midst of a very productive campaign of open air, tent, radio, foreign and other important activities and are reaching all ages, conditions and nationalities of people, who need Christ in their daily lives, including the dangerous element, among whom are the Communists, the Soviet, the atheists and others whose attitude toward our religion and government must be changed. Such change is possible through preaching the gospel, personal interviews, distribution of Bibles, Testaments, tracts and other religious literature."

Dr. Shailer Matthews, dean of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, will sail Friday on the Olympic to attend an international conference to be held in Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 12, "to bring about peace through a unity of creeds." Seventy religious leaders are expected to be present.

The Rev. Dr. John R. Atkinson, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Seventy-first Street, west of Broadway, will conduct the services there for the rest of the Summer. He and Mrs. Atkinson have been abroad since the middle of May.

Miss M. Jessie Lohr has accepted the secretaryship of Fordham Methodist Church, Marion Avenue and Fordham Road, the Bronx.

Gift by Hearns to Girls' Home.

A roof terrace for the use of business girls living at the new Hotel Evangeline, Salvation Army home for business girls at 123 West Thirteenth Street, will be opened Aug. 1, it was announced yesterday. The garden, which tops the sixteen-story structure, is the gift of James A. Hearn & Son, near-by department store, and was designed by John Hambleton, art and publicity director of that organization.

FIFTEEN MISSIONARIES SURROUNDED IN CHINA

Consul Says Americans Remained Despite Reds—Several to Operate Hospital.

PEKING, July 25 (AP).—A delayed message from Consul John J. Muccio today told the whereabouts of about fifteen American missionaries in the Chinese war zone whom he was unable to take with the twenty-one he returned to Foochow Wednesday night.

He said that W. F. Cassidy of the American Board of Missions and another official were surrounded by Communists at Kienyang, Fukien Province. James Murphy and the Revs. Curran and Black remained to assist them.

Drs. Edward L. Bliss, Walter L. Judd and Skinner and Mrs. Skinner remained to operate their hospital at Shaowu, crowded with wounded soldiers.

Dr. Ruth Hemingway was too ill to travel, but was not regarded as in immediate danger.

The American Legation here was advised that the government troops of President Chiang Kai-shek had recaptured Pochow, near the Honan-Anhui border, and that the Foreign Office was arranging to get in touch with Miss Barrett and about five other American Southern Baptist missionaries stranded there.

Mr. Muccio was accompanied by the British Consul when he went after the marooned churchmen, and twenty-three British missionaries were rescued with the twenty-one Americans. They had been stranded for some weeks in a region fought over by the government troops and their rebel opponents.

WELFARE SOCIETY TO DISBAND IN QUEENS

Group Aiding Families Reports Lack of Funds—Raised $1,700 for $52,000 Budget.

The Family Welfare Society of Queens, a charitable organization of eight years' standing, soon will be disbanded, according to an announcement yesterday by Miss Kathleen Wehrbein, executive secretary. The organization has been unable to obtain sufficient funds to carry on its work of aiding needy families, it was explained, and by August four of the five district stations will close their doors. The Jamaica station, which serves central Queens, will remain open until Nov. 1.

Miss Wehrbein estimated that about 1,500 families in the borough would be affected and pointed out that the organization is the only social agency in Queens tending to family needs.

"If the organization were not needed there would be no regret in closing," she explained yesterday, "but there is a very definite need. At the present time, when unemployment is acutely actual, our organization has daily seen an increase in calls for aid. We have been unable to care for many of the calls we received. I do not know where the hundreds of families we do care for will go for help when we close down.

"We cannot aid needy families without money, even though we have volunteer workers. It is a pitiful situation that so great a community as Queens cannot offer aid to the needy families of the community."

The proposed budget of the society for its work in 1930 was set at $52,000, but only $1,700 was raised by public subscription in the 1929 campaign. The organization has depended upon a few philanthropists in the past to meet its budgets, it was explained, but it could not go on with its work on such a temporary basis.

MRS. WHITNEY EXTENDS SITE FOR ART MUSEUM

Sculptress Buys Rhinelander Leasehold in West 8th St. for New Centre.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, sculptress and art patron, who is establishing a museum devoted exclusively to American art in West Eighth Street, has added to the site for the new art centre by purchasing the Rhinelander leasehold at 12 West Eighth Street from Fred W. Sittenham, who announced the purchase yesterday. Mrs. Whitney controls the adjoining properties at 8, 10 and 14 West Eighth Street and by acquiring the four-story house at 12 she now controls a frontage of 100 feet on the south side of the street, between Washington Square West and Fifth Avenue.

The property has been held for years by Daniel Chester French, and the sale of the leasehold yesterday was negotiated by Robert C. Bush.

Mrs. Whitney announced plans for endowment of the new museum last January and said then that the institution would be known as the Whitney Museum of American Art. Mrs. Whitney has already presented to her new museum a collection of 400 paintings. The museum will be open to the public next November.

The buildings in Eighth Street are all three and four story structures, which formerly housed the Whitney Studio Club and now are occupied by the Whitney Studio Galleries.

Americans Favored to Regain Trophy —Cochet-Brugnon Face Allison-Van Ryn in Doubles Today.

By LANSING WARREN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AUTEUIL, France, July 25.—With a match apiece, France and the United States are tied in the challenge round of their struggle for the Davis Cup, which tonight found the fate of the trophy in a tense state of uncertainty.

In the first day's play, William T. Tilden, exercising an amazing tennis strategy which never has been excelled in his brilliant career, wore down and then trampled on his old-time rival, Jean Borotra, by the convincing score of 2—6, 7—5, 6—4, 7—5.

Henri Cochet of France then made up for this disaster to the French colors by crushing young George Lott of Chicago in three straight sets, 6—4, 6—2, 6—2.

Tilden's triumph over Borotra and the strength and coolness with which he finished his surprising performance brought hopes for his powerful game to overwhelm Cochet on Sunday. The Borotra who was seen staggering weakly off the court after the Tilden encounter furnished cause for doubt as to whether he can overcome Lott's dogged playing.

So evenly balanced do the next two singles matches appear that the French team's managers have decided to use Cochet with Jacques Brugnon in the doubles tomorrow in a desperate effort to wrest this match from America's fresh young champions, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, whose faulty exhibition against Italy last week gives the Frenchmen hope that their game is not impregnable.

Foresee Strain on Cochet.

But should France fail in this attempt another question is advanced: Can Cochet on his third day of successive playing have the force to dominate the star Tilden has proved himself to be on enemy's ground today?

It is impossible to gauge Cochet's condition upon the basis of his contest with Lott. He gave repeated demonstrations of his intuitive genius in finding the ball and in placing it out of range, which makes him the world's leading tennis star.

Time and again Lott, outclassed, stood still on the court after losing a point, as though bewildered. But Cochet at the same time played an uneven game. He drove outside much more than seemed necessary and frequently, after working himself into a dominating position, smashed or drove into the net.

Whether this was due to the fact that he was not pushed hard enough to sustain his tension in play or because he was off form is hard to say. In fact, he played a better game than was necessary to win. The fact that he is an accepted figure on the doubles team tomorrow means that Cochet himself believes he has the punch to carry him through.

Lott Makes Good Showing.

Though Lott was distanced by Cochet, he did not play poorly. His performance was much better than last year's fight against Cochet and he showed himself possessed of qualities of regularity, variety and stamina which will enable him to rate to advantage against Borotra.

A close struggle is looked for in the doubles play in which the Americans appear to be favored. But given the pitch of excitement under which the match will be played and the extraordinary heights a Frenchman is capable of reaching with the crowd roaring encouragement, the tide may turn the other way.

Should the United States win the doubles encounter, France will have to pin her hopes on two doubtful matches. It seems to resolve down to a question of whether Cochet can stand the strain. If he weakens against Tilden, the Davis Cup will become a transatlantic export against which the United States has raised no tariff wall.

Tilden's victory over Borotra was magnificent to watch for an impartial spectator but heart-breaking for those whose sympathy was with the Basque. Tilden took a long chance from the beginning and his coolness carried him through.

Keeps Borotra on Run.

He surrendered the first set with a heavy loss, sacrificing points and games in a continuous effort to keep Borotra running while saving every step for himself. Tilden played from the base line but his strokes were hard, every one twisting with speed and wicked cuts.

Borotra, with the frantic grandstands encouraging his erorr, tumbled into the trap and ran from side to side of the court, lunged forward to the net, ran back to the base line and came forward again while Tilden lengthened and shortened his drives and varied them in from side to side and deep and near to net.

After long volleys, many of these exchanges ended with Borotra's admirable kill stroke at the net or by Tilden's driving out in an attempt to make the Basque run harder.

At the end of the first set which Borotra took, 6—2, he was still fresh but Tilden did not increase his pace. Here was where Tilden showed tremendous courage in holding to the play he had outlined for the Basque began forging toward another victorious set.

Tilden persistently troubled Borotra with his high bounding service which the Basque was forced often to return beyond the baseline. Tilden unseemingly tightened his play but still gave away games in order to keep Borotra running.

It was not until the score stood 5—2 in Borotra's favor that Tilden started his rally. He began running for Borotra's placements. He even rushed to net and for the next five games it was a terrific struggle.

Tilden fought hard in this interval and the stands, crowded with nearly 10,000 spectators, had many thrills in this period. Tilden won five straight games to take the set and in this struggle he virtually won the match. Borotra's force crumpled under the strain. He was breathing hard and seemed suffering from pains in his lungs.

When the third set opened, Borotra's fatigue progressed while Tilden was perfectly cool and collected. As the match went on Borotra became visibly wobbly and Tilden took the advantage of every opening.

Score Is 4—All.

Borotra was playing in desperate spurts and managed to push the score to 4—all, but in between plays his feet were dragging. He sometimes swung wildly in his serve and nearly rolled on the ground after an effort to recover Tilden's drive.

This set provoked the stands to violent jeering at the referee, who stood his ground against public disapproval. When the score stood 2—3 in Borotra's favor and 40—15 Tilden's serve, Tilden's base line shots which Borotra let go were called good by the linesman and there was a frantic protest from the crowd.

Borotra scored three points in succession and then put over a fourth serve when Tilden was apparently not ready. Tilden made a stab for the ball, then protested to the referee who, however, gave the game to Borotra. The crowd this time was with Tilden but the referee stood firm and refused to alter his decision while Tilden in fury began the next game's service. From that moment on he drove steadily on to victory. Borotra scarcely was able to walk unaided from the court at the end of this set, and when he returned after the ten-minute interval appeared not at all refreshed.

The final set was a pitiful exhibition of a cat playing with a mouse. Borotra had to nerve himself for nearly every stroke and frequently stumbled during the play. Tilden, using every variety of his extraordinary stroke, ran the score to 5—1 but the Basque was courageous. In his next game, by a superhuman effort, Borotra pushed himself into a running rally, making beautiful strokes with what visibly was the last ounce of his energy for the moment.

Tilden Reduces Pace.

Tilden, with an eye to the spectacular, seemed to reduce his pace and Borotra won a game. The French fans went wild with applause and Borotra again on sheer nerve fought on stroke by stroke, each time producing energy when he seemed about to collapse on the court.

But Borotra's nerve and the crowd's enthusiasm carried Borotra far beyond what Tilden had anticipated and for the moment the exhausted man who was struggling on his courage alone was playing a winning game. Tilden's efforts to recover the lead were momentarily useless and Borotra ran the set to deuce against Tilden's real desire.

But he was unequal for anything more. Tilden took the eleventh game against a player who was growing giddy, and in an attempt to return one of Tilden's cannon ball curves in the last game of the match Borotra's racquet sailed clean out of his grasp and bounced upon the court. Dizzily Borotra scored two points, but he was finished and the last ball Tilden allowed the beaten Basque to blindly drive outside the court. Tilden had beaten Borotra once again for his eighth major tournament victory in succession over the Basque.

Cochet's Victory No Surprise.

Cochet's game against Lott disclosed no surprises, but unfortunately Cochet was not sufficiently pressed to reveal his form. As played, however, the match did nothing to tarnish Lott's good standing and only showed that he needs more experience and a little more speed to be ranked with the greatest of players.

He was somewhat nervous facing the great Cochet before so large a crowd but made some splendid strokes fully worthy of his opponent, and on numerous occasions his service was devastating.

The matches were played under a leaden and threatening sky with the sun showing through enough to turn Novemberlike weather into oppressive mugginess. Tomorrow the weather man promises increased heat with showers impending.

PALMER WINS NET TITLE.

Triumphs Over Donovan in Long Island Centre Junior Tourney.

Winning his second junior championship in four weeks, Ray Palmer Jr., Eastern junior champion, took three hard-fought sets from E. Ramey Donovan to capture the junior singles in the Long Island Centre championships at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, yesterday, 6—4, 6—3, 7—5. Marvin Freudenheim, Mount Vernon star, had an easy time winning the boys' singles title, as he turned back Richard Gilder in straight sets, 6—2, 6—1.

Palmer met with stern opposition throughout his match with Donovan, and, although he won in straight sets, his triumph was uncertain until the very end. Donovan's excellent net play put across many difficult shots that resulted in points.

BURNS ELIMINATES FEIBLEMAN AT NET

Brooklyn Player in Brilliant Form Triumphs, 6-2, 6-3, to Gain Turf Court Semi-Final.

HUNTER DEFEATS D. CRAM

Turns Back Southern Star, 6-4, 7-5 —Shields Upsets Jones and Vines Beats Einsmann.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Another notable conquest was added to the credit of Edward Burns in the metropolitan turf court tennis championship yesterday when the tall, hard-hitting Brooklyn player followed up his defeat of Keith Gledhill, national junior titleholder, with a splendidly earned victory over E. W. Feibleman at the Crescent A. C. in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn.

Playing at a terrific pace and with his polished ground strokes, service and volleys all functioning in faultless fashion in an attack that gained momentum with each game, the home club representative went straight forward to victory at 6—2 6—3.

Feibleman was in close to his best form in the match and little was gained from him that was not exacted in dear fashion, but for all his steadiness and the comprehension of his play he was up against too much pressure. Burns was crowding him at every turn without ever relaxing pace, and the cumulative effect of his fine drives and cannonball service was more than Feibleman could withstand.

Prospect of Stirring Battle.

So thoroughly convincing was the performance of Burns in every respect that there is the prospect of a stirring battle when he meets Francis T. Hunter this afternoon in the semi-finals if he can reproduce the same grade of tennis.

Hunter gained his penultimate bracket at the expense of Donald Cram of Nashville, Tenn., who gave an exceptionally good account of himself in carrying the New Rochelle veteran to 6—4, 7—5.

Frank Shields of New York, the State champion, and Ellsworth Vines, brilliant California junior, are the other two semi-finalists and will meet today at 2 o'clock. The Hunter-Burns engagement will follow along with the semi-finals of the doubles, and the finals in both events will be staged tomorrow afternoon.

Jones Bows to Shields.

Shields, playing the most impressive tennis that has been seen in the tournament, defeated David Jones of Columbia at 6—2, 6—3, the match being resumed in the second game of the second set, and Vines accounted for William Einsmann at 6—4, 6—3. This meeting, too, between the former junior champion and the runner-up for the title last year promises to bring forth a high order of play.

Shields was at the very peak of his game in defeating Jones, and anything short of his best would hardly have been good enough to turn back the Columbian as he played yesterday. Both youths made big capital of their service, each playing away with abandon from the base line, and both knew how and when to go to the net for a finishing volley.

Shields was a little surer off the ground, particularly with his marvelous backhand, and this superiority enabled him to effect the only break in the second set in the second game and to hold his advantage to the end.

Lets Cram Set Pace.

Hunter did not show to as good advantage against Cram as he did earlier in the week. The terrific heat of a burning sun seemed to take some of the starch out of his iron forehand and he was content to let his younger opponent set the pace and use up energy.

Cram did the latter in prodigal fashion, going after shots that perhaps might better have been conceded as irretrievable, and laid into every ball for all he was worth. Thus he managed to stay on close terms all the way, and had the breaks not been against him he might have carried Hunter further than he did.

Hunter, however, was never in serious straits, and if he played more of a defensive rôle than is his wont his returns seldom offered openings and he was never found wanting in pace or ingenuity in the pinch.

THE SUMMARIES.

METROPOLITAN SINGLES.

Fourth Round.

Francis T. Hunter defeated Donald Cram, 6—4, 7—5; Edward Burns defeated E. W. Feibleman, 6—2, 6—3; Frank Shields defeated David Jones, 6—2, 6—3; Ellsworth Vines defeated William Einsmann, 6—1, 6—3.

NEW YORK SECTIONAL DOUBLES.

First Round.

Edgar Dawson and Lemonie Heuser won from Alexander and Polstein by default.

Second Round.

Phil Neer and E. W. Feibleman won from Gorge Anderson and W. W. Mussman by default; Vines and Keith Gledhill defeated Henry Holden and Gene McCabe, 6—0, 9—7, 6—3; Dawson and Heuser defeated Charles Anderson and Manfred Goldman, 5—7, 4—6, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4; S. Howard Voshell and Elmer Griffin defeated Burns and E. Ralph Martin, 6—4, 6—2, 4—6, 1—6, 6—3; Ted Burwell and Henry Culley defeated Perrine Rockafellow and Merritt Cutler, 7—5, 3—6, 1—6, 10—8, 6—3.

Third Round.

Shields and Bernstein defeated Donald and Kendall Cram, 6-2, 6—1, 3—6, 6—4; Jack Tidball and Jerry Bartosh defeated Feibleman and Neer, 6—8, 6—1, 5—7, 6—4, 6—4.

HUNTER HEADS SEEDED LIST

Miss Palfrey Tops Women's Draw for Seabright Tennis.

Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, second ranking player of the country, heads the list of seeded players in the forty-third annual invitation tennis tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club, which starts on Monday.

In addition to Hunter, the list as announced yesterday by the tournament committee includes Julius Seligson, Frank Shields, Fritz Mercur, Donald Strachan, J. Gilbert Hall and Lyttleton Rogers, champion of Ireland.

In the absence of Miss Helen Jacobs, who has withdrawn owing to poor health, Miss Sarah Palfrey of Boston will head the women's field. Miss Palfrey and Miss Edith Cross, who also is entered, were members of the Wightman Cup team.

The other seeded stars in the women's singles include Miss Marjorie Gladman, Mrs. L. A. Harper, Miss Ethel Burkardt and Miss Dorothy Weisel, all of California; Miss Marjorie Morrill of Boston and Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va.

MISS TAUBELE WINS IN CLAY COURT PLAY

Beats Mrs. Rebold, 6-2, 7-5, to Gain Semi-Finals of State Tennis Tourney.

MISS ROBERTS ADVANCES

Conquers Mrs. Burt, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, in Quarter-Finals of Jackson Heights Event.

The last two semi-final brackets in the women's New York State clay court tennis championships were filled by the second and third seeded players at the Jackson Heights Tennis Club yesterday.

Miss Norma Taubele, No. 2 in the draw, who is the Eastern and Jersey State champion, entered the upper semi-final bracket, which Miss Grace Surber, seeded No. 4, already occupies, by defeating Mrs. Elizabeth Rebold, 6—2, 7—5.

Miss Caroline Roberts of New Rochelle, the girls' metropolitan champion, seeded third, advanced to the lower semi-final bracket by defeating Mrs. Gwendolen J. Burt at 2—6, 6—2, 6—2.

Semi-finals This Afternoon.

In this afternoon's matches, which start at 2:30 o'clock, Miss Taubele will oppose Miss Surber and Miss Roberts will meet Mrs. Bernard F. Stenz, the first seeded player, who earned her semi-final place on Thursday.

Both of yesterday's matches were resumed where they had been interrupted by rain on Thursday. Miss Taubele, who had a 3—2 lead over Mrs. Rebold when they stopped playing, won three games in a row to take the first set.

In the second set Mrs. Rebold played a stronger game, forcing the score to 5—all before Miss Taubele could capture the two games needed for the set and the match. Mrs. Rebold's drives, although lacking the pace of Miss Taubele's, were exceptionally accurate.

Renew Postponed Match.

Miss Roberts and Mrs. Burt had played to a 2—6, 6—2, 3—3 deadlock in their match on Thursday. They started the third set all over again yesterday by mutual agreement. Miss Roberts played a much better game than on Thursday, volleying brilliantly and serving well, and she dropped only two games in running out the match.

THE SUMMARIES.

Singles.

Quarter-Final Round—Miss Norma Taubele defeated Mrs. Elizabeth Rebold, 6—2, 7—5; Miss Caroline Roberts defeated Mrs. Gwendolen J. Burt, 2—6, 6—2, 6—2.

Doubles.

Quarter-Final Round—Mrs. Rose Taubele and Mrs. Ly Cremonian defeated Mrs. Dorothy Paton and Mrs. William H. Pritchard, 0—6, 6—3, 6—4.

HINES DOUBLES WINNER.

Paired With Beaver, Takes Carolinas' Men's, Junior Net Titles.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 25 (AP).—Wilmer Hines of Columbia and Sandy Beaver of Gainesville, Ga., Southern doubles champions, added two titles to their collections today when they won the men's and juniors' doubles championships of the Carolinas at the Greenville Country Club.

Hines and Lefty Bryan of Chattanooga, Tenn., meet tomorrow for the singles championship.

The Dixie champions defeated Bryan and Ed Newell, also of Chattanooga, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—4, 6—3, to win the men's title.

In the junior doubles finals Hines and Beaver dropped a set, but overcame Dave Morgan and H. Shuford, both of Asheville, 6—2, 4—6, 6—2.

MRS. GREEN WINS FINAL.

Defeats Miss Park in Lake Placid Club Tennis.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKE PLACID CLUB, N. Y., July 25.—Mrs. H. S. Green of Tarrytown, N. Y., today won the women's singles final of the Lake Placid Club's tenth annual July tournament. She defeated Miss Katherine Park of Englewood, N. J., 6—3, 7—5. Prolonged and hard rallies marked the match.

Mrs. Green and George Foster will meet Miss Park and Harry Plymire tomorrow in the final of the mixed doubles. Mrs. Green and Foster defeated Miss Betty Small and Holbrook (Hobey) Hyde today, 6—2, 10—8. In the other semi-final match Miss Park and Plymire defeated Miss Barbara Stevens and Wallace Vanlier, 6—3, 6—1.

Richardson Wins Tennis Title.

TORONTO, Ont., July 25 (Canadian Press).—W. L. C. Richardson of Toronto today won the Canadian Veteran men's singles tennis championship, defeating Herbert Nunns, 6—2, 6—3.

MISS MORRILL WINS ESSEX TENNIS FINAL

Keeps Miss Gladman Away From Net to Triumph by Score of 6-1, 6-2.

MISS CROSS GAINS VICTORY

Paired With Mrs. Harper, She Enters Doubles Final—To Play the Misses Hilleary and Andrus.

Special to The New York Times.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 25.—Miss Marjorie Morrill of Dedham and Manchester played brilliant tennis to win from the California star, Miss Marjorie Gladman, 6—1, 6—2, in the final round of the seventh annual women's invitation tournament at the Essex County Club today.

Miss Morrill swept the first four games of the match. Then Miss Gladman took advantage of her opponent's three errors in the next game and won her service by an ace for her only game in the first set.

By deep driving Miss Morrill kept her opponent away from the net, where she is usually at her best.

Throughout the match Miss Morrill also pounded her opponent's weaker forehand with powerful drives.

Miss Morrill was seeded seventh in the tournament and is ranked second in the New England Association, just below Miss Sarah Palfrey, youthful Wightman Cup player.

The first seeded team of Miss Edith Cross and Mrs. L. A. Harper gained the final round of the doubles competition by defeating Miss Ann Page and Miss Alice Francis, 6—1, 6—2. Their opponents will be the second seeded pair, Miss Virginia Hilleary and Miss Dorothy Andrus, who turned back Miss Josephine Cruickshank and Miss Gladman, 6—0, 6—1.

THE SUMMARIES.

Singles.

Final Round—Miss Marjorie Morrill defeated Miss Marjorie Gladman, 6—1, 6—2.

Doubles.

Third Round—Mrs. Edith Cross and Mrs. Harper defeated Misses Marjorie Morrill and Margaret Blake, 6—4, 7—5; Misses Alice Francis and Ann Page defeated Mrs. Ary Lamme and Mrs. Lockhorn, 6—3, 7—5; Misses Virginia Hilleary and Dorothy Andros defeated Misses Clara Zinke and Virginia Rice, 4—6, 6—2, 6—4; Misses Marjorie Gladman and Josephine Cruickshank defeated Mrs. Griswold and Mrs. Harding, 6—4, 6—0.

Semi-Final Round—Miss Cross and Mrs. Harper defeated Misses Page and Francis, 6—1, 6—2; Misses Hilleary and Andrus defeated Misses Cruickshank and Gladman, 6—0, 6—1.

KUNKEL TURNED BACK IN W. VA. TENNIS PLAY

Loses to Goldsborough, 6-3, 6-4, in Men's Semi-Finals—Hess Also Gains Final.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 25.—Outmanouevring his opponent by drawing him to the net and then driving to the base and side lines, P. L. Goldsborough Jr., Baltimore, defeated Paul Kunkel, Cincinnati, seeded No. 1, 6—3, 6—4, to become a finalist in the West Virginia open tennis tournament. Goldsborough, seeded No. 4, played a back court game and his strategy was the deciding factor.

Goldsborough took the lead from the start and never gave Kunkel, twice holder of the open championship, a chance to draw up on even terms.

In the other semi-final game Jake Hess of Fort Worth, Texas, defeated B. F. Arkle, Wheeling, W. Va., in the fastest match of the day by the score of 7—5, 2—6, 8—6.

Allowing Miss Mary Will Wakeford, Washington, D. C., only two points in the first set, Mrs. D. E. Lloyd Thompson, Washington, Pa., took the second set and match by the score of 6—0, 6—2 in the women's semi-finals.

A tighter match occurred when Miss Eliza Coxe, Asheville, N. C., and Margaret Carspeiken, Morgantown, clashed in the other semi-final. Miss Coxe won, 6—3, 6—1.

Miss Coxe and Mrs. M. G. Martinez, Washington, defeated Mrs. Margaret Graham, Washington, and Miss Wakeford, 6—0, 7—5, to gain the women's doubles final.

In the other semi-final Mrs. Thompson and Miss Carspeiken defeated Miss Frances Walker, Washington, and Miss Josephine Dunham, Washington, 6—1, 6—2.

In the men's doubles semi-finals A. O. Smith, Beckley, and Sam Cohn, Beckley, defeated Elmer Rudy, Baltimore, and Robert Elliott, Baltimore, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2, and Hess and Earl Taylor, Austin, Texas, put out Twink Star, Huntington, and B. F. Akle, Wheeling, 6—3, 6—3.

MERCUR, HALL LOSE IN CANADIAN TENNIS

U. S. Stars Eliminated by Nunns and Rogers, Respectively, in Singles Semi-Finals.

MISS WADE REACHES FINAL

Defending Champion Defeats Miss Burritt in Women's Singles—Miss M. Leeming Also Wins.

TORONTO, July 25 (AP).—Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., No. 6 ranking tennis player in the United States, was eliminated from the Canadian lawn tennis championships today in a surprise semi-final round defeat by Gilbert Nunns of Toronto. The Canadian won in three out of four sets by the scores of 4—6, 6—4, 6—4, 6—4.

J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., fell before the attack of G. Lyttleton Rogers of Ireland at 6—2, 0—6, 9—7, 6—2.

Nunns qualified to meet Rogers in tomorrow's final by a magnificent all-around game in his match with Mercur. Nunns played with great dash and shrewdness, taking full advantage of any openings afforded by Mercur, who also performed brilliantly.

Hall Starts Effectively.

Rogers seemed to use every stroke in his repertoire and, although Hall started out like a certain winner, the Irishman appeared to know just how to take the sting from his attack. Rogers wore him down relentlessly and the grueling third set which went to Rogers at 9—7 seemed to mark the end of Hall's aggressiveness.

Miss Olive Wade, Toronto, defending champion, defeated Miss Jean Burritt, Toronto, in the semi-finals of the women's singles championship, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3. Both played stellar games, with Miss Wade going very strong at the finish. Miss Wade thus qualifies to meet Miss Marjorie Leeming of Victoria, B. C., in the finals tomorrow. Miss Leeming, a former titleholder, defeated Mrs. E. F. Coke, Toronto, 6—4, 3—6, 6—3.

Misses Leeming Score.

Misses Marjorie and Hope Leeming defeated the maritime champions, Mrs. Woodbury and Miss Currie, in the semi-finals of the women's doubles, 6—2, 6—4. The Misses Leeming will play Mrs. Bickle and Miss Symons of Toronto in the finals tomorrow.

Laird Watt of Montreal defeated E. C. Connolly of Ottawa, Eastern Canadian junior champion, in the first semi-final of the junior championship, 6—3, 6—2, 6—4.

D. S. McQuisten of Montreal won his way to the finals of the junior singles by defeating J. C. Burnand of Toronto, Ontario junior champion, 9—7, 6—2, 6—1. The finals thus will be an all-Montreal contest between Watt and McQuisten.

Mercur and Hall defeated Rennie and Proctor, Toronto, Ontario champions, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—0, 6—1, in the upper half of the semi-finals of the doubles championship.

Nunns and Martin Win.

In the other half a stirring battle ensued before Nunns and Martin of Toronto eliminated Rogers and Aikman of Montreal, 8—6, 3—6, 6—1, 6—4. Nunns and Martin thus meet Mercur and Hall in the doubles final.

By playing after dusk the mixed doubles event was brought down to the semi-finals. The four remaining teams in the order of draw are Miss M. Leeming and Proctor, Miss Effie Billing and J. De Lara, Mrs. Beer and Aikman, Miss Currie and Raper.

Miss Leeming and Proctor reached their bracket by defeating Miss Wade and McCausland. Miss Billing and De Lara defeated Mrs. Coke and Doherty, Toronto; Mrs. Beer and Aikman defeated Mrs. M. Haworth and Kennedy, Toronto, while Miss Currie, Halifax, N. S., and Raper, Montreal, defeated Miss McDonald, Toronto, and C. E. Shepard, Ottawa.

Mac Glassco, Hamilton and H. Nunns, Toronto, defeated W. H. Bonnell and A. G. Hudson, Toronto, in the finals of the veterans' doubles, 6—4, 8—6. Miss Christie Clewlo, Toronto, won the junior women's title by defeating Miss Betty Fenn, Toronto, in the final, 6—0, 6—2.

MRS. HAWK TENNIS VICTOR.

Wins Title at Crawford Notch, N. H., by Beating Miss Cluett.

Special to The New York Times.

CRAWFORD NOTCH, N. H., July 25.—Mrs. Philip B. Hawk of New York won the women's championship at the Crawford Notch Tennis Club by defeating Miss Margaret Cluett of Troy, 6—3, 6—2, today. In the men's doubles semi-finals W. Merrill Hall, Manchester, N. H., and Valentine Green, Forest Hills, L. I., defeated Baisley Sheridan, New Rochelle, and Lawrence Stoddard, New York, 6—3, 6—2; and Malcolm T. Hill and Arthur T. Johnson, the Oxford-Cambridge doubles team, easily won from A. F. Von Bernuth, Montclair, and Percy Kynaston, Brooklyn, 6—4, 6—4.

In the mixed doubles, Mr. and Mrs. W. Merrill Hall defeated Mrs. George B. Stanwix, one-time woman champion, and Jones W. Mersereau, 7—5, 6—3, to gain the final. In the other semi-final Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm T. Hill defeated Miss Cluett and Von Bernuth, 6—3, 6—1.

Tomorrow Kynaston meets Von Bernuth for the men's singles title, and finals in men's doubles and mixed doubles also will be played.

Phelps Captures Annual Race On the Thames by 2½ Lengths

LONDON, July 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—The annual Doggett's Coat and Badge Race from London Bridge to Chelsea Bridge, a distance of four and a half miles, was won today by the world's champion, Ted Phelps, with A. Simmons of Deptford, second, and H. Haydon of Barking, third. Phelps won by two and a half lengths.

The Doggett's Coat and Badge Race is an annual sporting event, competed for by Thames water men. It was won last year by C. F. Taylor of Blackwell.

HUNGARY DEFEATS NORWAY IN CHESS

Poland Vanquishes France, Standing Only Half Point Behind Leader in Team Play.

U. S. TIES WITH ENGLAND

Still Leads British by Half Point, Steiner Being Only Victor in 15th-Round Match.

HAMBURG, Germany, July 25.—Opening up a considerable gap between them and their nearest rivals, Hungary and Poland, half a point apart, hold first and second places, respectively, in the team tournament of the International Chess Federation, the fifteenth round of which was contested at the centennial congress of the Hamburg Chess Club today.

The Hungarians, making a strong bid for the Hamilton-Russell trophy, which they have held twice before, defeated Norway by 3—1, while Poland won from France by 3½—½, Dr. Alekhine not participating in behalf of France. With only two more rounds left, the championship seems certain to go to either one of these two countries.

The United States team, which a few days ago was first, is practically out of it so far as the championship is concerned and had to fight hard today against England to retain sixth place. The match ended in a 2—2 tie, so that the Americans still lead the British by half a point. H. Steiner of New York was the only one to win for his side against Tylor, former Oxford player.

F. J. Marshall, United States champion, drew a hard-fought ending with Yates, and I. Kashdan of New York held Mir Sultan Khan of India, British titleholder, to a draw. J. A. Anderson of St. Louis succumbed to Winter of London.

Other team victories were scored by Latvia, Spain, Iceland and Holland.

THE SUMMARIES.

United States vs. England.

Marshall drew with Yates in a queen's gambit declined after 45 moves.

Kashdan drew with Sultan Khan in a Ruy Lopez after 65 moves.

Steiner defeated Tylor by winning a piece in a Sicilian defense after 50 moves.

Anderson lost to Winter in a queen's pawn opening after 47 moves by means of a passed pawn.

Match Results.

Ninth Round—Hungary 3½, Rumania ½.

Thirteenth Round—Iceland 2½, France 1½; Holland 3½, Rumania ½.

Fifteenth Round—Spain 3, Lithuania 1; Latvia 3, Czechoslovakia 1; Poland 3½, France ½; Hungary 3, Norway 1; Iceland 3½, Finland ½; Austria 2, Sweden 2; Denmark 2, Rumania 2; England 2, United States 2; Holland 2, Germany 1 (one adjourned).

Second Round—Miss Grant and Foley, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Busch and Bostwick, 6—2, 6—3.

BRADMAN ROUTED IN CRICKET TEST

Australia's Star Batsman Scores Only 14 Against Peebles in Match With England.

7 WICKETS DOWN FOR 275

Tourists Fight Hard for Runs as 30,000 See Opening Day's Play at Old Trafford.

MANCHESTER, England, July 25 (Canadian Press).—England had captured the cream of Australia's batsmen when play ceased for today in the fourth cricket test match with Australia at Old Trafford. Seven of the Australians' wickets were down for 275 runs.

Playing on a wicket which under sunshine assisted the bowlers, Australia had to fight hard for its runs. The match began this morning and will last four days. More than 30,000 attended during the afternoon.

Australia, after W. M. Woodfull, its captain, had won the toss, put on 106 for the first wicket. Woodfull and W. Ponsford were the opening pair and they played painstaking cricket. Woodfull departed when he had scored 44.

Peebles Stars for England.

Don Bradman, the young batsman who has done such great things in England this year, was the victim of I. A. R. Peebles. The Middlesex and Oxford University bowler was playing in his first Australian test. Bradman scored only 14.

Ponsford and A. F. Kippax contributed little more to the score before the former was clean bowled by Maurice Tate. He made 83. Then S. McCabe and V. Y. Richardson were promptly disposed of, and it looked as if England were going to get rid of the balance of the Australians very cheaply, as the bowlers appeared to be in the ascendant. However, after dodging disaster many times, Kippax put on a stand with A. Fairfax and stopped the rout. Kippax fell to a brilliant catch by England's captain, A. P. F. Chapman, after he had scored 51.

W. A. Oldfield was another easy victim, but Fairfax and C. Grimmet carried on and were together at close of play, the former having played a fine innings.

Crowd Greets Bradman.

Australia's score stood at 106 when Woodfull passed out of the picture and Bradman came in. He got an enthusiastic reception from the crowd. He singled to leg off Tate's first ball. Against Peebles he obviously intended a drive to the off. But it went to mid-on and was a poor stroke. Tate altered his tactics for Bradman. He had Prince Duleepsinhji and Nichols at short and fine leg and bowled a number of short balls.

The field blocked several from both batsmen, Chapman as usual doing some dazzling work. Bradman was distinctly lucky he was not caught. He mistimed a ball from Peebles and it went off the bottom of his bat. Wally Hammond, at first slip, made a brilliant diving effort to get the ball with his right hand, but though he got his fingers under and scooped it up, he could not quite hold it.

At 133 Tate beat Ponsford, but the ball broke just wide of the leg stump. The batsmen got a carpet boundary in the next off Tate. Bradman was plainly uncomfortable with Peebles. He fell a victim to him when he tried to drive a spinner. The ball curled into the hands of Duleepsinhji.

CRICKET MATCH ON TODAY.

West Indians Also Will Be in Action in Brooklyn Tomorrow.

Two interesting matches have been booked for today and tomorrow for the touring West Indian cricket team which now is playing in the East. At Dyckman Oval, 207th Street and Broadway, the tourists will meet an All-Grenada team today and at Commercial Field in Brooklyn tomorrow the visitors will play All-Trinidad, rated as the strongest eleven the visitors have been called upon to face.

The tourists have met with marked success on their current tour. They have been in action several times every week and they always have played their best game. They enjoy the sport and it seems the more they play the better they like it. They have been in action against some of the best teams in the metropolitan district and their record is good.

For tomorrow's match the All-Trinidad management has added two new players to the list—Joe Small and John George, who have been playing in Trinidad and recently arrived in this country. The Trinidad team is anxious to triumph over the tourists and a stirring match is expected. The management of the game has announced that seats have been selling rapidly and every one connected with the event expects the largest crowd of the season at Commercial Field.

Merion Gets 4 Miles of Pipe For Sprinkling Golf Course

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (AP).—Unusual preparations are being made by officials of the Merion Cricket Club for the national amateur golf championship to be held there late in September, in which Bobby Jones will strive to win the fourth jewel for his championship crown.

In order to have the course in good condition, despite long stretches of dry weather, officials of the Merion Club have installed a new sprinkling system, which includes four miles of pipe line running from a storage reservoir with a capacity of 300,000 gallons. The system has 160 outlets.

A new telephone system connecting with the clubhouse also is being installed on the course. There will be a phone at every third hole, except the twelfth, which is close to the clubhouse and the eighteenth.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON

Special to The New York Times.

ANCASTER, Ont., July 25.—Johnny Farrell of Quaker Ridge took all the bows at the Canadian open championship today when he equaled the course record, made by Nicol Thompson, the home club professional, for the Hamilton Golf Club course where the tournament is being played.

Starting on the second round with his first-day score of 73 hanging like a millstone around his neck, the former national open champion pulled himself back into the thick of the fight with a brilliant round of 66 that came near being a 65 and could even have been less.

From far back in the race for the title held by Leo Diegel for the past two years, when he started this morning, Farrell is now tied with Walter Hagen for third place, only two others in the field being in front of him. One is Thompson, the 51-year-old Scot, who shot a 71 to retain the lead at the end of thirty-six holes of play with a total of 137. The other is Tony Manero, young Elmsford star, who had another 69 today, making his total 138.

Farrell was 73 yesterday and 66 today for a total of 139, while Hagen clipped a stroke of yesterday's score with a 69, to tie the Westchester star.

Watrous and French Near Top.

Keeping pace with the leaders are Al Watrous, who was 68 yesterday and 72 today, and Emmett French, who reversed Watrous's totals. George Von Elm, the Los Angeles amateur, who came home in 32 today for a 70, to put him in a tie with Diegel, Macdonald Smith and Charles Lacey at 141. In the next group are C. Ross Sumerville, former Canadian amateur champion; Tommy Kerrigan of Siwanoy, Long Jim Barnes and Tommy Armour.

The stars who lost ground today were Ed Dudley and Horton Smith. The former, close to the top after his 69 yesterday, took a 75 today, while the latter dropped from 72 to 73 and is left with something to do to get back in the race.

In spite of the fact that scoring conditions were better than they were yesterday, the scores ranged approximately the same. Altogether there were only seven scores under 70, and it so happened that the majority of the leaders fell off while those who were lagging behind picked up strokes to throw the event into an open race, with at least fourteen players still in the running.

Consequently there will not be much light shed on the situation until tomorrow unless, of course, some one steps out in the third round as Bobby Jones did at Interlachen.

Farrell Hits Ball Well.

After today's round Farrell, who already has won the New York State open title and tied Willie Macfarlane for the metropolitan open only to lose on the play-off, looks like the most dangerous man in the field. He was hitting the ball as well as any one in the field today and his putting was almost flawless.

Had Farrell succeeded in holding the pace he set on the first nine holes he would be well in the lead tonight. Johnny went out in thirty-one strokes, four under par, with birdies on the second, fourth, fifth and sixth holes. He dropped a four-yard putt for a 3 on the second, was putting for an eagle 3 on the fourth, hit the flag on his approach in the fifth and holed a twenty-five putt for a 2 on the sixth.

With a start such as that Johnny could easily have had a 64, but he took a 5 on the eleventh hole through his failure to get on the green with his second shot and then a 4 on the short thirteenth, where he didn't use a strong enough iron off the tee.

Thompson Goes Out in 36.

Thompson took 36 to go out today and 35 to come home. He was short on his second shots to the first two holes, but chipped up and holed a good putt for his par on the first. The only birdie he got on the first nine dropped in the fifth hole and he lost the advantage of that one by taking a 4 on the short sixth.

He started back in good style, with pars on the tenth and eleventh and a birdie on the twelfth, but he took a 5 on the fifteenth, where his second shot dropped into a bunker and finished with a 5 on the last hole, his drive being caught in a bunker.

Hagen had only one 5 on his card, that one coming on the ninth. He had birdies at the third and fourth, but the loss of that stroke at the ninth together with a 4 on the short sixth offset them. He was all pars on the inward half except for a birdie 4 on the seventeenth.

Hagen is hitting the ball better than ever before, but his putts don't seem to be going down the way they used to. However, he is in a strategic position and tomorrow ought to shed considerable light on his status. He is keen to win and the Canadian title is one of the few that have eluded him.

Mac Smith, Barnes and Armour all had chances for great rounds today had their putts been dropping. Probably no one in the field played any better up to the hole than they did, but their putts simply wouldn't go down.

Armour had the worst of it in this respect, for neither Mac nor Long Jim had any three-putt greens, while he had two, one at the twelfth and one at the fourteenth. Those two wrecked another great round, for he went out in 33 and took 35 to come home when he might have been home in 33.

VOIGT ADVANCES IN GREENWICH GOLF

Eliminates McMahon and Birch in First Two Rounds of Invitation Tourney.

PARKER ALSO A WINNER

Lloyd and Chapman Likewise Triumph in Their Matches to Gain Semi-Final.

By LINCOLN A. WERDEN.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., July 25.—Providing George Voigt, the Walker Cup player, can win his semi-final match tomorrow from Larry Lloyd in the Greenwich Country Club invitation tourney, he will then oppose one of the two youngsters who seriously threaten to gain a leg on the Julian Curtiss trophy, on which Voigt's name is inscribed as the 1929 victor.

John E. Parker, a member of Yale's strong freshman team, eliminated Charles Sheldon of Siwanoy by 3 and 1 and then disposed of Fred Mayer of the Westchester Country Club in a close match, 1 up, in the second round today.

The other youthful challenger is 19-year-old Richard Chapman, who captured the interscholastic championship over this course a short time ago and who played well today in defeating Sidney Noyes Jr., who was captain of Yale's freshman team this past Spring, by one up, and then John Graham, the Westchester Country Club youngster, by 4 and 3.

Turns Tables on Birch.

For Voigt his second round with C. Ward Birch of Hubbard Heights was something in the nature of a vindication, for it was Birch who toppled him out of the recent metropolitan amateur championship. Voigt's margin today was 5 and 3 and he was going at even 4s when the match stopped.

Previously he had eliminated J. H. McMahon of Sleepy Hollow, 3 and 2, and when he opposed Birch he found his putting touch keen on the very first green. Here he rolled in a thirty-foot putt for a birdie 3 and then sunk one of almost the same distance for a birdie 2 at the second hole to be two up.

Lloyd, who gave Voigt a battle in the same tourney two seasons ago, won from John D. Chapman, Richard's father, by 2 and 1 in the opening round and then put out Richard A. Jones Jr., runner-up in this year's Westchester championship, by 2 and 1.

Use Auto on Fairway.

Some of the competitors in the first sixteen introduced a new type of ferry to eliminate climbing the steep grade from the ninth and twelfth tees by stepping into a roadster after hitting their tee shots and then driving up the hill and over the fairway to where they had to play their second shots.

Sidney Noyes won the medal in a one-hole play-off with Voigt and Mayer today.

U. S. TEAM TRIUMPHS IN EPEE COMPETITION

Beats Great Britain, 10-6, to Take Lead in 3-Weapon Contest for Thompson Trophy.

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—The American team beat Great Britain by ten victories to six in the épée competition of the international three-weapon contest for the Colonel Robert Thompson trophy tonight.

As the foils contest yesterday was a draw, with eight victories each, America leads for the two weapons, 18 to 14. The saber contest will be held tomorrow.

Tonight's competition was held in the Hotel Victoria, London, instead of at Birmingham, as originally planned. The Americans, W. H. Russell and A. B. Milner, won four of the first five épée matches.

REACHES FINAL IN WOMEN'S INVITATION GOLF.

Miss Jane Brooks, Who Defeated Mrs. Edward Stevens, 6 and 4, Yesterday, and Will Meet Miss Frances Williams Today at Rye.

MISS PARKER LOSES TO MISS WILLIAMS

Pottstown Golfer Triumphs, 4 and 2, in Semi-Finals of Rye Invitation Event.

MISS BROOKS GAINS FINAL

Defeats Mrs. Stevens, 6 and 4, at Westchester Country Club—Victors Meet Today.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., July 25.—Miss Frances Williams of Pottstown, Pa., today defeated Miss Martha Parker of Spring Lake, the metropolitan and New Jersey champion, 4 and 2, in the semi-final round of the second annual women's invitation golf tournament at the Westchester Country Club.

Miss Williams will meet Miss Jane Brooks of Rockland County in the eighteen-hole final tomorrow morning. Miss Brooks eliminated Mrs. Edward Stevens of Round Hill, 6 and 4, in the lower bracket today.

Miss Williams, recent winner of the Eastern title, scored a 41, four strokes under women's par, to gain an advantage of 3 up at the turn in her match with Miss Parker.

Wins Three Straight Holes.

After Miss Parker had reduced her opponent's lead to 1 up at the thirteenth the Pennsylvania girl rallied to win three holes in succession and capture the match.

On the thirteenth, where Miss Williams was short of the green, Miss Parker missed a four-foot putt which would have squared the match. On the next hole Miss Parker lost another chance to overtake her opponent by shooting her approach into a trap to the left of the green and taking a 6 to Miss Williams's 5.

Miss Parker lost more ground on the fifteenth when she flubbed a short chip shot and took a 4 to her opponent's par 3. Needing only a half on the next hole to finish the match, Miss Williams went a step further and won it when Miss Parker's drive left her stymied by a tree.

Has Three Three-Putt Greens.

On the outward nine the metropolitan champion lost three holes, the first, second and sixth, as the result of three-putt greens. Miss Williams sank an eight-foot putt to take the fourth, and also captured the eighth when Miss Parker overshot the green.

Miss Parker won two holes, the third, where she stymied her rival, and the fifth, where Miss Williams reached a trap.

The cards and men's par:

Out—
Par	4	4	5	4	3	4	3	4	5—36
Miss Williams	4	5	6	4	4	5	4	4	5—41
Miss Parker	5	6	5	5	3	6	4	5	5—44
In—
Par	3	4	4	4	5	3	4
Miss Williams	4	6	7	6	5	3	4
Miss Parker	4	4	6	6	6	4	5

Miss Williams wins, 4 and 2.

After being held even for the first three holes of her match with Mrs. Stevens, Miss Brooks, who scored an 81 yesterday, won four holes in succession and was 4 up at the turn. By capturing the twelfth and fourteenth, Miss Brooks achieved her winning margin of 6 and 4.

Mrs. Stevens Wins First.

Mrs. Stevens won the first hole but lost the second despite the fact that she stymied her opponent. Miss Brooks then started on her winning streak to take four holes in a row.

Mrs. Stevens won the eighth when Miss Brooks's ball landed in a trap, but lost the ninth as the result of an approach into the rough.

The last winning effort of the Round Hill player was on the tenth, where Miss Brooks drove to the left of the green.

The cards:

Out.
Miss Brooks	5	6	6	5	3	5	4	5	5—44
Mrs. Stevens	4	7	6	6	5	6	5	4	6—49
In.
Miss Brooks	4	5	5	5	6
Mrs. Stevens	3	6	6	5	7

Mrs. Brooks wins, 6 and 4.

PERKINS IS BEATEN IN WESTERN GOLF

Lehman Overcomes Former British Amateur Champion, 8 and 7, in Semi-Final.

COUCH ALSO GAINS FINAL

Wins Right to Meet Fellow-Chicagoan for Title by Putting Out McCrary, 2 and 1.

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP).—The Western amateur golf championship was made safe for Chicago today as Johnny Lehman and Ira Couch, two of the Windy City's highest ranking young stars, crowded into the final with surprising triumphs at the Beverly Country Club.

Lehman, co-medalist and conqueror yesterday of the defending champion, Don Moe of Portland, Ore., galloped into the final round with a crushing 8 and 7 defeat of England's last hope, T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion. Couch, never before a victor in an important tournament outside of Chicago, reached the final by defeating Bob McCrary of Des Moines, Iowa, 2 and 1.

It was the first time the championship battle ended in an all-Chicago affair since way back in 1912, when Chick Evans and Warren K. Wood fought for the crown over the Denver Country Club course.

Of the triumphs today that of Lehman's was the most startling. The methodical Briton, who played the Championship Beverly course yesterday with a record-equaling 69, went into the fight a 3 to 1 favorite, but didn't have a chance against his younger rival.

Halve the First Hole.

Lehman, former Big Ten champion, won his duel with Perkins by par-fracturing golf on the incoming nine of the morning round and on his outward journey under a blazing sun in the afternoon. The first nine holes saw the rivals in a hard fight. After halving the first hole Lehman started his procession by bagging a par 5 on the second when the Briton started the hooking epidemic that robbed him of his fine game. Perkins squared the match for the first and last time in the third with a par 3 and at the quarter turn Lehman had him 1 down.

The second nine was a veritable walkaway. Playing his groove swing perfectly, Lehman shot seven perfect holes, went one over par on one and squared his accounts with par by getting a birdie for a nine-hole total of 35. The outburst on the hard course hiked his margin to a big 5 as he went to lunch. Going out in the afternoon Lehman was better than ever, shooting a 35, one stroke under par, while Perkins stumbled along with a bad 40 and made the three-quarter turn 8 down. The twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth were halved in pars and it was all over.

Stymies enabled Couch to stop McCrary. Four times he stymied the Scot and three times the obstacle meant lost holes.

McCrary started as if to make short work of his younger rival, winning the first three holes with par golf as Couch hooked wildly.

Overtakes His Opponent.

The turning point came quickly on the fourth hole, when Couch knocked in a birdie 3. He also won the fifth when McCrary began to crack, and finished the nine by winning the eighth and ninth holes to overtake and then lead his opponent.

McCrary knotted it again with a birdie 4 on the second hole of the afternoon round, only to have Couch go 2 up again by winning the fourth and sixth holes. Couch went 3 up on the eleventh when McCrary got tangled up with some trees. On the thirteenth the Scot took advantage of a bad hook by his rival and won the hole with a par 4. Couch bounded 3 up again on the fifteenth and was dormie 3. McCrary fought back hard to win the sixteenth, but it was all over when they halved the seventeenth in 3s.

Lehman will enter the finals tomorrow a big favorite. He defeated Lloyd Nordstrom, Davenport, Iowa, 4 and 3, in the first round; George Dawson, Chicago, 3 and 1, in the second, and Moe, 1 up after 37 holes, in the quarter-final. Couch has had an easier path, defeating rivals with lesser reputations.

JOHNS HOPKINS PLANS NIGHT GRIDIRON GAMES

Arranging Four Contests to Be Played Under Flood-Lights This Fall.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, July 25.—That Baltimore will have night football this Fall became known today when it was learned that Johns Hopkins University has authorized the installation of flood lights at Homewood.

Although the Johns Hopkins athletic authorities have not definitely decided upon the games that will be played at night, it is believed that there will be four contests under the flood lights. They are the contests with Upsala, Haverford, Lehigh and St. John's.

The game with Upsala is scheduled early in the season and will serve as a trial for night play.

Athletic Director Van Orman is understood to be negotiating with Lehigh in an effort to have that game changed from afternoon to evening.

World's Breast-Stroke Mark Set by English Girl Swimmer

MANCHESTER, England, July 25 (AP).—A new world's swimming record for the 200-yard breast stroke for women was claimed today for Miss Celia Wolstenholme. She swam the distance last night in 2 minutes 56 seconds, beating the former record by 1½ seconds.

The officially listed world's record for the 200-yard breast-stroke swim, in a twenty-five-yard pool, is 3 minutes 2 seconds, set by E. King of Great Britain at Glasgow in 1927.

POLOISTS TO DECIDE JUNIOR TITLE TODAY

Army and Whippany River Fours to Meet in Final of the Rumson Tourney.

OLD OAKS PLAY TOMORROW

Compete With Greentree Riders in Semi-Finals of Herbert Memorial Cup Event.

By VERNON VAN NESS.

Special to The New York Times.

RUMSON, N. J., July 25.—The national junior polo championship will be decided tomorrow afternoon on Herbert Memorial Field at the Rumson Country Club, with the Army four meeting the Whippany River riders.

The decision to adhere to the original schedule instead of holding the contest on Sunday, as announced yesterday, was reached after a conference of the polo officials today.

The match also will comprise a part of the Herbert Memorial Cup tourney, as the two teams were paired in the draw for that event. A separate game had been scheduled for next Wednesday in the Herbert Memorial Cup tourney, but the program was revised because of the Army players being ordered back to active duty on Thursday.

The continuation of the Herbert Memorial tourney will be resumed Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, when the Greentree four and Old Oaks clash in the upper half of the semi-final round.

Army is a hot pronounced favorite to capture the junior crown, which it has held five times during the last eight years. The combination of Lieutenant McDonald Jones, Captain C. A. Wilkinson, Captain Peter Rodes and Lieutenant Homer Kiefer, a 20-goal quartet, has been the sensation of the championship play. Its strength was demonstrated by a convincing victory over Elkwood in the first match of the tourney and an easy triumph over the Greentree players.

The Whippany River four provided a surprise in its semi-final match by beating Old Oaks. It is a fast team, well mounted and aggressive, and may give Army its sternest battle of the series.

U. S. TRACKMEN WIN IN MEET IN FINLAND

Make Clean Sweep of Events They Enter—Bowen Takes 100 Meters in 0:11.2.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 25 (AP).—America's touring track and field athletes made a clean sweep of the events in which they were entered in a meet at Abo today.

Reginald (Pete) Bowen of the University of Pittsburgh won the 100 meters in 0:11.2 and the 400 meters in 0:48.4. C. Pendleton won the 200-meter dash in 0:22.7, and the 110-meter high hurdles went to Steve Anderson of the University of Washington in 0:15.1.

Tommy Warne of Northwestern won the pole vault, clearing 12 feet 9½ inches.

MISS KENWORTHY VICTOR.

Beats Mrs. Welsh, 1 Up, at 19th Hole in Point Judith Final.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 25.—Miss Virginia Kenworthy of Metacomet, State women's golf champion in 1929, avenged her setback in the recent championship when she defeated Mrs. John Welsh of Point Judith and Philadelphia, 1 up, in an exciting nineteen-hole match in the final of the women's invitation tournament at the Point Judith Country Club today.

Miss Kenworthy, who was Mrs. Welsh's victim at the Rhode Island Country Club last month, came from behind after being 2 down at the turn. She squared the match at the twelfth, dropped behind again at the fifteenth, but finally drew even on the home green. Her 5 to Mrs. Welsh's 6 decided the outcome on the first extra hole.

The winner had an approximate 87, while Mrs. Welsh needed one stroke more. In the beaten eight of the first flight, Mrs. Harry Morse of Shenecossett, winner of the Daytona Beach women's championship last Winter, defeated Miss Beatrice de Coppet of Point Judith, 4 and 3.

Makes Golf Ace but Is Defeated.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 25 (AP).—While playing in the Greater Harrisburg golf tournament today Dr. W. R. Shearer of the Carlisle Country Club made a hole in one but lost his match, 4 and 2. Dr. Shearer made his ace on the 180-yard eleventh hole.

Humphrey Wins Caddie Tournament

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 25.—William Humphrey defeated William Sheridan, 4 and 3, in the final of the thirty-six-hole match for the caddie championship at the Plainfield Country Club today.

Suominen and Bush Win Relay Lap.

THREE RIVERS, Que., July 25. (By the Canadian Press).—Dr. Arne L. Suominen of Chicago and Billy Bush of Boston won the sixth lap, from St. Anne de la Parade to Three Rivers, today in the international relay race.

E. A. S. HOPPING OUT OF THIRD TEST GAME

Hitchcock to Lead 34-Goal Four Against 26-Goal Team in Tomorrow's Match.

ROSLYN WILL PLAY TODAY

Will Oppose Meadow Brook in Exhibition on Long Island—Mills, Hurt Two Weeks Ago, to Start.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

An exhibition match at Meadow Brook today ushers in another week-end of polo activity on Long Island fields, with the third of the official test matches for the American team to be played at Fleischmann Field in Port Washington tomorrow. Both games are starting at 4 o'clock and they bring polo back to Long Island for the first time since Wednesday.

Today's Meadow Brook match is to be between Meadow Brook and a Roslyn team and is another of the series of Saturday games to which the public has been invited this year, a new departure at the famous club where the international matches will be played in September. Play today probably will be on International Field.

Meadow Brook will have James P. Mills at the No. 2 post. He will play for the first time since he was kicked in the knee by a falling mount two weeks ago. Elbridge T. Gerry will be at No. 1, with W. A. Harriman at No. 3 and J. C. Cowdin at back. On the Roslyn team will be Stephen Sanford, Harold E. Talbott Jr., Stewart Iglehart and J. C. Rathborne.

Two Veterans to Play.

Earle A. S. Hopping, shaken up in a fall Wednesday, will not attempt to play tomorrow when the test matches are resumed at Port Washington. Instead, a very strong-looking White team, captained by Thomas Hitchcock Jr., will meet a Red side which includes two veterans who are not candidates for the team.

Hitchcock's White team tomorrow will line up with three 8-goal players and himself, the only 10-goal player in the world, making a handicap total of 34. Elmer Boeseke Jr. is to be at No. 1, Eric Pedley at No. 2 and Winston Guest at back, Hitchcock remaining at No. 3.

This is keeping the California combination still together and it has been going very nicely. Guest remains at back, where he was shifted last Wednesday and where he showed signs of coming back to the form which made him such a sensation two years ago.

Strawbridge to Play Back.

The Red team will line up with young George Bostwick at No. 1, J. Watson Webb at No. 2, Earle W. Hopping at No. 3 and Robert E. Strawbridge Jr. at back. Webb is not a candidate this year, having declined the invitation of the test committee to compete. But he has volunteered to aid in the team's formation, lending his valuable experience on three international teams to the committee. This is his first appearance in these matches this year. Hopping is the other man playing who is not a candidate. He is the father of Earle A. S. Hopping.

Bostwick and Strawbridge are the candidates on this team, which totals 26 goals on handicap. The handicaps are not used in these matches, however, nor in any international polo contests.

AIDAN ROARK INJURED IN FALL FROM PONY

British Polo Star Sustains Head Concussion as Hurlingham Beats Beaufort Park, 10-5.

BEAUFORT PARK, Wiltshire, England, July 25 (AP).—Aidan Roark, member of the British polo team which will invade the United States in September, was injured today when he was tossed from his pony in the fourth period of a match between the Hurlingham and Beaufort Park teams. Roark fell on his head, receiving a concussion.

Hurlingham, with Captain R. George, Gerald Balding, Captain C. T. Roark and Lewis Lacey defeated the Beaufort Park quartet, 10 to 5. The Beaufort Park team consisted of Captain M. J. Kingscote, H. C. Walford, Major E. G. Atkinson and Aidan Roark. After Roark's injury, H. P. Guinness went into the line-up.

SPRING LAKE POLO VICTOR.

Defeats Elkwood in Sun Eagles Match by 15 to 8.

Special to The New York Times.

EATONTOWN, N. J., July 25.—Spring Lake's polo team, winner of the Ferdinand Fleischmann Cups in the recent Eatontown Polo Club tournament, triumphed over the Elkwood Club team today in a Sun Eagles tournament match, 15 to 8.

The line-up:

Spring Lake (15)	Elkwood (8).

Penn A. C. Crew Will Sail Today.

Members of the record-breaking Penn A. C. eight-oared crew, Coxswain Tommy Mack Jr. and Coach Frank Muller arrived in New York yesterday afternoon and took quarters on the steamship Belgenland. They will sail at noon today for Antwerp, from where they will go to Liége, Belgium, to participate in the International Federation Regatta Aug. 15-17.

Martin Jr. Makes Hole in One.

John J. Martin Jr. of Scarsdale made a hole in one yesterday at the Westchester Hills Golf Club, White Plains. He accomplished the feat at the sixteenth hole of 145 yards with a No. 5 iron while playing with J. R. Merrian, another member of the club.

Giants Conquer Pirates on Terry's Homer; Robins Beat Reds; Yanks Check Tigers

TERRY'S HOME RUN CONQUERS PIRATES

Long Drive in Third Breaks 1-All Deadlock—Giants Take Second From Rivals, 3-1.

MITCHELL EXCELS IN BOX

Veteran Left-Hander Allows Only Seven Hits, All Singles—Terry Also Scores Third Run.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

William Terry of the Memphis Terrys, a sturdy race, and Clarence Mitchell, who comes from an even older stock, being considerably well along in years himself, just about rolled up the Pirates and wrapped them up in a bundle between them as the Giants made off with their second straight game of the series at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

The score was 3 to 1, and seldom have two men been known to turn in a more thorough job than that accomplished by Memphis Bill and the superannuated Clarence, who rates among the last of the fast fading spitball manipulators and the only one of his kind who does it left-handed.

With the score deadlocked at 1-all back in the third inning, Terry whipped a home run deep into the right-field stand and gave Mitchell a one-run margin, which proved all-sufficient for Clarence. Later, in the eighth to be exact, Terry decided the matter was entirely too close for comfort, so, just by way of demonstrating his versatility, he shot a two-bagger to left which he presently converted into another run when George Grantham, the Pirate second baseman, allowed Mel Ott's infield roller to roll to the outfield.

Extra Tally Not Needed.

But Mitchell needed this extra tally not at all. He allowed the Pirates exactly seven hits, all singles, and only two of these fell after the third. His mastery over Pittsburgh was complete and never more so than in the ninth when the Pirates, straining desperately to bring destruction to somebody, only eliminated themselves with three soft infield taps.

A trio of singles by Allen, Lindstrom and Ott off Larry French, quite a capable left-hander himself, had given the Giants a run in the first, but this lead Mitchell permitted to slip away from him whem Hemsley and the two Waner lads tapped him for singles in the third.

But directly after this Terry brought his bludgeon into the argument and from then on there was not even another flurry.

O'Farrell on Injured List.

By way of keeping the Giant hospital ward well supplied with patients, Bob O'Farrell bobbed up yesterday with a sprained ankle, the result of a collision with Fitzsimmons during the batting practice prior to Thursday's game. At the time of the mishap O'Farrell thought little of it, but yesterday it became painfully apparent that Robert would have to remain on the side lines for the next couple of days. This puts two Giant stars out for repairs again, the other being the distinguished Travis Jackson, who is still mending a muscle strain.

Terry's homer, his thirteenth of the season, was probably the first of the year which he deliberately pulled into the right-field stands. There are many who believe that were Memphis Bill permitted to pull his hits he would swiftly develop himself into one of the game's outstanding home-run sluggers.

Chicago Hammers Out 16 Hits, Benge Being Found for 15, in 9 to 5 Victory.

D. TAYLOR STARS ON ATTACK

Leads Cubs at Bat With Four Blows—Winners Use Nelson, Moss and Root on Mound.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (AP).—The Cubs won the second game of the series today by making sixteen hits and defeating the Phils, 9 to 5. Danny Taylor, playing in place of Stephenson, led the Cubs' attack with four hits, one of them being a triple. By winning the Cubs kept half a game back of the Robins.

The Cubs used three pitchers, Nelson, Moss and Root. Benge, starting Philadelphia pitcher, was pounded hard, allowing fifteen hits in eight innings. Farrell of the Cubs and Hurst and Whitney of the Phillies collected three safeties each.

READING BREAKS EVEN.

Takes First From Baltimore by 7-5, Drops Second by 12-6.

READING, Pa., July 25 (AP).—Reading split even with Baltimore today to win one game of the four-game series. When the Keys won the first decision, 7 to 5, it marked their first victory over the Birds this year.

The Orioles captured the final, 12 to 6, in a slugging bee to register their fourteenth victory of the season over Reading.

ROBINS DOWN REDS AND MAINTAIN LEAD

Concentrate Fire on Lucas in Three Consecutive Early Innings to Win, 7-2.

TALLY FOUR RUNS IN THIRD

Wright's Triple, Sending In Two Tallies, Features — Moss and Heimach Subdue Visitors.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Concentrating their fire upon Red Lucas in three consecutive early innings, the Robins yesterday took the third game from the Reds, 7 to 2, held their half-game grip upon first place as the Cubs won and came up on even terms with the Western clubs in games won and lost. They have now scored eight victories to counterbalance eight defeats since the invasion of Western clubs began, two weeks ago.

Ray Moss, who got yesterday's pitching assignment at his own request after pitching the ninth inning of Thursday's first game, held the Reds to two runs during the seven innings he worked. He was a bit wild and got into difficulties three times, but managed to pull out without serious damage, aided by excellent support.

In the seventh Moss walked three men, but two infield outs preceded two of the passes and Harry Heilmann sent an easy grounder to Wright to end the inning.

Manager Wilbert Robinson sent his latest acquisition, Freddy Heimach, in to pitch the last two innings, and he held the Reds scoreless, giving only two singles.

Hendrick Opens Attack.

Harvey Hendrick, playing left field in place of Ike Boone, started the Robins on their scoring way with a double in the second, Glenn Wright sending him home with a slashing single off the right-field wall.

In the third the Robins scored four runs on hits by Frederick, Herman, Bissonette and Wright and a pass to Hendrick. Wright's blow was a triple off the right-field wall that drove in two runs.

Frederick, who got three hits in four attempts, followed Wright's example in the fourth and banged another triple against the wall to score Lopez and Moss with the final two Robin tallies.

Thereafter Lucas silenced all the Brooklyn guns with the exception of Frederick, who slammed out his third hit in the sixth, but Leo Durocher robbed both Wright and Eddie Moore of hits in the seventh and eighth by extraordinary stops of sizzling grounders.

Reds Score in Fourth.

The Reds made their first run in the fourth when a pass to Stripp was followed by Cuccinello's single and Heilmann's double. Ford lined to Wright, but Moss walked Durocher to fill the bases. In this dangerous situation Frederick came in to make a nice catch of Gooch's low liner to end the frame.

Another Red run came over in the sixth on a pair of doubles by Stripp and Durocher, with two intervening outs and a walk to Ford.

In addition to nearly 3,000 Boy Scouts, who occupied the left-field seats, about 10,000 were present.

For the final game with the Reds today Uncle Robbie probably will call upon Hollis Thurston, who, in addition to his great shut-out against the Cards last Thursday, pitched four shut-out innings against the Reds on the last Western trip as a relief hurler.

SHERDEL, BRAVES, TURNS BACK CARDS

Gains 5-4 Verdict Over Former Teammates When Boston Rallies in Ninth.

BLADES STARS FOR LOSERS

Accounts for All of St. Louis's Runs With a Single and a Home Run.

BOSTON, July 25 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals lost to their old teammate, Wee Willie Sherdel, today, as Sherdel led the Braves in a 5 to 4 triumph.

The Braves won in the ninth after Rhem had filled the bases with Richbourg's double, his own muff of Maranville's bunt and a pass to Sisler. Berger's infield out scored Richbourg.

Ray Blades accounted for all of the Cards' runs. His single in the fourth scored Gelbert, who had tripled, and he got a homer into the left field stands in the seventh with two on.

ROCHESTER TAKES FINAL.

Pounds Out Total of 25 Hits to Defeat Buffalo, 18-11.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—Rochester pounded out twenty-five hits for eighteen runs to win over Buffalo today as the Bisons got seventeen hits for eleven tallies in the final of their two-game series.

Rochester piled up a 10-0 lead in the first five innings and then had to keep on scoring to take the verdict. The Bisons tallied four runs on five hits after two were out in the ninth, leaving three men stranded when Shinners lined out.

Worthington and Sax each had five hits, while Rip Collins had four for a perfect day. Collins also scored five runs.

WHITE SOX DEFEAT SENATORS IN NINTH

Reynolds's Double With Mulleavy on First Brings Victory by 6 to 5.

LATE RALLY TIES SCORE

McKain Gets Verdict In Box After Relieving Thomas, Who Gave Way to Pinch Hitter.

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP).—Reynolds' double to right centre with Mulleavy on first in the last of the ninth gave the White Sox a 6-to-5 victory over Washington today.

The victory was the eighth out of the last ten games for the White Sox, and the second straight over the Senators.

Chicago rallied in the seventh and eighth to tie the score by the beginning of the ninth. Hadley saw most of the punishment and therefore was charged with the defeat. McKain got credit for the victory when he went in to pitch after Thomas had been relieved for a pinch hitter.

YANKS STOP TIGERS AS JOHNSON STARS

Hurler Checks Detroit After Wells Is Knocked Out and Also Aids in Attack.

GEHRIG HITS 29TH HOMER

Drive Puts Shawkeymen in Front in Uphill Battle Won by 14-7—Hoyt Poorly Supported.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—Henry Johnson, after several sorrowful experiences on Western diamonds this month, today stepped in and won himself golden opinions and high praise from the Yankee high command. He took charge of a game which had gone very much pro-Detroit in its first inning. He checked promptly and persistently the Tiger attack and emerged as the winning pitcher in the 14-7 score which represented the second straight Yankee victory here.

Johnson did more. In the fourth inning, with the score still pro-Detroit to the extent of 5 to 2, he came to bat with two out and two on base. He matched eyes and wits with Waite Hoyt. Then, when the count stood three balls and two strikes, Johnson bounced a mighty drive on top of the left-field fence for a triple.

The ball hopped back into left field and missed being a homer by the width of the wall's brim. Then right-fielder Roy Johnson muffed a fly by Combs, Henry Johnson scoring the tying run. Lou Gehrig's twenty-ninth homer of the season came with one on base in the following inning, breaking the deadlock, and after that the afternoon was very much of a base-running party for the young men from Manhattan.

Wells Starts on Mound.

The rival managers projected a program featuring two ex-teammates as the opposing pitchers, Ed Wells, the former Tiger, in the box for the Yanks, with Waite Hoyt, a Yankee hero for nearly a decade, the Detroit moundsman. The effect was striking, but it was all over too soon. Wells left the scene before the first inning was finished. Two singles, two doubles, then a homer over the left-field fence by Paul Easterling, the new Tiger outfielder from Beaumont of the Texas League, put Wells out of the picture and five Detroit runs over the plate before the third out in the first inning.

Hoyt's chances to annoy his former buddies were smashed by the outburst of Tiger errors which distressed the 9,000 witnesses. A misjudgment of Reese's liner by Stone in the first inning figured in the two Yankee runs scored at that time.

In the fourth there were two out, with Hoyt still holding a three-run lead, when Koenig fumbled Dickey's grounder which should have ended the inning. Lary bounced a single past Gehringer and then came Henry Johnson's triple, Roy Johnson's muff and the three-run lead was no more.

Hogsett Follows Hoyt.

Akers fumbled Lazzeri's hot drive opening the fifth inning, then Gehrig hammered his homer over the left-field wall and up an alley. When Combs opened the sixth with a triple to left centre and Reese lined a double to right centre, Hoyt left and Elon Hogsett was the victim of the subsequent Yankee slugging.

Manager Shawkey today announced the release of Vernon Gomez, southpaw pitcher, to St. Paul of the American Association on option and the purchase of Walter Brown, a right-handed pitcher, from Tulsa of the Western League. Gomez was purchased from San Francisco of the Coast League last Fall and has shown excellent possibilities. He is being sent to St. Paul to work himself into pitching condition, a dental operation having incapacitated him almost entirely for mound duty for the past five weeks. Brown, formerly tried out by Cleveland, will report to the Yanks Aug. 20.

HOPPE GAINS WITH CUE.

Takes Two More Blocks From St. Jean in 3-Cushion Match.

Willie Hoppe took two more blocks from Andrew St. Jean in their fourteen-block handicap three-cushion billiard match at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday. Hoppe has won all the ten blocks to date and has scored 500 points, to 308 for St. Jean, in the 442 innings played. Hoppe's quota is 50 points per block, to 40 for St. Jean, or a total of 700 to 560 for the match.

Hoppe outscored St. Jean, 50 to 39, in fifty innings, in the ninth block, which was contested in the afternoon. Hoppe's high run was 6 and St. Jean's 5. At night Hoppe ran his winning streak to ten blocks by triumphing, 50 to 26, in fifty-nine innings. The former champion clicked 8 in his best turn at the table and St. Jean's best cluster was 4.

Matsuyama Is Victor at Billiards.

Kinrey Matsuyama defeated Ed Lawler, 200 to 75, in eighteen innings, in an 18.2 balkline game at Lawler Brothers' Brooklyn Billiard Academy last night. Matsuyama's high run was 56 and Lawler's 38.

GOSLIN GETS NO. 18 IN BROWNS' TRIUMPH

Drives Homer, Double and Single as Mates Repulse Red Sox by 6 to 3.

LISENBEE PUT TO ROUT

Is Driven From Box in Second Inning—Blaeholder Holds Boston Safe Throughout.

ST. LOUIS, July 25 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns managed to defeat the Boston Red Sox today, 6 to 3, and remained out of the American League cellar. If Boston had won the teams would have exchanged places.

Goose Goslin was largely responsible for keeping the Browns in seventh place, hitting his eighteenth home run of the season, a double and a single in four times at bat, besides driving in four runs.

St. Louis got to Lisenbee early in the game, driving him from the mound at the end of the second inning. Durham, who succeeded him, hurled superbly, not allowing a counter during the remainder of the game. Blaeholder pitched creditably for the Browns.

GROVE HURLS EFFECTIVELY

Three Pitchers Fail for Cleveland—Bishop, Miller and Simmons Connect for Circuit.

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP).—Hard hitting, including three home runs, coupled with ten bases on balls and two triple steals, won for the Athletics today in the second game of the series with the Indians. The score was 14 to 1.

Three Cleveland pitchers were unable to stem the tide of Athletic sluggers, but Jablonowski was charged with the defeat. Grove was effective throughout.

The first triple steal came in the first inning, with Simmons, Miller and Williams participating in the theft and Simmons scoring. The second triple steal came in the fourth, with Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx on the bases, Cochrane reaching home. Bishop, Miller and Simmons each drove home runs. Miller led the batting attack with four hits.

U. S. ELEVEN TO FACE ARGENTINE TEAM TODAY

Rivals Will Clash in Semi-Final of World's Title Soccer—60,000 Expected.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 25.—The semi-final game in the world's soccer football championship, in which the United States and Argentine teams are scheduled to play tomorrow, practically has been the entire talk of the day, as people everywhere were heard commenting on the probabilities of success of one or the other eleven.

The North Americans, who surprised the experts with their clean-cut victories, are picked by many as the most likely winners of tomorrow's game and even as the future champions. The backers of the United States say that it demonstrated better combination work and also superior physical condition.

The supporters of the Argentines, however, although they agree that the North Americans are dangerous, assert that the Argentines' quicker and trickier play will enable them to prove their superiority over the United States players.

Interest in the game is constantly increasing and it is estimated that more than 5,000 Argentines are crossing the river tonight on five steamers, specially chartered, while others are using the aerial route in order to be present in the stadium tomorrow to cheer their team. There has been the anticipated heavy demand for tickets and it is expected that the stadium, estimated to seat 60,000, will be packed.

The winner of tomorrow's semi-final will play in the final Wednesday with the winner of Sunday's semi-final between Uruguay and Yugoslavia.

FLYACROSS VICTOR BY FIVE LENGTHS

Annexes Empire City Feature—Kurtsinger Scores Tenth Triumph of Meeting.

IRISH MARINE, 7-10, LOSES

Shasta Grafton, 8 to 1 Shot, Beats Favorite—Peregrina Takes Opening Event.

By BRYAN FIELD.

Jockey Charles Kurtsinger, who only recently became the first-string rider for William Ziegler Jr., clinched riding honors at the waning Empire City meeting when he brought the Niagara Stable's Flyacross home first yesterday in the test that had the place of honor on the program and thus chalked up his tenth victory.

Kurtsinger won with Flyacross last Friday, and his other winners were Phantom Star, Quita, Gone Away, Chickahominy, Martis, Moonstruck, Swatter and Joanne E.

Of the ten, Flyacross was by far the easiest winner. It is doubtful if any horse at the meeting has had so little trouble in taking the measure of its opposition. This does not imply that the 5-year-old son of Whisk Broom II is a great horse, as the facts are against him what with the claiming price of $1,500 chalked against his name on the program. But he outclassed those that were against him and won by five lengths.

Flyacross Backed Heavily.

The result was no surprise to the spectators, and they backed him so heavily that he was a 1-to-2 shot. Kurtsinger in the early stages may have caused some trepidation to backers of his mount, for he rated off the pace of the leader, which was Curator, a horse with a good deal of early foot. This, however, was in accordance with the instructions of Trainer Frank Kearns, and later events proved Kearns's judgment good.

Kurtsinger dropped into the second notch with Flyacross and bided his time there until they almost had reached the far turn. Then he shook up the Niagara color-bearer and the race was over. There still was a good distance to run, but Flyacross left the others floundering and swung into the stretch well ahead and winging on his way. At the end the horse was eased up, but still five lengths before Attamart, which closed strongly to beat Curator for the place.

Irish Marine was another which was made an odds-on favorite, but he did not fare so well as Flyacross. Backed down to 7 to 10 at post time, Irish Marine faltered in the closing stages and was beaten by Shasta Grafton, an 8-to-1 shot. This happened after Irish Marine, which was named a good many years ago in honor of Gene Tunney, had led most of the way. Rubberneck, another outsider in the betting, held on well enough to get third after being the early pacemaker.

Peregrina Easy Victor.

The day started off with the victory of a favorite, when Carl Finke's Peregrina won by six lengths. The winner was getting out of the maiden class by her victory and paid 11 to 5 to her backers, who seemed to be very numerous, judging by the shouts as she came through the stretch all by herself. Campus Capers was second and Snooty third.

Irish Marine's race followed Peregrina's victory, and then in the third there was a disappointment for the form players when the favorite was beaten for first money and the second choice finished far out of the money. Billie Leonard, little favored at 7 to 2, was the winner by a length over Dun Ro, with Doctor Rankin third.

LATONIA DASH WON BY CHIMNEY SWEEP

Whitney Racer Is Eased Up at End of Feature After a Hustling Ride.

THE SOUTHERNER IS NEXT

Comes From Far Back in Last Sixteenth to Beat Long Run—Victor Pays $5.96.

LATONIA, Ky., July 25 (AP).—The colors of Harry Payne Whitney were carried to victory today when his Chimney Sweep captured the Air Mail Purse for 3-year-olds and upward, a dash of six furlongs, which featured the card.

Kenneth Russell gave the colt a hustling ride. When the barrier was sprung he was off to a good start. At the bend for home the winner was two lengths in the van and finished eased up.

The Southerner came from far back in the last sixteenth to take second money from Long Run by a length and a half. Henriette Hardies, close up in the early stages, tired badly in the run for home.

The winner was the favorite, paying $5.96 for $2, and ran the distance in 1:13.

NELLIE CUSTIS WINS FEATURE AT CHICAGO

Audley Farm's Consistent Filly Takes Modesty Purse, Scoring by Length.

VALENCIENNES IS NEXT

Molasses Jane Finishes Third, While Snowflake, Favorite, Is Last in Field of Five.

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP).—Nellie Custis, the consistent 4-year-old bay filly by Sir Barton-Miss Minerva, from the Audley Farm, captured the Modesty Purse, the best offering on today's card at Arlington Park. Valenciennes from Mrs. J. D. Hertz's Stable was second with Molasses Jane from the Brann Castle Farm Stable third.

The Modesty Purse was an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upwards, fillies and mares, over the mile distance and drew a field of five starters. The daughter of Sir Barton covered the eight panels in 1:36 4-5. Her victory added $1,300 to the coffers of the Audley Farm while her backers received $9.18 for $2 in the mutuels.

Nellie Custis was off fast and was taken into the lead at once, increased her advantage to four lengths at the half-way pole, was five lengths ahead when straightened out in the home stretch but tired badly and was ridden out at end to win by a length.

Snowflake, the odds-on favorite in the wagering, was always last.

LEGION SCHEDULE LISTED.

Plans Made for Selection of Junior World Series Teams.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 25 (AP).—The schedule for the regional and sectional games that lead to selection of the two teams to play in the junior world series baseball games was announced today at headquarters of the American Legion.

Legion posts throughout the country sponsor the junior baseball competition in which 500,000 boys will participate this year. The junior world series is to be played Aug. 28, 29 and 30 at Memphis, Tenn.

The opposing teams will be selected at a western sectional to be played at Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 21, 22 and 23 and an eastern sectional at Charlottesville, Va., on the same dates.

The regional schedules for the West follow:

Region 1—Including the States of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho, to be played at Baker, Ore., Aug. 14 and 15.

Region 2—Including California, Utah, Arizona and Nevada, to be played at Stockton, Cal., Aug. 14 and 15.

Region 3—Including Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico, to be played at Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 16 and 18.

Region 4—Including North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, to be played at Sioux Falls, S. D., Aug. 14 and 15.

Region 5—Including Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, to be played at Quincy, Ill., Aug. 13 and 14.

Region 6—Including Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, to be played at Shreveport, La., Aug. 14 and 15.

Peregrina, a rapid breaker, rushed into a long early lead, came to the middle of the track where the going was firm, and drawing away, won galloping. Campus Capers, outrun to the final furlong, closed with a rush and was a fast-going second. Snooty was on the extreme outside all the way, and ran a good race. Sir Prize was well up all the way and made a game effort. Heedless tired chasing the pace. Mardie had speed for three furlongs.

Billie Leonard was on the outside all the way, kept step with the pace, but was forced to a hard drive to win. Dun Ro was kept in the deep soft going and was under restraint, instead of taking a long lead early, he held on gamely in the final drive. Doctor Rankin ran a good race. Mary-Dale was well up from the start and had no mishap. Angry Lass was outrun.

Vacant, displaying a world of speed, rushed into the lead, saved ground in the early part, came a bit wide in the stretch, but held on gamely. Chief's Warrior trailed far back in the early part, came around the field and finished fast. Croyden was kept in the deep soft going and right at the end Jockey Fields was forced to take up, as he was crowded. Battler showed early speed. Golden Anger fell at the paddock turn.

HOWARD HORSE WINS CUP AT STAMFORD

Peter the Great Takes Former President's Trophy for Second Year in a Row.

TREASURE BOX GAINS TITLE

Palmer Entry Adjudged Champion Saddle Pony—Wood Pigeon and Prudence Earn Blues.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.
Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 25.—Minot Howard of Port Chester, N. Y., today gained his second leg on the former President's Cup, one of the chief trophies of the thirteenth annual Stamford Horse Show, with Peter the Great.

The beautiful piece of plate was presented to the youthful amateur star by Mrs. Thomas Logan, president of the Horse Show Association, in the presence of the largest gathering since the exhibition opened on Tuesday. In addition to the trophy the winner earned $250 in cash, the contest being a sweepstakes over the jumps in the ring.

Horses, riders, owners and those spectators who had gone through the rather harrowing experience during the thunderstorm of yesterday had recovered, although all were rather jumpy during the morning session. Miss Doris Hofheimer rode in one morning class, but found herself unequal to further competition and was prevailed upon to go home.

Trophy First Offered in 1925.

The former President's Cup was offered in 1925 by Joseph Wilshire. Van Duzer Button's Golden Eagle had gained two legs on the trophy in two ownerships. Minot Howard won it last year with Peter the Great and with characteristic modesty had not dared to believe that he would repeat. In fact, when he returned the trophy he enclosed this note.

"To the Winner of This Most Beautiful Cup: I am sending my few words of congratulations to the winner of this cup and trust that you will enjoy it for the next year as I have for the past."

This note was in the cup when Mr. Howard received it back from Mrs. Logan. His victory was hailed with great enthusiasm.

Second money went to Golden Eagle, which lost by the narrowest margin the honor of gaining permanent possession of the trophy for Lieutenant Burton. A. J. Thomas's chestnut gelding Kinnegad was third and H. Hollon Crowell's chestnut gelding Fairfax fourth.

Two $500 saddle stakes were decided this afternoon, the first being for three-gaited horses over 15.2 hands. This resulted in a notable victory for the Polka Dot Farm of Scarborough-on-Hudson, which gained first and second honors, respectively, with their great chestnut mare Lady Margaret and the big chestnut gelding Whoopee.

Boxwood Farm Scores.

Then came the big money event for the five-gaited saddle horses, and here the railbirds let themselves loose. Enthusiasm was unrestrained and culminated when the Boxwood Farm's grand little bay mare Rhododendron carried off the blue, being placed over G. Berry Beaumont's chestnut mare Charming Gypsy. Third was the Polka Dot Farm's bay stallion Polka Dot Chief. It was Rhododendron's fourth blue of the exhibition.

The only championship of the fourth day was that for saddle ponies, and the title, as was anticipated, was carried off by the noted little chestnut mare Treasure Box, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer. Reserve ribbon went to Miss Anne Turner's gray mare Annadale.

Mrs. S. W. Taylor presented the Sunaim Fox Hunters' Trophy, a handsome piece of plate, which was offered for the Corinthian class for hunters. This is usually one of the most popular and attractive of horse show competitions, but today only half a dozen competed over the outside course. The fight for the honors was very close, it coming down to conformation and appointments.

Miss Page Lewis-Stranahan of Westport, Conn., piloted her towering black mare Wood Pigeon, and only a single fault was scored against her. On conformation the mare more than held her own and took the blue and the trophy. Miss Celeste McNeil had the mount of Van Duzer Burton's even bigger hunter, Golden Eagle, and put him over without a fault. He gained the red over Miss Doris Hofheimer's chestnut gelding Sovereign Gold, which also had a perfect performance.

Palmer Mare Is Defeated.

Mrs. Logan handed out the prizes and congratulated the riders of the ribbon winners in the special ladies' side-saddle class, for which she donated the prizes. Miss Virginia Feigenspan of Newark had the honor of receiving the blue for the performance on her father's chestnut mare, the noted Prudence, 9 years old, which was placed over Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer's chestnut mare Emily Brickley.

Third was gained by John H. Stone's chestnut mare Lady Frances and fourth went to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Soby's chestnut gelding The Diplomat.

Nine went after the money in the stake for saddle ponies not over 14.2 hands and the blue ribbon was carried off by Mr. and Mrs. Palmer's chestnut mare Treasure Box, it being her third victory of the show. Second honors were taken by Miss Anne Turner's gray mare Annadale and third by Miss Jane Patterson's brown mare Brown Silk.

For the Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer trophy there was a big field jumping in the ring, and two jump-offs were required to settle the trophy and ribbons. Miss Lewis-Stranahan showed her Wood Pigeon again, and once more the mare rewarded by splendid performances to capture the trophy and blue ribbon. The Overbrook Farm was second with the chestnut gelding Courtois, while Minot Howard jumped his chestnut gelding Jumping Jack to gain the yellow ribbon.

JAEGER CAPTURES TITLE BIKE RACE

Newark Rider Takes Early Lead to Defeat Letourner in 40-Mile Event.

CHAPMAN'S SPRINT FAILS

Georgetti Finishes Third at New York Velodrome—Victor Gains in Race for Paced Crown.

Charlie Jaeger, Newark youngster who recently figured in a serious spill at Philadelphia, rode back into championship form by capturing the forty-mile titular race last night at the New York Velodrome track.

Going out in front early in the race, Jaeger beat Alfred Letourner, Franco Georgetti, Franz Duelberg, Paul Brocardo, George Chapman and Larry Gaffney.

The victory brought Jaeger within reach of the leaders in the chase for the American motor-paced championship. Letourner, by finishing one step ahead of Georgetti, went into a tie for the lead with his Italian rival, each having 49 points. Chapman is next in line with 40 points, Jaeger has 39, Duelberg 36 and Brocardo 1 point.

Willie Zipf guided Jaeger along in a smooth and easy fashion. He took the Newark rider to the front at the fifteen-mile mark, passing Gaffney. Georgetti and Letourner then tried to come up from the rear, but Chapman beat them to it and dashed around Brocardo and Duelberg to battle Jaeger, but Chapman could not hold the pace and gave way to Georgetti and Letourner as they rode to the front.

Jaeger had a commanding lead, as Letourner kept off the challenges of Georgetti in the closing miles. At the bell lap Georgetti made his last attempt to go to the front, but blew his motor at the backstretch, giving Letourner second place.

Carlisle's Class M Yacht Avatar Wins by 16 Seconds at Larchmont

AVATAR HOME FIRST IN LARCHMONT RACE

Beats Istalena, Class M Rival, by 16 Seconds in Fifth Regatta of the Series.

208 CRAFT CROSS THE LINE

Four Larchmont O Boats, With Mirage Again Victor, Lead Entire Fleet Home.

Special to The New York Times.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., July 25.—After almost a week of varying weather, ranging from rain to sunshine and calms to squalls, the fifth regatta of the Larchmont Yacht Club's annual race week series off here this afternoon was favored by a good wind from the northwest and clear skies overhead. A fleet of 208 boats competed.

Courses were not shortened today as on previous days during these series, and the final stretch home to windward brought the boats tacking from all points along the Sound to the finish line.

All four boats of the Larchmont O class were first to finish. Next came the N. Y. Y. C. forties, with no entry from another class intervening. After this yachts from several classes came across the line in close formation.

Close Finish in Class M.

A finish which for a time looked almost like a dead heat was that in the largest class. George M. Pynchon in his Class M Istalena came up along the New York shore to the finish line on the starboard tack. From across the Sound came Floyd Carlisle's Avatar on the port tack.

Then Avatar came about and the two boats were close together. Avatar had the shorter beat to the line and led Istalena across by sixteen seconds. C. D. Wiman's Simba, the third M boat to start today, came in 1 minute 10 seconds after Istalena. Istalena.

Dick Boardman of Boston sailed Charles Harding's international twelve-meter Anitra to victory, defeating Clifford Mallory in his Tycoon by a little more than one minute. Both the Ms and the twelve-raters sailed a nineteen and three-quarter mile triangular course. The first leg to Greenwich Point was a broad reach. From here the boats took a close reach across the Sound to Oak Neck Point.

Mirage Triumphs Again.

Robert Mahlstedt's Larchmont O class boat Mirage again came in victorious. She has won every race in her class during this series, and out of ten starts for the season has come home ten times a victor.

Corny Shields's Aileen again won, scoring in the Interclub Class by 20 seconds, R. A. Goeller's Bobbill coming in second. Shields leads in the series by 2 points.

Briggs Cunningham leads the International six raters by 9 points. In the Atlantic Coast one design class Miss Lorna Whittelsey, sailing Robert Schmeltzer's Flash, leads by 2 points.

Frederick T. Bedford brought his N. Y. Y. C. 40-footer Shawara across the finish line 32 seconds ahead of Mistral, sailed by Fred Bradley. In the international ten-meter class Francis S. Page's Narcissus beat Carrol Alker's Nautilus over the finish line by 1 minute and 42 seconds. Horace Havemeyer's Dragon followed 36 seconds later.

Man Overboard Picked Up.

A bit of bad luck in this class today came to George Lauder in his new Revenge. Revenge was the first boat to get around the first mark. She jibed as she rounded it and started out to lead the fleet to the second buoy when one of her paid hands, running aft along the deck, tripped on a rope and went overboard. By the time Revenge had come about and picked him out of the water she was far behind the rest.

Van S. Merle-Smith sailed his Mars to victory in the International six-meter class, finishing 1 minute, 17 seconds ahead of Briggs Cunningham in Lucie.

Again today the international star class had the largest fleet, with thirty-five boats. They sailed in two divisions. The first division was composed of the leading boats in both divisions for the first four days of race week. In this group J. R. Robinson's Little Bear won, defeating Vesta, K. B. Millet's boat, by 1:14.

Ursa Minor, belonging to A. McMahon, came home the victor in the second division, defeating Newell P. Weed's Dr. Pepper by less than a minute.

The next largest class was the Atlantic one-design, which had twenty-five boats. Some made premature starts and were recalled in the strong breeze which was blowing at the time. Restarts were frequent in other classes also.

Quest Looms as Likely Choice For Canada's Cup Challenger

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, July 25.—The committee in charge of selecting the challenger for the Canada's Cup must make its decision within the next twenty-four hours and it is expected that Quest will be the boat chosen. The selection committee consists of the three skippers in the Canada's Cup trials, Norman Gooderham, Fleet Captain T. K. Wade and Rear Commodore E. K. M. Wedd; Canada's Cup Judge Harry A. Moore and Dr. Frank Mills, chairman of the sailing committee. Quest was designed by William Fife of Scotland.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

WHILE waiting for the returns on the doubles match at Auteuil, attention might be directed to the neighboring and friendly town of Boston, the Athens of America, where many interested citizens will take the day off to watch the presentation of a sedan, a floral horseshoe and a collection of Treasury notes to one Walter J. Maranville.

The presentation will be made at Braves Field. That's the lawn on which baseball's famous Rabbit has been scampering with such grace and agility in his nineteenth season in the big league. Two brass bands will furnish the music. City Councilors will make speeches. Springfield is sending its own official delegation, including one stalwart veteran of the Springfield constabulary, Officer Maranville, father of the rollicking Rabbit.

Ask the players in the National League and they will tell you that the Rabbit is the marvel of this baseball age. He has been around for ages. He has done things. He has seen strange places. He has been playing and scrapping for nearly a score of years and has survived "moving accidents by flood and field."

Strange Tales.

Dropped to the minors at the advanced age of 35, the Rabbit came back to the big show at high speed and for the past several seasons has been giving the younger stars lessons in how shortstop should be played, with gestures.

The Rabbit was a star in 1914, the peppery shortstop of the world's champion Braves of that year. Since that ancient era he has been with Brooklyn, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, the minors and back to Boston again.

He was once a major league manager. That was in Chicago, but his leadership lasted only until he hit Broadway and a taxi driver. Shortly after he hit the taxi driver, the taxi driver also hit Broadway. Maranville won the bout but lost his job, thus getting a Mexican decision, as it were.

Out in St. Louis they say that the Rabbit once dove into the fountain in the courtyard of the Buckingham Hotel and, whether intentionally or not, swallowed one of the prize goldfish in the pool. The Rabbit denies that. He says he didn't dive. He was pushed. And he doesn't care for goldfish, alive or dead. He prefers filet de sole, maitre d'hotel, sauce tartare.

Riding With the Robins.

The Rabbit was with the Robins in an era when that club was more like a traveling circus than a ball team. In the Spring they stormed up through the Southland, issuing challenges to the local chapters of the Ku Klux Klan. It was in Clearwater that a harassed hotel owner dashed up to Uncle Robbie and demanded:

"Who's firing a machine gun out that third story window?"

It turned out that it wasn't a machine gun at all. The Rabbit was giving an exhibition of juggling furniture, while Whitey Witt was playing an obbligato with firecrackers.

The Rabbit got himself one of those jointed wiggly wooden snakes and made life miserable for the players on the Robins and Yankees who hated snakes, and this included the illustrious Babe Ruth, who tried to vault a stationary Pullman in Chattanooga when he innocently gazed over his shoulder and saw Maranville's pet wooden snake wiggling toward his chin.

On the Ball Field.

All that was off the ball field. Not that the Rabbit doesn't clown on the diamond from time to time, or even regularly. He does, but he never lets it interfere with the serious business of ferrying a grounder over to first or taking two and hitting to right in the pinch. The Rabbit would be slightly out of place as our Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, but he is right at home on a ball field and the life of any diamond party. He has been a great player for years and has amused countless thousands by his antics and his quips in the run of any given season. He is a favorite in all towns and with fans, players and umpires alike.

Nobody could hate the Rabbit. Nobody could even dislike him a little bit. He's a bundle of courage, cleverness and good humor, a little fellow with a great heart. If the fans in this area can't be present at the celebration at Braves Field today, the guest of honor should have the satisfaction of knowing that New York fans are for him and with him, no matter what uniform he wears.

Sticking to Boston.

As long as the discussion has a Boston tinge, this note from the Allston sector might be put in evidence:

"Sir—As a referee seems necessary to decide the greatest infield of all time, I hereby nominate myself for that job. The supreme infield of baseball history was the old Boston one of Tenney, Lowe, Long and Collins. They could do everything, had baseball intelligence to a greater degree than any rival quartet, and the courage of lions.

"I will go further. The whole Boston team of those days was never equaled before or since. Add to this infield the outfield of Duffy, Hamilton and McCarthy, and the battery of Nichols and Bergen. It was the perfect baseball machine.

"Hamilton never was equaled as a lead-off man. He got to first regularly and stole second as a matter of routine. Equally as a matter of routine, Duffy or Tenney would score him. In one home stay of seventeen games this happened in the first inning of every game. I saw them all and noted it. A peculiarity of this team was its lack of big men. I doubt that the team averaged 5 feet 7 inches. But it was the greatest team in history just the same. Yours, G. S."

Page John McGraw, Joe Kelley, Uncle Wilbert Robinson and other survivors of the old Orioles. They might have something to say by way of rebuttal to Boston's claim with regard to the greatest team. But, just a moment! It occurs that Uncle Wilbert may still be regarded as a traitor in this respect. He was read out of the party a few years back when he pronounced the Yankees of 1927 the greatest team he ever saw on a diamond. Ever since that time Uncle Robbie has been shunned by his ancient playmates and whenever he appears on the streets of Baltimore he is puffing along on a dead run.

WHIRLWIND GOES OVERBOARD AGAIN

Put in Water at City Island, Where She Has Mast Placed in New Step.

With the high tide yesterday morning Whirlwind, the America's Cup yacht undergoing changes in her rig at City Island, was put overboard at Robert Jacob's shipyard. Her mast was stepped in the afternoon, and the work of rerigging her begun. Because of the many changes in her rigging, with the mast stepped twenty-nine inches forward a second time, it was thought doubtful if the work could be completed in time to get the yacht under sail this afternoon, as was hoped.

Those in charge of the cup aspirant expressed confidence that the boat would be free of her weather helm, and do much better when she meets the three other cup boats a week from today in the first run of the New York Yacht Club cruise, that from New London to Newport.

Whirlwind also is expected to slip through the water much easier than she did. Before she was put back in the water from the marine railway, her mahogany underbody shone with fresh green paint and appeared exceptionally smooth.

Cruising yachts will have another prize to strive for in the Harlem Yacht Club's race to Cornfield Lightship on Aug. 23. The contest will be open to boats of more than 30 feet over-all length and under 60 feet. The Bermuda measurement rule will prevail. The over-all length must not exceed 150 per cent of the water-line.

The start will be at 11 A. M. just east of Execution Light. No yacht will be allowed to start unless she carries full cruising equipment, but the carrying of dinghys will not be required. Time allowance will be figured on 130 miles.

The Atlantic Yacht Club's race week at Sea Gate will start next Wednesday and continue through Sunday. The Star Class will have contests the first two days, and will wind up the regatta with a race across the lower bay to the Shrewsbury. On Friday and Saturday other classes will compete.

Banovic Defeats Sekyra.

SAYRE, Pa., July 25 (AP).—Although he suffered a broken left hand in the third round, Joe Banovic, 170, Binghamton, N. Y., tonight won a ten-round decision from Joe Sekyra, 177, Dayton, Ohio. In the semi-final George Daggett, 150, New York, knocked out Jack Dell, 150, Scranton, in the third round.

PRINCE W. IS VICTOR IN PACE AT OWEGO

Captures 2:14 Event in Three Straight Heats, With Ponzetta Strong Contender.

Special to The New York Times.

OWEGO, N. Y., July 25.—Good racing but a small crowd marked the third day of the Orange County circuit races. The favorites won all three events, but in two of these there was enough uncertainty to keep the crowd on edge.

Prince W. won the 2:14 pace in three straight heats, but Ponzetta proved a strong contender and came within a nose of winning the third heat.

In the 2:11 trot Hollyrood Dick did not have to extend himself until the last heat, stepped in 2:08, to defeat Happy the Great.

Corporal Lee, the Harry Brusie entry in the 2-year-old pace, had everything his own way and a break in the first turn of the second round in the second heat did not even endanger his chance to win this heat.

PATTERSON WINS BOUT.

Defeats Sarko in Feature Six-Rounder at Long Beach.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BEACH, L. I., July 25.—Willie Patterson, Astoria lightweight, gained the decision over Mike Sarko of Boston in the feature six-round bout before 3,500 spectators at the Long Beach Stadium tonight. The boxers put up a good fight, with Patterson maintaining a slight advantage throughout. Patterson weighed 138, one-half pound more than his opponent.

Sammy Delson, 131½, of New York, outpointed Sammy Casuto, 130½, of Bronxville, in the six-round semi-final. Jimmy Turco, 128, of New York, defeated Al Matthews, 126, of New York, in another six-rounder, while in the fourth six-round bout on the card, Murray Kezd, 143, of New York, scored a knockout in the first session over Jack Lombardo, 141, of New York.

Jack Adler, 182, of New York, gained the judge's decision over Johnny West, 185, of New York, in a four-round engagement, while in another four-rounder Danny London, 117, of New York, was the victor over Jack Presse, 122, of New York. Bill Stark, 122½, of New York, knocked out Jimmy Lattanzio, 119, of Brooklyn, in the third round of the opening four-rounder, Referee Lou Magnolia intervening.

Fox Stops Mitchell in First.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 25 (AP).—Marty Fox, New York, 179, tonight scored a technical knockout over Leo Mitchell, Kansas City, 180, in the first round of a scheduled ten-round main event at Savin Rock. In a preliminary Johnny Pena, New York, 118, defeated Paris Apice, Providence, 122, in six rounds.

HANOVER'S BERTHA VICTOR AT TOLEDO

Captures Three-Year-Old Trot, Feature on Grand Circuit—Easter Lilly Scores.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 25 (AP).—Hanover's Bertha, a bay mare owned by the Hanover Shoes Farm of Hanover, Pa., and driven by Tommy Berry, kept her 1930 record unsullied by winning the 3-year-old trot, feature of the grand circuit racing at Fort Miami Park tonight in three straight heats.

An overwhelming favorite in the betting, Hanover's Bertha won each of the heats as she wished. Pola McElwyn, driven by Harry Stokes, the Toledo reinsman, took second money in the race. Sep Palin's Senator Madden and Guy Day split third money.

Easter Lilly, driven by Dr. Hugh Parshall for Harry Engleright of Lima, Ohio, also scored a straight three-heat victory in the claiming pace. The black mare was easily the best of the field, although Zonite, driven by H. Morrison, furnished strong contention in the second and third heats. Zonite broke in the second heat and missed by a head in the third.

In the race won by Easter Lilly the five horses finished in the same order in each of the three heats.

The 2:19 class pace was a two-horse race with Lundy Volo, driven by Sep Palin, winning all three heats over Peggy Green, driven by Tom Bigger for Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan. The rest of the field was spread out far behind.

Jack Ashley, driven by Whitehead, won the classified trot in four heats. Lacey's Eleanor Forbes took the first heat and Chevalier, the favorite, driven by Rube Parker, won the second.

MOTOR BOAT RUNS WILD AT REGATTA

Outboard Hits Buoy, Throws Out Driver and Just Misses Many Other Boats.

IT GROUNDS AND IS UPSET

Dick Frost, Driver, Rescued by Coast Guardsmen—Gov. Gardiner Competes at Camden, Me.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, Me., July 25.—An outboard motorboat that threw its driver, Dick Frost of Portland, several hundred yards from the finish line as he was closing in to take first place and raced on driverless among dozens of boats and finally upset, furnished a thrilling feature at the second annual Camden Yacht Club regatta held today.

The craft hit a buoy rounding a turn and Frost was thrown out. The boat continued on for a quarter mile, just missed a wharf, a rowboat containing three boys and several yachts. It finally grazed the bow of a yacht and grounded on the shore and upset. The engine was lost. It was a new boat, in its first race. The driver was rescued by Coast Guardsmen.

Governor William Tudor Gardiner, driving a Chris craft runabout, with Mrs. Gardiner, won third money in two runabout races and the free-for-all. It was the Governor's first official race. Miss Mildred Hickey, only woman driver, won the Class C outboard easily.

Fog prevented any racing in the morning, but three events scheduled for then were run off in the evening.

"SCOURING THE COUNTRY."

This is what President Hoover is doing, according to Senator Smoot, in the endeavor to find the right kind of chairman for the Tariff Commission. The fact came out in a little colloquy between the Utah Senator and Senator Harrison on the last day of the special session. The polite Senator from Mississippi intimated that he would not wish to ask Mr. Smoot a question that might embarrass him "because he is staying up at the White House." But Mr. Smoot told him to fire away, and so there followed queries and answers regarding the President's intentions in the matter of the new Tariff Commission. On the authority of this Senatorial guest at the White House, where he was spending his honeymoon, we learn that Mr. Hoover is making every exertion to secure fit men. Senator Smoot said, finally:

> I have no doubt but that within ninety days the President will select the commissioners. I know nothing as to where they will come from. I know nothing as to the appointments. I do know, however, that the President of the United States has tried to secure a man who he thought was exceptionally qualified for the chairmanship of the commission, and up to the present time at least three have refused.

The eye falls on this last statement. Three men whom the President urged to take this position, which has become doubly important, declined to accept the offer. They must have been approached by Mr. Hoover on the ground either of personal knowledge of their exceptional qualifications, or else because of credentials presented by others which were conclusive with him. Why did these men refuse to undertake this public service? Cases so conspicuous as theirs illustrate the difficulty which the President encounters when he scours the country to find the man he wants for a particular job, and then finds he can't get him. The declination cannot be, in such instances, an unwillingness to tackle a complicated and thankless job. There must be other reasons. One of them may be disgust at the kind of unwarranted partisan attack made upon public servants. No man likes to offer himself as a target for abuse. Another motive may be financial. This does not relate to the question of a small government salary, but to the obligation laid upon a member of the Tariff Commission to divest himself of all property or securities possession of which might lay him open to the charge of self-interest in making any given tariff decision. Judges are compelled thus to guarantee their disinterestedness and entire integrity. If members of the Tariff Commission have to do the same thing, a new obstacle is placed in the way of obtaining for the public the services of men of ability and fine citizenship. This is a fact which ought to be remembered when it comes to passing upon the reputation and capacity of the men whom the President finally succeeds in persuading to accept office.

President Hoover has new reasons for desiring to appoint the Tariff Commission as soon as possible, and to fill it with men of special information, executive talent and great energy. For he evidently expects this commission to do a great deal, sooner or later, to take away the curse from the Hawley-Smoot tariff. He holds high hopes of the correction of injustices and the removal of inequalities from that law by the inquiries and findings of the Tariff Commission. Such an idea is also entertained in some foreign countries. Only now from Mexico comes the expression of confidence that President Hoover will be able to meet Mexican protests against our tariff by means of revision through the Tariff Commission. French business men have previously turned their eyes to Washington with a similar expectation. It is, in our opinion, doomed to disappointment. Any substantial relief through investigations and recommendations of the Tariff Commission seems to be as out of the question now as it has been for the past eight years. For foreigners it will be a case of hope long deferred. For Americans it will appear to be simply another governmental futility. But whether this proves to be the case or not, the importance of getting the very best men for the Tariff Commission remains the same. The better they are the more convincing will be the proof which they give that the whole plan is a delusion and a snare.

THE ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE.

American sympathy reaches out spontaneously to the hard-tried people of Southern Italy. With it goes the sense of relief that despite the mounting casualties the death toll is light when compared with other visitations. Neither has the full weight of loss fallen within such a concentrated area as in the Messina catastrophe of twenty-two years ago, when one-half of that city's population perished, or in the lesser-known earthquake of 1914 in the same region as the present disaster, when the population of several communities was practically wiped out. On Wednesday the fatal harvest lay thinner and more widespread across the backbone of the Apennines between the Tyrrhenian Sea and the Adriatic. Other lands have paid a huge toll to the ravages of earthquake, but in Italy as nowhere else does seismic tragedy find for its theatres so much beauty. No other land so afflicted is so well known to the foreign traveler. There must be tens of thousands of Americans by whom the names of even the smaller places in the troubled region will be read with a feeling of almost personal loss.

With our sympathy has gone the offer of aid by the American Red Cross. Premier Mussolini has not only found it unnecessary to avail himself of this, but has discouraged private relief effort at home. Subscription lists for the benefit of the victims of the disaster have been prohibited. The Government has taken charge of the entire task. There is no difficulty in recognizing the picturesque appropriateness of the Premier's gesture. The Fascist State which makes such heavy claims on the individual recognizes in turn the full responsibility of the State to the individual. With military precision and copiousness the work of immediate relief proceeds. Unquestionably, the subsequent measures of rehabilitation and reconstruction will be assumed by the State as its exclusive duty. No one will quarrel with this restatement by Mussolini of the proud pre-Fascist formula that Italy will look after herself. But in the improbable event that cooperation from the outside turns out to be needed, the Italian people must know that they can count upon America to the fullest extent.

PLAYGROUNDS AND PARKS.

Former State Senator Straus, in his capacity as President of the Park Association of New York City, has again done valiant service in behalf of Central Park. In his talk over the air on Thursday evening he took up the challenge of The Daily News that it would pay to have groups of children enter the restricted areas in the proposed remodeling of the reservoir site in Central Park, with large facilities for sports there. He pointed out that this attitude is contrary to the best interests of the city as a whole, and that it puts the entire subject in a false light.

The problem is comparatively simple. No one questions the need of more playgrounds in the city. The New York Times has for years called attention to the imperative necessity of providing them. These playgrounds are needed in different parts of the city and should be accessible to the children in the neighborhood. But playgrounds and parks are not the same. The city needs every inch of park space that it now has or can obtain. To use as much of the parks for playground purposes as may be demanded would mean in the end the destruction of the parks. Carried to its logical conclusion, the argument of the proponents of playgrounds in the parks would justify the children in climbing the trees, injuring the shrubs, pulling up the flowers and otherwise destroying the landscape features.

The plan for the remodeling of the reservoir site approved by the Park Association and by the New York chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects embraces, as a matter of fact, two small playgrounds for very young children, as well as a wading pool. Furthermore, the big meadow, under suitable restrictions, may be used for play so long as no serious damage is done to the turf. The landscaping provided for in the accepted design screens the special playgrounds from the general view, so that they will harmonize with the rest of the park instead of being an unsightly and unattractive spot like the playground on the southwest corner of Central Park.

Senator Straus takes the correct position that more playgrounds must be acquired and developed by the city, and to this end urges that a sum of $25,000,000 be made available to be used for new parks as well. As for Central Park itself, he sums up the case by saying that it should be preserved "not for any "group of ball players, not for any "group of ball-game watchers, but "for all of the people who seek rest "and peace within the city." The campaign of the self-styled friends of playgrounds appears to have overlooked the true purpose of the park.

JOURNEY'S END.

At the White House Claudius H. Huston was made chairman of the Republican National Committee. At the White House he was unmade. From the moment the clamor for his head began, after his testimony about the Union Carbide Company fund, he made two things plain. One was that he would retire only by vote of his committee or by request of the President. The other was that, if the more polite course of the request were followed, announcement of the resignation must come from him. The request came from the President; the announcement came from the chairman. It is reported in Washington that the visit to the White House was arranged only after threats by Mr. Burke, the National Committee's counsel, and Treasurer Nutt that unless Chairman Huston gave his resignation pledge to the President and then made it public, he would be ousted by the National Committee on open demand by Mr. Hoover. Some day all the facts in this comical mystery may be known. But the public record thus far strongly suggests that the gray-eyed, tight-lipped chairman controlled more factors than did his adversaries.

When the curtain finally falls on this political opéra bouffe it will be a drab world again. In many respects there has never been a more entertaining show. Most political performances are played behind the scenes. These actors have belabored one another with bladders near the footlights. The climax of the second act came when the chairman, after having glared down those members of the National Committee who came to the meeting breathing loud threats, laughingly informed the newspaper men that when the special session of the Senate ended he would have something to say on the subject of resignation. The Senate quit. Two days passed. Nothing from Mr. Huston. After more conferences with the President, the anxious counselor and the treasurer located him in New York. It must have been an unpleasant social event, that conversation. And the one which followed at the White House couldn't have been gay. It is within the formula of classic comedy, not side-splitting vaudeville such as this has been, to obtrude a pathetic note.

Until this performance came to the public boards it had been supposed that the New York Republicans were the most amusing stock company in politics. Each Winter at Albany for years they have dug a hole for a Democratic Governor and promptly fallen into it themselves. In New York City every day they are "daring" Tammany to do such things as to permit them to use the city radio station, and, upon receiving the permission, quickly going into decisionless "conference." But, amusing as their antics are, their Federal leaders have now taken the cap and bells away from them.

GASOLINE PIPE LINES.

A Bayonne refinery is pumping gasoline through a long-unused crude-oil line to a point thirty-five miles below Pittsburgh. Three gasoline pipe lines have been laid in California, and others are projected for the mid-continent area. The petroleum industry finds itself in an economic transition stage for which the automobile is directly responsible.

In the main, the gasoline pipe lines projected will follow the transcontinental highways so as to simplify distribution. Bulk stations built at intersections with lateral roads will supply retailers with the aid of motor tank-trucks. Each highway will thus become a veritable gasoline belt supplying fuel to communities within fifty miles on either side. The potentialities of this daring new method of selling gasoline are alluring enough to satisfy even the most imaginative wildcatter. It is estimated that the market which parallels one transcontinental highway consumes five times more gasoline than the projected line can carry.

Whatever the outcome, the gasoline long-distance pipe-line is here. It will point many a merchandising moral for the benefit of economists who will see in it an ideal method of reducing the high cost of retailing bulk commodities; it will do away with expensive storage tanks now required by every filling station to hold a two days' supply of gasoline; it may lead to the junking of 275,000 railroad tank-cars; and it will probably present many a knotty problem for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It is not quite evident what is to become of refineries long settled in markets hundreds of miles from the oil fields. It is manifestly absurd to pump crude petroleum half way across the continent only to pump gasoline back through another line laid at great expense. To transfer the refineries to the fields is a solution of the problem that will be accepted only after further experimentation. More and more unused crude-oil lines will at first become conveyors of gasoline. One California company is said to have written off the cost of its gasoline line in a single year because of greatly reduced evaporation losses. Equally alluring is the fact that every drop in a gasoline line can be sold to wayside customers, whereas crude oil must first be piped to a refinery before it becomes of any use to an automobile driver. By no flight of the imagination was it possible a generation ago to foresee that a vast country would be threaded with pipes to supply fuel to automobiles so cheap that every fifth American could afford to own one.

MR. BALDWIN ON PROTECTION.

In a speech at Epsom Downs Mr. Baldwin was perhaps jocose in expressing his feeling that the Labor party "is coming over to protection about as fast as it can move." That is exactly what Mr. Baldwin has been doing. He moved very slowly until his pace was accelerated by Lord Beaverbrook. He made a fair point against the Socialists. They had promised to wipe out the McKenna safeguarding duties when they came into power. What they have actually done is to let one duty, that on lace, die at the expiration of its time-limit. For that they lost a seat at Nottingham, a lace-making centre.

Since the speech, Lord Beaverbrook and Mr. Baldwin both had a fall at the North Norfolk election, though the Labor candidate's majority was slight. Lord Beaverbrook poured himself out there in a series of powerful addresses. The constituency is largely agricultural. Mr. Baldwin has committed himself to fixing the price of wheat. In vain, so far as the North Norfolcians were concerned. He wants to increase wheat acreage just as much as Mr. Legge wants to reduce it. To raise the domestic production of food is a desirable policy for England, but price-fixing is an outworn and dangerous remedy. Mr. Baldwin's kind words for the sugar-beet industry, which enjoys a bounty, will find a sympathetic ear in some of our Western States. Mr. Baldwin is going to take care of the colonial sugar growers too. But the path of a British protectionist is likely to run across a great many obstructions.

One is glad to see that he has learned the language of our American high-tariff men. The price of wheat is going to be higher for the farmer, but the price of wheat bread will remain the same. The revival of the whole series of Tudor statutes, regulating prices and wages, seems to be implicit in Mr. Baldwin's theories should they be carried to their logical conclusion. On the other hand, he offers a rational argument for protection as a matter of self-defense in a world of high tariffs. He wants safeguarding, as he still modestly calls it, as a weapon in making treaties and extorting tariff concessions from other industrial countries:

> When we are armed like other countries, I believe they will be ready enough to listen to us, and nothing will suit this country or the world better than to get these high tariffs reduced to something like equality among the countries.

To use protection to hammer down protection will seem like heretic pravity to our protectionists. At least they should applaud Mr. Baldwin when he seeks "to protect our own standard of living." Even pauper labor, it seems, may have that.

A CONSULAR DEAN.

A wish often made for a friend is: "God give thee years." But when the friend occupies a position which carries with it retirement at a fixed age, it is not always a welcome wish. Sir Harry Gloster Armstrong, who has the good wishes of thousands of Americans, has accumulated so many years that they now disqualify him under precedent from service beyond the present year as Consul General in New York. He has entered so heartily and sympathetically into the life of New York that, if his home government would permit, there would be a general wishing away of his years in order that he might remain so long as the ability and wisdom with which he has conducted his office continued to defy his years.

It would be a very serviceable instrument which would take the place of the chronometer in measuring age—an aetameter—for then men might serve their day and generation as long as their real age in strength and spirit permitted, instead of being cut off by the reckonings of sidereal time. By such age measurement Sir Harry has not yet reached the time of retirement, and it is to be hoped that one who has served both his own country and the city in which he has represented its interests may, for the sake of both, be granted, in view of this fact and this service, a "life extension." His forty years in foreign service, half of them in America, have given him an experience and an acquaintance which added years will but make more valuable so long as they do not impair his health and strength. A sometime captain of the Irish Fusiliers and a former London newspaper correspondent, with a strain of the Scot, he is fairly representative of the country whose sojourners here seek his counsel and guidance in a strange land, and he has always been a friend to all in distress.

An outstanding achievement of his career in New York has been the organization of the Society of Foreign Consuls, of which he was the principal founder and is the president. The chiefs of the consular missions in New York are all "picked men," and their offices are rightly regarded as the "blue ribbons" of their profession. They have no authority over their compatriots here, but they are generally regarded as responsible if things go wrong. So it is men of experience as well as of exceptional ability and of highest probity that are needed in these posts. At their head, by right of tenure and such qualifications as these, stands their dean.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Stones Without Mortar. The heavy loss of life during earthquakes in Italy is in part caused by great numbers of stone buildings. Even the walls, floors and roof are made up of uneven layers of stones, often of varying shapes and sizes. The least tremor throws the wall out of plumb. Tile roof and walls come tottering down on the helpless inhabitants.

Throughout certain parts of Italy, particularly in the south, the countryside is covered with stones. The peasant must remove them before the soil can be tilled. But they are materials with which to build his hut. In some parts of Southern Italy an architecture all their own has been created by the peasants, who have erected what are known as "trulli." These little huts of stone have cone-shaped roofs, one for each room, and at a glance the traveler knows the number of rooms that make up the dwelling. But what is so quaint in charm is fatal when the earth heaves.

As devastated areas have been rebuilt within recent years, concrete has been used in the endeavor to protect the lives of the people when earthquakes rock the land. But many of the old dwellings are still in use.

Messenger Girls on Call. Since the emergency days of the war, women have been entering one field of work after another formerly open only to men. The latest taboo to be lifted is in the messenger service. The Postal Telegraph Company is now employing girls as well as boys.

In Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and, beginning this week, in New York, girls are donning the service uniform and being assigned to work in large office buildings which are equipped with their own telegraph offices. The special uniform for the girls is pale blue in color, trimmed with red, and sports a jaunty cape. A cap of the beret type and a trim belt complete the ensemble.

It is said that this force of girls has been added because managers of big office buildings consider boy messengers too boisterous and believe the girls will be more quiet. So far they are showing up well against the boys and are getting better marks in the intelligence tests.

The sages who comment on the activities of women in business agree that they are more particular about details than men, but have less creative ability. If the girls attend punctiliously to the details of delivering messages promptly and to the correct address, all clients should be satisfied. Who wants creative ability in a messenger? It only leads to trouble.

Plucking Out the Talkies. From various interviews with Mr. Belasco on his birthday one gathers that his interest and confidence in the drama have abated no jot. The mourners who drop a tear at the end of every season because their beloved theatre is at the last gasp should be cheered by optimistic forecasts from a distinguished producer. His long years of devotion to his muse, his knowledge and his success all lend weight to his prophecies. The very wish for a richly flourishing theatre makes it easy to believe that next season will show an abundant revival.

Besides the remarks on the bright prospect for the legitimate theatre, there were reports, slightly conflicting, of Mr. Belasco's opinion of the cinema. One listener understood that he thinks the movies are due for a disaster. People are tired of "canned" entertainment, and the talkies have never seriously jeopardized the popularity of the stage. Another reporter quoted him similarly on the talkies, but understood that the production of silent pictures is "the great field for the right man today."

Dejected theatre-lovers, convinced that the talkies are here to stay, whatever their effect on the theatre, cannot draw so much comfort from the theatrical dean's hopeful prognostications as they might if he had not ruthlessly swept the talkies from the world. But they may find a crumb of solace in the thought that he must have been misquoted or misinformed in his skeptical view of the sound films.

Farewell to a Big Noise. Few public blessings have been achieved at so low a price as that which will be paid for the silencing of all Interborough turnstiles now authorized by the Transit Commission, and to be completed in a few months. The average citizen, if the question were put to him, would say offhand that a million dollars would not be too much to pay for the destruction of that demon of noise, that machine-gun attack upon the frayed nerves of a tired people at the end of a day's work. But it now appears that the cost of installing the pneumatic silencer is $20 apiece, that all of the I. R. T.'s 955 turnstiles can be tamed, and something like 2,000,000 people made healthier and happier every day by the total expenditure of $19,100.

Why does a rich and progressive community have to wait so long for obvious relief? The silencer could no doubt have been introduced soon after the nerve-racking turnstile itself. Elder citizens will recall the days when American ingenuity and American resources were so poor as to condemn trolley motormen to work on open car platforms in Winter. For some time after the vestibuled car was introduced it was still deemed necessary that the driver should stand up ten hours and more at his brake-handle. Who was the humanitarian genius that suggested a movable seat for the operator's respite?

Yet it is by no means all callousness or penuriousness or stupidity. In part it seems to be the old law that progress must be through privation.

CHILDREN NEED AID.

Funds Sought for Country Care of Malnourished Youngsters.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is a tragedy to be neither sick nor well, yet there are hundreds of malnourished children here in the city who are in just that category. They aren't sick, so they can't go to our convalescent homes, which are always filled to capacity with children recovering from serious illnesses and operations. They aren't well, so they can't be sent to our Summer camps to compete with their huskier brothers and sisters.

The Wertheim Fund for Malnourished Children, which friends helped us raise last Summer, has kept a special cottage for twenty-five such children open all Winter at Bowdoin Farm. Here 117 little girls, extreme cases of malnutrition, have enjoyed an average stay of two weeks. With carefully planned meals, country surroundings and the watchful care of a trained nurse they have gained not only pounds but increased resistance to fatigue and disease. Last year this was all the fund would permit. We can, however, also accommodate twenty-five malnourished boys at Brace Farm if this year's gifts increase.

But the fund is now exhausted. Unless further money can be raised, malnourished children must stay in the hot city, eating the pick-up meals busy mothers provide in Summer. It costs $14 a week for a malnourished child's vacation—to provide the fresh air, milk and eggs, green vegetables and careful supervision that will restore starved little bodies to normal, and $80 will keep a badly malnourished child in the country for the remainder of the Summer. Checks may be sent to 105 East Twenty-second Street.

A MATTER OF POLITICS.

Next Legislature Could More Fittingly Demand a City Inquiry.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It may be that all the "fuss and feathers" about a legislative inquiry into the affairs of New York City are justified, but it must not be forgotten that such an inquiry in the midst of a State campaign would reek with suspicion and would undoubtedly develop the theory that neither Republicans nor Democrats are possessed of all the political virtues. Is not the orderly and reasonable way of handling the situation to be found in submitting facts to the next Legislature, if necessary?

Republicans should remember that an outraged public will do more for civic betterment than any legislative committee ever did. And nothing more provocative of public resentment could have been done by Tammany Hall than to tolerate salary increases in these distressing times. That matter is what lawyers call "res adjudicata," and an appeal lies with the electorate. Its decision will in all likelihood be a popular reversal of the City Administration's folly.

The transcendent question now is what Dwight W. Morrow calls a problem in government, and nothing should be permitted to smoke-screen the issue of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, which is responsible for many of the civic ills of today, and for a deplorable conception of law and morality.

A Matter of News Value.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Times this morning shows its usual appreciation of news values by merely mentioning the fact that New Haven trains were badly delayed by a washout near Mount Vernon, due to the storm yesterday afternoon. This happens too frequently to be real news, and one would think the railroad would do something to prevent such occurrences. In view of the high fares charged, commuters are entitled to better service. E. A. L.

ILLNESS IN SUMMER.

Oh, to be patient while the days
Go by, all filled with sun,
Lacking neither men's love nor praise,
And I'm the only one.

Shut in a melancholy room,
Without the strength to care
What new plants come into bloom,
Or what wings beat the air.

Weakness is on me like a blight,
Pain like a wretched flaw;
Lying and waiting for the sight
To see, as once I saw.

Oh, to be patient while the sun
Fills all the Summer days,
And I remain the only one
With neither love nor praise.

PLAYGROUND EXTENSION.

Work Can Best Be Conducted by a Single Head.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is a source of great satisfaction to see the report of the City Club on playgrounds. The very heading of this article makes those who are interested in the subject feel that real help is at hand—"Children Must Be Kept Off the Streets—New York Needs More Playground Space."

Whenever a body of influential citizens takes up a cause of this kind the community is benefited. However, most of us would rather the word "murder" were omitted from their valuable map, because it presupposes that motorists have the intention to kill and maim, and because it injures the city's name, where so much is done for playgrounds.

We have many playgrounds, but I agree with the City Club's report that we need more and, I will add, better playgrounds.

The city has tried to keep abreast with the need, but I feel that the partial failure to meet the requirements has been due to too many agencies working in the same field. We have so many different groups conducting these playgrounds. We have the Education Department, Park Department and Recreation and Community Councils, &c. All have their activities. I believe we will not have the best conducted work in this line until all these activities are under a playground commissioner. The very division of interests in the work makes it difficult to place the responsibility for the best functioning of the playgrounds we already have.

The call for more playground space comes at a time when we have the means to supply this demand. The city has a fund of $25,000,000 for park and playground acquisition by the new bond issue for that purpose. Then, too, we have the new City Planning Commission. The forthcoming commissioner, Major John Sullivan, is greatly interested in this phase of city planning.

We must, I believe, see that the requirements for play space are met in the near future. I hope that the older boys and girls will be provided for in ball fields, basketball, handball, &c., and that swimming pools and tennis courts be provided.

The City Club has joined a great number of societies which have long worked for this needed improvement in our city.

DISPOSING OF GARBAGE.

Most Waste Should Be Incinerated on the Premises.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I do not know what the political obstacles may be which lie in the way of obtaining a proper disposition of organic and other wastes, but I do know that there is a sanitary method which is both adequate and inexpensive which seems to me to be feasible.

All organic wastes capable of incineration should be incinerated on the premises where produced. This would add fuel value to coal furnaces and require little expenditure for oil or gas incinerators. Every kitchen gas or electric range could have an incinerator for the destruction of food wastes after each meal. Wood, paper, rags and cardboard can be burned in the cellar furnace or bundled up and sold to dealers or given to the Salvation Army. The residue of ashes, with incinerated bones, metallic scrap and glass should be placed in separate receptacles for collection at the curb. The only organic wastes to be collected by the city should be those swept up in the streets, parks and empty lots.

I believe this method would reduce the force of trucks and collectors as well as barges and barge trips, greatly improve the sanitary conditions of beaches, avoid the expense of city incinerators, and provide ashes to fill in mosquito marshes and make real estate.

This method is feasible, as it was carried out in army cantonments during the war and in my own quarters with perfect satisfaction and no nuisance. It is only when garbage gets sour that it is offensive when burned.

Differing Viewpoints.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Mayor last evening made a most amazing use of your editorial. As we listeners understand it, The Times is indicted for besmirching the fair name of the city which his Honor has endeavored so zealously to keep spotless. The readers of your editorial had, on the contrary, gained the impression that it expressed the widely prevailing opinion of the community to the effect that the brazen indifference of the administration to the many exposed and unexposed evidences of incompetence and worse had exhausted our patience.

How different is Mayor Walker's attitude from that of some of our former Mayors. For instance, Mayor Low and Mayor Mitchel were so zealous of the fair name of the city that they welcomed any criticism and took prompt steps to act upon it. It would seem, from last night's speech, that Mayor Walker has plainly indicated that criticism is resented. Such an attitude on the part of the Mayor is far from reassuring to those who feel that all is not well in the conduct of the city's business.

Then There Is the Motorcycle.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In relation to unnecessary noises, individuals who ride motorcycles should receive marked attention from the Noise Abatement Commission. This particular class of noise-makers are and always have been a source of annoyance both day and night, in and out of town. They usually ride like fiends, accompanied by the noise of Gatling guns. They are an unmitigated nuisance compared to which the racket of ashcans and milk wagons is like unto a symphonic poem. W. W. H.

TRANSIT CONFEREES REPORT PROGRESS

Indicate a Definite Theory on Price to Be Paid B. M. T. by City Is Developing.

ACCOUNTING WORK SPEEDED

Mayor Announces That Check-Up Has Been Ordered in the Valuation Figures.

After an interval of several weeks the transit unification conferences between representatives of the city and the Transit Commission were resumed yesterday afternoon at City Hall.

Out of the conference came an indication that a definite theory on the price to be paid for the lines of the B. M. T. is well on its way toward development. It was announced that accountants of the Department of Finance would work in the future with accountants of the Transit Commission, in checking the valuation figures set on the lines of the B. M. T. by that company, and by the Transit Commission accountants and engineers.

Mayor Walker announced after the meeting that the question of policy involved in the price problem remained in the hands of the city's elected officers, but that the engineers and accountants had been told to check up on the figures already submitted to the conferees. These figures, it has been known for some time, show that the B. M. T. engineers estimate the value of its properties at about $70,000,000 higher than the Transit Commission engineers.

Most of the difference is due to the bases of valuation employed by the two sets of engineers. A $10,000,000 difference exists between the two sets of figures on the recapturable lines of the company alone, due to the city's contention that the date when recapture is possible has already been reached, and the company's contention that this is not so in respect to most of the recapturable lines.

There is also a reported difference of $50,000,000 between the city's proposed price and the company's requested price for its elevated properties. The task assigned to the accountants, it was said after yesterday's meeting, is to see that the figures are accurate, according to the respective theories of valuation, and also to augment the staff of the Transit Commission auditors so that the work may be expedited.

Present at yesterday's meeting were the Mayor, Chairman William G. Fullen of the Transit Commission, Chairman John H. Delaney of the Board of Transportation, Transportation Commissioners Frank X. Sullivan and Daniel L. Ryan, and Gustavus L. Gabriel, chief accountant of the Controller's office.

The next meeting will be held on Aug. 7, when Samuel Untermyer, special counsel to the Transit Commission, will have returned from Brant Lake, where he is now stopping.

FRANK PUTNAM'S FIGHT.

Texas Candidate Tells His Aims and Their Progress So Far.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 25.

On Friday morning our greatest Texas newspaper, The Dallas News, editorially expressed impatience with our greatest American newspaper, The New York Times, for editorially recognizing in my candidacy for Governor of Texas a portent of ultimate prohibition repeal and of the passing of religious bigotry as a factor in Texas politics. The News, lapsing for once from its habitual accuracy, assured its readers and The Times that Frank Putnam's candidacy is in effect frivolous and my name on the ballot a kind of impertinence.

I ask The News to inform its readers Saturday morning, primary day, of these facts:

First, Frank Putnam's candidacy is more serious than that of any other man in the race; it is from here out until prohibition is destroyed in Texas.

Second, as the sole advocate of both State and Federal prohibition repeal; of a law giving Texas-owned municipal utilities an even break with foreign-owned trust utilities, and of a law exempting small farm and town homesteads from all taxation, Frank Putnam is the only man in the race urging liberal legislation vitally needed here in Texas, and in line with the new purposes of the national Democracy.

Third, believing Jim Ferguson and Barry Miller will once more, and for the last time, get most of the wet vote, as they have done for many years past, I have not expected to win this year.

Fourth, my 1930 candidacy was meant to blaze a trail for 1932, when I expect to see an effective State repeal organization at work, supporting both State and legislative candidates. Regardless of whether I get fifty thousand, five thousand or only five votes this year, I have already announced as a repeal candidate for Governor in the 1932 Democratic primary.

Fifth, I am quite satisfied for this year, whatever vote I may get, with having placed Texas prohibition leaders upon the defensive for the first time since the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted, and with having made it respectable for good citizens to advocate repeal publicly.

FRANK PUTNAM.

CITY USING MUCH WATER.

Dietz Says Consumption Continues More Than Billion Gallons a Day.

The amount of water used by New York City throughout the week has continued greater than for the corresponding week last year, John J. Dietz, Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, announced yesterday. Although consumption during the week has not reached the record mark of 1,200,000,000 gallons set on Monday, the Summer's hottest day, it has continued at more than one billion gallons a day. Last Summer at this time about 900,000,000 gallons were consumed a day.

Commissioner Dietz said the total supply of water in the watersheds in the Catskills and at Croton was now about 210,000,000,000 gallons, which he said was sufficient for all needs, provided that the drain did not keep up at the rate it has been going for the past week. Continued consumption of more than one billion gallons of water a day, however, he said, might give the department some concern.

Notices warning holders of hose permits against the use of lawn sprinklers will be sent out on Monday, the commissioner said.

GRAND JURY SCORED FOR DAVIS ACTION

Indictment of Ocean County Prosecutor Called Unusual by New Jersey Justice.

DISMISSED FROM SERVICE

Criticism Follows Acquittal of Official Who Assailed Charge as Due to Politics.

Special to The New York Times.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., July 25.—Calling together the Ocean County grand jury which indicted Prosecutor James Mercer Davis and two aides for alleged conspiracy, Supreme Court Justice Joseph L. Bodine criticized its methods this afternoon and discharged its members from further service.

This action came as an aftermath of Davis's trial, which ended yesterday when Prosecutor Davis, John A. G. Grant, county detective, and Alexander J. Miller, an attaché of the prosecutor's office, were acquitted at the direction of Justice Peter F. Daly.

William H. Fisher, Toms River publisher, was foreman of the body, which had been instructed to investigate Ocean County law enforcement conditions.

Justice Bodine characterized the indictment of the prosecutor, his two aides and Corporal Francis Ruggerio, commandant of the State police barracks at Tuckerton, as "unusual in the annals of the State."

"A public officer was called to the bar of his own court to answer a most trifling charge," he declared. "Had this charge been supported by evidence, some justification for it might have existed. The facts are otherwise, and a fearless and impartial judge directed an acquittal.

"The expenses of your deliberations have been great. You have been afforded every opportunity to dispose of a matter which you deemed important. The facts demonstrate that after a long period of time spent in the examination of this matter, you have unearthed but one trifling charge which you could not sustain.

"The State has important business to attend to. There is great need for the enforcement of our essential laws and the preservation of a fair, impartial and economical government. Your continuance, in my judgment, would only result in further futile, costly and useless exploration. The Board of Freeholders has requested that you be discharged, so that the county may be saved from further unnecessary expense, and that is my order.

"You have not always been mindful of your duties as grand jurors to fairly and impartially investigate matters drawn to your attention. You have not kept secret the matters presented to you.

"Some one or more of your number disregarded a sworn duty. Not only the premature disclosure of the indictment, but the very trifling nature of the charge, coupled with the lack of evidence to sustain the same, after a fair combing of all by-ways of the county, and after months of preparation and some three days in court, lead me to the conclusion that the action of your body was from the first instigated by purposes unworthy of a grand jury in this or any other county of the State.

"Certain it is that the best interests of this county will be served by having others of its citizens to sit in your place."

Prosecutor Davis had charged at the outset that the indictments against him and the other defendants were the outgrowth of a political feud.

HUNTER GRUBB.

Du Pont de Nemours Executive Dies at His Home in Pennsylvania.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 25 (AP).—Hunter Grubb, for many years an executive of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., died today at his home near Chadds Ford, Pa. He was born in Wilmington in 1870 and entered the employ of the du Pont company in 1897.

When the World War ended and the du Pont company had a great number of plants and much equipment to dispose of, the work was handled by a company known as the du Pont Chemical Company, with Mr. Grubb as president. Later he became general manager of the paint and chemical branch of the du Pont company, and continued in that line until 1925, when he was given special assignments to handle business problems by the du Pont company executive committee.

Don Farnsworth.

Don Farnsworth, former Commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans Camp of New York City, died Wednesday at his native town, Greeneville, Tenn., after a prolonged illness, in his sixty-third year. The funeral will be held today at Greeneville. Mr. Farnsworth was delegate from the New York Post to the annual convention of Confederate Veterans recently held at Beauvoir, Miss., but at Mobile he became too ill to attend. Mr. Farnsworth came to New York from Tennessee twelve years ago.

Charles A. Boyd, Actor.

Charles A. Boyd, actor, 66, died in the Kings County Hospital yesterday. His last appearance on the stage was in 1928 in vaudeville quartets. He had acted in Hoyt's "Brass Monkey"; with Frank Daniels's in "Little Puck"; "Zig Zag"; P. J. Kennedy's "Yon Yonson" and "The Fortune Hunter."

Rabbi Pinchas Weimer.

LEMBERG, July 25 (AP).—Rabbi Pinchas Weimer, 48, the rabbi of the city of Wlodzimierz, in the Wohlyn district, died here today.

An Acknowledgment.

THE NEW YORK TIMES acknowledges receipt of a contribution of $25 from F. S. G. for Guido Nacciarone, musician, who said in the West Side Court a few days ago that he was out of work because of "canned" music. The money has been forwarded to his home at 64 Van Sicklen Street, Brooklyn.

ADMIRAL TOUCHARD OF FRENCH NAVY DIES

Former French Ambassador to Russia, at One Time Headed Mediterranean Fleet.

BASLE, Switzerland, July 25 (AP).—Vice Admiral Charles Philippe Touchard, one-time French Ambassador to Russia and former Commander-in-Chief of the French Mediterranean squadron, died today at his estate at Sissach.

Some surprise was caused about twenty-five years ago when Vice Admiral Touchard, a retired navy man, not a diplomat, was appointed Ambassador to Russia. Clemenceau, the Prime Minister at the time, who was responsible, had taken a strong liking to him on a visit to Cherbourg when Touchard was in charge as Admiral of the Port. He had also been fond of the Admiral's father, also a Vice Admiral, who attended the Prince de Joinville when the Prince brought Napoleon's body back to Paris from St. Helena. Another factor that probably influenced the appointment to the embassy at St. Petersburg was the marriage of Admiral Touchard to the wealthy daughter of M. Hudner, an important cotton spinner of Mulhouse, who had established himself in Russia after 1870 and made himself head of his industry there.

MRS. JOHN G. MILBURN.

Wife of Ex-President of New York State Bar Association Dies at 76.

Mrs. John G. Milburn, wife of the former president of the New York State and City Bar Associations, and mother of Devereux Milburn, former captain of the American polo team, died yesterday at her home, Groombridge, Manhasset, L. I., of heart disease at the age of 76. At her bedside were her husband and two of her three sons, John G. Jr. and Ralph. Devereux Milburn is in Scotland.

Before her marriage Mrs. Milburn was Miss Patty Lee Stocking of Batavia, N. Y., where her husband, an Englishman by birth, began the study of law. For years he has been one of the leaders of the American bar. Before coming to New York in 1904 to be a member of the law firm of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, Mr. Milburn had lived in Buffalo, and it was in his house there that President McKinley died after his assassination. Mrs. Milburn was a member of the Colony Club.

J. A. ANGER DIES ON TRAIN.

Former Member of Produce Exchange Stricken on Subway Express

John A. Anger, who moved Thursday from his home at 266 Washington Avenue, Brooklyn, to Kew Gardens, L. I., died suddenly yesterday of heart disease on a south-bound Lexington Avenue subway express train between Grand Central and Fourteenth Street. He is survived by two sons, John A. Jr., a member of the New York Produce Exchange, and Edwin L. Anger.

Mr. Anger, who was 79 years old, was formerly for thirty years a member of the New York Produce Exchange, and he had also been president of the Anger Baking Company, which was founded in 1848 by his father, the late Ludwig F. Anger.

Alfred E. Braley.

Special to The New York Times.

TICONDEROGA, N. Y., July 25.—Alfred E. Braley, for many years a wholesale hardware dealer of North Creek and one of the best known business men in the Adirondacks, died in a hospital here this afternoon following an operation. Mr. Braley had been associated with William Noxon of North Creek in the hardware business for more than forty years. He had been active in town affairs since 1891.

Commandant Horace Mackness.

Funeral services with full Salvation Army honors will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Army plot in Kensico Cemetery for Commandant Horace Mackness, building superintendent of the Salvation Army Headquarters on West Fourteenth Street, who was killed on Thursday in consequence of falling down an elevator shaft. A special service also will be held at 10:30 A. M. today in the Centennial Memorial Temple, 120 West Fourteenth Street. Commandant Mackness was 52 years old and had been an officer of the Salvation Army since 1907.

Musco Robertson.

Musco Robertson, head of the Robertson Development Company of Staten Island, where he has been in the realty business since 1911, died Thursday night of heart disease after a short illness at his home, 165 Fairview Avenue, West Brighton, S. I. He was born in Richmond, Va., 65 years ago. He is survived by a widow, a son, a daughter and two brothers. Mr. Robertson was largely responsible for the development of the Richmond Hill section of Staten Island.

Patrick Henry Burns.

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 25 (AP).—Patrick Henry Burns, superintendent of colonial government telegraphs, who died in a Brooklyn hospital yesterday, had been an employe of the Bahamas government since 1922. He established the cable line which for several years connected Nassau with the Florida mainland at Jupiter. His government services were recognized some time ago when King George vested him with the Order of the British Empire.

Frederick W. Parker.

Frederick W. Parker, who retired in 1924 as a manufacturer of dry colors in this city, died yesterday at his home, 167 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, in his sixty-third year. He was graduated in 1888 from Rutgers, where he was president of his class and pianist in the glee club. He belonged to the Delta Phi fraternity and the New York Athletic Club.

Charles Satterly Hord.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Charles Satterly Hord, 70 years old, former member of the Chicago Board of Trade, died on Thursday at his apartment at the Hyde Park Hotel. Mr. Hurd was active in the government service at the time of the American occupation of Cuba and later was a customs collector in the Philippines.

Dr. Joseph E. Quinn.

Dr. Joseph E. Quinn, a surgeon in the United States Public Health Service, died yesterday at his residence, 4,030 Bronx Boulevard, in his thirty-third year. He received his medical degree from Fordham University in 1921.

C. M. VOUGHT DIES; PIONEER IN AVIATION

Engineer and Designer of Fast Navy Planes Succumbs to Septicemia in Southampton.

PUPIL OF WRIGHT BROTHERS

He Built War-Time Machine for Allies and Later Aided Our Forces —Factory Second in Nation.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., July 25.—Chance M. Vought, pioneer aviation engineer, pilot and designer, a contemporary of the Wright brothers and one of the leading manufacturers of military planes in the world, died this morning in Southampton Hospital after an illness of twenty days. He was 40 years old.

Death came at 3:30 o'clock this morning, and was due to septicemia. Although defective upper teeth were drawn, infection spread through the sinuses. Dr. Fenton Taylor was his attending physician. Blood transfusions were given on four occasions.

His wife, the former Ena Lewis of Pittsburgh, and their two sons, Chance M., Jr., and Peter, were with him when he died. In addition to his widow and sons, he is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Vought, and a sister, Mrs. Kenneth Kendall of Babylon, L. I., and a brother, Russell, of San Francisco.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock in the chapel of St. Thomas's Church in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Vought and their children came to Southampton from Great Neck this Summer for their first season, and leased Hedgerows, the lake-front villa of Mrs. Alvin W. Krech. Mr. Vought was then apparently in the best of health. They have many friends in the Summer colony and took an active part in the affairs of the resort up to the time Mr. Vought went to the hospital.

Was Associated With McCormick.

Mr. Vought, who was president of the Chance Vought Corporation and a director of United Aircraft and Transport, Inc., ranked with the pioneers in aviation. Born in New York, he attended the public schools, studied engineering at Pratt Institute and New York University and was one of the first fliers to learn the art of the airplane under the tutelage of Orville Wright and the late Wilbur Wright.

Today the Vought Corsair is the standard observation and battle plane for the navies of the United States, Japan, Mexico, Cuba and other countries. Six years after the Wright Brothers flew the first heavier-than-air machine at Kitty Hawk, N. C., Vought joined forces with Harold F. McCormick in Chicago as consulting engineer and pilot. In 1910 he was a familiar figure with the pioneer pilots of the day at air meetings in the East, the Middle West and Texas. He flew one of the earliest Wright pusher planes, in which the pilot sat on the leading edge of the lower wing and manipulated the machine by moving his body.

Two years later he was retained as consulting engineer by the Aero Club of Illinois, and in 1913 became the aeronautical engineer and pilot for the Lillie School of Aviation. In those days an engineer designed and built his plane after finding the materials himself.

Designed Plane for Allies.

The next year Mr. Vought became the editor of the Aero and Hydro Magazine, but editorial work soon palled on him and he returned to active participation in flying. The World War found both Germany and the Allies without suitable equipment, and Mr. Vought designed and built for the Mayo Company a war-time plane which was used by the Allies. In 1916 he was appointed chief engineer for the Wright Company, and the next year, shortly before the United States entered the war, he became chief engineer for the merged Wright-Martin Aircraft Company of New York. During this period in his career he designed and built the PLV biplane, the Mayo, the Simplex flying boat, the Wright Model V military plane and the Wright-Hispano flying boat.

With the entrance of the United States into the World War Mr. Vought's services were commandeered by the government. He was made consulting engineer for the Bureau of Aircraft Production in Washington. At the same time he did not drop his own interests in the development of military machines. He formed the Lewis & Vought Corporation, to develop a war pilot-training machine.

After the armistice he relinquished his duties for the government and devoted his full time to the affairs of his company, of which he had become chairman of the board. The company leased space in a Long Island factory, and Mr. Vought designed, constructed and tested an advanced trainer called the Vought Bluebird. He entered a government competition with this plane and won it. The Vought Bluebird was the immediate predecessor of the present line of Vought Corsairs, which he started in 1921.

Builds Fast Planes for Navy.

The Lewis & Vought Aircraft Company ultimately became the Chance Vought Corporation, which concentrated on service planes for the navy, to be used either as land or sea planes. The navy was seeking a machine fast and efficient enough for duty as a fighter and sturdy enough for duty as a bomber and a catapult plane. The Corsair or "OU" line complied with specifications. The planes became standard equipment, first on cruisers for the catapult and then on the first aircraft carrier, the Langley. Today full squadrons of the Vought Corsair are used on cruisers and on the Lexington, Saratoga and Langley, as well as in the Marine Corps.

From a nucleus of a dozen men using part of a floor in 1919, the Vought Company grew until today it employs 700 skilled mechanics. In 1928 it was the second largest producer of planes in the United States. Early this year the works were moved from Long Island City to East Hartford, Conn., where the pioneer designer planned to build a fast commercial passenger plane in addition to his military line. A little more than a year ago Mr. Vought joined with the Pratt & Whitney Company of Hartford, the Boeing Company of Seattle and the Boeing Air Lines in forming the United Aircraft and Transport

CHANCE M. VOUGHT.

Corporation, of which he became a director and vice president.

Mr. Vought married Miss Ena Lewis of Pittsburgh. They had two sons. Their New York residence was at 270 Park Avenue and their Long Island home was at Kings Point, Great Neck, L. I.

MAIL FLIERS TO HONOR HIM.

Pilots From Coast to Coast to Dip Planes at Hour of Funeral.

On Monday morning at 11 o'clock New York time, and at the corresponding hour Central Western and Pacific time, the planes flying the air mail wherever they are on the transcontinental system, over the Rockies, prairies, or near New York, will dip their wings in salute to the memory of Chance Vought, as funeral services for him are being held here.

Instructions were issued yesterday morning to all transport lines of the United system, of which the Vought Company was a unit.

Thus veteran mail pilots from New York to San Francisco, San Diego to Seattle, Chicago to Dallas and Salt Lake City to Portland will pay their own tribute to one of the great figures in American aviation.

ASSOCIATES MOURN LOSS.

Leaders of Industry Stress Great Service of Vought to Flying.

Leaders in aviation joined yesterday in paying tribute to Chance M. Vought. Among the first to express his sense of loss was Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, who returned yesterday from an 8,000-mile air tour of Europe, where he demonstrated Curtiss-Wright military equipment. He said:

> Chance Vought today and Glenn Curtiss two days ago. Aviation surely could not spare these men. I want to say that I am inexpressibly grieved to learn of the death of Chance Vought. He was a great engineer, a great designer and organizer. His work and influence on aviation will live on.

FREDERICK B. RENTSCHLER, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and United Aircraft and Transport, Inc., with which Mr. Vought was associated: In the passing of Chance Vought aviation has lost one of its real pioneers. It is impossible to estimate the personal contribution Mr. Vought has made to the science of aeronautics. He was both engineer and executive and no one has made a greater contribution to aeronautics, in which field Mr. Vought had long specialized. Airplanes bearing his name may be found today on every United States battleship, cruiser and airplane carrier. Aside from my close business association with Mr. Vought, I feel I have principally suffered the loss of one of my dearest and closest friends. For more than fifteen years we have worked side by side, first in separate companies and later in the same organization. As president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, it is my privilege to express the sympathy of the entire aviation industry in the passing of Mr. Vought. As an officer of the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation I express the deep sympathy of our entire organization in the loss of a respected and loved executive. As his personal friend I feel a loss and hurt that is irreparable.

GROVER LOENING, one of America's pioneer aircraft designers: In the passing of Chance Vought, aviation is not only losing one of its first pioneers and one of the leaders of the generation of engineers and builders who succeeded the Wright brothers and Glenn Curtiss, but we have also lost an executive with keen business judgment whose common sense and business ability shone forth with conspicuous talent and whose influence had so much to do in putting aviation on a firm and successful business basis. His airplanes were proverbial for their quality and excellence, and he was noted for the skill with which he manufactured them and for the ability with which he built up his business from a small one to one of the largest in the industry, in the growth that was based entirely on his own successful achievements. His loss will be keenly felt by his friends, but will be even more keenly a setback to the advancement of the aviation industry.

GUY W. VAUGHAN, president of Wright Aeronautical Corporation: In the passing of Chance Vought aviation loses not only a pioneer, but also an engineer, manufacturer and merchandiser of great ability—a rare combination. United Aircraft and Transport Corporation and the industry as a whole will keenly feel his loss.

LIEUT. COL. T. J. B. LANG.

New Jersey Guard Officer and War Veteran Dies in Hospital.

Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Buchanan Lang of the New Jersey National Guard died yesterday at the Hudson County Hospital for Mental Diseases. He was 41 years old. His death has been attributed to experiences during the World War, when he saw active service in France as a captain with the 114th Infantry.

Lieut. Col. Lang was active in the National Guard units of both New York and New Jersey for many years. In 1926 he was State Inspector of the New Jersey National Guard.

Walter D. Cole.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., July 25.—Walter D. Cole, former superintendent of the poor and former health commissioner of Peekskill, died today in his sixty-ninth year at his home in Peekskill. He was born and educated in Peekskill. He belonged to Cortlandt Lodge of Odd Fellows for forty-six years and also to the Knights of Pythias, Masons, Red Men and Sons of Veterans.

EUGENE DELAFIELD, ENGINEER, IS DEAD

Member of an Old New York Family Dies After a Brief Illness at 47 Years.

A GRADUATE OF STEVENS

He Was a Brother of E. C. Delafield, Head of Bank of America, and Gen. J. R. Delafield, Lawyer.

Eugene Livingston Delafield of 14 East Seventy-fifth Street, a member of an old New York family whose members had been distinguished citizens for nearly 150 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He came to the hospital two days ago from his country home, Delwood, Riverdale-on-Hudson. He is survived by a widow, who was Margaret Nevius Woodhull at their marriage in 1906; a son, Eugene L. Jr., and a daughter, Margaret W. Delafield. The arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

Mr. Delafield was a descendant of the John Delafield, who migrated to this country in 1783 and became president of the United Insurance Company. A second John Delafield, his great-grandfather, was president of the Phenix, and his second son, Major Joseph Delafield, grandfather of Eugene L., represented the government in fixing the northern boundary of the United States under the Treaty of Ghent. The parents of Mr. Delafield were the late Maturin Livingston and Mary Coleman Livingston Delafield.

Mr. Delafield was a brother of Edward C. Delafield, president of the Bank of America, and Brig. Gen. John Ross Delafield, senior member of the law firm of Delafield, Thorne & Burleigh. He was born at West Hampton Beach, L. I., forty-seven years ago. He received an engineering degree from Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken in 1905. In the World War he served in the Ordnance Department. He belonged to the Engineers Club and the Society of the War of 1812.

DR. J. MAX HARK, EDUCATOR, DIES

Former President of Moravian Seminary Succumbs in St Croix, West Indies, at 81.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 25.—Dr. J. Max Hark, who was president of Moravian Seminary and College for Women in this city from 1893 to 1909 and was one of the most popular heads this historic institution ever had, died Thursday in St. Croix, Virgin Islands, West Indies, where he resided with his son, Dr. Hugo Hark, at the age of 81 years.

Dr. Hark, before and after serving as head of the local Moravian Educational Institution, was pastor of several Moravian congregations and was one of the leading men of the denomination in this country. He was the author of many articles bearing on religious and educational topics. He was one of the founders of the Pennsylvania German Society in 1891. He was a son of the late Joseph and Marie Louise (Bute) Hark and was born in Philadelphia.

Dr. Hark was also a founder of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua and was its first chancellor. He had written articles and editorials for The Outlook, Sunday School Times and The Andover Review. In 1887 appeared his book, "The Unity of the Truth in Christianity and Evolution." He was the translator and editor of the Chronicon Ephratense. His home formerly was at Mount Gretna, Pa.

J. LUTHER BRIGHT DIES.

Retired Lawyer Was Once a Member of U. S. Rifle Team.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., July 25.—J. Luther Bright, retired lawyer, died late yesterday of pneumonia at his home at Metedeconk, near here. He was 77 years old and had not been active in his profession for twenty-five years. He had been in ill health for several months.

Mr. Bright was born in Long Branch. He attended the Freehold Military Academy and Columbia University, from which he graduated with high honors. He was admitted to the bar and practiced law in New York City.

Mr. Bright was a marksman and was at one time credited with being the champion bird shot of New Jersey. In 1885 he was a member of a rifle team that represented the United States in international matches.

JAMES A. FURY DIES.

Former Georgetown Athlete a Victim of Acute Indigestion.

Special to The New York Times.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., July 25.—James A. Fury, former Georgetown University athlete, died here today in the General Hospital of acute indigestion. He was 41 years old and had been in seemingly good health.

Mr. Fury, who was in the floor and wall covering business, was motoring last night from Trenton to the home of his sister, Mrs. Ray Devlin, at 320 Main Street, Matawan, N. J., with whom he lived, when he was stricken. A friend, who was accompanying him, took him to the hospital, where he died a few hours later.

As an undergraduate Mr. Fury was a football star and captain of the Georgetown baseball team. He was graduated in 1914. He was unmarried. Funeral services will take place at his late residence Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Clara Garcia Dies in Paris.

PARIS, July 25 (AP).—Mrs. Clara Garcia of San Francisco, 55, died in the American Hospital yesterday. She was with her husband, Emmanuel Garcia, on a European tour arranged by the Knights of Columbus.

George W. Scotford.

JACKSON, Mich., July 25 (AP).—George W. Scotford, 69, managing editor of The Jackson Citizen-Patriot, died here today. He had been connected with the paper for fifty-three years.

GLENN CURTISS BURIED AT HAMMONDSPORT, N.Y.

Aviation Pioneer Is Laid to Rest in Town of His Birth and of His Early Triumphs.

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—With the simplest of services, Glenn Hammond Curtiss was laid to rest today in Pleasant Valley Cemetery, only a few hundred feet from the scene of the labors and triumphs which earned the world-renowned pioneer airman the title of "the father of aviation."

The Rev. Grant P. Sommerville, rector of St. James Episcopal Church here, officiated at the simple rites in the Curtiss home, after which the body of Hammondsport's most famous son was borne to its place in the family plot by six of the famous birdman's friends and neighbors. Mr. Curtiss was born and raised here, and it was in Hammondsport that he achieved his greatest success. His experimental shops and factories, located near his home, turned out thousands of planes during the World War for the Allies' use overseas.

Among the hundreds of messages of condolence and sympathy was a telegram from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh. It said:

"We deeply appreciate the loss in the death of Mr. Curtiss."

From Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, a close friend of Curtiss, came the following message:

"My deepest sympathy, in which all members of my expedition join. Mr. Curtiss was my friend and we all realize the great loss that every aviator has suffered in his death."

While the services at the cemetery were being held, ten planes representing five cities flew overhead, scattering floral tributes.

Two of the most pretentious floral tributes were from the Early Birds, an organization of pioneer aviators, of which Mr. Curtiss was a member, and the Quiet Birds, an association of airmen to which he also belonged.

The active pallbearers were C. A. Bauder, C. L. Waters and Henry Kleckler of Hammondsport; Harry Genung of Auburn and K. B. MacDonald and Rumsey Wheeler of Buffalo.

The honorary pallbearers were Captain John H. Towers, Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. N.; Sayre Wheeler, Opa Lacka, Fla.; James H. Bright, Miami Springs, Fla.; Captain S. C. Richardson of the Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation, Cleveland; Commander J. L. Calan of Hammondsport, J. P. Tarbox of Philadelphia, Frank Russell of Garden City, L. I.; W. L. Gilmore, Meadville, Pa.; E. H. Dillard of Pelham, N. Y.; Mayor C. H. Reeder of Miami, Fla., and J. S. Hubbs and Lyman J. Seely of Hammondsport.

BLERIOT MOURNS CURTISS.

Condolences Are Also Received From Paris and Argentina.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Louis Blériot, famous French aeronaut, whose aeronautical exploits along with those of Glenn H. Curtiss helped write a pioneering chapter in flying history, today sent from Paris to the National Aeronautic Association this telegram for transmission to Mrs. Curtiss:

"I beg to transmit my condolences to the Curtiss family."

Another message from France came from Sidney Veit, president of the Paris Chapter, N. A. A., who wired:

"The Paris Chapter is grieved by the death of Glenn Curtiss, pioneer of aviation, and, remembering his early triumph in France, sends its deepest sympathy to his family and American aviation."

A telegram from Argentine was also transmitted to Mrs. Curtiss, reading:

"The Aero Club of Argentine sends its heartfelt sympathy on the death of Glenn H. Curtiss and asks that this be forwarded to his family and to his company."

Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the National Aeronautical Association, sent this mesage of condolence to Mrs. Curtiss:

"On behalf of the National Areonautic Association I desire to express the sincere sympathy of our members in the untimely death of your husband and the loss of one of our most distinguished honorary members."

W. SNOWDEN SR. DEAD; BALTIMORE FINANCIER

Heat Causes Death of Head of Municipal Finance Board and Several Banks.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 25.—Wilton Snowden Sr., financier and lawyer, died last night at the age of 78. The intense heat caused his death. Mr. Snowden was born in Annapolis, Md. For many years he served as vice president of the Mercantile Trust Company, as president of the trustees of the Samuel Ready School, as a director of the Sheppard-Pratt Hospital and as a director of the National Bank of Baltimore. For six years he was president of the Municipal Finance Commission.

He was named for State Treasurer, but he refused to consider the post, and he gave the same answer a few years later when an attempt was made to bring him out as the Democratic candidate for Governor in the election which sent Emerson C. Harrington to Annapolis.

While practicing law Mr. Snowden became a director of the Baltimore Equitable Society and acted as its counsel. In 1894 he was elected to head the society. Two years later he became a director in the Central Savings Bank. He became successively the vice president, president and, in 1913, chairman of the board of that institution.

William Sterrett.

READING, Pa., July 25 (AP).—William Sterrett, 74, a former publisher of The Reading Times and for more than half a century actively associated with the publication of Reading newspapers, died here last night. Descendant of a family of newspaper men and founders of newspapers, Mr. Sterrett was for years identified with The Times when it was published by his father, Jacob Knabb Sterrett, Jacob Knabb, an uncle, and Thomas C. Zimmerman. In recent years he was an advertising agent.

The Rev. Thomas Naughton.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 25.—The Rev. Thomas Naughton, rector of the Church of Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament, died last night in St. Joseph's Hospital after a brief illness. He was 64. Born in Ireland, he was educated in his native country and France and was ordained in 1904. He joined the Holy Ghost mission band in this country in 1923.

EDWARD HUNTTING.

Head of East Hampton Lumber and Coal Company Dies at 65.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST HAMPTON, L. I., July 25.—Edward Huntting, member of one of Long Island's most noted families and a direct descendant of the Rev. Nathaniel Huntting, who came to East Hampton in 1699, died at his home on Huntting Lane early today of heart disease. Mr. Huntting was 65 years of age. Although he had been in poor health for some time, he was at his office yesterday, and when he retired last night appeared in good health.

Mr. Huntting was president of the East Hampton Lumber and Coal Company. He had been a member of the Board of Education for twenty-five years and was a former Village Trustee. Funeral service will be conducted at his home on Monday afternoon.

MRS. FRANCES M. DILLMAN.

Wife of President of American Book Company Dies at 45.

Mrs. Frances M. Dillman, wife of Lewis M. Dillman, president of the American Book Company, died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at Harbor Hospital, 667 Madison Avenue, after a lingering illness following an operation. She was 45 years old.

Mrs. Dillman was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam M. Gunn of San Francisco, in which city she attended college. She resided here with her husband at the Savoy-Plaza. Besides Mr. Dillman, she is survived by a stepson, Louis C. Dillman.

Dennis Hanna Dies at 83.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Dennis Hanna, for more than thirty years a business representative of The New World, official publication of the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago, died on Thursday at his residence here. He was 83 years old.

Emerson M. Willis.

UTICA, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—Emerson M. Willis, 56, former District Attorney of Oneida County and a prominent member of the bar of Central New York since 1897, died this morning after an illness of only three days. A stomach disorder caused his death.

AGREE UPON FESS AS PARTY CHAIRMAN

Republican Leaders, After Consulting Hoover, Also Slate Lucas for Post by December.

HUSTON CALLS COMMITTEE

But Omits Mentioning Plan to Quit in Notifying Executive Group to Meet Aug. 7.

QUIET WITHDRAWAL LIKELY

National Chairman Said to Have Been Requested by President to Resign for Good of Party.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, Republican whip of the Senate, according to Republican leaders who conferred with President Hoover today, has been agreed upon as the next chairman of the Republican National Committee to succeed Claudius H. Huston, whose resignation as chairman will be submitted to the executive committee of the Republican National Committee on Aug. 7.

At the same time it was said that Senator Fess had agreed to act as chairman during the coming Fall campaign but preferred to relinquish the position before the convening of Congress in December.

The leaders who discussed the situation with the President also reported that Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, the present Commissioner of Internal Revenue, would be named as chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee. This salaried position, similar to that occupied by Jouett Shouse in the Democratic National Committee, will be created to relieve Senator Fess of many details of the campaign.

Campaign to Be Test for Lucas.

According to the program, mapped out by Senator James E. Watson, the party's Senate leader, and others, the national committee will be called upon, after the November election, to select a new chairman or to confirm Senator Fess's appointment, if he should decide to remain at the head of the party organization.

However, if Senator Fess retires at the end of a successful campaign, it is probable that Mr. Lucas will be appointed as his successor. The campaign will be directed chiefly by Mr. Lucas, and this, his sponsors say, will be a test of his executive ability and show whether he should be promoted to chairman for the important campaign preceding the 1932 election.

Senator Fess, now serving his second term in the Senate, has always been a regular in his party and a consistent dry on the prohibition issue. He has had experience as a campaign manager, having served as chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee from 1918 to 1920, when the Democratic margin of twelve in the House in the former year was turned into a Republican majority of thirty-eight.

Mr. Lucas also has been trained in party organization through activity in practical politics in Kentucky, where for many years he was connected with the Republican State Committee in an executive capacity. Before President Hoover appointed him Revenue Commissioner he had been Collector of Internal Revenue at Louisville.

Silent on Retiring in Committee Call.

The uncertainty that has existed for many months as to the future of Mr. Huston was cleared away by Mr. Huston's announcement late last night, after a conference with the President, that he would resign on Aug. 7 at a meeting of the executive committee, for which he issued a call today. The call, however, says nothing about Mr. Huston's intention to retire.

Sent from National Committee headquarters here by mail to each member of the executive committee, the call reads:

"A meeting of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee, of which you are a member, is hereby called for Thursday, Aug. 7, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the above addresss, for the consideration of such business as may properly come before it.

"Because of the imminence of the campaign for the election of all the members of the House of Representatives and more than one-third of the Senate and the importance of the matters to come before the meeting, a full attendance is desired, and I trust you may find it possible to be present or represented by proxy."

Besides Chairman Huston, the executive committee comprises the following:

Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, vice chairman; Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky, vice chairman; Daniel E. Pomeroy of New Jersey, vice chairman; J. R. Nutt of Ohio, treasurer; James Francis Burke of Pennsylvania, general counsel; Mrs. Grace Semple Burlingham of Missouri, Mrs. O. P. Clark of California, Miss Dorothy Cunningham of Indiana, Mrs. Manley L. Fosseen of Minnesota, Mrs. Guy P. Gannett of Maine, Clarence C. Hamlin of Colorado, Charles D. Hilles of New York, Earle S. Kinsley of Vermont, Miss Martha McClure of Iowa, Maurice Maschke of Ohio, Mrs. Bina West Miller of Michigan, David W. Mulvane of Kansas, J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Pennsylvania, William G. Skelly of Oklahoma, Patrick Sullivan of Wyoming, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer of Massachusetts and Mrs. Ellis A. Yost of West Virginia.

The executive committee also probably will select a secretary of the Republican National Committee to succeed Representative Franklin Fort, resigned. The resignation of Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky as vice chairman was submitted to the committee some months ago, but it is understood that Mrs. Hert has since withdrawn it.

J. J. Hopkins of New York, who managed Albert Ottinger's campaign for Governor of that State, and Christian A. Harter of Boston are mentioned as candidates for secretary.

Mr. Huston, after his conference with the President last night in which the President is reported to have requested him to retire for the good of the party, returned at once to New York without consulting his advisors. The latter are authority for the information that Mr. Huston will quietly abdicate the chairmanship at the Aug. 7 meeting without making any sensational statement such as he has been reported to have contemplated.

MOSES TO TOUR ALL WEST.

Senate Campaign Head Says Four Candidates Invited Him.

Special to The New York Times.

CONCORD, N. H., July 25.—Senator George H. Moses declared today that, contrary to published reports, he would make a complete tour of Western States as chairman of the Senatorial campaign committee. He will start after a fortnight's stay at his home here.

"In at least four of the Western States," he said, "the candidates themselves have requested me to come, and one candidate has asked to be advised as to the specific date in order that he may arrange a conference of 100 Republican leaders from over the State."

As for the recent move to oust him from his post, he said:

"There has been much romance in print during the past few weeks."

SOVIET MANGANESE CLOSES MINES HERE

out what he considered a grave danger to American prosperity should the five-year plan of industrialization pursued by the Soviet Government prove successful.

In his letter to Representative Fish yesterday Mr. Adkerson said that "Soviet producers are dumping manganese ore on the American market at prices regardless of the cost of production, thereby defeating the purposes of the recent action of Congress with respect to a tariff on manganese ore."

Wrecking Industry, He Says.

"The Russian policy of dumping manganese ore in the American market and sold without regard to price and cost of production," Mr. Adkerson wrote, "is wrecking the American manganese industry and has just recently caused the major producers of this country to close their mines and plants, throwing thousands of men out of employment. This situation is due entirely to the Russian program as it applies to manganese."

"The Soviet dumping has completely tied up our industry," Mr. Adkerson said, commenting on his letter to Representative Fish. "Just now Soviet manganese, which is an essential product in the manufacture of steel, is selling in this country at $28 a ton, as against the American price of $34 a ton. The Soviet Government, which owns and controls the manganese ore deposits in Soviet Georgia, has let it be known that it will meet any price offered by American producers and better it. The only reason the Soviet Government is underselling the American producer, as it is seeking to undersell producers of raw materials and other products elsewhere, is to establish dollar credits in this country for its industrialization program. Soviet manganese ore is being produced by cheap, conscript, contract labor, and virtually the only expenditure involved is the cost of foreign bottoms bringing the ore to this country."

This cost of transportation, Mr. Adkerson said, is $14.25 per ton.

"What the Soviet dumping of manganese in this country has done is to strangle an infant industry," Mr. Adkerson added, pointing out that American production of manganese was begun only during the war, as a war measure, and that since then, until the development of the Soviet competition, American mines have been producing 200,000 of the 800,000 tons of manganese used in this country annually.

Feudal Conditions Charged.

In his appeal for an embargo Mr. Adkerson was supported by H. A. Pumpelly, head of the Domestic Manganese and Development Company and secretary of the American Manganese Producers' Association.

Mr. Pumpelly pointed out that dumping is one of the means which the Soviet Government uses in seeking to damage the interests of so-called capitalist countries while at the same time obtaining capital for its $33,000,000,000 industrialization program, known as the Five-Year Plan. Like Mr. Adkerson, he charged that the Soviet Government was operating with a highly centralized, State-owned industrial apparatus, with raw materials that cost it virtually nothing and with labor working under feudal conditions, at an average wage of $10 a week. Such an industrial system, Mr. Pumpelly said, if permitted to export abroad without check, will ultimately, if successful, jeopardize the interests of those countries where free labor and high wages are the rule.

In his letter to Representative Fish Mr. Adkerson said that the amount of manganese ore shipped into the United States from Russia in 1928 was 159,842 tons, and in 1929 was 329,336 tons, or more than double the amount of the previous year.

"There was a corresponding increase so far during the year 1930," Mr. Adkerson wrote, "and the present condition, if allowed to continue, will destroy the domestic manganese industry."

Fears Blow to National Defense.

Apart from the letter to Mr. Fish, Mr. Adkerson pointed out that the destruction of the American manganese ore industry will be a severe blow to American national defense. Not a ton of steel can be produced without manganese, Mr. Adkerson emphasized.

The two principal buyers of Soviet manganese are the United States Steel Corporation, which recently closed a contract with the Soviet Government for the purchase of $2,500,000 worth of manganese annually, and the Bethlehem Steel Company, which buys all its manganese ore from the Soviet Government and, according to Mr. Adkerson's letter to Mr. Fish, has refused to purchase any of the American product.

The United States Steel Corporation obtains the bulk of its manganese supplies from its own mines in Brazil, but is always in the market for manganese. According to published accounts, the contract of the United States Steel Corporation with the Soviet Government calls for the purchase during the next five years of from 80,000 to 150,000 tons of manganese at $15 a long ton.

The manganese mines in Soviet Georgia had been owned originally by German interests and were confiscated by the Soviet Government during the revolution. They were subsequently leased to the W. A. Harriman interests of New York, who found it impossible, however, to carry out all the provisions of the lease and were absolved from the contract two years ago. The mines thereupon, reverted to Soviet ownership and are now being operated by the Georgian Manganese Trust, a State-owned organization.

According to Mr. Adkerson, manganese producing interests in India and Africa have also been hard hit by Soviet competition.

Red's Case Again Put Off.

For the twelfth time a hearing on the felonious assault charge against Joseph Lester, one of the five leaders of the Communist demonstration at Union Square on March 6, was adjourned yesterday by Magistrate Edward Weil in Yorkville court, who put it over until Aug. 25.

The postponement was sought on the ground that Assistant District Attorney Albert B. Unger, assigned to prosecute the case, was on vacation. Joseph Brodsky, attorney for Lester, vigorously opposed any further delay.

WASHINGTON BANS SOVIET PULPWOOD

Lowman Stops Imports on the Charges of Production by Convict Labor.

LARGE TRADE IS AFFECTED

International Paper Company Contracts Among Those Hit—Prisoners' Work Described.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—On the ground that convict labor is employed in its production, all paper pulpwood from Russia henceforth will be denied entry into the United States, Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Customs, announced today.

The ruling was based on the new tariff act, which forbids the importation of such goods.

It is believed that a huge volume of trade will be affected by the ruling, and large contracts between the International Paper Company and Russian interests will be nullified.

On the other hand, it is considered likely that owners of Canadian pulpwood forests will benefit materially from the decision.

Mr. Lowman's action climaxed a recent situation that attracted international attention when hearings were held before him and Customs officers concerning six cargoes of Russian spruce, two ship loads of which had arrived at American ports and four of which were on the high seas.

Incidentally, the ruling did not affect these shipments of spruce lumber, Mr. Lowman explained.

It was not learned whether the ruling might be the forerunner of others affecting products which the Soviet Government is developing on a huge scale in its "five-year plan," with an eye obviously to the American market where its goods, produced far below the cost of domestic manufacture, might be sold either for ready cash or in exchange for credits to develop Russian resources.

Evidence of Convict Labor Cited.

"A general order has been wired to all Collectors of Customs," Mr. Lowman said, "to prevent entry of pulpwood from Russia. Evidence in the hands of the treasury seems to establish the fact that pulpwood is being manufactured there by convict labor, and therefore not subject to entry."

The evidence on which the decision was made was held in confidence, to protect those who cooperated with the treasury in establishing the facts, but extracts from one letter, written by a responsible observer, described not only how convict labor is used to load pulpwood at Archangel, a Soviet port, but the frightful conditions under which these condemned men work. This letter read, in part:

"The vessel was loaded by convicts and political prisoners, who were marched down under guard from their barracks to the steamer each day. The loading pier was within an area enclosed by high wire fences, which formed a barricade for the prisoners. The prisoners are also quartered in barracks within an enclosed area about a quarter mile from the loading pier.

"There were no armed guards, as they would have been entirely unnecessary, because the chances of escape were very remote. There were about 125 men in each shift. The number of men depended upon the number of hatches worked, about thirty men being generally worked in each hatch. The men worked in shifts of twelve hours, two hours off for luncheon.

Prisoners Were Clad in Rags.

"The prisoners were poorly clothed, mainly in rags, evidently the clothing they had at the time of their arrest. They used canvas on their hands and feet. The meals served to the prisoners consisted of black bread and warm water. Women were not employed in loading ships, but they were employed in unloading carloads of pulpwood in the yard.

"Three prisoners who were caught stealing bread from another steamer were immediately shot for their act without trial. The cargoes of pulpwood being loaded were destined for the United States."

Interest in the importation of lumber and pulpwood from Russia, one of the world's great sources of supply, became acute about two weeks ago when Secretary Lowman held private hearings on the admissibility of spruce being imported from there by A. C. Dutton of Poughkeepsie.

Appearing at the hearing, besides Mr. Dutton and his counsel, were representatives of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, trade agent for the Soviet Government, and representatives of the International Paper Company. All of these disputed the reports of government officials that the spruce might have been from lots worked with convict labor.

With the announcement of the hearings, protests against barring the shipments came officially or unofficially from Great Britain, Germany and other European countries on behalf of shippers handling consignments of Russian lumber destined for America.

Treasury Postponed Decision.

The Treasury Department then ruled that in the absence of more definite word and pending further reports from investigators, it would permit entry of the spruce shipments, a ruling which still stands.

Immediately thereafter the American Wage Earners Protective Association, of which Matthew Woll is president, filed a lengthy protest with the Treasury against admission of convict-made goods.

When Mr. Lowman announced a plan to send investigators into Russia to determine the actual status of the lumber industry and the differentiation between State forests admittedly worked by prisoners, and private ones said to employ free labor, the question arose whether this might be done in the absence of official relations with Russia.

Today's ruling would seem to indicate that this question had been circumvented, inasmuch as the Treasury has received all the assurances necessary to arrive at its decision.

Portland Receives Order.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Me., July 25.—Four freight steamers now on their way to this port from Archangel with pulpwood for the International Paper Company will not be allowed to discharge here because they were loaded in Russia by convict labor. The order barring the ships was received today by local customs officials from the Treasury Department. It came as a surprise as three freighters already have discharged like cargoes.

No order has been received for the stevedores to stop unloading the British steamer Benwood, which has discharged only half of her 2,600-cord cargo.

The International Paper Company was to have received a total of 25,000 cords here.

Most Loud Radios Mute as Noise Drive Opens; Vigilantes Find Few in Search of the City

A marked decrease in radio music in the streets was noted yesterday in first-day reports received by the Noise Abatement Commission from the 110 members of its vigilance squad of volunteers sent out to listen for violations of the city ordinance forbidding loud-speakers on the streets or in doorways or windows opening onto the sidewalk. The lone woman volunteer on the squad, who scoured various radio-minded sections of the city, could find but one radio store bold enough to keep its loud-speaker going.

Edward F. Brown, director of the Noise Abatement Commission, estimated that more than 85 per cent of the radio stores now obey the ordinance, and expressed confidence that the week's drive would bring the figure to 100 per cent. Although only twenty-four violations were reported directly to the commission on the first day, Mr. Brown said that many other reports were made to the police, as squad members were to report to the commission only in the absence of available policemen.

Many proprietors of stores anticipated the appearance of the patrolers by turning off the switch themselves. All of the loud-speakers reported to the commission were silenced within an hour, Mr. Brown said. The squad members had been thoroughly drilled in the proper procedure and the extent of their legal rights, and all action was taken through the police.

The lone woman volunteer, who was sent as a traveling scout yesterday afternoon to investigate scattered sections of Manhattan where radio stores were most profilic, wandered through block after block of the west side, the east side, Yorkville, and central Manhattan with no strains of music to greet her. After two hours of vain search, a Second Avenue radio store yielded the long-sought syncopation.

Jotting down the name, address and time, she hurried to the nearest police station, and approached the lieutenant in charge as a "public-spirited citizen" who had volunteered to help enforce the radio ordinance. The lieutenant took the data offered, and in a few minutes a plainclothes man was on his way to request the proprietor to advertise in another manner.

Few of the proprietors offered any objection when they were told by the policemen of the ordinance, but some objected that they had to get customers and wanted to know why something was not done about unemployment instead.

LITVINOF SOUNDS BOYCOTT WARNING

Soviet Will Make Purchases Elsewhere Unless It Can Sell Here, He Implies.

WOULD ALTER PEACE PACTS

New Foreign Commissar to Support Revisionists if They Dare Attempt Changes at Geneva.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, July 25.—"There will be no change in the Soviet foreign policy—we will continue to pursue the double aim of safeguarding the rights of the peasants and workers of the republic and the peaceful development of Socialist construction in our country—that is the meaning of my appointment," said the new Foreign Commissar, Maxim M. Litvinof, today in his first public statement addressed to the foreign press.

There is a striking contrast between the new Commissar and his predecessor, Georges Tchitcherin. The latter is an aristocrat to his finger tips who once was alleged to complain when slighted by Lord Curzon, "My family was civilized when Lord Curzon's ancestors were savages wearing nothing but blue paint." M. Tchitcherin is still able to blaze on occasion with a raw fire which no remote Italian ancestry can quench in the Russian soul.

M. Litvinof is stocky, modern, blunt and careless of diplomatic elegance, wielding the bludgeon instead of the rapier, yet redoubtable on occasion by the sheer force of his outspoken logic.

Litvinof's Ability High.

M. Tchitcherin, history records, once charmed the Catholic Archbishop of Genoa at a celebrated luncheon by his knowledge that Jules Mazarin might have envied of Church history by his adroit handling of this—by the circumstances—most delicate of topics. M. Litvinof made Secretary Stimson cross by his brutal reply to the well-meant American attempt to introduce the Kellogg pact into the Manchurian imbroglio last Summer.

After long acquaintance with both men, it is this correspondent's opinion that M. Litvinof yields nothing in ability to his predecessor. His statement today, while frank and straightforward in appearance, was far from lacking in statecraft. Without quite saying so, he contrived to imply two promises and two threats.

The Soviet has not, he indicated, receded from its condemnation of the Versailles Treaty, which led Lenin to protest against that "violation of the right of popular self-determination."

"Certain foreign powers," M. Litvinof said, "who seem most eager to maintain the Versailles Treaty, are also in the forefront of the anti-Soviet movement, which the Soviet will not fail to remember. Other powers have suffered from the Versailles Theaty—powers united to the Soviet by friendly treaties and friendly relations of commerce. This also the Soviet won't forget."

Favors Revising Treaty.

It was a clear but cautious intimation to Italy, Germany and Turkey that the weight of the Soviet Union—paltry as it may seem in the League of Nations councils at Geneva, but formidable by sheer specific gravity—remains on the side of the revisionists of the Versailles Treaty, if any of them are bold enough to attempt it against France and her allies.

Then M. Litvinof spoke of "attempts being made by short-sighted—in their own interest—enemies of the Soviet régime to restrict or prevent the sale of our goods or raw materials in their respective countries. They must know that in the present conditions we cannot buy from them unless we sell. If they will not buy our goods, we shall transfer our purchases elsewhere."

M. Litvinof was asked what he thought of the Fish committee, and at once the studiously urbane impersonality of his formal statement (he had not once mentioned any power by name, but had spoken of "certain war victors" or "some European powers which suffered from the Versailles Treaty" or "other non-European powers") gave way to the man's native frankness.

Criticizes Fish Committee.

With a harsh look at your correspondent, he said deliberately: "In this case it perhaps is lucky for the United States that we have no diplomatic connection or we would certainly have made a vigorous protest. Our Amtorg representatives were treated in a manner which contrasted with the committee's attitude toward the other witnesses, who included Russians from Kerenskyist or other anti-Bolshevist camps.

"Our people were denied the right to make a full statement and were called on to answer 'yes' or 'no' to questions which were completely outside the committee's scope. They were asked about the relations of the Comintern [Communist International] to the Soviet Government or the Soviet Government to the Communist party of the Soviet Union. Our Amtorg representatives are there for business and play no part in politics.

In regard to the British debt negotiations, M. Litvinof said Oct. 2 had been fixed for the first meeting of the Anglo-Russian debt commission.

PRIEST SAYS FORD AIDS COMMUNISM

Detroit Witness Attacks Failure to Employ Thousands After Calling for Workers.

OTHERS SCOUT MOVEMENT

Ten Witnesses Before Congressional Committee See No Peril in Red Activities.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—Henry Ford was charged today with responsibility for the spread of communism, in a statement made by a Detroit priest before the Congressional committee investigating Red activities in this country. The committee heard eleven witnesses today after shifting its sessions from New York.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower Church, asserted that "the greatest force in the movement to internationalize labor throughout the world is Henry Ford."

Representative Fish, chairman of the committee, asked the witness to explain the basis for his reasoning.

"A year ago, on the eve of the automobile show in New York," Father Coughlin continued, "Mr. Ford issued a statement that was printed on the front page of every daily newspaper in the United States that he required 30,000 more workers at his plant in Detroit. As a result of that statement more than 40,000 men who were out of work flocked to Detroit from Southern States, and while the weather was at zero, stood in front of the Ford plant trying to get those jobs. There were no jobs for them, and the only redress they had was to have the fire hose turned on them to drive them away."

Recalls Ford Peace Ship.

"Getting all these men here in that manner was not done on purpose, was it?" Mr. Fish asked.

"No. It was done through ignorance, just as the peace ship was sent to Europe through ignorance by the same man who didn't know when the War of Independence was fought," Father Coughlin replied.

The priest added that Mr. Ford's money was helping the Soviet Government in Russia and he referred to the $13,000,000 contract Mr. Ford signed with Soviet representatives.

Of the eleven witnesses before the committee today only Father Coughlin seemed apprehensive over Communistic activities. He predicted that a revolution was near.

Most of the forenoon was devoted to listening to Caesar J. Scavarda, Flint Police Chief, tell of the recent strike difficulties in his city, said to have been caused by Communist influence. Other witnesses included N. R. Dougherty, personnel director of General Motors Corporation, and James E. Ferber, secretary of the Flint Manufacturers Association.

Estimates on Number of Reds.

Charles T. Winegar, Commissioner of Public Safety of Hamtramck, informed the committee that although persons of fifty-seven different nations were employed by him, and that the suburb is peopled with huge numbers of foreigners, he knew of only one bona fide Communist, George Kristalsky, a recent candidate for Mayor, and now a candidate for the Legislature.

"The whole spirit of the community is against communism so far as I have observed," the commissioner said. "In fact, more persons own their homes in Hamtramck than in any other city of its size in the country," he declared.

Estimates of the number of Communists in Detroit varied from 1,500 to 5,000. These included active members of the party as well as sympathizers. All the witnesses were of the opinion that at least 90 per cent of all these persons were foreigners. Unemployment tends to increase the interest in such movements, all believed.

Thomas C. Wilcox, who was formerly in charge of the local Department of Justice agents, told of his activities with Communists here in 1920, when 827 persons were arrested, following several demonstrations. Of this number 234 were deported, he said, and the remainder freed.

AID NEEDY WOMAN IN COURT

Magistrate and Spectators Give $55 to Wanderer, 74.

Mrs. Carmela Guifrida, 74 years old and homeless, received a suspended sentence on a charge of vagrancy yesterday when she appeared before Magistrate McGee in Morrisania court. She was sent to the Isaac T. Hopper Home, 110 Second Avenue, until arrangements can be made for her to live with some family where she will have a comfortable home in return for whatever small tasks she may be able to perform.

Magistrate McGee, touched by the plight of the woman, handed a probation officer $5 to take Mrs. Guifrida to the home. One of two spectators who refused their names pressed a $50 bill into her hand as she passed out of the court.

Mrs. Guifrida is a widow and her four children died years ago. A patrolman found her wandering at 161st Street and Third Avenue, the Bronx, two days ago. She was neatly dressed in black and clasping a prayerbook.

MOVIE BRIBE DENIED BY MAYOR OF NYACK

He Is Freed in $5,000 After Pleading—Trustee Also Released on Bail.

THEATRE MAN IS INDICTED

Former Manager, Now Resident of New Jersey, Named in Charges Over Sunday Permit.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW CITY, N. Y., July 25.—Mayor Oscar R. Kosel of Nyack and former Village Trustee Harry Williams both pleaded not guilty today before Justice William F. Bleakley in Supreme Court on indictments charging them with bribery in connection with the renewal permit granted last December to the Rockland Theatre for Sunday motion pictures in Nyack.

The June grand jury, in its final report today, also indicted Adolph M. Pincus, former manager of the Rockland Theatre, in connection with the same charges. Pincus lives in Lyndhurst, N. J., and is expected to be arraigned on Aug. 12, unless he should fight extradition.

District Attorney Morton Lexow announced that it was his last day in court, as he will resign tomorrow to become the Republican candidate for County Judge and Surrogate and Judge of the Children's Court, and that a new District Attorney to be appointed by Governor Roosevelt will be obliged to prosecute the indictments.

Two indictments each against Mayor Kosel and Williams charge them with attempting to bribe former Trustee Harry A. Trautmann and with accepting a bribe. Williams provided $2,000 bail for his release pending trial at the September term of court and Frank Comesky, counsel for Kosel, asked the court to approve a $5,000 bond which he had prepared for his client's release.

Kosel has refused to resign, and it is expected that he will make a bitter fight. His counsel obtained leave to demur on the indictments. Williams resigned as trustee on July 7, when it became known that former Trustee James O'Connor had made a reported confession of the bribery charges involving him and the Mayor. Kosel and Williams were indicted on July 10.

RUNAWAY BOY SLEEPS IN THE PARK A WEEK

Fled Here From Industrial Farm at Canaan—Picked Up When He Asks for Food.

A week's clandestine visit to New York, where he made Central Park his boarding house and the Hudson River his bathtub, ended last night for George Stevenson, 15 years old, whose home is at 997 St. Paul Street, Rochester, N. Y. He told the police that he was a runaway from the Berkshire Industrial Farm at Canaan, N. Y.

A citizen from whom he begged some food took the boy to the Arsenal Station, which turned him over to the Children's Society for a hearing Monday.

He said he hitch-hiked here with a chum, Ernest Rolfe, 14, whose home is on West 179th Street. They arrived in New York a week ago yesterday, with $2.40 that George had saved up. Ernest "got fed up with sleeping in Central Park and eating hot dogs and peanuts," and with their common treasury almost depleted, Ernest departed for the farm school on Wednesday.

George, however, stuck it out, even after his money was gone. He said he didn't mind sleeping in the park and bathing in the Hudson River. He told Police Sergeant Cunningham of the Arsenal Station that he wanted to stay here and get a job and go to school and learn chemistry. He said they didn't teach chemistry in the farm school. He told the police he was sent to the farm school in 1927 by the Rochester Children's Court for having run away from home.

LIBERALS FORECAST MAJORITY IN CANADA

Party Expects to Win 141 Seats in Parliament—Concedes 85 to Conservatives.

OTTAWA, July 25 (Canadian Press).—The official election forecast of the Liberal party was made public tonight. It contemplates a majority over all for the present administration of 37, with a possibility of 39.

The forecast follows:

"A careful appraisal of the reports received from the Provincial Liberal Associations indicates extensive gains for the government in those sections of the country which in the last election gave their support to the opposition. This is particularly the cast in the Maritime Provinces, Ontario and British Columbia, where the constituencies report a definite swing toward the Liberals.

"On the prairies, where local issues have at times obscured those of national import, the government will hold it down with the prospect of making gains.

"Summarized, the estimate of the National Liberal Bureau follows:

"Maritime Provinces, 17; Quebec, 61; Ontario, 32; the Prairies, 26; British Columbia, 5.

"One seat in Manitoba and another in British Columbia are regarded as doubtful.

"The National Liberal Bureau concedes eighty-five seats to the Conservatives and seventeen seats to the other independent groups.

"The standing in the next House of Commons should be: Liberals, 141; Conservatives, 85; others, 17, with two seats uncertain."

L. J. FRANCKE JR. DIVORCED.

Wife Gets Decree From Polo Player on Ground of Misconduct.

Louis J. Francke Jr., a polo player and member of the New York Curb Exchange, was divorced yesterday on an order of Supreme Court Justice Walsh in a suit brought by Mrs. Viola F. Francke on the ground of misconduct by her husband at Briarcliff Lodge on Nov. 4. Mrs. Francke, who has been in the Blythewood Sanitarium at Greenwich for a year, was declared by her physicians to have suffered a nervous breakdown because her husband left her a year previously.

Mr. Francke did not defend the suit, which was heard before Official Referee Tierney in June, when he recommended a decree.

LINDBERGH'S ATTITUDE TO THE NEWSPAPERS

Practices to Which He Objects and Why in Certain Instances He Intends to Be Non-Cooperative.

As the result of a talk with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, an attempt is made by Marlen Pew in the current issue of Editor and Publisher, to make clear to the newspaper profession Lindbergh's reasons for his resentment on what he terms the "invasion of the private rights of citizens" by certain newspapers.

"He [Lindbergh] draws the line strictly," writes Mr. Pew, "between the right of the press to report his activities as they relate to the scientific development of air travel and what he calls personal curiosity. He said in sincere terms that he valued and deeply appreciated the 'remarkable liberality' of the press in support of what he terms his 'work.' 'The constructive press has been both kind and generous to me ever since I have been flying,' he said, and he mentioned newspaper men who have been helpful, intelligently critical, fair in their reports and considerate of his private rights."

However, Mr. Pew says, the Colonel, "without the slightest hesitation, but with no show of anger, also mentioned five New York newspapers which he said Mrs. Lindbergh and he had decided they could not 'cooperate with and maintain our self-respect.' These newspapers, he said, represent an idea of journalism to which he can not subscribe. He called their practices 'contemptible' and thought them to be 'a social drag,' 'non-constructive' and 'a waste of time.' He minced no words in condemning newspapers which, in his view, cater to morbid curiosity and are concerned with private gossip to the exclusion of matters in the realm of 'things, ideas and ideals.'"

The Colonel, says Mr. Pew, asserted firmly that in future he would do all he could to keep aloof from newspapers that "have no serious purpose." It was a matter of principle, he explained, and not personal resentment. He did not want to blame specific newspaper men, but did admit that he had felt outraged when some reporters followed him on his honeymoon and "for eight straight hours circled about our boat, at anchor in a New England harbor, in a noisy motorboat and occasionally called across the water to us that if we would pose for one picture they would go away." He considered it absurd that he should have been forced to keep a guard constantly on duty at the gate of his wife's home, and told of an incident of a reporter attempting to bribe a servant with $2,000 to "betray the secrets of the household." He also mentioned as objectionable the advance heralding of the Lindbergh baby.

To a suggestion from Mr. Pew that he might go direct to an editor or publisher and complain of specific annoyances, Colonel Lindbergh was unresponsive, "because he did not wish to cause harm to an individual." He also negatived as distasteful to him the suggestion that he might employ a press agent for personal news."

"The matter of withholding recently photographs of the Lindbergh baby from offending newspapers was referred to and a remark that these newspapers nevertheless published the photographs, elicited Colonel Lindbergh's comment that "it did not matter to him what they published so long as he was sure he had not yielded any cooperation. My stand," he said, "is a matter of principle."

What the Colonel desires, Mr. Pew records, is "to be on friendly, accessible relations with newspaper men who have a serious purpose. He likes to give his confidence to such men and he tells that by them his faith has not been betrayed."

BOY, 15, IN LOVE, ENDS LIFE UNDER TRAIN

Body of Valley Stream Honor Student Found on Tracks With Note Telling of "Rebuff."

Special to The New York Times.

VALLEY STREAM, L. I., July 25.—Everett Davis, 15-year-old honor student in the high school freshman class and model Sunday school pupil, committed suicide some time late last night or early this morning by throwing himself in front of a Long Island Railroad freight train at the Clearstream Avenue crossing.

Two notes left by the youth clearly indicated, the police said, that he had ended his life because of despondency over an adolescent love affair. In one of them he asked that his ring be given to Florence Elizabeth Phillips, a classmate of his at the high school, and that she be told that he died because she had not favored his suit.

The boy's body was found at 5:30 A. M. by a rail inspector. The police were unable to establish how long the youth had been dead, but he had not been seen since 9 o'clock last night, when with a chum he walked past the home of the Phillips girl and saw her sitting on the porch with another boy.

Kenneth Bennett, his companion on the stroll, said that young Davis had avowed his intention of running away from home, complaining that his parents did not treat him properly and did not give him enough money. Although the boys were neighbors, they parted some distance from their homes and young Davis started away.

One note found on the body said: "Give my ring to Florence Elizabet Phillips. Give my bike and blouses to K. Bennett. Don't let my parents see my body. Throw my body into the ocean."

In another pocket was a piece of paper on which had been scrawled: "I love you, Fep."

SEEKS TO INDICT 60 IN DEATH FRAUDS

District Attorney Albert C. Fach of Staten Island announced yesterday that when the Richmond County grand jury convenes next Tuesday at least sixty more indictments would be voted on in connection with the plot by which the Metropoltian Life Insurance Company was defrauded out of more than $50,000 in the past two years through false death certificates. Many indictments will be sought against persons not previously named in connection with the swindle, Mr. Fach said. No additional indictments were handed up yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Herzberg, 30 years old, of 41 West Seventy-second Street, Manhattan, a sister of Richard Petersen, Staten Island agent of the company, surrendered yesterday. She and Petersen are under indictment.

Under-Sheriff Finn refused to comply, asserting that the woman need not be fingerprinted because she had already been arraigned. The District Attorney threatened to have Finn brought before the grand jury, but in the end the under-sheriff had the prints taken and carried them to Police Headquarters in Manhattan, where he learned that Mrs. Herzberg had no previous record.

BIG SILK THEFT LAID TO MANUFACTURER

H. Rothenberg, Head of a Dress Company, Held as Robber of Rival in Same Building.

LOSER IDENTIFIES GOODS

Workers Are Busy Snipping 1,200 Yards of Material Soon After Burglary Is Discovered.

A dress manufacturer was arrested yesterday for burglary, charged with stealing his raw materials from a rival manufacturer in the same loft building. He was Herbert Rothenberg, 35 years old, of 1,382 Crotona Avenue, the Bronx, proprietor of the Henrietta Dress Company, 48 West Twelfth Street.

Soon after 7 o'clock yesterday morning the alarm sounded in the control office of the Holmes Electric Protective Company, the flash on the board indicating something amiss at the High Class Dress Company on the ninth floor of 48 West Twelfth Street. Men dashed to the scene and found the door jimmied, but no trace of the robbers.

A check-up later disclosed that 1,200 yards of silk were missing. Detectives arrived soon after the private patrol. The puzzling feature was how 1,200 yards of silk could disappear in so short a time.

When the detectives were leaving the building, Detective William Carlson nudged his partner as Rothenberg entered the building.

"I sent him up five years ago for a job like this," Carlson said, and they quietly followed Rothenberg upstairs. He turned into the Henrietta Dress Company loft on the fifth floor and a moment later the detectives followed him.

They stepped into a workroom bustling with activity. Twenty workers were snipping away at top speed at silk goods to get it ready to be made into dresses. The detectives halted the cutting and called down the proprietor of the High Class company, who identified the silk. Rothenberg was detained while the detectives questioned the workmen.

They said that they had just been hired that day and knew nothing of the business. After these facts had been verified the detectives permitted the workers to leave, their job unfinished.

Rothenberg was charged with burglary. In his office, the detectives said, they found a jimmy and a chisel. He has been arrested eleven times previously, the police said, and has been convicted three times.

ROOSEVELT DRAFTING STATE LIQUOR PLANK

Leaders Sure Governor Will Urge Wide Modification, but Oppose Repeal

HOLD WETS WILL AGREE

Party Discipline Counted On to Avoid Platform Which Might Harm Executive in 1932.

FLYNN SEEN AS WARD RIVAL

Nomination for Attorney General Likely to Go to Bronx or Queens, With State Secretary Favored.

With the Democrats hopeful of winning their fifth successive victory in a Gubernatorial campagin this Autumn, Governor Roosevelt, who will lead the party fight as candidate for a second term, is taking an active part in drafting of the platform on which he is to run.

The Democratic State platform in tentative form will be completed when the Democratic State convention meets in Syracuse the first week in October. The work of drafting this document was entrusted by the Democratic State committee to a special committee headed by Edward S. Dore, head of the Tammany Hall law committee. The special committee has not as yet held a meeting, but Governor Roosevelt has been working on tentative planks covering subjects in which he is especially interested.

One of these is prohibition. There is pronounced sentiment among the Democratic rank and file for a plank committing the party to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. Governor Roosevelt, however, is known to doubt the wisdom of committing the party to the policy enunciated by Dwight W. Morrow, Republican candidate for United States Senate in New Jersey, without safeguards to protect dry States against importation of liquor from the wet States.

Roosevelt for Modification.

It was learned on good authority that the Governor, who is widely regarded as an aspirant for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1932, when with the Democratic organization in all the Southern and many of the Western States dry, he would be apt to alienate votes in the Democratic National Convention by a stand in favor of repeal, has been concentrating on a plank recommending revision rather than repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Leading Democrats have expressed the hope that, with the discipline that prevails in the Democratic organization in this State, even ultra-wet Democrats may be held in line for such a platform, when it is understood that a more radical statement might prove embarrassing to the Governor in 1932. It is understood, that if the Governor's plank is accepted by the convention, as is probable, the Democratic State platform will adopt with it a strong pronouncement against the return of the saloon in the event that national prohibition is abandoned.

With the renomination of Governor Roosevelt, Lieut. Governor Lehman and State Controller Tremaine decided upon there will be only one vacant place on the Democratic State ticket to fill—the selection of a candidate for Attorney General. It was said yesterday that this place in order to give balance to the ticket probably would go to this city and that a Catholic would be selected. Governor Roosevelt and Controller Tremaine are both up-State men, Lieut. Governor Lehman is from Manhattan. One Democratic leader said yesterday that the nomination for Attorney General should go to one of the other boroughs.

Some weeks ago John H. McCooey, Democratic leader of Kings, put in a strong bid to have a Brooklyn man named, but it is understood that Mr. McCooey has abandoned this position with a likelihood that Bronx or Queens may draw the nomination. Edward J. Flynn, Secretary of State, Democratic leader of the Bronx and one of Governor Roosevelt's closest political advisers, has been widely mentioned for this post.

There are several up-State candidates, including Frank J. Cregg of Syracuse, who was in the Corporation Counsel's office during the latest Democratic Administration there; George S. Van Schaick, a prominent Rochester lawyer, and David F. Lee of Binghamton, who in 1924 was the manager of Governor Smith's campaign up-State.

Van Schaick May Be Chairman.

With Senator Robert F. Wagner already selected as temporary chairman and keynote speaker at the Democratic State Convention, the permanent chairmanship, it was said yesterday, will go to an up-State Democrat.

Mr. Van Schaick has been prominently mentioned for the permanent chairmanship. Others now being considered are Oliver Cabana, a Buffalo banker who held the gavel at the last Democratic State Convention; Seymour Van Santvoord of Troy, an old-line Cleveland Democrat who was active in Democratic politics during and before the Dix régime, when he was a member of the up-State Public Service Commission, and State Senator William T. Byrne of Albany.

Mr. Cabana has been very active and, according to prevailing opinion in the Democratic organization, very successful in the recent movement to harmonize the Democratic factions in Erie County, which culminated in the largely attended Democratic midsummer convention in Buffalo last week, which was attended by Governor Roosevelt and by John F. Curry, Tammany leader, and Mr. McCooey.

ELECTRICITY KILLS BOY, 2.

Mother Finds Dead Child Clutching Wire in Yonkers Home.

Two-year-old Albert Wilson Jr. of 171 Stanley Avenue, Yonkers, was accidentally shocked to death in his home Thursday night by catching hold of a radio battery and an improperly insulated electric lamp wire at the same time, it was learned yesterday.

The boy's mother found him lying on the floor in the living room with one hand on the radio battery. She summoned Frank Sanslone, a next-door neighbor, who rushed mother and child to St. Joseph's Hospital, Yonkers, where Dr. Salvatore Esposito pronounced the boy dead.

Boy Tree-Sitter Gets $40 For Ill Mother, Then Falls

CAMDEN, N. J., July 25.—Billy O'Donnell, 13 years old, of 121 North Twenty-fourth Street turned tree-sitter last Friday, but not in the same spirit that has moved other boys; he did it because he thought he could make money enough to keep his widowed mother in comfort in Lakeland Hospital.

Neighbors helped Billy along. They came out at night and sent his food up to him. Every night a collection was made and Billy was delighted, though tired. Last night the contributions totaled $40.

But he was finding it harder to stay in the tree. Only the thought of his mother kept him aloft. He turned to find a more comfortable spot and, missing his footing, fell twenty feet. Cooper Hospital surgeons said his back was injured. His condition is serious.

NEW TESTS DEVISED TO TRY ENDURANCE

Whisker-Sprouting Contest in Bloomfield Worries Barbers—Girls Push Baby Carriages.

MORE WOMEN CLIMB TREES

Camden Boys Claim World Record—Bicyclists Roll On, Some With Prize Offers to Spur Them.

Whiskers-sprouting, perambulator pushing and jail-sitting were added yesterday to the long category of endurance contests, but the orthodox tree sitters and non-stop bicycle riders bore up under the competition and there was distinct evidence that their patience is being rewarded. Cash offers and other prizes were put up in several communities for new tree-sitting and bicycle-riding records.

The whiskers-sprouting symptom of the endurance epidemic was announced yesterday in Bloomfield, N. J., when Wallace Vogel, a newsdealer, and Raymond Sharp, a cab driver, both middle-aged, began a beard-growing contest and challenged their fellow townsmen to compete with them. Under the rules established by the pair, the first man to violate the hirsute growth with razor, scissors or any other instrument is promptly disqualified and must pay a cash forfeit of $5. The town barbers are tearing their hair.

In South New Jersey Evelyn Ready, 17 years old; her sister, Mary, 15, and Mary McCartney, 16, broke away from the old school of tree sitters and bicycle riders and established a record for pushing a baby carriage. They left Camden, their home town, at 11:15 A. M. on Thursday and staggered into Atlantic City, about sixty miles south, at 6:15 A. M. yesterday. Mary Ready reclined in the go-cart and the others took turns wheeling.

Competition in Tree Sitting.

Mrs. Edna May Knight of National Park, N. J., who climbed into a maple tree in front of her home four days ago to set the married women's tree-sitting mark, got some competition yesterday when Mrs. Mabel Banks, president of the Jericho Woman's Colored Republican Society, muscled her way into the branches in her native town of New Sharon, N. J., and announced that she would sit it out with Mrs. Knight until the bough breaks.

Vincent Morrissey and Anthony Scott continue to maintain their arboreal perch in the city park in Camden. They claim the world record, having been up eleven days. But Billy Bunker, Spencer Glenn, Edward Githens and Will McDonnell, all of Camden, are crowding them closely in the contest, all having passed the 216-hour record attained by Billy Kearney of Kansas City, last week.

Recognition in a big way for endurance riders was reported in South Philadelphia, where a resident has offered $500 in cash to a neighborhood team if it establishes a new record. The leading team is composed of Francis Simonswick, William MacNamara and Clifton Tully. They started Wednesday night and had a long way to go. The record at present is 384 hours, held by Jimmy Dooley's Hackensack team.

Watches Promised to Riders.

A team in Little Ferry, N. J., and another in Lodi Street, Hackensack, are nearing the Dooley team mark and are still riding hard, with the advantage in favor of the Little Ferry wheelers. If they set a new record, each of them is to get a wrist watch from Mrs. Grace Roes of Union City. Emil Karsten, a hotel owner of Tenafly, has offered the teams free use of his establishment, but the boys cling to their pup tents to be ready at a moment's notice for any emergency.

Hillside, N. J., has a team that has passed the 220-hour mark and is still pedaling, but in Newburgh, N. Y., Dr. Thomas J. Burke, city health officer, put a stop to a team that had put in more than 100 hours of riding. He found the contestants had lost weight and were not in proper physical condition. Four other teams are riding in Newburgh.

In Morristown, N. J., a team of four riders completed its fourth day in the saddle at 7 o'clock last night. This team calls its mount "The Spirit of Ammonia," has as dietician and masseuse the mother of one of their number, and is proud of police cooperation. The street has been roped off.

New Brunswick has six teams in the field, one with 256 hours of riding recorded. Another team which has 140 hours chalked up announced that each of its members had gained two pounds during the grind.

In Newark, where the community spirit brought out riders by the score a week or two ago, only one team remained in the field yesterday, due to the activity of the police. The Goble Street riders have been successful in dodging the law for 130 hours.

There were many other riders and other tree sitters all over the country yesterday, but the epidemic shows signs of fading.

Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston and Miss Corinne Vossberg, endurance swimmers who entered a Rockaway Beach pool at 10:55 A. M. Wednesday to try for a new record, were still afloat at 10 o'clock last night, passing their fifty-ninth hour in the water. They spend most of the time flat on their backs, gazing moodily at the sky and showing signs of activity only when their "refuelers" swim out with food and hot drinks.

CONEY SITTERS WIN AN ABRUPT VICTORY

Police End Drive as Steinbrink Hires 20 Lawyers to Defend Private Chair Owners.

HE SEES "TRAIL OF GRAFT"

Many Who Come to Beach to Invite Arrest Are Disappointed When Patrolmen Look the Other Way.

The battle for freedom of the chair on the Coney Island beach assumed the appearance of a major political fight yesterday morning, when Meier Steinbrink, Republican leader of Brooklyn, announced that his organization had engaged twenty lawyers to fight the law forbidding the use of private chairs.

Two hours later the ancient ordinance was relegated back to its former obscurity, on hurried advices to Police Captain Gillen of the Coney Island police station from the Borough President's office and from the Brooklyn Chief Police Inspector. Peter A. Carey, acting for Borough President Hesterberg, announced that the campaign to enforce the ordinance had been abandoned until the Corporation Counsel had passed on its legality.

The announcement followed three days of city-wide agitation against the resurrected statute, inactive since it was adopted seven years ago, under which twenty-eight persons were arrested and hundreds driven off the beach for sitting on their own chairs.

Two Sentences Suspended.

Meanwhile in Coney Island court Magistrate Maguire suspended sentence on Mrs. Bertha Resnick and Isador Beninowitz, two of the four persons arrested Thursday for violating the ordinance. The other two, one of whom is Mrs. Helen McLaughlin, who says she is related to the former Police Commissioner, will be heard on next Tuesday.

Falsely elated by the numerous arrests, Coney Island concessionaires requested Captain Gillen to extend the chair ban to bathing suits as well, demanding the arrest of all bathers who fail to rent suits and lockers in the bath houses. Captain Gillen denied the request and later declined to give out the names of the complainants.

Interest in the anti-chair crusade continued high even after it ended. Most of Coney Island is now looking forward to Aug. 6, when twenty of the accused are to be tried before Magistrate Hershfield for violation of the ordinance.

The cancellation of the enforcement order appeared to disappoint many residents who brought their chairs down to the beach in the hope of winning a summons. They were thwarted from the start, the police affected a complete disdain of the violators even before the order to stop making arrests went out.

Another little-known ordinance came to light in court yesterday when Samuel Feinstein, 20 years old, of 1,839 Sixty-sixth Street, and Miss Beatrice Silverman, 18, of 1,503 Lincoln Place, were fined $5 each for embracing each other on the beach. A policeman found them on the beach Sunday morning, with Feinstein's arm around Miss Silverman's waist.

Lays Order to "Graft."

Mr. Steinbrink threw the might of the Republican party into the fight against the ordinance regarding chairs by announcing that his organization was prepared to defend violators in court without charge.

"The last fiasco on the beach at Coney Island is merely another instance which undoubtedly leads to a trail of graft," he said.

"The beach at Coney Island belongs to the people. The city undoubtedly has the right to prevent the erection of structures and other objectionable encroachments, but if the city authorities have the right to prevent people from sitting on their own chairs then they even have the right to prevent people from sitting on the beach without chairs.

"The Borough President is absolutely without power to turn over to a favored concessionaire the privilege of taxing people for sitting on chairs rented from him and preventing them from sitting on their own chairs.

"The whole thing is ridiculous. Once more one thinks there is something rotten in Denmark—and also in Brooklyn. This must stop. And the Republican party in Brooklyn will see to it that it is stopped promptly."

No official has come forward yet to admit issuing the enforcement order, and the origin of the order remained a mystery yesterday. It was revealed that the request came from the M. and C. Corporation, which controls the beach chair concession. The corporation threatened to hold up payment of the $21,000 annual payment unless the city restrained "bootleg" rivals who were cutting prices.

HELD UP FOUR TIMES, GROCER IS SHOT DEAD

Body Found by Customer—$20 Taken From Cash Register—Bullet Is Only Clue.

Fodis Georgeadis, 59 years old, of 273 West 117th Street, was shot and killed yesterday in his grocery store at 215 West 115th Street during the fourth visit to the place in ten months by hold-up men. The body was discovered by a customer shortly after 8 A. M. and the police were without a clue to the man's assailant, except for a .25 calibre bullet, which had entered the left eye and emerged at the rear of the head.

Detectives found no one in the five-story building who had heard a pistol shot. The body was lying on the floor in front of a refrigerator at the rear of the little store. There were no signs of a struggle. Georgeadis opened the place at 6 A. M. and was last seen alive an hour later.

Paul Georgeadis, one of five sons, who was in partnership with his father, said about $20 had been taken from the cash drawer. He also said his father was robbed first about ten months ago, when $60 was taken. Two months later he was robbed of $25. Georgeadis routed a Negro hold-up man about three weeks ago by brandishing a cheese knife, his son added. The grocer left a wife and two daughters besides his five sons.

Cost of Living Fell 2.8 Per Cent in Half Year, But Is Still Three-fourths Higher Than in 1914

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The cost of living in the United States decreased an average of 2.8 per cent in the six months period from December, 1929, to June, 1930, according to data collected by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor in its semi-annual survey in thirty-two cities, and made public today.

The decrease ranged from 0.6 to 4.9 per cent in the cities.

In New York City, the bureau said, living costs decreased 3 per cent from December, 1929, to June, 1930; 2.2 per cent from June, 1929, to June, 1930, and 21.7 per cent from June, 1920, to June, 1930, but increased 71.7 per cent from December, 1914, to June, 1930.

In New York City, from December, 1914, to June, 1930, food increased 43.7 per cent; clothing, 85.5 per cent; rent, 65.1 per cent; fuel, 85.7 per cent; house furnishings, 90.5 per cent, and miscellaneous, 123.3 per cent.

From June, 1929, to June, 1930, the average cost of living for the country as a whole decreased 2.1 per cent, while from the peak of prices in June, 1920, to June, 1930, the average decrease was 23.0 per cent. The June, 1930, cost-of-living index for the United States was 166.6, based on 1913 as 100.

Food prices show the greatest decrease of the six groups of items in the six-month period from December, 1929, to June, 1930, declining 6.4 per cent. The light and fuel decrease comes second, with a drop of 3.3 per cent. Rents decreased 1.5 per cent. Clothing and house furnishings each decreased 1.0 per cent, and miscellaneous items increased 0.3 per cent.

From December, 1929, to June, 1930, food and clothing prices decreased in all of the thirty-two cities. The decreases in food ranged from 3.4 to 8.6 per cent in the several cities. The decline in clothing prices ranged from 0.1 to 2.2 per cent.

Rents declined in thirty-one cities, the decreases ranging from 0.2 per cent to 8.8 per cent. A slight increase of 0.1 per cent was reported in only one city.

Light and fuel prices decreased in twenty-eight cities, the decreases ranging from 0.2 to 15.2 per cent. Increases were reported in four cities and ranged from 0.1 to 2.3 per cent.

House furnishings decreased in twenty-seven cities, the decreases ranging from 0.1 to 2.5 per cent. Four cities reported increases ranging from 0.1 to 1.6 per cent. No change was reported in one city.

Miscellaneous items increased in fifteen cities, these increases ranging from 0.1 to 5.0 per cent. Decreases in miscellaneous items in thirteen cities ranged from 0.1 to 1.8 per cent. No change occurred in this group in four cities.

DOOLITTLE RETURNS; GREETED BY WALKER

Army Reserve Flier Welcomed After Air Demonstrations in Twenty-one Countries.

SAYS WE LAG IN WAR CRAFT

But Our Commercial Planes Surpass Europe's, He Asserts—Mayor Defends City Airport Site.

Major James H. Doolittle, United States Army Air Corps Reserve, Schneider Cup winner and until his retirement from active service several months ago the army's leading experimental flier, returned from Europe yesterday aboard the Aquitania after flying 8,000 miles and demonstrating American military equipment before high air officers in twenty-one countries. With him were Captain John K. Cannon and Lieutenant James E. Parker of the Air Corps and Major Melvin A. Hall.

The fliers were met down the bay by members of the Mayor's Committee of Welcome, headed by Colonel Peter J. Brady, chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Aeronautics; representatives of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, including C. W. Webster and John S. Allard, president and general manager of the Curtiss-Wright Export Corporation, and others.

In the afternoon the fliers were received at City Hall by Mayor Walker and congratulated on the success of their mission. The Mayor emphasized particularly the work of Doolittle in scientific research, mentioning his blind flying work for the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

The Mayor contrasted his own unwillingness to go up in the air, except in a figurative sense, with the work of the aviators.

Speaking of the city's aeronautical plans, the Mayor replied to the objections of persons who said that airports such as Floyd Bennett Field on Jamaica Bay were too far from the centre of the city.

"In Europe these same persons are perfectly willing to travel an hour from the centre of London and Paris to Croydon and Le Bourget," he said, "but in New York they want to land in Times Square."

In discussing his trip Major Doolittle said that Europe would soon catch up and pass the United States in military equipment if we did not increase the speeds of our planes. Our commercial equipment, he said, was well ahead of the best flown in Europe.

"In a military sense they are moving faster because they have continued to support racing programs, from which their military equipment is developed. Here we stopped racing programs five years ago and since then have not advanced the speed of our military machines as we must if we are going to keep up."

In one feature, Major Doolittle said, he had surprised the European experts. In flying his Curtiss Hawk pursuit machine he would dive it straight down 6,000 feet and then pull out of the dive. The strength and manoeuvrability of the American machine surprised observers.

Heckschers Visit Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. August Heckscher visited the Heckscher camp at Adams Corners yesterday and were warmly welcomed by the 600 boy and girl vacation guests. Following a tour of inspection Mr. Heckscher expressed himself as well pleased with conditions in the camp.

HEARS PAY AGENCIES FILL HOSPITAL JOBS

Greeff Sifts Charge Workers Sent by Public Bureau Fail to Get Positions.

BANS PRIVATE CONCERNS

Prospects Sent by Them Lose Fees if They Are Rejected, Commissioner Asserts.

An investigation of some employes of the Department of Hospitals to determine whether persons applying for some of the minor jobs have been discriminated against in favor of those sent by a fee-collecting private employment agency is being made by Dr. J. G. William Greeff, Commissioner of Hospitals, it was learned yesterday. Late in the day Dr. Greeff issued an order forbidding the hiring of any help through the private employment agencies.

Dr. Greeff said yesterday that in spite of his order of April 14 that the free employment agency under the Department of Public Welfare alone be patronized for hospital help, information had reached him to the effect that some workers in the Department of Hospitals were deliberately favoring certain private employment agencies in hiring the minor employes.

He insisted that such a practice was pernicious, especially since many of the prospective employes who failed to get positions found that the employment agency refused to refund their fees.

"If there is an alliance between private employment agencies and those responsible for hiring Municipal Hospital help, we intend to break it up," Commissioner Greeff declared. "This has been my stand for some months past. What I said on April 14 about not patronizing private agencies I have reiterated this afternoon in an order which is being sent to all executives throughout the department. They will be held to strict accountability for its enforcement. Meanwhile an investigation, as a result of complaints received, will be continued from this office."

The order issued late yesterday by Dr. Greeff read:

"Ordered, that under no condition is any notice of the need of help to be filed with any private agency, nor shall any applicant from any such agency be considered for a position in any of our hospitals.

"Should a condition develop which might tend to make such action necessary, the proposed step must be submitted to the Commissioner of Hospitals for his approval. Furthermore, all appointments at any of the hospitals under the jurisdiction of his department must be made by the superintendent or his duly designated representative. The division heads in each hospital shall report all existing vacancies to the superintendent."

BABY PLUNGES FIVE STORIES

Hurt as Screen Gives Way—Girl, 3, Injured in Fall From Fire Escape.

Sherman Beretsky, 16 months old, leaned against a screen in a window of his parents' apartment on the fifth floor of 987 Union Avenue, the Bronx, yesterday morning, the screen gave way, and he fell to the rear yard, striking clotheslines on the way. The baby, suffering from internal injuries and a fracture of the right leg, was taken to Lincoln Hospital.

Mrs. Beretsky had left her son alone in the kitchen while she went into the dining room.

Betty Dantes, 3 years old, of 1,390 Amsterdam Avenue, fell from a third floor rear fire-escape at her home while playing there shortly before noon yesterday. At Knickerbocker Hospital it was said she might have a fractured skull. The child's mother, Mary Dantes, was working in the kitchen of the apartment at the time of the accident.

FEDERAL JOB COUNT CALLED INACCURATE

Miss Perkins Thinks 'Truer Survey' Would Show 8%, Not 3%, Unemployed in Brooklyn.

WANTS WORKERS AS BASIS

Ratio of Idle to Total Population Gives Wrong Picture, She Says—Finds Some Rules Absurd.

Challenging the basis and interpretation of the Federal Government's census of unemployment in Greater New York including that for Brooklyn made public yesterday, Miss Frances Perkins, State Industrial Commissioner, declared last night that "a more accurate count" would reveal a greater percentage of idleness than the Federal figures indicated.

Taking specific issue with the unemployment percentages offered by Leo V. Doherty, chief census supervisor for Brooklyn, based upon the entire Brooklyn population of 2,596,154 rather than upon the actual number of workers, Miss Perkins asserted that a "truer survey would reveal over 8 per cent of Brooklyn's working population to be unemployed, instead of only about 3 per cent as indicated by the census supervisors."

Reviews Brooklyn's Figures.

Mr. Doherty reported 81,265 idle in Brooklyn. Miss Perkins insisted that even if this figure were accurate it would have to be compared with approximately 1,000,000 wage earners in Brooklyn and not with the total 2,596,154 population there.

Last week census supervisors reported 86,403 idle in Manhattan and 46,115 in the Bronx when the census was taken last Spring.

Miss Perkins repeated last night her challenge that the Bureau of Census have the American Statistical Association compute the basis and to interpret the unemployment figures in the census. She said she had made her first request before the census was taken and she felt it was not too late to take the figures and re-examine them "in the light of a wiser basis."

"There has been much uneasiness among statisticians as to the validity of the census figures," Miss Perkins declared. "Census enumerators all over the country did not use a true basis for their figures. They were instructed not to include among the unemployed those who had been laid off with a promise of work in the future.

Calls Exclusion Absurd.

"Now, it is absurd to exclude such people from an unemployment count. They are actually out of employment and there is no way of getting around that fact. Then, if a man had been out of work for six months, but happened to have a day's work mending a furnace or raking up leaves, he also was considered to have employment. Nor did the census enumerators include people unable to work owing to illness or accident."

While she was unable to give unemployment figures for the five boroughs that would controvert those of the Federal census, Miss Perkins said that a study of applications at employment bureaus and at charitable institutions when the census was being taken gave an impression of greater unemployment than the census figures revealed.

She said the State Department of Labor had no figures other than its monthly report on factory employment within the State. These figures already published show a decline of 14 per cent in factory employment in the State since last October.

25,000 FOUND IDLE IN NEW YORK COUNTIES

Census Bureau Reports One in Every 35 Out of Work in New Jersey Cities.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—About 25,000 persons in fifteen New York counties, or one in forty of a total population slightly in excess of 1,000,000, were out of work when the 1930 census was taken, according to preliminary figures on unemployment made public today by the Census Bureau.

Similar returns for the 1930 census for ten cities and towns in three northern New Jersey Counties revealed an unemployment ratio of 1 in 35, ranging from 201 in Tenafly to 13,313 in Jersey City, the number of unemployed being 18,204 out of a total population of 637,020.

In New York, more than 5,000 persons were looking for work in Richmond County, as many in Oneida, nearly 4,000 in Niagara, and over 1,000 each in Broome, Genesee and Herkimer counties on the day preceding the call of the enumerator.

The preliminary returns of the New York counties follow:

County.	Population 1930 (Preliminary).	Number of Persons Without a Job.
Broome	146,965	1,826
Clinton	46,664	449
Columbia	41,680	560
Essex	33,931	418
Franklin	45,674	801
Genessee	44,463	1,704
Hamilton	3,927	66
Herkimer	63,909	1,709
Madison	29,783	596
Niagara	151,321	3,881
Oneida	198,602	5,431
Orleans	28,768	1,196
Richmond	157,253	5,074
Schuyler	12,903	163
Wyoming	28,734	860

The preliminary New Jersey report shows:

City and County.	Population, 1930 (Preliminary).	Number of Persons Without a Job.
Bergenfield, Bergen	8,805	206
East Rutherford, Bergen	6,176	225
Fort Less, Bergen	8,639	257
Harrison, Hudson	15,603	1,020
Jersey City, Hudson	315,642	13,313
Kearney, Hudson	40,720	13,313

Morristown, Morris	15,193	369
Tenafly, Bergen	5,634	201
Wallington, Bergen	9,057	396

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi experienced a growth in population for the last ten years twice as large numerically as that of the previous decade.

The population of the States and the percentage of increase for the two decades were:

State.	Population.	Inc. '20-30.	Inc. '10-20.
Kentucky	2,622,809	8.5	5.5
Tennessee	2,609,637*	11.1	7.0
Alabama	2,644,477	12.2	9.8
Mississippi	2,011,388	12.3	0.4*

Will Rogers Has an Idea On Embassy Liquor Bills

To the Editor of The New York Times:

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 25.—Well, the big news in the papers today was Congress appropriated some money for foreign embassies to entertain on, but for no liquid entertainment. Meat and bread and cigars up to 10 cents, and also flowers sent to dead countrymen, was allowable as a deduction, but if the Ambassador has a little extra "embassing" he wants to put over and decides the fermented grape will be an asset, he has to make out his monthly swindle sheet as follows: "Floral wreath sent to funeral of American who lost his life overestimating his capacity to celebrate the Fourth of July."

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

ALBERT COATES HERE TO LEAD AT STADIUM

Noted Anglo-Russian Conductor's New Symphony to Have World Premiere Aug. 8.

CHEATLE ALSO ON AQUITANIA

British Cancer Expert to Write Book With Dr. Cutler—J. T. McGovern Back From England.

Albert Coates, Anglo-Russian conductor, who will be guest leader of the New York Stadium concerts for three weeks, beginning Monday, arrived yesterday on the Cunard liner Aquitania. Mr. Coates came directly from his villa in Italy and brought the score of his new symphony, "Launcelot," based on a King Arthur legend, which will have its world première here on Aug. 8.

Since his last visit here, Mr. Coates has been directing the London Symphony Orchestra in London and on a tour of the British provinces and has given a series of guest performances at the State Opera in Berlin. He also presented his one-act opera "Samuel Pepys" at the Munich Opera House, with Hans Knappertsbusch conducting.

Plans Opera From "Hairy Ape."

Mr. Coates said he would write an opera based on Eugene O'Neill's play, "The Hairy Ape," using many jazz and modern themes. He said he had no idea when the opera would be ready because he would have to study the theme for several months before attempting a beginning.

"In composing music," he explained, "one cannot work as in a factory. The producing comes only after one has become the thing itself. I will have to live the "Hairy Ape" for perhaps a year before I'll be competent to write music which will be comparable to the text."

Speaking of modern opera, he said he was still discouraged about English appreciation of the opera.

"There are no better audiences for the opera than the English, but they have a wrong idea about opera," he said. "They think that one has to have a certain training for it, just as the idea exists that Shakespeare has to be read with the aid of a professor and footnotes.

"The truth is, any music that is so complicated that it has to be explained can't be enduring music. There's something wrong with it. This explains why men like Straus and Stravinsky are turning from the modernistic school and adopting again the classic and the romantic in style and treatment of themes."

Also on the Aquitania was Sir George Lenthal Cheatle, famous British surgeon and cancer expert, who will collaborate with Dr. Max Cutler of the radiological department of New York City hospitals in a book on certain phases of cancer control.

Doubts Value of Cell Isolation.

Asked if the isolation of the cancer cell by Dr. Francis Carter Wood of Croker Institute was regarded in England as a step forward in the study of cancer, Dr. Cheatle said he did not see that very much was gained by this type of research.

"We know no more of the cause of cancer than when we first took it into account," he added. "One thing definitely we do know, and that is that one human being out of every eight will, in the course of a lifetime, be marked out by cancer.

"And when humanity is aroused to the full realization of these facts, there should be no lack of support to study it and attempt to discover means of combating it."

Another passenger on the liner was Sir William Henry Beveridge, director of the School of Economics and Political Science of London University. Sir William is making a tour of the world, going to the Orient via California. He plans to stop at Pasadena to study some early British manuscripts in the Huntington Library.

John T. McGovern, a member of the consulting staff of the Carnegie Foundation dealing with athletics, returned from England, where he attended the track meet of the Princeton-Cornell and Cambridge-Oxford teams. Next year, he said, Yale and Princeton would send teams to compete with the British athletes.

The Acquitania brought 302 first class passengers, 191 in second class, 272 in tourist and 173 in third.

FACES SECOND GEM CHARGE.

Rosen, Seized in $250,000 Jewelry Raid, Now Held for Possession.

Jacob Rosen, 38 years old, of 218 West 118th Street, who, with three other men and a woman, was arrested in a room in the Hotel Commodore last May when police seized about $250,000 in jewelry suspected of being the proceeds of robberies in various parts of the country, pleaded not guilty before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions yesterday to a new indictment charging him with having stolen property in his possession at the time of the raid.

Jewelry valued at $38,000, which had been stolen in New Jersey, was used as the basis of the indictment, which was sealed. It was reported that the jewelry was the property of Mrs. Verna Pearson of Margate, N. J., whose home was robbed about six months ago. Robert Nelson, in whose safe deposit boxes in this city about $500,000 in jewelry was uncovered on his arrest on the day following the raid, also was named in the new indictment with three others whose names were withheld.

Rosen had been released in $25,000 bail last May.

At the request of his attorney Judge Rosalsky released Rosen on the second indictment under the bail furnished in the first case.

CRIME BOARD SEEKS HELP OF THE PRESS

Plans to Meet Publishers in Fall in Move to Tell Public of Its Preventive Work.

FINDS PENALTIES STRESSED

Baumes Wants 'Humanitarian' Side, Including the Parole Measures, Emphasized.

WIDE MISCONCEPTION SEEN

Senator Says Life Term Law Will Not Be Changed—Commission Drafts Future Program.

A conference with newspaper owners and publishers in September is planned by the New York State Crime Commission in an effort to create "an enlightened public opinion" on the commission's crime prevention work and the measures to rehabilitate prisoners and to dissipate the "misconception" that the work of the commission is concerned only with "drastic life sentences."

The commission met yesterday in executive session at the Bar Association Building to discuss its future program. Afterward Senator Caleb H. Baumes, the chairman, and other members declared that newspapers had overemphasized the punitive legislation passed on the recommendations of the commission, while 75 per cent of the commission's work was concerned with the causes of crime, crime prevention and rehabilitation of prisoners.

The conference with newspaper owners and publishers here, Mr. Baumes said, may be followed by other conferences with publishers in Buffalo or Rochester. A digest of the commission's accomplishments will be presented at the meetings and the welfare program of the body will be stressed.

Members of the commission agreed that the belief was common that all the commission had accomplished was the enactment of "hard and fast" laws demanding life sentences for fourth offenders.

The new parole board was cited particularly as a measure for which the commission was responsible. Studies of crime causes, delinquency, individual treatment, psychiatric clinics, the development of prison facilities and other measures were pointed out as direct results of the commission's work.

Asked if the commission were considering revising the fourth offender clause, Mr. Baumes declared that the law would not be changed "by a single word or comma." He explained that, under the new parole board, a life prisoner whose sentence was commuted by the Governor, would remain forever under the regulations of the board, unless the Governor issued a pardon.

William Lewis Butcher, a member of the commission, declared that three years ago the commission had predicted the recent prison riots, but that there had been no demand on the part of the public to improve conditions in the prisons or provide means to prevent outbreaks. He said a more comprehensive understanding of prison conditions was needed.

Senator Baumes said that newspapers should cease to stress the penalties that were written into law through the commission, and point out the "humanitarian" measures it has dealt with in its work. In the past five years, he said, fewer than 200 of the 10,000 prisoners in State institutions were serving life sentences imposed under the fourth offender act.

Others present at the commission's meeting were Assemblyman Burton D. Esmond of Ballston Spa, vice chairman; Herbert L. Smith, secretary; Thomas S. Rice, James T. Foody of Hornell and Martin T. Weyrauch. Mr. Foody and Mr. Weyrauch are new members filling the places of two members who died since the last meeting.

3 KANSAS CITY BANDITS HANGED AT ONE TIME

Killers Who Fired Into Republican Convention Crowd Silent to the End.

KANSAS CITY, July 25 (AP).—Three bank robbers who sprayed bullets into a Republican convention crowd in a downtown street two years ago were hanged simultaneously today for the murder of James H. Smith, a traffic policeman, the victim of their fire. One trap was sprung for the three.

They were Tony Mangiaracina, Carl Nasello, machine gunner for the gang, and John Messino, driver of the bandit car.

The bandits stood erect as the nooses were adjusted. They declared they had no statement to make. Prior to their entry into the death chamber they reiterated declarations of innocence. Among the 200 witnesses to the execution was the father of the slain policeman.

COL. KUNDT FLEES BOLIVIA.

Chief of Staff to Ex-President Leaves Under Peruvian Protection.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 25 (AP).—Colonel Hans Kundt, German Chief of Staff to ex-President Siles, was reported to have left Bolivia last night under the protection of members of the Peruvian legation here.

His departure became known when several police officers expressed their desire to resign because they disapproved of the departure of Colonel Kundt and of Colonel David Toro, a member of the Siles Cabinet, who departed with the German soldier.

Ten Fliers Join Los Angeles Police.

LOS ANGELES, July 25 (AP).—Ten Southern California aviators were officially sworn into service yesterday as an emergency aeronautical department of the Los Angeles police. The fliers are Art Goebel, Roscoe Turner, George Noville, Walso Waterman, Dick Barnitz, Bud Campbell, Tommy Thomas, Paul Richter, Woodruff De Silva and Jack Caris. Private planes have been offered for pursuit of criminals.

TICKET CHIEF CALLS WHITE CHARGE SILLY

H. D. Savage Assails Blacklist Accusation and Invites Producer to Join League.

BOTH SEE THEATRE RACKET

But Differ on Remedies—Aide of State Attorney General Seeks Data on New Organization.

Broadway's current "battle of the century" over the League of New York Theatres and its attempts to curb speculation in theatre tickets continued desultorily through yesterday's Time Square heat with George White again leading the attack on the league.

The downtown front, at the office of Attorney General Hamilton Ward, was temporarily quiet. Mr. Ward did not arrive in New York yesterday, as expected. It was said that he would be here this morning to discuss with Bernard H. Sandler and William R. Wilcox the complaint of Mr. Sandler, filed recently in Albany, that the league was a monopoly in restraint of trade and was driving twenty-three non-accredited theatre ticket brokers out of business.

A representative of the Attorney General's office did, however, call on Harlow D. Savage, executive secretary of the league, yesterday afternoon. According to Mr. Savage he wanted to get some information about the background of the league and its organization.

Mr. Savage gave out yesterday his reply to George White's letter of Thursday, which charged the league's ticket attitude was in reality a "blacklist and conspiracy." The letter also hinted at legal action, asserting that certain of the league's ticket brokers are not permitted to sell seats to Mr. White's "Flying High," while others are handling them because, it is reported, of a renewal clause in their original agreements for a "buy."

Questions Producer's Sincerity.

In his reply, Mr. Savage said that Mr. White had ignored his requests for an appointment to talk about the league. He asserted that if Mr. White were sincere in his desire to get his tickets to the public, he would call off his present "buy" and join the league, whose aims were set forth.

Mr. Savage's letter continued:

"Inasmuch as I am still hoping I may have the pleasure of presenting your application for membership in the league to the board, I feel that your implication of unfairness is insincere and your accusation of an attempt at blacklisting is rather silly.

"Forget it, oldtimer, and come along and help us clean up this rotten situation which has made ticket distribution a 'racket.' You will take great pride later in having helped in a work which will be of great benefit to the public and the theatre as a whole, and they both have been extremely good to you."

Without mentioning Mr. Savage's letter, Mr. White later in the day fired another broadside at the league, in which he, too, admitted that ticket speculation was a "racket," and said that he would offer no excuses for the methods he had used in conducting his own business in the past. Mr. White asserted that when he entered the field as a producing manager in 1918 the managers had already driven away the public from the box offices, and that, since he was a novice, he had conducted his business along established lines.

Rules Out Speculators.

The substance of Mr. White's statement was that from now on he was going to try to stop producing managers from doing business with the speculators altogether and from recognizing ticket speculation as legitimate business. The managers' only salvation, he insisted, was to place all tickets on sale where he said they belonged—at the box offices.

Mr. White's statement further protested against the league plan, charging that one ticket agency was seeking a monopoly on all tickets sold on Broadway, and said that an investigation among the brokers accredited by the league would reveal the truth of this assertion.

Mr. White concluded his attack by saying that he was ready to sign any agreement calling for the protection of the theatregoing public.

Mr. Savage said yesterday that the league's campaign against "diggers" and sidewalk speculators had resulted in the arrest of one of them Wednesday night in front of the New Amsterdam Theatre. He also admitted that a movement was on foot in the league to organize into an auxiliary body the producers who cannot now become members of the league unless they also own or control theatres.

FRANCE HONORS W. C. KORN.

Theodore Rousseau of Guaranty Trust Also Is Decorated.

Walter C. Korn of 271 Central Park West, a director of Montefiore Hospital, received yesterday morning the purple ribbon and citation of an officer of the French Academy by Maxime Mongendre, Consul General of France at New York. The ceremony took place at the French Consulate General, 9 East Fortieth Street.

Mr. Korn received the decoration for his work for physical education in France. It is the fourth French honor he has received for his efforts in this direction.

Theodore Rousseau, assistant manager of the Guaranty Trust Company's Paris office and former secretary to the late Mayor John Purroy Mitchel, also has been decorated. The Legion of Honor has been bestowed on him, according to a cablegram received yesterday from Paris by the Guaranty Trust Company. Mr. Rousseau is president of the American Club in Paris.

Quit Westchester Camp Today.

The Westchester County Recreation Commission announced yesterday that the 200 girls from that county attending the commission's camp at Croton Point would leave for home today. Yesterday they gave a pageant in which all participated. On Monday the camp will be occupied by boys, who will remain for four weeks. The camp work is directed by Miss Louise P. Blackham and Thomas E. Connolly.

BRITON HERE TO SCAN TELEVISION PROGRESS

A. Dinsdale Predicts Success of New Broadcasting Device Called Revolutionary.

A world-wide survey of television development is being made by A. Dinsdale of London, who arrived in New York yesterday to undertake a tour of the laboratories of this country which are engaged in this type of work. For the last few years Mr. Dinsdale has been the editor of Television, a magazine devoted to that branch of science. He regards television, as seen in England and on the Continent, to be "nowhere near the commercial stage as an entertainment feature."

In England Mr. Dinsdale was associated with Dr. James Robinson, former chief of the radio and research department of the British Air Ministry, inventor of a revolutionary system of reception which is expected to make it possible to have 100 times as many broadcasting stations on the air as at present. This device, called the "stenode radiostat," which Sir Ambrose Fleming, noted British scientist, has called one of the greatest inventions since the vacuum tube, is capable of receiving a complete musical program without impairing its quality when adjusted to admit a portion of the broadcast wave only 100 cycles wide, Mr. Dinsdale said. Compared with this, the ordinary broadcast receiver must be supplied with the entire broadcast wave of 10,000 cycles if all the musical quality is to be retained and heard.

"Scientists in Great Britain are coming around to the theory of Dr. Robinson," said Mr. Dinsdale, "and I predict that before long the world will recognize the importance of the Robinson invention. At present a majority of the world's engineers and thinkers appear doubtful of its worth or openly scoff at the idea. Having worked with the Robinson receiver for some time, I have no hesitancy in predicting that it will, when released for general use, revolutionize all branches of the electrical industry."

The Robinson invention is said to be an entirely new "window" through which man will eventually be able to peer into the unknown structure of an electro-magnetic wave in space. Many engineers contend that the ordinary radio set from the beginning of broadcasting history has been giving investigators an altogether false picture of what comprises a space wave of electrical energy in the hypothetical medium commonly called the "ether." Many other radio engineers believe a wave of radio telephony requires a definite roadway or trace through the so-called ether and that a receiver of Dr. Robinson's type cannot solve the problem of man's increasing wants in the useful radio wave spectrum.

The controversy is said to have reached considerable proportions in England.

MEXICAN JURIST URGES MONROE DOCTRINE END

Urbina of Supreme Court Tells American Teachers Its Usefulness Has Ended.

MEXICO CITY, July 25 (AP).—The discarding of the Monroe Doctrine by the United States for the betterment of relations with Latin America, especially Mexico, was counseled today by Salvador Urbina, Justice of the Mexican Supreme Court, in a speech to the Fifth Annual Seminar in Mexico.

He told a large group of American students and observers that the purposes of the doctrine were fulfilled long ago. Since then, he asserted, it has been used merely as a political instrument by American Governments.

"For Mexico the Monroe Doctrine does not exist," he said, describing it as an infantile theory used to conceal American imperialist policies in Latin America.

He said it constituted an offense to the nations of America, and that as long as it was used in the present way good understanding between the Northern Republic and the rest of the Americas would be postponed.

Apart from the Monroe Doctrine, Señor Urbina found obstacles to good relations between Mexico and the United States in the racial prejudice of Americans against Mexicans and the resentment of Mexicans toward the Americans in the belief that they were exploiters and territorial thieves.

EYE OPERATION WINS PRAISE.

Navy Surgeon Saves Life and Sight of Nicaraguan Guardsman.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MANAGUA, July 25.—Lieut. Commander Julius F. Neuberger, for five years chief surgeon in the eye, ear, nose and throat department of the United States Navy Hospital in New York, has won high praise here for a difficult operation on the eyes of a Nicaraguan National Guardsman who was wounded recently in a fight with bandits in Nueva Segovia.

A .45-calibre bullet passed through the sphenoid sinus, destroying the right eye and lodging in the socket of the left eye. The guardsman traveled a whole day on horseback, was picked up by a Marine Corps plane and arrived at Managua by air four days after receiving the wound. National Guard doctors predicted certain death.

Dr. Neuberger, whose work is connected with the Marine Corps aviation unit in Nicaragua, was called into consultation. He immediately operated, cleaning out the right eye socket and drilling through the skull to remove the bullet.

The patient's life was not only saved but he regained his sight in his left eye. The operation is considered remarkable in medical circles here.

DENIES PICKING McMAHON.

Roosevelt Says He Has Not Decided on New Insurance Head.

Governor Roosevelt, reached by telephone last night at Hyde Park, N. Y., denied a report that he had decided to select Edward Ward McMahon, lawyer, trustee of the Brooklyn Public Library and member of the Commission on Uniform Laws of the State of New York, for the post of State Superintendent of Insurance, to succeed Albert Conway.

In saying that this was "not so," Governor Roosevelt added that he would not make any announcement on the appointment for a week or ten days. He declined to say whether or not he was considering Mr. McMahon for the post.

Mr. McMahon, whose city residence is at 438 Grand Avenue, Brooklyn, was reached at his Summer home in Port Jefferson, L. I. He said he had not heard anything on the subject.

TOSCANINI HAILED AS WAGNERIAN AIDE

Sanity and Sustained Power of His Interpretations in 'Triston' Are Impressive.

HIS DIMINUENDOS PRAISED

His Conducting of Two Operas Held to Have Made Distinguished Contribution to Baireuth Art.

By H. C. COLLES.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BAIREUTH, Germany, July 25.—Arturo Toscanini now has appeared as conductor of two operas, "Tannhaeuser" and "Tristan and Isolde," which have been entrusted to his care in this Wagner festival. It is agreed that in both cases he has made a splendid contribution to the reputation of the Festspielhaus as the home of the most authoritative interpretations of Wagner.

One came away from "Tristan" on Wednesday night with an overwhelming sense of sustained power supplementing the interpretation, especially as regards the orchestral texture. "Tristan and Isolde" in the hands of a fiercely temperamental conductor, bent on forcing every climax to the verge of insanity, can be intolerable. In this performance it was the sanity of a beauty that never cloyed, though it made utmost demands on the endurance of the performers and listeners alike, which created an abiding impression.

The crescendos of the prelude, of the love duet, of Tristan longing for the light of Isolde's coming are matters all understand and many achieve perfectly. But it is not so with the diminuendos. These were exceptionally finely handled by Toscanini, whether in the finishing of a tiny phrase on a single wind instrument or in the larger issues. By such means does Toscanini produce that sense of balance which saves sanity.

The art of the orchestra was so complete that one was sometimes tempted to wish the singers away. The principal singers, Lauritz Melchior as Tristan and Nanny Larsen-Todsen as Isolde, had nothing like the suppleness of the instrumentalists. One had the impression that they were sometimes irked by having to submit to the discipline of slowly drawn out phrases, requiring almost superhuman control of the voice. Nevertheless, Melchior's Tristan is a man, and how few Tristans are that.

It is easier to fill the smaller parts ideally and Anny Helm as Brangaene and Herr Boeckelmann as Kurwenal both did fine work. Alexander Kipnis's sonorous bass gave the needed sombre quality to the utterances of King Mark, making the part sound like something alien and aloof to the real life of the protagonists.

The stage production repeats that of three years ago. In it the second act, where the light is subdued and the coming dawn is delicately hinted, makes a peculiarly subtle picture shading into the music.

HUNGARIAN MUSIC GIVEN AT LEWISOHN STADIUM

Kodaly's Suite from 'Hary Janos' Makes Use of Cembalom, a National Instrument.

The mythical adventures of a Hungarian peasant who imagines himself to be a great hero were interpreted in music last night at Lewisohn Stadium of City College by the Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, Willem van Hoogstraten conducting. The selection was Kodaly's suite from "Háry János," based on a figure of Hungarian folk-lore. It begins with an orchestral sneeze by all the instruments and proceeds to relate the imaginary exploits of the hero.

The performance involved the use of the cembalom, the ancient Hungarian national instrument, which is one of the forerunners of the piano. It was played last night by Professor L. Kun of this city and made a quaint effect in contrast to the modern orchestral instruments. The compositions of Kodaly are virtually the only symphonic works that call for the use of the instrument.

The program also included a spirited performance of Rossini's overture to "William Tell," Smetana's symphonic poem "The Moldau," Beethoven's Eighth Symphony and Wagner's overture to "Tannhäuser."

The concert announced for tonight consists of Mendelssohn's overture to "Fingal's Cave," Franck's symphony in D minor, four Caucasian sketches by Ippolitoff-Ivanoff, Handel's largo, Chabrier's rhapsody, "España," and Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture."

PRESENT NINTH SYMPHONY.

Philadelphia Orchestra and Chorus Give Beethoven Work.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Alexander Smallens and aided by a special chorus of 150 voices recruited from the Mendelssohn Club, the Matinee Musical Club, the former Civic Opera Company and other sources, presented Beethoven's Ninth Symphony tonight in the open-air stadium at Robin Hood Dell, Fairmount Park, before an audience of nearly 9,000 persons.

The four soloists were Amy Evans, soprano; Dorothea Flexer, contralto; Dan Gridley, tenor, and Fraser Gange, bass-baritone. This part of the program was preceded by the playing of the First Symphony.

"The presentation of the Beethoven Ninth was unquestionably the most brilliant achievement thus far in the Summer symphony series of the Philadelphia Orchestra," said the critic of the Philadelphia Inquirer. "Every feature of the concert was carried off most auspiciously and with conspicuous artistic and popular success. Mr. Smallens was repeatedly recalled as a tribute to the triumphant conclusion of so monumental an undertaking, and cheering mingled with the applause."

CITY BREVITIES.

The report of Superintendent William J. O'Shea on his investigation into charges that irregularities and "official coercion" occurred during the school pension election campaign last Spring was completed yesterday and will be presented to George J. Ryan, president of the Board of Education, on Monday.

Victor Garcia, 26 years old, of 537 West 124th Street, a mechanic employed in the I. R. T. carbarn at Ninety-ninth Street and Lexington Avenue, lost his right arm while at work yesterday when the member was caught in the cogs of a drill.

THE SCREEN

Home Town Boy Succeeds.

THE SAP FROM SYRACUSE with Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers, Granville Bates, George Barbier, Sidney Riggs, Betty Starbuck, Veree Teasdale, J. Malcolm Dunn, Bernard Jukes, Walter Fenner and Jack Daley; news reel and a stage production. At the Paramount.

This particular bit of modern history, which tells what happens to up-State residents who come into money, is designed only for the followers of the playful Mr. Oakie. An earnest soul with a supercilious (or, perhaps, even particular) desire for whimsy will note of the Paramount only that it is cool. But of yesterday's children of mirth there seemed many who were in—or of—the school mentioned next above. And they liked "The Sap from Syracuse."

Since he first appeared to the public taste not so long ago, the actor in question has been the subject of many commentators. He has been called both on and down—with variations to the infinite. And all that has been said of Mr. Oakie in person can be said of his latest screen appearance. For he is "The Sap from Syracuse"; it stands or falls on his activities therein. Without much story, with slow action on top of that, it is—Jack Oakie.

Perhaps that is a little unfair to the leading lady. There is one, for even a crane driver with Napoleonic ambitions far beyond the elms of East Genesee Street, must have one. In the current matter that part is taken by Ginger Rogers—also a recently late arrival on the screen. She is pretty and does very well by things as they are, even to sitting in a lifeboat and listening to Mr. Oakie sing that he wishes he could "sing a love song." There should also be a bow to the other members of the supporting cast.

The story is of Syracuse's famous son, Littleton Looney, who when he isn't a crane driver spends his time as the victim of practical jokes. From being a shovel engineer he is suddenly launched as the engineer of "the new Erie Canal." Friends do this, and an $18,000 legacy, and try as he may, "the sap" can make no one believe he is not something almost spectacularly civil. Why, at some time in his life, he wasn't a railroad engineer is not clear, Syracuse being what it is.

At all events, while on the ship headed for Napoleon's estimable country, the newly golf trousered Looney meets Ellen Saunders. She has a mine in Macedonia somewhere and is pursued by temperamental villains who wish to get it away from her. There is also a Senator on board—a gentleman who ultimately bears watching — and two young ladies who talk about a thing called "it" and another named "digging." They aren't miners, however, save by pun.

It all ends happily in Macedonia—somewhere—when "the sap" accidentally hits on a method of saving the mine. Just before that the two other girls went off in a car with a couple of pashas; and just after the Senator is revealed as the engineer who really dug the second Erie Canal. The last scene shows the young man, dressed in a toga more reminiscent of Syracuse, B. C., than of Syracuse, N. Y., driving a crane as in the old days.

The stage show is something called "Noah's Lark," which has groups of singers and dancers and a horse named Pansy. The orchestra plays, and so does Jesse Crawford.

A Gentleman Crook.

GOOD INTENTIONS, with Edmund Lowe, Marguerite Churchill, Regis Toomey, Earle Foxe, Eddie Gribbon, Robert McWade, Georgia Caine, Owen Davis Jr., Pat Somerset, J. Carol Naish, Henry Kolker and Hale Hamilton; news reel and a stage production. At the Roxy.

Good intentions, like the paths of glory, lead, these mad days, only to the grave. But with a difference, however, for the more modern slayings take place in and near the back rooms of cabarets. They are preceded by arguments between gangsters and others—less diffident—and they are followed by the moans of the butlers to the dead. Perhaps the Greek chorus is coming back; a chorus in the uniform of the Admirable Crichton.

At all events, the ending of the Roxy's present warlike tenant is like that. But with a difference again. For the theme which has been shown so often as to become practically memorized is, in "Good Intentions," almost a novelty. This with a bow to the acting, the direction and the dialogue that is parallel to both. For once the noble gangster seems almost real, and the picture in which he makes an appearance provides good entertainment.

"Good Intentions" is a follower of the school of thought that in the old days bore the name of melodrama. There is a gun duel as its climax; and whenever the gentlemen of the jewel-stealing arts and crafts meet one another they wistfully keep their hands in their pockets. Gangsters can be trusted just so far—even on the screen—and it is wise to hold to the bulky pistol.

Edmund Lowe, who will be remembered as the late Sergeant Quirt of "What Price Glory" and its rowdy sequel, appears on this occasion as David Cresson. This gentleman is a person of wealth, apparent importance and is a mystery to none but the four members of his own gang. They feel that he is double-crossing them; just why they do not know.

Then comes the day when the leader talks to his girl as soft music plays, and after that goes to a bank while his quartet pulls a small robbery. And in the evening the girl visits a cabaret with a young polo player—and the four rob her on the way home. The entire situation is discovered when the polo player calls on Cresson and they are held up by a former disgruntled member of the group.

As the young man obviously knows too much, the four decide to remove the danger. They capture him, and take him to the back room of the cabaret. Cresson finds out about it and goes to the rescue. In the course of the affair—which ends successfully—he is shot. The young man gets away and the leader of the remaining members of the band—who had broken with Cresson—is also killed.

Mr. Lowe has a good manner for this particular rôle, although similarities between it and Ronald Colman's might be traced without great difficulty. Essentially a picture about men, "Good Intentions" rather tends to crowd Marguerite Churchill (as Helen Rankin) out. Regis Toomey takes the part of the young man, and among the members of the gang is Bud Finney—a rôle played by Owen Davis Jr., the son of the playwright.

On the stage is a colorful affair called "Prairie Echoes" in which various persons and organizations are cowboys and cowgirls. David W. Guion is at the piano, and other participants are Lew Fink, Jack Harwood, Harold Van Duzee, John Gurney and the Roxyettes. There is also a radio skit with Raymond Knight.

"GOLDEN DAWN" IN COLORS.

Musical Talkie at Strand Features Vivienne Segal and East Africa.

GOLDEN DAWN, with Vivienne Segal, Walter Woolf, Noah Beery, Alice Gentle, Lupino Lane, Marion Byron, Lee Moran and others, directed by Ray Enright; program of Vitaphone Varieties and newsreel. At the Warners' Strand.

A film concerning British East Africa in the World War occupies the screen of the Strand this week with technicolor playing as many tricks as the characters. Sometimes the black natives are washed in pink and at other times a healthy girl suddenly pales, not because of the advances of the villain or the cumbrous dialogue, but because of the fickle color lenses.

This musical offering is an adaptation of the Hammerstein-Harbach operetta which was presented here in 1927 and only seems to prove that a tuneful piece of this type, while it is acceptable in a flesh and blood portrayal, is less effective on the screen, being a hybrid of pasteboard realism and a romantic musical background that do not seem to dovetail.

The story concerns the British section of Africa which has been captured by the Germans. The natives are threatening an uprising and both the British prisoners and their captors unite to keep them down. A young Englishman falls in love with a native girl, Dawn, who is later proved white, and the villain, a cross between an ape and a nightmare, tries to keep them apart. The British recapture the territory and the hero takes the girl after several fights.

Vivienne Segal as Dawn sings well and looks well as does Walter Woolf as Allan, the Englishman. Noah Beery, who chants in a deep bass voice and frightens the children into rapid retirement by simply putting in an appearance, speaks his lines with a Southern darkey accent, probably utterly foreign to East Africa. The direction of his part is crude and slipshod and in a close-up of his ignoble self singing a song about his trusty whip the spectator is allowed to see where the brown paint, that otherwise makes him a native, has rubbed off and left his white skin exposed.

There is a musical accompaniment for nearly all of the speeches which grows tiresome after a bit. And an enormous chorus of dusky belles dance like a Rasch ensemble before the moon god.

LOUIS MANN IN NEW FILM.

"Sins of the Children" at Capitol Piles Grief on Grief.

SINS OF THE CHILDREN, with Louis Mann, Robert Montgomery, Elliott Nugent, Leila Hyams, Clara Blandick, Mary Doran, Francis X. Bushman Jr.; directed by Sam Wood from a story by Elliott and J. C. Nugent; "Laurel and Hardy Murder Case"; overture, "Midsummer Night Sketches"; "Under Sea Ballet" on the stage with Raye, Ellis and La Rue. At the Capitol.

A monument of patience is Louis Mann as Adolf Wagenkampf, the tolerant old barber of "Sins of the Children," at the Capitol. His vehicle is equally notable for its sentiment, which at times is perilously near to bathos.

It is one thing for this old German to make a sacrifice or so for his children and to forfeit his financial future to send a son to Arizona to be cured of tuberculosis, but when mishaps descend upon that old gray head in unrelenting fashion, it is not so much sympathy as scorn for his basic weaknesses that is elicited.

Inspired by his love for his children, Adolf is frustrated at every step of his unhappy life. His youngest son is short in his collection accounts and the older man puts up real estate as collateral. Then the eldest son comes home from college with his name changed, Americanized that is, from Ludwig Wagenkampf to Lawrence Warren. He then marries a girl outside the family pale, after his father has mortgaged his barber shop to establish the son in an office.

The daughter, Alma, becomes involved with a rich man's son, and it is not until old Adolf has poured out his troubled soul to the rich man who was once his dear friend that the son is persuaded to redeem the situation.

Up to this point the story is ingeniously worked out. There are a few sentimental touches now and then. It is almost possible to consider Mr. Mann's characterization a believable one, the cast a well chosen lot whose little foibles cause its screen father no end of consternation, and let it go at that. But Johnny had to come home.

Johnny is the youngster who defaulted on his collections and who subsequently went to Pittsburgh to make his fortune. His return on Christmas Eve at the moment when the awful Sheriff is closing up the old shop and all the children have deserted their parents marks the end of all domestic writhing. For this young Alger hero, with an invention for lathering soap, has made enough money to pay off the mortgages, come back with his pockets loaded with bills, marry the manicurist and effect a reunion of all the children.

Warners to Show 48 Fox Films.

Warner Brothers' circuit of theatres yesterday contracted to play forty-eight Fox pictures in their various houses in the coming year, the Fox organization announced yesterday. According to J. R. Grainger, vice president in charge of distribution, who negotiated the deal with Warners, the rental of the films will be something like $3,000,000. The contract will allow the showing of the Fox pictures in 133 cities of ten States and the District of Columbia. The new year for the organization will begin on Aug. 17. On June 18 Fox pictures were acquired by 1,031 Publix Theatres, located in thirty-two States.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Two revues and a comedy will be withdrawn from the Broadway theatres tonight. The three productions are "Who Cares," "Artists and Models" and "Lost Sheep." To the eleven continuing attractions one new show will be added on Monday—that the Walter Woolf-Violet Heming vehicle, "Ladies All."

The cast of Marya Mannes's play, "Cafe," now in rehearsal, includes Rollo Peters, Georgie Caine, Philip Leigh, Frances Fuller, King Calder, Jeanne Shelby and Jeanette Delys. The Brady office will give the play a tryout in Asbury Park on Aug. 11.

Charles Hopkins now plans to open Benn W. Levy's play, "Mrs. Moonlight," with Edith Barrett, Guy Standing and Haidee Wright heading the cast, at his theatre on Sept. 29. The opening date first announced was Sept. 22.

Betty Gallagher and Douglas Dumbrille have been added to the cast of "Princess Charming," the operetta which Connolly and Swanstrom are preparing.

MRS. ALICE GRANTHAM TO MARRY A BARON

Philadelphia Woman to Wed Lage F. W. Stael von Holstein, Swedish Jurist and Publicist.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Mrs. Alice Dillenbeck Grantham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dillenbeck of Chestnut Hill, will be married to Baron Lage F. W. Stael von Holstein, a prominent Swedish jurist and publicist, within a few weeks, it was announced today by the bride-elect's parents. The wedding is to take place in Stockholm, where Mrs. Grantham has lived since she divorced her first husband, Leslie B. Grantham of Chestnut Hill in 1925.

Mrs. Grantham has been visiting with her parents for three weeks, and Baron von Holstein also has been in the country recently, having returned to Sweden on Wednesday. A member of a distinguished Swedish family, he holds degrees from the universities of Grenoble, France, and of Upsala, Sweden, and is a member of the International Diplomatic Academy of Paris and of the Institute of Comparative Law in Brussels. He has published several books and treaties on international law and has edited rules of international law for Sweden, with memoranda about the Aland Islands and Spitzbergen. In behalf of the German Government he surveyed the legal situation of the Germans in Poland and the subject of territorial waters between Germany and Sweden.

Mrs. Grantham, who has a son, Leslie Grantham Jr., is identified prominently with the affairs of American women in Sweden, being president of the American Red Cross in that country and an officer of the American Women's Club of Stockholm. She has contributed to French and American publications. Mrs. Grantham first went to Sweden about seven years ago with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sayre, daughter and son-in-law of President Wilson, and returned there to reside after obtaining her divorce.

REGATTA ATTRACTS NEWPORT SOCIETY

Estates on Harbor Front Are Ope ned for Guests to View Motor Boat Races.

POLO SEASON BEGINS TODAY

Mrs. Moses Taylor Donates Prizes for First Game Between Buffalo and Westchester.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—The Summer colony gathered today along the southern harbor front to watch the races in the opening day of the fourth annual regatta of the Narragansett Bay Motor Boat Regatta Association, of which William H. Vanderbilt is now president.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Eppley opened their estate, Beacon Rock, which looks down on the Brenton Cove end of the course, to the public to view the races and many persons took advantage of the offer.

Other estates which were opened included Pen Crag, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster; Bonnie Crest, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan, and Harbour Court, the home of Mrs. Nicholas Brown.

The Ida Lewis Yacht Club, of which Arthur Curtiss James is commodore, was the regatta headquarters, and the old lighthouse, now made over into a clubhouse, was the centre of activity during the day. Fort Adams, too, also offered a fine vantage point for the regatta.

Tennis Matches Arranged.

Sixteen pairs have entered for the mixed doubles tennis tournament to be played on the Casino Courts tomorrow. The latest to enter were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Whitridge, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop W. Aldrich, Miss Barbara Bingham and Reginald Kazanjian, Mrs. L. G. Morris and Williams Burden, Miss S. Bristed and L. G. Morris, Mrs. Barger Wallach and Elliott Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Miss Constance Ripley and John Winslow.

Mrs. George Mesta gave a small dinner party at the Rocks tonight and Miss Anna Sands entertained at her Summer home on Berkeley Avenue.

Willing Spencer has been elected chairman of the executive committee of the Spouting Rock Beach Association to succeed Clarence W. Dolan, who has resigned.

Polo Prizes Are Donated.

The prizes for the opening polo game at Sandy Point Farm Field tomorrow have been donated by Mrs. Moses Taylor. The Westchester team will meet the Buffalo team that has been brought to Newport by Reginald B. Taylor, son of Mrs. Taylor.

W. Goadby Loew, who has been responsible in a large measure for the revival of polo in Newport, will act as referee. The Westchester team is composed of Bernard Henry Wood, Lieut. Col. J. S. Haskell, Raymond Guest and Frederick H. Prince Jr. Reginald B. Taylor, Seymour Knox, Chandler Wells and Albert Schoelkopf will play for Buffalo.

Miss Florence Loew will join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Goadby Loew, at Stoneacre tomorrow.

Mrs. O. Eaton Cromwell gave a picnic luncheon at Bailey's Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Van Alen have arived from their home on Long Island to be the guests of Mr. Van Alen's mother, Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen, who gave a dinner for twenty guests, at Wakehurst this evening in their honor.

NURSES GRADUATED AT SOUTHAMPTON

Exercises Are Held at the Four Fountains, Music Studio of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Tyng.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., July 25.—Commencement exercises of the Southampton Hospital School of Nursing were held this evening at Four Fountains, the first public affair to be held in the new music room on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Hamilton Tyng.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, who has a Summer place in Southampton, gave the chief address. He was introduced by the president of the Hospital Association, Frederick C. Perkins.

Miss Madeline Blackburn was the organist for the processional and recessional, and for the hymn singing.

Dr. Joseph S. Wheelwright presented the diplomas to the graduating nurses, and prizes for scholarships were presented by Mr. Perkins.

A buffet supper was served at Four Fountains upon the conclusion of the program, and later the graduates returned to the new nurses' residence for a dance which was arranged by the board of directors.

Miss Ellen Jacobsen, who has been superintendent of the hospital since 1921, and will continue in that capacity, has resigned her post as principal of the training school, and will be succeeded on Aug. 1 by Miss Edna Parkin, who has been an instructor in the school for two years.

The training school was founded by Miss Jacobsen in 1925 and has been built up through her efforts. In recognition of her services, members of the board of directors of the hospital have presented Miss Jacobsen with a silver coffee service.

A meeting of the flower show advisory committee was held yesterday morning at the Vyne Croft, the home of Mrs. Robert Waller, to make final arrangements for the twenty-third annual exhibition of the Southampton Horticultural Society, which will be held in the high school grounds on July 31 and Aug. 1.

Miss Elizabeth Barry, chairman of the committee on judges for the show, announced that the following women had accepted invitations to act as judges: Mrs. L. Seton Lindsay of Islip, Mrs. Albert Herter, Mrs. Sterling Peters and Mrs. Scott McLanahan of East Hampton.

Advantageous Investments

We are recommending the purchase of several Bonds and Preferred Stocks of public utility companies, yielding a somewhat more liberal return than many others, and which in our opinion, are well protected by a stable earning power and a strongly entrenched business which has shown steady progress over a period of years

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Purposeless Drift on Stock Exchange—$3,000,000 More Gold Shipped to France.

Shipment of $3,000,000 more gold to France, making $25,000,000 sent from New York to that market since the movement began on July 16, was the single incident on yesterday's market. The export went in response to the persistent strength of exchange on Paris, just as the similar movement of French exchange at London has been responsible for that market's shipment of about $1,300,000 gold daily to Paris throughout the present week. The change in direction of our own gold movement brings it much more into conformity with the usual tendency in periods of trade reaction.

A little more than a month ago, the gold in our Federal Reserve had increased $150,000,000 since the beginning of the year. It had reached a total not much below the high level of the Reserve Banks' history; that of July, 1924. With the continuous emphasizing of the ease in money, gold may be released from this country to other markets than Paris, as it was after 1924. The Federal Reserve's policy in the money market has pointed in that direction.

Prices on the Stock Exchange moved irregularly, in most stocks feebly and in all with an absence of definite trend. Transactions, at 1,356,000 shares, were the lowest of any full day of the period except for July 2. The day's wheat and cotton markets were little changed; money rates were stationary; and sterling again touched the par of exchange. It now stands 1 to 1¼ cents above the rate quoted at this date in any of the past three years.

In the week-end mercantile reviews, reference to a more cheerful underlying sentiment is general, though it is not assigned to any visible indication of a change. The basis for this feeling is assumed by the trade reviewers to be either the fact that Autumn, even in years of industrial depression, necessarily brings some definite quickening of trade, or else the supposition that the reaction has already been carried so far that it cannot go much if any further without some revival in activity. Both inferences are entirely reasonable, even if both leave open the more important question what will be the cause, the character and the duration of the expected Autumn recovery.

The absence as yet of any definite indication regarding the course of trade is somewhat strikingly indicated by yesterday's survey of the midsummer business situation by the Federal Reserve Board. This statement makes no predictions. It confines itself simply to setting forth the actual present status, and it certainly gives a picture of industrial slack-water. That industrial production as a whole, even after making the usual "seasonal" allowances, is the lowest since December; that steel output, cotton consumption and factory employment have decreased more rapidly than the usual Summer rate, and that staple prices have been falling more rapidly than in any previous month of 1930—these facts had already been pretty clearly indicated in monthly statistical reports. Assembled in this way, they give no very cheerful picture. It may be doubted, however, whether a similar midsummer survey in any year of severe industrial depression would have been different, and this one throws no light whatever on the immediate or longer future.

ECONOMISTS TO TOUR CITY.

Agricultural Group From Twenty Countries View Exchange Today.

A group of agricultural economists from twenty foreign countries will start this morning an inspection of New York City markets under the guidance of the Department of Agriculture and Farm Management at Cornell University. The tour is preliminary to the International Conference of Agricultural Economists, which will be held at Cornell Aug. 18 to 29.

The group will make its headquarters at the Hotel New Yorker, and today will visit the Federal Reserve Bank, the New York Stock Exchange, Greenwich Village and the waterfront. Starting at 3:15 A. M. Monday, the group will tour the market piers along the Hudson River and wholesale and jobbing markets elsewhere in the city. Earl A. Flansburgh of the State Department of Agriculture will be in charge of the group.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Trading on the Stock Exchange yesterday was so dull as to suggest that the public was taking little interest in the proceedings and that the professionals were curtailing their operations sharply. The turnover, amounting to 1,356,170 shares, was next to the smallest of the year. The only day this year on which transactions were lighter was July 2, when 1,231,130 shares changed hands. The trend was downward during most of yesterday's trading period, but there was a rally in the late dealings. A number of issues ended the day with sizable gains. Among these were United States Steel, Air Reduction, American Water Works, J. I. Case, Foster Wheeler and Stewart-Warner. The declining group dwindled to a dozen stocks before the day was over and the final quotations showed only scattered losses and these mostly in comparatively inactive issues.

A Typically Normal Market.

The present market was described yesterday by a stock broker as being "a typically normal Summer market," of which there had been practically none since 1914. He said speculative interest had almost dried up, which usually was the case when money rates were low and commodity prices down. During the World War, he explained, there was an abnormal market which continued until the deflation of 1921. After this deflation period had run its course, the so-called Coolidge bull market started, he added, followed by the inevitable reaction last Autumn.

⁂

Supply of Bills Reduced.

As a result of the renewed purchasing of bankers' bills which followed the extension up to seventy-five days of the Federal Reserve Bank's 1⅞ per cent bill-buying rate, the floating supply of acceptances has been materially reduced. Up to last Monday when the Reserve Bank extended its rate, buying of all but the short term bills had been drying up and dealers were on the point of advancing yield rates in order to clear their portfolios. The situation is now completely reversed, it is reported, but no further cut in rates is looked for. Bankers' bill rates are now at what is regarded as an irreducible minimum. The cause of easy money will be amply served, it is thought, if present rates can be maintained into the Fall.

Foreign Financing Bulks Large.

Considerable interest was displayed yesterday in investment banking circles in the figures on foreign financing in the United States during the first half of 1930, which were announced by the Department of Commerce. These figures showed that the total for the six months exceeded by approximately $100,000,000 the total of publicly offered issues in the entire year 1929. However, attention should be called to the fact that with bond and note financing at a low ebb last year, many foreign governments and private corporations abroad were financed here by Wall Street banks. Since these loans were chiefly in the nature of strictly banking transactions, they never were made public, so that the figures of the Department of Commerce do not have quite the interpretation that the casual reader might place upon them.

English Investment Trusts Hit.

The announcement by a British investment trust that a deficiency of approximately $12,000,000 now exists between the cost of securities in its portfolio and the market value comes as a relief to local investment trust managers, whose portfolios showed a depreciation on June 30. The main consolation is that a trust in England, where the trust is an old and established institution, should have been able to do no better, if as well, as those in this country, where trusts have just gone through their first fire.

Railroad Earnings.

The first twenty-one railroads to report earnings for June showed net operating incomes 26.7 per cent below those of June, 1929, and 14.2 per cent below June, 1928. In view of the fact that net earnings in 1929 set a record and were augmented by payments for carrying mail in previous years, the comparison with 1928 was said to give a truer perspective. Since the decline in last year's prosperity began about the middle of the year, earnings of the railroads in the coming months will not afford such poor comparisons with last year. Moreover, the roads are beginning to trim expenses.

Heavy Foreign Copper Buying.

Buying of copper for export has become unusually active since the recent reduction of the price to 11.30 cents a pound at the principal European ports. Foreign consumers are reported buying as much of the metal as possible at present levels, believing the price will not go much, if any, lower. Also, domestic buying is understood to have been heavy since the reduction to 11 cents a pound. While some believe the heavy buying of the last few days will result in an advance in the price soon, it is the general opinion that if an advance is made it will be short-lived.

⁂

Yacht Race Week.

With the stock market dull and general business conditions picking up slowly, perhaps the major interest in Wall Street this week has been the yacht racing off Larchmont, many of the skippers there being well known figures in the financial community. In some cases, at least, the ability to take time off for a little sport afloat makes up for the short vacations and hard work caused by last Summer's activity on the stock market and in business. Numerous important mergers or new corporations were launched in the hot weather months of 1929, and hours devoted to outdoor events were necessarily restricted. This year all has changed, and many new converts to yachting and other diversions have been made in the financial ranks.

MONEY.

Friday, July 25, 1930.

Business in the money market was devoid of feature. There still continued a fully supply of funds for all classes of accommodation, but as demand was small and confined to routine requirements no volume turnover was involved. On the Stock Exchange 2 per cent prevailed all day, while 1 per cent was the charge in counter trading. Time money was dull and unchanged. Business money developed no variations in discount.

SOME TRADE LINES SHOW EXPANSION

Weekly Reviews of Business Report Cheerful Sentiment Regarding Revival.

READJUSTMENTS CONTINUE

Outstanding in Steel Industry Are Gas Pipe Order and Call for Bids on Rails.

There are so many factors at the present time which would tend toward dullness in trade that the trend during the past week is difficult to determine, according to the weekly reviews of business conditions. It is certain, however, according to the reviews, that sentiment continues cheerful, with a few instances of expansion apparent.

Bradstreet's says, in part:

"What apparently are new visible basic developments have to do largely with the effect of the long-continued heat and drought upon the country's crops, which, so far as can be judged at the present moment, point to less abundant yields than earlier expected, this being backed up by higher prices for the leading grains, especially wheat, corn and some dairy products.

"So far as can be indicated now, the slightly larger than earlier indicated output of Winter wheat has been more than balanced by reduced promise in Spring wheat, while the really outstanding feature is the relatively greater strength of corn, which has apparently fallen off in promise and risen closer to a price parity with the so-called premier grain, wheat.

"Taken by themselves and considered from a domestic basis, these price advances do not look serious, but, considered in connection with an apparent tendency to mark down estimates of the yield of wheat in Europe, they carry implications of a possible lifting of producers, burdens of surplus stocks, which, if verified, may bring in their train consequences which are not now entirely predictable.

"The trade and industrial situation at present might well be likened to that of a ship in a calm in slack water and waiting fo ra new tidal or aerial impulse to carry it in a new direction. Steel mill capacity is little different from a week ago. The really outstanding features are the placing of another large order for gas pipe and reports of a good-sized order for rails seeking bidders. A current good demand exists for structural steel for large work, mainly at New York City.

"The coal trade is very nearly stagnant, as is lumber, where production is little above 50 per cent of normal capacity. In the furniture trade, more activity is reported at some Southern points of manufacture. In the textiles three items of news offer. One is that cotton mill curtailment in the past eleven months has been equivalent to a reduction of 850,000,000 yards of cotton goods.

"In woolens and worsteds a gain in mill activity in June is reported by the trade association. In raw silk a rise from the year's low is noted in prices, coincident with a cut in prices of rayon. Easing of raw wool at the latest London sale from the earlier one was noted. The new price schedule of the leading woolen manufacturing interests shows a good-sized reduction."

Dun's Review says in part:

"A broad survey of the commercial situation makes it plain that adjustments to new conditions are continuing, yet a better tone in some quarters has been an encouraging feature of late. The stronger sentiment, which also prevails in financial circles, is predicted chiefly upon prospective gains in business, evidences of actual expansion still being scattered.

"The basis for the more hopeful feeling now disclosed is the fact that the change from Summer to Autumn is accompanied by a natural quickening of trade, and at least some manifestation of this trend is to be looked for this year. Moreover, the economic transition, although not yet completed, has progressed to a point where stabilization has been brought nearer, with the restriction of outputs, the reduction of available stocks of various goods and the lowering of prices to levels that are more attractive to buyers being among the elements which ultimately should be stimulating. Such phases invariably follow an acute disturbance, but their far-reaching scope may be regarded as foreshadowing eventual revival."

$500,000 Trust Company for Wall Street Being Formed by Legal and Financial Experts

A group of lawyers, bankers and investment experts, including Elihu Root Jr., Daniel W. MacCormack and Theodore T. Scudder, has filed with the State Banking Department notice of intention to organize a bank in the financial district, it was learned yesterday.

The new institution, to be known as the Fiduciary Trust Company, will have a capital of $500,000 and will be at 111 Broadway, one block north of Wall Street. It is being organized, it is understood, under the auspices of the investment counsel firm of Scudder, Stevens & Clark, one of the pioneer organizations in the comparatively new business of giving expert advice to wealthy individuals and institutions on the investment of their funds. It is assumed in Wall Street that due to its connection with Scudder, Stevens & Clark, it will specialize in custodian accounts, a field of trust company banking which has broadened in recent years.

Officers of the institution have not yet been determined upon, it is understood, but Colonel MacCormack is believed to be slated for the chief executive position. He was with the Irving Trust Company, where he had charge of receiverships.

In addition to Messrs. Root, MacCormack and Scudder, the organizers of the new bank are F. Haven Clark, Grenville Clark, Robert H. Gardiner, De Lancey Kane Jay and Frederick Pope.

The organizers already have published the requisite four notices of their intention to form the bank. A decision on the application is expected in a few weeks, and it is understood that the new bank will begin business soon thereafter.

21 ROADS' REVENUE OFF SHARPLY IN JUNE

Their Total Net Operating Income Put at $20,925,000, Drop of 26.7% From a Year Ago.

READING SHOWS INCREASE

Slight Gain Also for Chicago Great Western, Exclusive of Back Mail Pay in 1929.

The first twenty-one railroads to report June earnings had net operating incomes totaling $20,925,000, against $28,550,000 in June, 1929, a decrease of 26.7 per cent, and against $24,404,000 in June, 1928, a decrease of 14.2 per cent. Their net in May was $20,992,000.

These roads had gross revenues in June totaling $120,803,000, against $141,915,000 in June, 1929, a decrease of 14.8 per cent, and against $133,368,000 in June, 1928, a decrease of 9.4 per cent. Their May gross revenues totaled $124,631,000.

An exception to the rule was provided by the Reading Company, which reported yesterday an increase of more than $150,000 in net operating income for June despite a decrease in gross. Decreases were reported by the Erie, New Haven, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and Wheeling.

For the first time this year, net operating income of the Chicago Great Western showed a decrease from 1929. However, after eliminating $38,873 back mail pay from the earnings for June, 1929, net operating income for June this year showed a slight increase over 1929. Reports have been issued as follows:

FOREIGN FINANCING DOUBLED 1929 RATE

First Half of 1930 Exceeded the Entire Previous Year by $100,000,000.

GAINS IN LATIN AMERICA

Canadian Borrowings Show Increase, Totaling $105,000,000 for the Second Quarter.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Foreign financing in the United States during the first half of 1930 exceeded that of the entire year 1929 by almost $100,000,000, the Finance and Investment Division of the Department of Commerce today announced.

The amount for the second quarter alone, over $466,000,000, was nearly as large as that of the two largest quarters of 1929 combined. Refunding during the second quarter of 1930 was only $39,000,000, leaving the new nominal capital obtained during the quarter at over $427,000,000.

"The favorable condition of the bond market during the first quarter of 1930," the division said, "did not continue into the second quarter. Although the Federal Reserve banks continued their support of the market by holding United States Government and other securities in unusual amounts, only the best issues succeeded in maintaining the positions to which they had risen in March.

"The averages of forty bonds, as compiled by a leading American newspaper, showed a steady decline from the March average price of 89.2 to 86.4 in June. Likewise, the sales of bonds on the Stock Exchange declined and in May and June were in less volume than last year.

"The causes of the declining market for bonds were at least threefold: (1) Extra-heavy new bond issues, (2) decreased institutional buying of bonds, and (3) the uncertainty on the part of investors as to the probable course of the investment market in the near future. The potency of these deterring factors was more apparent considering the favorable money rates which prevailed during the last two months.

"The Argentine Government floated $50,000,000 six-month treasury gold notes in April in anticipation of a long-term issue. The proceeds from the sale of treasury notes relieved, to some extent, the strain on the peso exchange.

"This loan was the first to be floated in the United States by Argentina since February, 1928. During the quarter, moreover, three Argentine Provinces—Buenos Aires, Cordoba and Santa Fe—borrowed an aggregate of over $13,500,000. A new feature in Argentine corporate financing was the offering of $12,000,000 convertible gold notes of the South American Railways Company. These notes were sold in connection with the acquisition of important equity interest in Argentine railways by an American group."

Two other Latin-American governments floated large loans in May. The State of Sao Paulo $55,000,000 issue was part of an international loan of $97,000,000 to assist in the marketing of surplus coffee stocks held by that State.

The Republic of Chile offered a $25,000,000 issue for public works purposes. Other Latin-American corporate issues were for public utilities, principally in Argentina.

Canadian loans were heavier during the second quarter than during the first. The principal borrower was the Canadian National Railways, which obtained over $35,000,000 through issues of long-term bonds and equipment trust certificates. Several provincial and municipal loans for refunding and public works purposes and a variety of small corporate loans made up Canada's total of about $105,000,000 during the quarter.

The $50,000,000 5½ per cent issue of the Imperial Japanese Government was brought out in the United States in May simultaneously with 12,500,000 pounds sterling in London. It refunded a loan arising out of financing connected with the Russo-Japanese War. The refunded bonds were part of a 25,000,000-pound-sterling 4 per cent sterling issue of 1905, in which the United States participated to the amount of 3,250,000 pounds sterling.

"Comparison of these two issues," said the report, "throws some light on the advance that the United States has made as an international financial centre and on the difference in the interest rates prevailing during the two periods."

JAPAN SENT $7,015,225 GOLD TO US IN JUNE

Month's $13,937,891 Gold Imports Came Mostly From That Country, Mexico and Canada.

The Commerce Department's statement of gold exports and imports of the United States during June, classified by countries of destination and origin, shows that of the month's total gold imports of $13,937,891, the bulk came from Japan, Canada, Mexico and Colombia. Japan sent $7,015,225, following a shipment of $13,509,350 in the preceding month. Exports were practically negligible.

The following table gives exports and imports of gold during June, compared with May, 1930, and June, 1929. All exports for the month are included; under imports, only those of countries which sent or took more than $50,000.

Of the month's silver exports, aggregating $3,334,723, the largest amount went to China, which sent $1,867,340. Of the $2,707,371 silver imports, $1,607,900 came from Mexico, $414,006 from Peru and $391,451 from Canada.

REICHSBANK REDUCES NOTE CIRCULATION

No Gain in Gold, Reserve of Foreign Currency Is Decreased.

BERLIN, July 25 (AP).—The Reichsbank's report as of July 23, shows the following changes, in reichsmarks:

Gold coin and bullion	decreased	3,000
Reserve in foreign cur.	decreased	2,213,000
Bills of exch. & checks	increased	58,846,000
Silver and other coins	increased	18,530,000
Notes on other banks	increased	3,842,000
Advances	decreased	12,679,000
Investments	decreased	51,000
Other assets	increased	24,129,000
Notes in circulation	decreased	221,048,000
Other maturing ogligations	increased	240,258,000

Total gold holdings are now 2,618,728,000 gold marks.

The following table shows the Reichsbank's gold reserve for a series of recent weeks, compared with the preceding years, in thousands of marks:

	1930.	1929.	1928.
July 15	2,618,731	2,036,240	2,127,251
July 7	2,618,808	1,994,459	2,105,378
June 30	2,618,874	1,911,384	2,083,818
June 23	2,618,921	1,764,327	2,062,207

The gold holdings of Jan. 7, 1929, at 2,729,345,000 marks, were the highest in the Reichsbank's history. The gold holdings of June 22, at 1,764,327,000 marks, were the smallest of 1929.

The following is the Reichsbank's outstanding note circulation in thousands of reichsmarks:

	1930.	1929.
July 23	3,965,868	4,091,054
July 15	4,186,916	4,347,461
July 7	4,492,023	4,610,013
June 30	4,685,436	4,838,647
June 23	4,037,982	4,068,747

The note circulation of Dec. 31, 1929, at 5,043,677,000 marks, was the largest since the reform of the currency in 1924. Prior to that date the high record was 4,930,020,000 marks, on Dec. 31, 1928. In gold values this was the largest since the war, although in terms of the old depreciated paper the circulation reached 496½ quintillions of marks, or 496½ billion billions, on Dec. 31, 1923.

The Reichsbank's rediscount rate remains at 4 per cent, to which it was reduced on June 20 from 4½ per cent, at which rate it had remained since May 19, when it was reduced from 5 per cent.

MARKETS IN LONDON, PARIS AND BERLIN

Gilt-Edge Securities Strong on English Exchange but Others Generally Are Quiet.

SHORT LOANS AT LOW RATE

Money Plentiful in Lombard Street —Sharp Break on German Boerse.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Gilt-edge securities were strong, but other departments of the Stock Exchange were subdued today. The funding loan rose ⅛ to £90¼, and other government securities all gained well except the war loan, which declined 1-16 to £103 7-16.

The report of the London & Northeastern Railway gave the market a new chill, as dealers were not prepared for the revelation of a further increase in expenditures in the face of a heavy contraction in gross revenue.

International stocks were weak. Columbia Graphophone declined 1-32 to £3 13-16 and His Master's Voice Graphophone 1-16 to £3 7-32. Electric fell 3d to 25s 6d, Hydroelectric ½ to $39½ and Brazilian Traction ⅛ to $40¼. International Nickel took a sharp drop of 5-16 to $25, while United Molasses continued to slide, losing 3-32 to £1 25-32. Ford recovered, closing 1s higher at 76s. Oil stocks were quiet. Rhodesian Copper shares were somewhat stronger, with Bwana McKubwa at 12s 10d.

Credit was abundant in Lombard Street, overnight loans being easily obtainable at 1½ per cent. Discount rates weakened after a firm opening and three-month bills fell below 2½ per cent. The Bank of England sold £283,501 of bar gold to France, but the new loss was partly offset by the receipt of £130,000 in sovereigns. Sterling exchange on New York advanced 3-32 to $4.86 23-32.

Prices Down Sharply in Beerlin.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—Bearish attacks on international stocks at today's session of the Boerse intensified the nervousness in evidence recently and led to panicky sales by private investors and speculators, causing a further general decline. Salzdetfurth fell 16 points, Siemens & Halske 8, Schulthies 9, Deutsche Linoleum 7 and Reichsbank 6.

Shipping stocks, the mining group, artificial silks, chemicals, Polyphone, public utilities and railways also were weaker. The Boerse will be closed tomorrow.

PANAMA FACES DEFICIT.

Cabinet Is Likely to Discuss Loan to Cover $200,000 Shortage.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PANAMA CITY, July 25.—President Arosemena, at the last meeting of the Cabinet, called attention to the fact that the government was faced by a deficit of $200,000, largely in accounts against the National Treasury which had remained unpaid because of lack of funds, the Tiempo says tonight.

No reductions will be made in the salaries of government employes, according to the fiscal agent, Floyd H. Baldwin.

The question of covering the deficit by raising a loan probably will be discussed at the next meeting of the Cabinet.

Grigsby Forms English Company.

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP).—B. J. Grigsby, chairman of the boards of the Grigsby-Grunow Company and the Majestic Household Utilities Corporation, in a cable from London today announced the organization of the Majestic Electric Company, Ltd., of London, to act as distributing agent for products of the two companies in Great Britain and Continental countries.

Transamerica Names Registrars.

Elisha Walker, chairman of the Transamerica Corporation, announced yesterday that, with the beginning of trading in its shares on the New York Stock Exchange, the corporation has named as registrars of its stock the Chase National Bank of New York and the Crocker First Federal Trust Company of San Francisco.

$3,000,000 IN GOLD LEAVES FOR FRANCE

Shipment Brings Total for the Movement of Last Ten Days to $25,000,000.

NO APPREHENSION CAUSED

British Worry Over Loss of Metal to Paris Is Not Shared by Bankers Here.

A shipment of $3,000,000 in gold left New York last night on the France, making a total of $25,000,000 of the metal to leave the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank for Paris in the last ten days. The shipment, the only movement of gold at the port of New York yesterday, was sent by the banking firm of Lazard Frères.

This heavy movement of gold to France is contemporaneous with one from London to Paris. Some of the latter movement has been a drain of the metal from the Bank of England and the balance has represented purchases of bullion made at the London gold auctions. Although many British economists have been apprehensive of the movement of the metal across the Channel, the shipments from New York to France have occasioned little more than a ripple of interest.

In addition to the French shipments, the Reserve Bank has lost $5,500,000 of gold to Canada this week, reflecting the strength of the Canadian dollar in the foreign exchange market. This loss, however, has been offset in part by arrivals of gold at San Francisco from the Orient. Yesterday the Federal Reserve Bank announced that word had been received that approximately $300,000 of gold was received on Thursday at San Francisco from China.

DU PONT ISSUE SUBSCRIBED

Holders Exercise Rights to 357,071 Shares at $80 Each.

Virtually all stockholders of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., exercised their privilege to subscribe to the recent additional issue of 357,071 shares of common stock, pro rata to their holdings, at $80 a share, the company announced. There were 11,134 subscriptions for a total of 355,962 shares, or 99.66 per cent of the number offered.

Fully-paid subscriptions for 297,772 shares, representing 83.68 per cent of the total offered, were received from 9,588 subscribers, or 84.60 per cent of the number subscribing, the announcement explained. Subscriptions for 58,090 shares were received from 1,746 subscribers under the instalment plan of payment.

Shares subscribed for were valued at $28,468,960, of which 87.76 per cent or $24,983,560, has been received, leaving $3,485,400 to be paid on the instalment plan.

LISTED BONDS QUIET, RAILS HOLD GAINS

Many Infrequently Traded Issues Appear, With Advances —Utilities Firm.

INDUSTRIALS ARE IRREGULAR

Local Transit Group Also Uneven—Foreign Loans Generally Show Less Strength.

Leading railroad bonds held their gains of the previous day in rather quiet trading on the Stock Exchange yesterday, and, to a lesser extent, public utility bonds did the same. One feature of the market was the appearance of a long list of infrequently traded rail issues on the tape at prices showing sizable gains from the last previous sales. A number of second-grade rails also showed some improvement.

Industrial bonds, however, did not do so well. This group showed considerable irregularity at the close, with a number of issues which have been under pressure recently recovering a point or two, while issues which moved higher earlier in the week gave ground. Most of the industrial issues were lightly traded. One notable exception was National Dairy Products 5¼s, which remained unchanged at 87⅞, with transactions in excess of $100,000.

New York transit issues showed more irregularity than usual. Brooklyn Manhattan Transit 6s were bid up ⅜ of a point to 99 in heavy trading, while Broadway Seventh Avenue consolidated 5s dropped 1½ points to a new low at 9 on a small turnover. Third Avenue adjustment 5s closed fractionally lower, and Interborough 5s of 1966, stamped, gained ¼ of a point.

Foreign loans were generally easier. French Government and municipal issues failed to top the highs of the previous days, most of which represented the highest prices at which the issues have sold. German Government and corporation issues were easier. The net changes in the South American group were generally limited to small fractions.

In the United States Government group the fourth Liberty 4¼s duplicated the previous high for the year at 103 2-32, but closed at 103, off 2-32 point. The balance of the list finished unchanged to 3-32 point higher in light trading.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Ruloff E. Cutten, a partner in E. F. Hutton & Co., will sail on Aug. 1 for a two month business trip to Europe. Clinton S. Dow, a partner in Greer, Crane & Webb, will sail on the same date to pass a month and a half in England and France.

Woodworth, Lounsbery & Co. and Josephthal & Co. have issued analyses of the Borden Company.

Walker Brothers have issued a pamphlet discussing similarities between the stock market and general business conditions now and those existing in 1921.

$76,846,000 BONDS MARKETED IN WEEK

Public Utility Issues Eclipse New Financing in All the Other Fields.

MUNICIPAL OFFERINGS SMALL

Foreign Loans Featured by Price Gains in French Government and City Flotations.

Offerings of public utility bonds eclipsed new financing in all other fields this week. Of the total of $76,846,000 of new bond issues placed on the market this week, $64,730,000 consisted of public utility issues. This represents the largest amount of utility financing since the final week in June. This week's total of new bond financing compared with $90,960,000 last week and with $62,433,000 during the corresponding week last year.

The principal piece of public utility financing was that of $33,730,000 Texas Electric Service Company first mortgage 5s, priced at 97¾, to yield 5.14 per cent. The next issue in size was that of $17,000,000 Pacific Power and Light Company 5s of 1955, which was offered on a 5.29 per cent basis.

As was the case last week, new State and municipal financing was comparatively light. Only six new issues were marketed, the largest of which were $3,877,000 Essex County (N. J.) 4¼s, $2,000,000 city of Cleveland (Ohio) 4¼s and $1,200,000 Schuylkill County (Pa.) 4¼s. During the week the city of New York obtained short-term bank loans aggregating $130,000,000 which involved no public offering.

Despite the fact that the demand for high-grade railroad bonds this week has been more active than at any time since mid-March, no new railroad financing was done. Most of the rail issues brought out during recent weeks are now selling at levels substantially above those at which they were brought out.

This week's foreign financing consisted of two issues, one an issue of $2,500,000 government of Newfoundland 5s of 1955, priced at 100¾, and the other an issue of $500,000 Montreal Harbor Commissioners 5s, priced to net 4.75 per cent. Both of these issues met a quick response.

The new offerings of bonds by groups, of this and last week, follow:

	This Week.	Last Week.
Public utility	$64,730,000	$9,500,000
State and municipal	8,486,000	8,010,000
Foreign	3,000,000	25,000,000
Industrial	630,000	32,450,000
U. S. Government	......	15,000,000
Railroad	......	1,000,000
Total	$76,846,000	$90,960,000

Most of the new financing that is being discussed at present is in the public utility field. Not much new foreign financing is considered at present, despite the fact that the foreign bond averages were pushed appreciably higher this week. The feature of the week in foreign loans has been the steady advance in French Government and municipal loans to new peaks.

BOND FLOTATION.

Pacific Gas and Electric.

An issue of $25,000,000 Pacific Gas and Electric Company first and refunding 4½ per cent gold bonds is expected to be offered here next week by a syndicate headed by the National City Company and including Blyth & Co., the American Securities Company, H. M. Byllesby & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons and Peirce, Fair & Co.

The bonds have been sold to the National City Company at 93½, according to an application made to the California Railroad Commission it was reported yesterday. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company is the largest public utility company on the Pacific Coast.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for refunding purposes and in carrying out a program of construction. It is reported that the bonds will be titled Series F and will be redeemable at 105. They will fall due in 1960.

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

Cuyahoga County, Ohio.

Cuyahoga County, Ohio, which includes the city of Cleveland, has issued a call for sealed tenders, to be opened on Aug. 9, on a new issue of $687,000 road and bridge bonds, maturing serially from Oct. 1, 1930 to 1940. Bidders are requested to name the rate of interest in multiples of one-quarter of 1 per cent, at not to exceed 4½ per cent.

Webster County, Iowa.

Webster County, Iowa, will be in the market on Aug. 22 with a new issue of $525,000 road bonds, due from May 1, 1936 to 1945, callable in 1936. The interest rate, which is to be named by the bidders, is limited to 5 per cent.

Westport, Conn.

The town of Westport, Conn., will offer on July 29 a new issue of $275,000 4¼ per cent bonds, due serially from July 1, 1931 to 1960. Proceeds from this financing will be used for school and road purposes.

A. T. & T. Holders Exercise Rights.

About $54,000,000 of additional stock had been subscribed by more than 110,000 stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company at the close of business yesterday. The average subscription thus far received is about 4.8 shares for each stockholder. Three-quarters of the subscribers have elected to pay for the additional shares by a single payment.

Paterson to Seek $11,000,000 For Purchase of Water System

The city of Paterson, N. J., plans to issue approximately $11,000,000 of bonds and notes about Sept. 1 to acquire properties of the Passaic Consolidated Water Company within the city, according to word received here yesterday. The financing will consist of $5,000,000 water bonds, due serially in one to forty years, and $6,000,000 of notes, due in six months to a year.

It also is understood that the cities of Passaic and Clifton, which are supplied by the same water company, will act soon to acquire the systems within their limits. In addition to serving these three cities, the company supplies water to adjacent communities. It is owned by the New Jersey General Securities Company.

CHICAGO PLANNING LOAN OF $7,000,000

Bond Offering Likely Pending Court Decision on Floating of $36,700,000.

1928 WARRANTS BEING PAID

Cook County, Also Affected by Legal Uncertainty, Announces $2,500,000 Issue.

Although the city of Chicago and Cook County, Ill., will have to wait until Autumn for the State Supreme Court to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation whereby new bonds for $36,700,000 may be issued, the city is considering the offering soon of an issue of $7,000,000 to take care of its 1928 deficiency. Cook County announced this week that it would sell on Aug. 4 a new issue of $2,500,000 deficiency bonds.

The issues deferred until the court's decision is made are $12,500,000 Chicago Board of Education revolving fund, $12,000,000 Chicago cash revolving fund, $5,700,000 Chicago Board of Education 1928 deficiency bonds and $6,500,000 Cook County cash revolving fund bonds.

The 1928 warrants of Chicago are being paid off as presented, now that the city has its 1928 taxes collected under the reassessment. The Strawn committee raised $50,000,000 to tide over the city until the 1928 taxes could be collected. To date it has refunded $40,000,000, with the balance to be repaid when additional 1929 and 1930 warrants are sold.

The 1929 warrants outstanding amount to $87,175,000, and the 1930 warrants $47,000,000. Of the latter, $44,000,000 are held by the city and $3,000,000 by Chicago banks. A total of $38,000,000 of 1930 warrants can be sold.

Although it is not definitely known when the 1929 taxes will be in hand, the city will have recourse to an additional tax and the revolving funds created to take care of the 1929 warrants and the 1930 warrants when due. It is expected, however, that if the city elects to market the issue of $7,000,000 of bonds and a block of 1930 tax warrants, it will bridge over its financial requirements until the court passes on the additional issues.

PHONE COMPANY ADDS $1,101,790 OUTLAY

New Appropriation Bring the Total for State Work to $62,959,885 This Year.

Announcement was made yesterday of the authorization of the expenditure of $1,101,790 for new construction throughout the State by the board of directors of the New York Telephone Company at their regular monthly meeting Wednesday. This brings the total appropriations since the beginning of the year to $62,959,885, of which $52,561,735 has been allotted to the metropolitan district, the announcement said.

The projects covered by the latest appropriation include the installation of additional equipment in the long distance central office at 24 Walker Street and work on the Manhatten end of a new long distance cable to Stamford, Conn. Reconstruction of underground cables in connection with subway construction in Brooklyn and Queens and an addition to the toll switchboard at Riverhead, L. I., were also covered.

In the Bronx and Westchester areas additions to the outside plant in the Rye and Greenwich exchange districts were approved, as were the placing of underground toll conduit in the Peekskill district, and the work on the Bronx Westchester section of the new Stamford cable.

Ulen Utilities in Brazil Gain.

Net revenues from the public utilities managed by Ulen & Co. pledged to the service of the State of Maranhao (Brazil) external 7 per cent bonds of 1928 were $19,026 for June, against $14,279 in June, 1928, according to advices received by Baker, Kellogg & Co., Inc. Net revenues for the first six months of the year were $127,857, based on conversion into dollars at average rates of exchange prevailing.

$11,368,391 SOUGHT BY MUNICIPALITIES

Total of New Bonds to Be Up for Award Is Smallest for Year to Date.

$1,900,000 ISSUE LEADS

West Virginia to Sell Obligations on Wednesday—$1,505,000 for City of Erie, Pa.

Only $11,368,391 of new State and municipal issues will come up for award next week, making the smallest total for a week for the year to date. This week's total was $16,051,517 and the weekly average for the year so far is $32,792,572. The market is rapidly being cleaned up of the issues recently offered and the remaining blocks of bonds are being moved up in price almost daily.

This movement, however, is reported for only high-grade bonds, second-grade issues being slow to sell and third-grade municipals receiving only scant attention. Not only will new municipal financing be light next week but for the succeeding weeks only a small amount of new financing has been announced. New York State is contemplating a major issue, but according to the latest advices the exact amount of grade-crossing elimination bonds to be sold has not been decided. It was said last week that the new financing might be around Sept. 1, but those close to the situation indicated yesterday that the date would be a little later.

Only three of the new issues scheduled for award next week are for amounts in excess of $1,000,000. The largest is that of $1,900,000 State of West Virginia toll bridge bonds, which come up for sale on Wednesday. On the same day Niagara Falls (N. Y.) School District will be on the market with an issue of $1,500,000, and on Friday the city of Erie, Pa., will offer an issue of $1,505,000 4¼s.

Interdealer trading has been unusually active this week. In most cases a block of bonds purchased by one dealer from another resulted in an immediate mark-up in price. A patent example of the rise in the market in the last few weeks is afforded by the issue of city of Chicago long-term bonds, offered at prices to yield 4.40 per cent. The price has been increased so that the bonds now yield only 4.20 per cent.

The institutional buying of municipals forms the backbone of the demand at present, although many private investors and out-of-town banks have taken substantial blocks out of the market this week. A few blocks of old issues which had been tucked away in investment accounts have been placed on the market, but generally speaking only a relatively small amount of such bonds has appeared.

The following lists of important issues scheduled for award next week and on subsequent dates have been compiled from a calendar prepared by The Daily Bond Buyer:

Monday, July 28.
Toledo, Ohio	$521,000
Yazoo City, Miss	319,000
Tuesday, July 29.
Pontiac, Mich.	210,000
Westport, Conn.	275,000
Wednesday, July 30.
Youngstown, Ohio	287,000
State of West Virginia	1,900,000
Passaic County, N. J.	990,000

Aug. 6—State of New Mexico	1,000,000
Aug. 12—State of Maryland	2,443,000
Aug. 18—State of Arizona,	2,000,000 to 2,250,000

UTILITY OFFICERS CHANGED.

Feagin, McGowen and Simonds Join Consolidated Gas Utilities Board.

Ralph B. Feagin, president of the United Gas Corporation and vice president of the Electric Bond and Share Company, and N. C. McGowen and O. H. Simonds, vice presidents of the United Gas Corporation, have been elected directors of the Consolidated Gas Utilities Company, to succeed G. M. Hubbard, J. P. Hale and S. M. Williams Jr. Mr. McGowen has been a director of the Palmer Corporation of Louisiana and of the Louisiana Gas and Fuel Company, and Mrs. Simonds a director of the latter company and of others affiliated with Electric Bond and Share.

Consolidated Gas Utilities Company is controlled by a voting trust, but most of the certificates are owned by the United Gas Corporation and 42 per cent by American Utilities and General Corporation. The United Gas Corporation now has three of the company's nine directors and American Utilities and General two.

It is not planned now to merge Consolidated Gas Utilities with United Gas Corporation, it was learned yesterday, but the ownership indicates that consolidation is likely. While the United Gas System operates in Texas and Louisiana, Consolidated Gas Utilities serves Northern and Western Oklahoma and Southern Kansas with natural gas, in part drawn from the Amarillo field, Texas.

CHECK PAYMENTS CONTINUE LOW LEVEL

Volume for Last Week Was Under 1929 While Above the Previous Week.

STEEL ACTIVITY FELL OFF

Receipts of Wheat Increased—Building Picked Up—Bond Prices Gained, Stocks Went Down.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Business for the week ending July 19, as measured by the volume of check payments, showed an increase of 16 per cent over the preceding week, but was below the level of the same week in 1929, the Department of Commerce announced today in its weekly review of business conditions.

Wholesale prices as a whole showed but slight change from a week ago, but were 10 per cent lower than the corresponding period in 1929. Iron and steel prices, as measured by the composite index, showed no change from last week, but recorded a decline of 10 per cent from the corresponding week a year ago.

"Bank loans and discounts were greater than both the preceding week and the same period in 1929," the department said. "The average prices for representative stocks registered marked gains over a week ago, but were still lower than those of the same period in 1929. Bond prices, on the other hand, showed gains over both comparative periods. Interest rates for call money were lower, while those for time money were higher than the preceding week. Both rates were lower than a year ago."

Building, the activity of steel mills and wheat receipts at primary markets for the week ended July 12 were all greater than the preceding period, due mainly to the greater number of working days. As compared with the week ending July 13, 1929, building and steel operations were smaller, while the receipts of wheat in producing centres were greater.

Bank loans and discounts and stock prices for the period ending July 19 registered increases when compared with the corresponding week two years ago.

GASOLINE STATION LOSES.

Brooklyn Plant Figuring in Jannicky Case Fails in Court Appeal.

The Appellate Division in Brooklyn denied yesterday an application for a stay pending the appeal from a Supreme Court decision revoking a permit for a gasoline station at Thirteenth Avenue and Sixty-fifth Street, Brooklyn. It was in connection with the issuance of that permit that Charles Jannicky, former Deputy Fire Commissioner, and Israel Miller, former owner of the property, were indicted by the Kings County grand jury for conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The permit was granted by the Board of Standards and Appeals after Jannicky and Miller are alleged to have supplied information that gasoline tanks had been installed on the property prior to July, 1925, when a city ordinance was enacted prohibiting such installations in that section. As a result the gasoline station is prohibited from operating until final decision on the appeal.

BOB LOSES NEON APPEAL.

Brokers Fail to Obtain Reversal of Decision Favoring Hollingsworth.

The Appellate Division in Brooklyn affirmed yesterday the decision of Supreme Court Justice MacCrate, made last April, in dismissing the $1,000,000 damage suit brought by Charles V. Bob and Louis P. Jubien, as members of the brokerage firm of Charles V. Bob & Co., against William T. Hollingsworth, Robert L. Kester and the Claude Neon Lights, Inc. The order affirmed also the vacation of an attachment that tied up $1,000,000 worth of the defendants' property.

The action was one of several that arose from the publication of an advertisement by the defendants in which interest was disclaimed in a stock issue for $10,000,000 worth of shares of the Federal Neon System, Inc., that was about to be floated by the plaintiffs.

OIL PRORATION FAILURE SEEN IN FIELD IN TEXAS

Darst Creek Wells Flowing Near Capacity Following Temporary Injunction Against Board.

Proration in the Darst Creek oil field in Guadalupe County, Texas, apparently has failed for the moment, with all wells in the field flowing at or near capacity, it was reported from Fort Worth yesterday. The field is estimated to be making 75,000 barrels daily, compared with 20,000 barrels previously. The reason for opening the wells is a temporary injunction obtained by an operator, restraining the Texas Railroad Commission from enforcing the proration order.

The next step in enforcing the proration order in this field, it is said, will be taken on July 30, when the Texas Railroad Commission will hold a general hearing on proration. If some way is not forthcoming by that time to bring the production of the field down to the level previously agreed upon, it is believed buyers will cut crude oil prices in this field.

An indication that the code of ethics agreement recently entered into by nearly all the oil companies and marketers was not working as expected was the announcement that the Mid-Continental Petroleum Corporation had notified the American Petroleum Institute and the Federal Trade Commission that it had withdrawn from the code of oil marketing practices. The company gives as its reason that competing companies, signers of the code of ethics, had not adhered to it.

CUT KEYSTONE OIL OUTPUT

200 Independent Pennsylvania Producers Vote 30% Curtailment.

Two hundred independent oil producers in Forest, Elk, Tioga and Potter counties, Pennsylvania, have voted to cut production 30 per cent until Sept. 1 in the hope of alleviating overproduction, it was reported yesterday from Warren, Pa. Similar action has been taken by producers in other parts of Western and Northwestern Pennsylvania oil fields.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has advanced the price of fuel oil 5 cents a barrel to $1.05 at Baton Rouge, La., effective as of July 24, it was announced.

NICKEL COMPANY INCREASES CAPITAL

International of Canada Votes Rise From 13,928,594 No Par Shares to 15,000,000.

PLANS OFFER TO HOLDERS

Six New at $20 Each for 100 Owned Proposed—Copper Depression Affects Earnings.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, July 25.—Shareholders of the International Nickel Company of Canada at a meeting here today unanimously approved the proposals of the directors to increase the authorized common capital stock from 13,928,594 shares of no par to 15,000,000 shares, and the meeting was adjourned for a week, pending granting of the necessary supplementary letters patent. The intention to offer six new shares at $20 a share for each 100 held to stockholders was mentioned, but details were not announced.

Robert C. Stanley, president, spoke of the dividend policy, pointing out that in his address he spoke of the proceeds of the new issue as reimbursing the working capital and placing the company in a strong financial position, permitting the payment of dividends from current earnings. As business in the future improved the dividend policy would be reconsidered, he said.

It was decided that of the proceeds received from the total ordinary stock issue, $57,381,666.67 was to be considered as capital and the balance as capital distributable to surplus.

The meeting also approved a by-law for the appointment of an executive committee to comply with the new companies act.

Mr. Stanley, addressing the meeting, said:

"The copper industry, in which your company is now interested, has been going through a period of distress due to overproduction coupled with current underconsumption which has resulted in a drop in the price of the metal from 18 cents a pound to 11 cents a pound. This naturally is reflected in current earnings.

"Since the first of the year the development of the Frood mine and the construction of your new plants have continued as scheduled, with the result that the Frood mine is now producing ore and the smelter is operating.

"The same may be said of the electrolytic copper refinery of the Ontario Refining Company, which is now running and will produce electrolytic copper during August.

"Summarizing, your company now has one of the world's richest mines developed for large tonnage operation, the most modern and efficient mining, smelting and refining plants, and a growing business that is highly diversified and world-wide in extent."

PRICE TREND LACKING IN COUNTER TRADING

Undertone Is Strong in Preferred Issues of Utilities—Insurance Shares Decline.

Prices lacked trend in yesterday's quiet trading over the counter. Few significant changes were recorded at the close. Utility preferred issues were strong in undertone. Atlantic City Electric preferred, Illinois Power and Light first preferred and United Gas and Electric of Connecticut preferred showed fractional gains. Utility common stocks were quiet.

Bank stocks closed with quotations mixed. City, Bankers, Corn Exchange, New York Trust, Chemical and Lefcourt were lower, while Central Hanover, Chelsea, Chase, Times Square and Guaranty advanced slightly. Insurance issues slipped off a little, while communications and chain stores were dull.

Debenhams Securities Dividend.

The directors of Debenhams Securities, Ltd., will recommend to stockholders at the annual meeting on Aug. 6 a final dividend of 3¾d an ordinary share, which is equal to about 70 cents an American share, according to a cable dispatch received by the Irving Trust Company, depositary of the American shares representing deposited ordinary shares. In November, 1929, the company paid an interim dividend of 73 cents a share on the American shares.

BANK CLEARINGS OFF 27% FROM YEAR AGO

Total at Twenty-two Leading Cities of the Nation Put at $8,836,423,000.

DROP OF 31 PER CENT HERE

Some Gain Shown When Comparison Is Made With the More Normal 1928 Period.

Bank clearings show further heavy losses from the large amounts of last year. The total this week at twenty-two leading cities of the United States of $8,836,423,000 is 27.2 per cent below that of a year ago. At New York City clearings of $5,870,000,000 are 31.6 per cent under last year's, while the aggregate at leading centres outside of New York of $2,966,423,000 is 16.3 per cent less.

It was at this time a year ago that exceptional activity at most centres swelled bank settlements to an unusually large sum, reflecting transactions in the speculative markets. That condition continued each month from July until after the break in October, bank settlements during that time far exceeding any previous record. Comparison is now made with that period. Going back to July, 1928, however, when trade was in good volume and bank clearings a record up to that time, this week's returns show some gain. An increase appears at New York over the amount two years ago, and the same is true at several cities outside of New York.

Clearings for the week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., and average daily bank clearings thus far in July and for three months, are as follows:

	Week July 24, 1930.	Week July 25, 1929.

CURB STOCKS RALLY AT CLOSE OF DULL DAY

Prices Recover After Weakening—Gains in Utilities, Oils and Industrials.

Trading on the New York Curb Exchange was dull yesterday, with an upward trend until midafternoon, when prices weakened perceptibly. There was a mild rally at the close. Most of the leading issues held up well.

In the utilities group, Electric Bond and Share rallied to close for a fractional gain. American Commonwealths Power A, American Superpower and United Light and Power were also slightly higher, while United Gas and Niagara Hudson closed unchanged. Cities Service was up fractionally.

Humble Oil was slightly higher, but Standard of Indiana, Vacuum and Ohio Oil new were lower. In the industrial group, American Cyanamid and St. Regis Paper were higher, while Ford of Canada and National Family Stores were off.

In the investment trust-holding company group, Marine Midland, United Founders and Pennroad were higher, while Central States Electric and Goldman Sachs closed lower for the day.

DIVIDEND ACTIONS.

Extra Dividend.

The Southington Hardware Company has declared an extra dividend of 12½ cents.

The Sherwin-Williams Company has declared the usual extra dividend of 12½ cents on the common stock.

Increased Dividend.

The Stewart-Warner Corporation has declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, compared with 25 cents paid the previous quarter and 87½ cents paid quarterly prior to that time.

Decreased Dividend.

The Great Western Railway Company has declared an interim dividend of 2¼ per cent, compared with 2¾ paid at this time last year.

Deferred Dividend.

The London and Northeastern Railroad Company has deferred payment of the second preferred and ordinary dividends until after accounts for the full year are available.

Passed Dividends.

The Fiberloid Corporation has passed the common dividend due at this time.

The Ohio Terminal Company has passed the 7 per cent preferred dividend due at this time.

The Woodside Cotton Mills have passed the preferred dividend due at this time.

CORN CONTINUES UP, WITH RAIN ON WAY

Buyers Ignore the Forecast of Drought Relief, Forcing New Highs for Movement.

IRREGULAR END IN WHEAT

Oats Rise as South Dakota Cuts Estimate of Crop—Shorts Send Rye Higher.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Corn advanced today to a new high level on the present movement in the face of a forecast for showers and cooler weather over the belt. Locals who sold early on the prospects of much needed moisture being received were forced to cover toward the last, with the finish about the top, with net gains of ⅞ to 1⅞ cents, December leading.

The latter at the top showed 14 cents above the low on July 8 and after allowing for a probable loss of around 200,000,000 bushels in the crop since July 1 the theoretical value of the grain has been increased more than $200,000,000, taking the country as a whole. Outside commission house buying was in evidence at times, but the late strength was due to some extent to short covering and also to aggressive buying credited to a leading local professional.

Crop reports continued to describe heavy damage in parts of the belt and while Kansas has had good rains in the last few days the July delivery in the latter market was 1½ cents over July wheat at the last, with cash corn at a premium over cash wheat.

Cash Corn Handlers Advise Caution.

There is no normal relationship between wheat and corn prices, but cash handlers, who regard the situation as extremely abnormal, are inclined to advise caution in buying of corn. However, the speculative element generally is extremely bullish and all breaks of late have brought in good support, while each bulge has carried prices to new highs on the movement. Should general soaking rains develop, a selling movement might carry the new crop months off sharply.

The trade paid no attention to reports that Argentina had shipped 4,000 bushels to the United States and was said to have offered grain duty paid at about $1 a ton under American at Seattle. Buenos Aires September was 30 cents discount under Chicago at the last.

Primary receipts of corn were 728,000 bushels; a week ago 488,000 and a year ago 665,000. Shipments, respectively, were 255,000, 343,000 and 574,000 bushels.

The wheat market is gaining friends and while there was selling early on relative weakness in Liverpool and because of reports that Russia was offering wheat in large amounts for August-December shipment, commission house buying was persistent at 96 cents for December. Corn's late strength brought in local buying, with wheat's close ⅜ higher to ¼ cent lower, the latter on March. Liverpool lost ½ to ⅝d for the day, but seemingly was not influenced much by the Russian offerings.

Europe's Purchases in America.

Europe bought around 1,000,000 bushels of North American wheat during the day, its purchases of all kinds of wheat since July 1 are put at around 60,000,000 bushels. So far the United Kingdom has bought only one cargo of Russian wheat, according to a private cable.

Gulf bids on hard Winter were advanced ½ to 1 cent, compared with recent figures, and Chicago handlers said the season had lifted its basis around 1 cent in the last few days. The upturn in futures led the country to sell cash wheat to arrive rather freely, local handlers booking 300,000 bushels to come here. It is unusual this season for a car of No. 2 hard Winter to show a test weight of under 60 pounds.

Winnipeg gained ⅛ to ⅜, little attention being paid to reports of black rust damage in Manitoba.

Primary receipts of wheat were 4,057,000 bushels, a week ago 3,678,000 and a year ago 5,045,000. Shipments, respectively, were 1,671,000, 1,679,000 and 2,147,000 bushels.

Oats firmed in sympathy with corn and closed ⅜ to ½ cent higher, with commission houses on the buying side. The South Dakota mid-month report indicated that the crop had been reduced around 10 per cent in that State by recent hot weather.

Rye finished ¼ to ⅝ cent higher with wheat on short covering.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

Syria Puts Duty on Wheat.

JERUSALEM, July 25 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Following the lead of Palestine, the Syrian Government today adopted import duties on wheat and olive oil. The action is significant in view of the fact that Palestine and Syria have a tariff reciprocity agreement. Earlier in the week Palestine increased the tariff on wheat, barley and seminola and banned the importation of unrefined olive oil until further notice.

First Bale of Georgia Cotton Bid Up to 25c in Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 25 (AP).—Savannah Cotton Exchange purchased today the season's first bale of Georgia cotton on a bid of 25 cents a pound. The bale was of middling grade with a good staple. It was purchased for the account of the Exchange by Joseph Doolan, president.

In 1928 the first bale sold for 60 cents a pound and reached the market Aug. 7.

CITY SEEKS RAILWAY FOR JAMAICA BAY

Cosgrove, Hesterberg and Harvey Negotiating With L. I. R. R. in New Harbor Plan.

$2.50 CAR FEE PROPOSED

Municipality Would Provide Money for Tracks—Committee to Act on Offer Before Fall.

Preparatory to the development of one of the world's great harbors along a twenty-five-mile waterfront at Jamaica Bay, a committee composed of Borough Presidents Henry Hesterberg and George U. Harvey of Brooklyn and Queens, respectively, and Commissioner of Docks Michael Cosgrove, representing the Board of Estimate, is negotiating with the Long Island Railroad for railroad service to the shore of the bay. This was ascertained yesterday from officials at the Brooklyn Borough Hall following criticism of Mr. Hesterberg, chairman of the committee, for alleged inaction on the matter.

Although no official meetings of the committee had been held, it was said, extensive negotiations had been carried on and a report for the Board of Estimate would be ready for the Fall sessions.

The negotiations are being complicated by an amendment to a State legislative act passed this year making it mandatory for the city to apply to the State Land Board for permission to use land proposed by New York City for development purposes, it was explained. While the members of the committee appointed by the Board of Estimate are attempting to obtain terms for a working agreement with the Long Island Railroad whereby tracks for commercial and wharfage use could be assured, the State Land Board has also been consulted regarding its stand in the matter.

During its session in the past year Congress appropriated more than $1,000,000 for dredging purposes of the Jamaica Bay Basin and adjacent waterways in preparation for the commercial and dock expansion of the project. In the meantime the New York City Dock Department has already partially completed plans for the docking arrangements.

The nearest tracks now available for use by the proposed Jamaica Bay commercial expansion cross Ralph Avenue, between Ditmas and Foster Avenues, Brooklyn, it was pointed out. The difficulty which the committee has been meeting in its negotiations with the Long Island Railroad, it was said, is due to the uncertainty as to the amount of business which will develop, and the rapidity of development.

One of the proposed routes for the contemplated trackage is said to be down the side of Ralph Avenue with the spur going to the head of the Paerdegat Basin, which is almost completely dredged. Thence one line of tracks was suggested to run along Paerdegat Avenue, north to the city pier at the foot of Rockaway Parkway, in Canarsie, and another south to the Mill Basin development.

Before these or any other tracks could be laid all the land must be passed upon by the State Land Board and a small stretch of vacant land along Ralph Avenue purchased. It has been estimated by Brooklyn Borough Hall officials that these tracks could be laid for approximately $3,000,000.

The Long Island Railroad proposes that the city spend the money required for laying the tracks, but it offers to operate all the trains which may be needed on a flat fee of $2.50 to the city for each car on which it would receive $15 or more. Thus the city would be able to pay off the cost of building the tracks, it was said. The question whether this $2.50 fee is sufficient is to be decided by the committee headed by Borough President Hesterberg before the Fall meetings of the Board of Estimate.

FILES COTTON BELT PLEA.

Southern Pacific Lists Holdings in Line in Petition to I. C. C.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Formal application was made to the Interstate Commerce Commission today by the Southern Pacific Company for authority to take over the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway.

The Southern Pacific also asked the commission to modify its general consolidation plan, which allocated the St. Louis Southwestern to the Illinois Central System, in order to permit the Southern Pacific to acquire the line. The St. Louis Southwestern operates about 1,800 miles of line in Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas and Texas and connects with the Southern Pacific at various points. The Southern Pacific urged interchange of traffic as a main factor in its plea.

The Southern Pacific, it was set forth, now owns 87,200 shares of Cotton Belt preferred stock out of 198,936 shares outstanding and 42,600 shares of common stock out of 171,861 outstanding. In addition it has an option to purchase 59,380 shares of preferred and 24,700 shares of common at an aggregate cost of $7,887,488.

TO END ONE RAIL HAZARD.

Canadian National Develops Rigging to Prevent Fall of Brake Rods.

The Canadian National Railways announced yesterday the development of a type of rigging that prevents brake rods from dropping under cars, with consequent hazard. It will construct 200 refrigerator cars thus equipped in its shops at London, Ont., and Winnipeg, Man., and buy 200 from the Eastern Car Company, New Glasgow, N. S.

United States railways are investigating the new device, according to the announcement. Brake rods that fall and drag on the ground are common causes of freight train derailments. Railway employes have frequently been commended for diligence in noting dragging rods.

COTTON UP DESPITE HITTING 1930 LOWS

Effect of Rains in Drought-Stricken Sections Is Offset by Covering by Shorts.

TRADE BUYS ON DECLINE

Final Dealings in July Contracts Are at 12.43 Cents, Against 16¼ Cents in February.

Further rains in drought-ridden sections of Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas caused yesterday a renewal of selling pressure on the Cotton Exchange, but the market developed resistance at the lower level. An early decline established new bottom marks for the year, with October below 12½ cents and the lowest quotation since the record crop season of 1926.

The steady decline of about 90 points from prices at the close of last week and the fact that hot, dry weather still continued throughout Texas and Oklahoma developed short covering. The list closed 1 to 10 points higher than on Thursday.

From a quarter to a third of the stations reporting from three States in the northern part of the Mississippi Valley received beneficial moisture, with general rainfall in Alabama. Virtually no relief, however, has so far been received in Texas and Oklahoma, where temperatures reached 108 degrees. Private reports from Western cotton-growing sections reflect a loss in crop prospects in contrast with excellent progress in Eastern States. Strength of the corn market stimulated covering by professional interests and scale buying orders for trade account absorbed contracts at the decline.

July Trading Down.

The final trading in July contracts was done at noon at 12.43c, compared with more than 16¼c for July when the Farm Loan Board took over the holdings of cooperative associations early in February. This decline of 4c, or $20 a bale, represents a loss of approximately $16,000,000 in the market value of the 800,000 bales delivered on the May and July positions, exclusive of commissions, costs of handling and carrying charges.

WOOL TRADE UNCERTAIN.

Prices Fixed by American Woolen Disappointing—Trading Broad.

BOSTON, July 25 (AP).—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow: "Opening prices on lightweight staples and tropicals by the American Woolen Company on Monday at prices rather lower than generally expected—5 to 10 per cent under the previous season on comparable numbers—were not reassuring to the wool trade at first. Trading in wool in the last forty-eight hours, however, has been sufficiently broad to restore and possibly increase confidence in the outlook.

"Demand still favors the finer wools, but medium qualities are not neglected. Prices are firm generally, although woolen wools are slow.

"London closed with merinos slightly above the opening rates, fine and medium crossbreds steady and low crossbreds a bit easier."

BROKERS ENJOINED; STOCK FRAUD CHARGED

J. O. Joseph & Co. Accused of Selling Shares Worth $3 and $4 at $9 to $12.50.

Charged with having sold $300,000 worth of stock fraudulently, J. O. Joseph & Co. and its president, Joseph O. Joseph, were temporarily enjoined yesterday from further stock sales by Supreme Court Justice Strong in Brooklyn on motion of Attorney General Hamilton Ward. A hearing was set for Aug. 4, when application will be made for a permanent injunction and appointment of a receiver.

Joseph, who had an elaborate suite of offices at 247 Park Avenue, sold 25,000 shares of stock of the United Wholesale Grocery Company of Philadelphia at prices ranging from $9 to $12.50 a share, according to Henry B. Staples of the State Bureau of Securities, who represented the Attorney General in court.

The defendants used the "sale and switch" method of stock sales, Mr. Staples said, also charging that in many instances where customers were induced to buy stock costing $3 and $4 for $12.50, statements were made that the United Wholesale Grocery Company had issued certain "rights" to stockholders to take more stock at $9 a share.

"The United Wholesale Grocery Company never issued any 'rights' nor had any intention of doing so," Mr. Staples said.

He also charged that Joseph had wrongfully represented that the stock was to be listed on the New York Curb Exchange, and that expected increased earnings of the United Wholesale Grocery Company would result in an increased dividend rate.

Mr. Staples said in his affidavit that he had been informed that Joseph was indicted and fined in Pittsburgh in 1922 and in Chicago in 1925 for mail fraud. The action taken yesterday was the result of many complaints and several months of investigation.

C. K. FANKHAUSER HELD IN STOCK TRANSACTION

New York Broker Arrested at Rochester on Complaints by New Haven Investors.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25.—Charles K. Fankhauser, 56, New York broker, is under arrest here on a fugitive warrant charging him with grand larceny, first degree.

He is wanted in New Haven, Conn., where he is accused of swindling Thomas P. Smallman by accepting $2,590 for stocks which were not delivered. He had been sought by New York and New Haven authorities for six weeks. He had been directing stock sales for the Wise, Bundock Company, a furniture manufacturing concern, at Brockport. Fankhauser was identified after his arrest by Harry A. Brinkerhoff, president of the Brinkerhoff Electric Company of West New York, N. J.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 25 (AP).—William H. Geer was held here today under $5,000 bond as an accomplice of Charles K. Fankhauser in connection with alleged stock-swindling deals here and in New York City. Police were planning to extradite Fankhauser and bring him to New Haven to stand trial with Geer. They are alleged to have taken cash and securities from several persons in exchange for stock which they failed to deliver.

Charles Fankhauser, according to the records of the Prevention of Frauds Bureau of the Attorney General's office, lives at 1,828 Amsterdam Avenue, and was president of the Well-Worth Stores, Inc., a chain grocery system, which was enjoined from stock selling last week by Justice Selah B. Strong in Brooklyn. The offices of the company were at 545 Fifth Avenue, where C. K. Fankhauser & Co., dealers in stocks and bonds, have an office.

Persons at the Fankhauser office professed to know nothing of the arrest of a Charles Fankhauser in Rochester and said that they had talked to Mr. Fankhauser in Connecticut twice during the day.

BARS OUTSIDE ESTATE TAX.

Connecticut Supreme Court Voids Section of the State Law.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 25 (AP).—The Supreme Court of Connecticut held today that the State cannot impose a succession tax on an estate outside its borders. The section of a law of 1923 which had this provision was declared void.

The estate was that of Allen L. McMurtry of Greenwich, who died in 1924, but his estate was within New York and was administered there.

The suit was against several State officers, one being the Tax Commissioner, who collected from the estate on the ground that the decedent had lived in the State. The payment was made a matter of court action and the Supreme Court passed upon the issue raised.

LIVERPOOL'S COTTON WEEK.

British Stocks Are Reduced; Imports Below Last Week.

LIVERPOOL, July 25 (AP).—Weekly cotton statistics are as follows: British stocks, 799,000 bales, against 815,000 a week ago, 831,000 two weeks ago and 738,000 a year ago; of which American 290,000, against 299,000 a week ago, 308,000 two weeks ago and 353,000 a year ago.

Imports, all kinds, 14,000 bales, against 20,000 a week ago, of which American 4,000, against 4,000. Forwarded to spinners, 24,000 bales, against 29,000 a week ago, of which American 13,000, against 14,000. Exports, 6,000 bales, against 6,000 a week ago, of which American none, against none. Sales, 17,000 bales, against 15,000 a week ago.

British Combine Controls Cocoa.

The British Combine, through its allied interests in New York, continued to support the cocoa market yesterday by accepting delivery of 203 transferable notices making a total of 723 notices issued for July, according to the New York Cocoa Exchange. Practically all of these July notices, which total 9,688 tons of cocoa, it is reported, have been accepted by the British Combine, which already controls most of the world's visible supplies.

HARRY S. BLACK LEFT ESTATE TO FAMILY

Widow and Nephew to Share Residue After Bequests of $175,000 Are Paid.

GIFTS TO CHARITY PLANNED

Organizations Here and in Chicago May Benefit Later—Other Wills and Appraisals.

With the exception of an estimate of "more than $100,000" placed upon his personal property, the true value of the estate of Harry S. Black, chairman of the United States Realty and Improvement Corporation, owner of a chain of hotels, including the Hotel Plaza in this city, was not disclosed yesterday when his will was filed for probate in Surrogate's Court.

Mr. Black, who was 66 years old, committed suicide on July 19 at his country home at Lloyd Harbor, near Huntington, L. I., by shooting himself, according to the police.

Richard G. Babbage of 555 Park Avenue, counsel for the estate and one of the executors named in the will, said last night that he was "not at liberty" to reveal the value of the property. The petition for probate, filed with the will, said that the personal property owned by Mr. Black was worth more than $100,000 and that he left no real estate in this State.

Widow and Nephew Chief Heirs.

The document, dated Dec. 31, 1929, and consisting of eight and one-half pages, makes bequests of more than $175,000 to various relatives and friends and leaves the residue in trust for the widow, Mrs. Isabelle May Black, who lives at the Plaza, and a nephew, George Allon Fuller of 350 Park Avenue, who is the son of a sister of Mr. Black's first wife, Allon Mae Fuller, who divorced him in May, 1905. The widow is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Henry May of Washington, D. C.

His widow and nephew are to receive the income from the residue during their lives, the will stipulates, and the principal is to pass to their issue when they die. If they leave no issue, the will directs, the residuary principal is to be held in trust by the eexcutors and trustees, who are to "distribute the income among duly organized charities which, in their judgment, are kindly and wisely contributing to the relief of unfortunate men, women and children who are either sick or physically disabled.

Aids Charity in Two Cities.

"As the begining of the estate, which goes into this trust," continues the will, "was made in the city of Chicago, and its completion in the city of New York, I hope that my trustees will endeavor to distribute about 40 per cent of the net income to such organized charities of the general character as I have outlined herein as are located in Chicago, and the residue to such organized charities of the general character as I have outlined here to the city of New York. I would also suggest to my trustees that they consult with the president of Columbia University in the city of New York and the president of the University of Chicago in regard to the selection of the organized charities to receive the income from this fund.

"It is my desire that this trust shall be referred to as the Harry S. Black and Allon Fuller Fund."

The executors and trustees are Mr. Babbage and Joseph D. Tooker, Tompkins Road, Scarsdale, N. Y., who gets a bequest of $20,000.

Mr. Fuller, who is married, also receives jewelry and wearing apparel, and the widow gets household effects furniture and automobiles.

Brothers and Sister Benefit.

The will also bequeaths $20,000 each to Mr. Black's brother, Frederick J. Black, Aurora, Ont., Canada, and his sister, Mrs. Sara Pringle, Cobourg, Ont. Another brother, Robert B. Black of Fulford, Fla., gets a life estate in $20,000.

Arthur T. Black of 423 West 120th Street and Clara L. Alden, Scarsdale, get $15,000 each. Legacies of $10,000 go to Nioma Black of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Alexander Cruikshanks of Detroit, Mich., nieces.

Mr. Black left $5,000 bequests to his secretary, his laundress, his chauffeur and another employe, and legacies ranging from $3,000 to $5,000 to seven relatives and friends.

Mr. Black's first wife was the only daughter of the late George A. Fuller, contractor. Mr. Black later became vice president of the George A. Fuller Company and after Mr. Fuller's death brought about the organization of the United States Realty and Improvement Corporation through the merger of the George A. Fuller Company, the Central Realty Bond and Trust Company and the New York Realty Corporation, with a capital of $66,000,000.

Miss C. L. Frelinghuysen's Will.

Miss Charlotte L. Frelinghuysen, daughter of the late Frederick T. Frelinghuysen, Secretary of State in President's Arthur's Cabinet, left most of her estate, formally estimated at more than $20,000, to her niece and nephew, it was learned yesterday with the filing of her will. The niece, Mrs. Matilda Elizabeth Lodge, widow of George Cabot Lodge, of Washington, D. C., gets personal effects, realty at North East Harbor, Me., and the residuary estate. The nephew, Frederick T. Frelinghuysen of Paris, gets his aunt's home at 113 East Sixty-fifth Street, and all its furnishings, with the exception of six pieces of furniture to be selected by the niece.

A friend, Mrs. Alonzo Paige of 157 East Eighty-first Street, gets a life estate in $12,000, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art gets "my old piano (Astor piano)."

Bequests of $5,000 pass to Miss Frelinghuysen's brother, George G. Frelinghuysen, Morristown, N. J.; her sister, Mrs. Sarah H. F. McCawley, Washington, D. C., and her maid, Augusta McInnes, 113 East Sixty-fifth Street. Nine other employes get legacies ranging from $250 to $2,000 each, and four friends get $2,000 each.

Miss Frelinghuysen died on July 18.

Bequeathed Rubens to St. John's.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine will receive "a certain picture painted by Rubens, depicting an incident in the life of Christ," by the terms of the will of the Rev. Dr. William Knight McGown, rector of Grace Emmanuel Episcopal Church, 214 East 116th Street, offered yesterday for probate.

Dr. McGown, who died a week ago, left $5,000 to his niece, Elizabeth Middleton, Bloomfield, N. J., and the rest of his estate, formally valued in excess of $10,000, to his nephew, Harry D. McGown, 1,925 Seventh Avenue, who is named executor.

F. R. Appleton Estate $803,188.

Francis R. Appleton, capitalist, who died Jan. 2, 1929, left an estate appraised yesterday at $1,047,338 gross and $803,188 net, the estate being reduced by debts of $173,923 and other deductions. The debts included $167,625 due Post & Flagg on a brokerage account. The bulk of the estate consisted of securities worth $924,048, of which $636,795 was the value of 801 shares of the National Park Bank. He had $60,571 insurance, cash amounting to $4,135 and personal effects appraised at $41,950, of which $40,000 was the value of a Gilbert Stuart painting of George Washington.

Mrs. Fannie Lanier Appleton, widow, received $719,688, while $11,000 went to Francis Jr., son, and $10,000 each was left to Ruth A. Wendell and Alice A. Hay, daughters, and their husbands, William G. Wendell and Clarence L. Hay. Randolph M. Appleton, a brother, received $5,000. Gifts of $5,000 each were left to the Harvard Club, of which he had been president; the Porcellian Club of Harvard, the New York Farmers, an agricultural advancement corporation, and the Ascension Memorial Church.

COUNTESS'S WILL FILED.

Knowlton Trust Income Goes to Count von Francken-Sierstorpff.

An exemplified copy of the will of Countess von Francken-Sierstorpff, who was the former Mary Knowlton of Brooklyn, has been filed in the Surrogate's Court in Brooklyn, it was learned yesterday. The original document was probated in Berlin where the Countess died July 21, 1929. The Brooklyn proceeding was brought to administer her property in that borough. Ancillary letters of administration were granted to the Bank of America National Association by Surrogate Wingate.

The Brooklyn assets comprise a $1,200,000 trust fund created by the will of the Countess's father, Edwin F. Knowlton, a straw goods manufacturer. The income from that fund is to be paid to Count Hans Clemens von Francken-Sierstorpff, son of the testatrix, and eventually is to pass to his issue. The Countess's will, which left to her son only "the legal share due him," directed that the chief heir of the family lands and fortunes over which she has power of disposition shall be the eldest son of her son or, if he has no son, to his eldest daughter. Codicils to the will proscribed many of her son's titled friends from entering the family estates at Zyrowa in Silesia, and direct that her heir be reared in the Catholic faith.

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Hog prices were generally steady early today, but the demand became less aggressive late and prices dropped sharply. Lightweights generally were 25 to 40 cents lower at the last, while other kinds were off 1 to 25 cents, medium weights showing the least loss. Most sales were at $7.90 to $9.50, with heavyweights $8.25 to $9.20, medium $8.80 to $9.65, lights $9.25 to $9.75 and packing sows $7 to $7.90. The top was 5 cents higher at $9.75, while the day's average was off 20 cents at $8.60. Packers bought 14,400 and shippers 4,000, with 3,000 left over. Receipts were 15,000, with 7,000 estimated for tomorrow.

Offerings of cattle were small, but demand was slow and bids were weak to 25 cents lower, the general market being the lowest since 1924. Prices are off 50 cents from the close of a week ago, and as much as $3 under two weeks ago. Quality was lacking, the bulk of the sales being at $7 to $8.25. Receipts were 1,500.

Lambs sold at unchanged prices, smaller offerings being a factor. Natives sold largely around $9, with Westerns at $9.50 to $9.85. Sheep were steady at $2.25 to $3.75. Receipts were 10,000.

LIVE STOCK AND MEATS.

These prices were reported yesterday in the New York and New Jersey markets by the United States Department of Agriculture:

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

Two sales of raw sugar were reported in the New York market yesterday, one of Cuba, for early August shipment, at 1.25, cost and freight, and the other of Cuba, ex-stores, at 3.25. At the close of the market it was reported that there was plenty of Cuba and duty-free sugars available at the same rate.

Refiners continued to quote 4.70, unchanged since June 30, and second-hand refined was also unchanged at 4.65 generally and 4.60 for one brand.

Sales in the futures market were 26,100 tons and the price range was:

Accessories August Sale Feature.

In addition to coats and fur garments, August promotional events under way will centre attention on accessories such as underwear and home furnishings, it was said here yesterday. Considerable purchasing of underwear for the sales is now being done and is reducing the quantity of stock in producers' hands. Rayon and silk mixture merchandise dominates. Hosiery is also scheduled to be featured, with a dollar level being the new price line established for volume selling. Rayon spreads, covers and blankets, together with linens, are being bought in the home furnishings.

Wool Stock Rules Adopted.

In an attempt to eliminate unfair trade practices in the wool stock industry thirteen resolutions were adopted by firms representing about 80 per cent of the market, at a conference yesterday in the Hotel Martinique presided over by Commissioner Hunt of the Federal Trade Commission. The resolutions, which condemned interference with contracts, false packing or grading, secret rebates and other unfair tactics, will now be considered by the Federal Trade Commission and after approval will constitute a code of business practices for wool stock graders.

Kitchenware Items in Demand.

Buyers for both chain and independent stores were active in the market here last week placing orders for kitchenware for special sales and for regular Fall trade. Most of the buying has been concentrated on low end merchandise, with buyers seeking combinations of items which can be sold at a unit price of $1 or less. Combinations which include a cake box, bread board and knife have been popular. Buying this season has been between two and three weeks later than usual, according to selling agents, and the orders received much smaller than customary.

* * *

Sales Off at Wallpaper Show.

Orders for wallpaper booked by exhibitors at the fifteenth annual trade opening held at the Hotel Commodore this week fell below the average for similar openings in recent years, it was stated yesterday. The exhibition, which closes today, attracted, however, more than the usual number of buyers. Attendance from the West Coast and from New England was said to be exceptionally good and most of the purchases were made by representatives from those two sections. Wallpapers carrying scenic designs and those with touches of the modernistic in their patterns proved most popular.

* * *

Order Electrical Goods for Sales.

Orders for household electrical appliances showed a slight increase in the market this week due to the activity of stores which are purchasing stocks for September household furnishings sales. The number of orders for such merchandise is expected to increase during the next two weeks. After sales requirements have been filled retailers are expected to enter the market for their regular Fall stocks. Toasters, coffee urns, waffle irons and similar items are desired for the sales and selling agents are being asked for price concessions.

Boys' Novelties Attract Buyers.

One of the exhibits at the National Boys' Buyers' Convention which attracted attention is a boy's novelty corduroy trousers, with an elastic insert in the back and a contrasting waistband with belt and buckle. The legs have bell bottoms, with a contrasting V-shaped insert. Another display, commented on favorably, is a boy's suit the collar of which can be buttoned tightly around the neck for protection in cold or stormy weather.

* * *

Lamp Sales Reported Off.

The demand for lamps and lamp shades for Fall fell off sharply in the markets here this week, according to selling agents. Many of the buyers for retail establishments are now occupied with inventories, it was claimed, and will not be ready to look at merchandise for another week. Parchment shades continue to hold first place in purchases made. Shades of this type decorated in green, blue and champagne colors are most popular, agents report.

* * *

Fall Sweater Trade Slow.

Buying of sweaters for Fall has been delayed practically a month, with buyers, who usually appear immediately after July 4, not being expected until Aug. 1, according to trade reports yesterday. It was said that jobbers believe that mills have sufficient stocks on hand to cover any necessary requirements, but this was denied, as producers are reported curtailing output sharply. A good volume of business is looked for in men's and women's ribbed sweaters. Heather is expected to be the outstanding shade in men's wear, with rose beige, peach, green and jockey the popular tones in the women's division. Shaker coats and pullovers, with both V and crew neck should sell well, it is thought.

Anthracite Trade Holds Up.

Anthracite producers have found July business holding up better than they expected, Saward's Journal will say today. Although the market has been quiet, the amount of tonnage absorbed is expected to exceed that disposed of last month. Collieries have continued to operate on June schedules and output has moved readily. In the bituminous field the number of orders is still small, but buyers are showing a greater interest. Many consumers have indicated that they will be in the market for supplies around the middle of August.

Gray Goods Prices Ease.

Constant hammering at prices by buyers and a lower cotton market were responsible for ⅛-cent reductions in two printcloth constructions yesterday. The market has been uncertain, and with the decline in cotton producers thought it advisable to shade quotations. A fair business was done in 38½-inch 64-60s at 5⅜ cents and in 39-inch 68-72s at 6⅛ cents, both constructions off ⅛ of a cent. Other standard printcloth numbers remained at previous levels, 38½-inch 60-48s at 4⅞ cents and 39-inch 80 squares at 7¾ cents. Sheetings were quiet, with 40-inch 48 squares, 2.85 yard, selling at 8¼ cents, some quarters reporting a possibility of 8⅛ cents. For 36-inch 40 squares, 6.15 yard, 4⅛ cents was paid.

Collins Hits Boys' Wear Promotion; Finds Activities Are Spread Too Thin

Sharp criticism of the methods used in the cooperative promotion of boys wear by the ten associations interested in this branch of the clothing industry was voiced yesterday by Kenneth Collins, executive vice-president of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., and president of the Boys Wear Institute, in an address before members of the institute and buyers attending the National Boys Buyers Convention, at the Hotel New Yorker. Mr. Collins stated that cooperative promotional efforts have been strangled by stupidity and cupidity and that activities are spread so thin no one of the organizations can succeed in making a real impression.

"I don't care whether a new organization is formed or whether one of the existing ones is utilized," said Mr. Collins. "But I am absolutely sure until the day comes when we are all willing to get into the same boat and row with the same oars, we will continue to flounder around without getting anywhere."

Helen Walser, secretary of the Boys Wear Institute, outlined three plans for promotional efforts, based on moving pictures, contests and advertising.

During a discussion following the addresses, it was decided to inaugurate a contest for the best dressed boy in the United States. Boys in each town from the grammar schools and high schools will be selected and sent to New York, where the winner will be decided. The contest will be held in January. William Rosenthal, manager of the boys department at Gimbel Brothers, who suggested the idea, was appointed chairman of a committee to take charge of the work.

The Spring convention of the boys wear buyers will be held in New York during the first or second week in January, it was decided.

The convention was closed last night with a banquet in the grand ballroom of the Hotel New Yorker. The feature was a cabaret show, called "The Boys Apparel Follies."

BUSINESS NOTES.

Channing E. Sweitzer, managing director of the National Retail Drygoods Association, will leave this morning for a business trip to the coast, during which he will visit and confer with various members throughout the country.

Warner S. Hays, secretary and treasurer of the American Trade Association Executives, has been elected president and secretary of the Marine Institute by the board of trustees of that organization.

Arthur E. Littman, Inc., resident buyers of 101 West Thirty-seventh Street, will represent the Gaxton Company of Baltimore, a new specialty store to be opened in the Fall at 214 North Charles Street, that city, which will handle popular and higher priced dresses, coats and millinery and accessory lines.

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN THE REALTY FIELD

Investment Transactions in the Lower Part of Manhattan Are Feature of Trading

CHILDREN'S AID GETS STRIP

Society Obtains Quitclaim to Three Inches of Land in 16th Street —Some Sales Uptown

A market for properties in downtown sections of Manhattan was indicated in deals reported yesterday. This activity in lower areas of the borough constituted practically all the trading in Manhattan holdings for the day. The volume of activity was correspondingly less in other branches of the real estate business. Brokers reported fewer business and apartment leases, although there was a gain in the amount of mortgage money placed. Heavier financing was shown in the large volume of mortgages recorded in the Register's Office

Sale in the Chelsea Section

In the Chelsea section the five-story apartment house at 158 West Fifteenth Street, just east of Seventh Avenue, was sold by the Centnational Building Corporation, Joseph E. Mautner, president, to Dr. Frederick N. Whitehorn. The property is 25 by 103 feet and was bought for all cash as an investment. The M. Blume Company and Desider Schoen acted as brokers.

A five-and-one-half-story tenement property at 140 Suffolk Street, between Rivington and Stanton Streets, was purchased by Max M. Pollak for investment from the 140 Suffolk Street Realty Corporation, Will Lissner, president. The property is 25 by 100 feet. James S. Anderson & Co. were the brokers.

The southeast corner of Greenwich Avenue and West Eleventh Street was sold by the 70 Greenwich Avenue Corporation, Samuel Bloch, president, through O'Sullivan & McCarthy, brokers.

The Children's Aid Society, which owns the property at 541 and 543 East Sixteenth Street, has received a quitclaim from Thomas F. Reilly and five others of his family to a three-inch strip lying along the easterly side of the society's holding, having a depth of 92 feet, for a nominal consideration. The three inches constitute a part of the property which was conveyed by Charles R. Parfitt to Ann Reilly on Sept. 1 1855, and this clears the title for the society.

An interior gore at the rear of 10 Cedar Street, 5 feet 4 inches by 6 inches by irregular, has been sold to the Pine Street Realty Company, Inc., by Grenville B. Winthrop, South Salem, N. Y., and others for $2,400.

Trinity Church Gets Strip.

Trinity Church has taken title from the York Investing Corporation, Abe N. Adelson, president, to a strip of land abutting the northerly line of Canal Street, along the easterly line of the lands acquired by the New York State Bridge and Tunnel Commission in the Holland Tunnel Plaza, this strip extending to Watts Street and containing 400.14 square feet. The westerly line of the parcel is intended to be the easterly line of the area to be included in Hudson Street as a public highway, this conveyance carrying the restriction that the land is to be used for pedestrian purposes only, and as a means of an access to and egress from the abutting premises, and the church will not permit the same to come into possession of any other than the owner of said abutting premises.

The premises at 333 West Fifteenth Street were leased by Giuseppina Caloni to Philipp Favat for four years from Sept. 1 last at a rent of $2,400 a year for use as a furnished-room house.

The building at 438-444 East 104th Street was leased by the Riviera Garage Company, Inc., to Gristede Brothers, chain grocers, for five years from Aug. 1, 1930, the annual rent to be $6,600 for the first three years and $7,200 for the last two. The tenant has the option of purchasing these premises for $75,000 up to July 31, 1931.

The West Sixty-sixth Street Realty Corporation has surrendered to the Cornelius Fellowes Realty Corporation its lease of the property at 53-69 West Sixty-sixth Street.

Two Flats to Cost $1,000,000 Planned for Site in the Bronx

As the site for two six-story apartment houses to cost about $1,000,000, a plot 400 by 100 feet on the west side of Barnes Avenue, 200 feet south of Pelham Parkway South, has been purchased by the Barnesboro Construction Corporation.

The property is part of an old Astor tract and was sold by the Rayan Building Corporation, S. Derfner, president.

The apartments will house 150 families, according to William L. Rosan, who acted for the seller

PLANS GRACIE SQ. SUITES.

G. M. Weinstein to Build 16-Story Apartment House on a Single Lot.

Plans for the early erection of a sixteen-story apartment house at 9 Gracie Square, formerly numbered 610 East Eighty-fourth Street, were announced yesterday by Godfrey M. Weinstein, president of the 9 Gracie Square Corporation.

The site measures 25.6 by 102.2 feet and is now occupied by a five-story tenement. Oscar Goldschlag is the architect for the new building, which is expected to cost about $300,000. It has been planned to contain one apartment of five rooms to each floor.

Will Build Stores n New Rochelle.

The Hilldale Building Company, of this city, has bought a plot on the east side of North Avenue, New Rochelle, at a reported price of $1,200 a front foot, said by Harold E. Snow, president of the Prince & Ripley Management Corporation, who arranged the sale, to establish a record for the vicinity. The parcel, which adjoins the property of the Iona School, was sold by Melanie Goldman A two-story frame structure on the site, occupied by Fred Schumaker, a grocer, is to be demolished immediately and replaced by a new store building.

New York Title Lends $3,386,050.

Loans totaling $3,386,050 on properties in the metropolitan area were approved this week by the New York Title and Mortgage Company. There were 103 loans, mostly on apartment houses and dwellings, and they were distributed as follows: Manhattan and the Bronx, $1,072,000; Brooklyn, $1,297,200; Long Island, $809,000; Westchester, $110,500, and Staten Island, $97,350.

SALES IN NEW JERSEY.

School Acquires a Twelve-Acre Homestead in Rockleigh.

The Rose Haven School has purchased a twelve-acre homestead, known as the Tate property, in the borough of Rockleigh, Bergen County, through W. J. Lockwood, who also sold the property of the Knoche estate in Fort Lee to an investing corporation of New York City. The same broker arranged a contract covering the sale of more than 400 acres at Cranberry Lake by the Cranberry Lake Development Company.

Morris Broadman sold the five-story brick apartment house on a plot 49 by 157 feet at 70 Van Reypen Street, near Academy Street, Jersey City, to Salvatore Giordano.

John Lewicki sold the three-story frame flat with store and the two-story frame store and dwelling on a plot 50 by 100 feet at 208-10 Webster Avenue, near Griffith Street, Jersey City, subject to mortgages totaling $18,100, to Helena Sadowski.

Benjamin S. Gorlin bought the three-story frame store building at 465½ Central Avenue, near Paterson Street, Jersey City, from Samuel Cohen.

Mrs. Henrietta P. Siefke sold the frame dwelling with a two-story brick stable in the rear, on a plot 100 by 175 feet, at the southwest corner of Summit and Jewett Avenues, Jersey City, to Margaret J. Tunstall.

Abraham Frankenstein of Brooklyn bought the three-story brick building with stores at 155 First Street, near Bloomfield Street, and the two-story brick house at 154 Newark Street, near Bloomfield Street, Hoboken, from Julia Gasman.

Tookman Garabed sold 70 Twenty-third Street, near Park Avenue, West New York, a two-story brick dwelling, to Anna Simon of North Bergen.

The brick dwelling on a plot 50 by 100 feet at 80-82 Thirty-second Street, near Park Avenue, North Bergen, has been purchased by Oscar Millimet of West New York, from Samuel Abramson.

Simon Savoy sold to Louis Levine a half interest in the three-story brick flat with stores at 512 Bergenline Avenue, adjoining the corner of Twenty-sixth Street, Union City, subject to a mortgage for $16,500.

The four-story brick apartment house on a plot 50 by 100 feet at 157-59 West Forty-eighth Street, west of the Boulevard, Bayonne, subject to mortgages totaling $69,000, has been sold by Max Posnock to the Emerson Holding Corporation.

RECORDED MORTGAGES.

The William Waldorf Astor lease of 2, 4 and 6 East Thirty-fourth Street, dated April 15, 1926, with renewal privileges, given to the Spinning Wheel Corporation, Philip Meyrowitz, president, has been mortgaged by the latter to the trustees of James McCutcheon for $83,000, and this has been consolidated with another mortgage to make one lien on this leasehold for $166,000, which is extended to July 15, 1940, at 6 per cent, a quarterly payment of $4,240 to be made on the principal.

The Prudence Company, Inc., took an additional mortgage for $55,000 from the Cornelius Fellowes Realty Corporation on 53 to 69 West Sixty-sixth Street, and this is combined with other mortgages to make a single lien of $325,000 on the premises, to be paid Oct. 1, 1933, at 6 per cent.

A mortgage for $40,000, given to the Mutual Life Insurance Company by the 203 West Sixty-third Street Corporation, Stanley W. Kempner, president, has been consolidated with three other mortgages held by the insurance company to make one first lien of $120,000 on 203 to 219 West Sixty-third Street.

The Lawyers Mortgage Company took a mortgage from the Sonny Holding Company, Inc., Edward Rudin, president, for $660,000, due Oct. 1, 1936, at 6 per cent, $6,600 to be paid off semi-annually, on 115 to 121 West Eighty-sixth Street.

On 39-41 West Thirty-second Street the Dasc Realty Corporation, Arthur Stewart, president, gave a mortgage to the New York Title and Mortgage Company for $17,500, to be paid July 23, 1933, at 6 per cent.

The Federated Holding Corporation, when it sold to William Cooper the northeast corner of York Avenue and Eighty-second Street, about 81 by 147 feet, took back a purchase money mortgage for $75,600, due July 23, 1932, at 6 per cent, this being subordinate to prior liens aggregating $262,575

The Brooklyn Trust Company took a mortgage for $100,000, due July 14 of next year, at 6 per cent, from Harry D. Fertel and his wife, Fannie, on 252-254 West Twenty-eighth Street and 198 East Broadway. This mortgage is also a lien on property at Edgemere, Eislone Park, in Far Rockaway and at the northeast corner of Argyle Road and Arlington Road, in Cedarhurst Park, owned by Mr. Fertel.

When Broad & Bridge, Inc., of which Charles E. Gremmels is president, bought from the Clevanton Realty Company, Inc., the property on the south side of Thirtieth Street, 76 feet east of Ninth Avenue, a lot 20 by 98 feet, the buyer gave back a purchase money mortgage for $25,000, due five years hence, at 6 per cent.

Realty Foundation, Inc., took a mortgage for $270,000, due June 1, 1932, at 6 per cent, $5,000 to be paid off monthly beginning Sept. 1, 1931, from the Valrea Corporation and the E. F. W. Realty Corporation, William H. Lyons being president of both mortgagors, on the property on the north side of 145th Street, 100 feet west of Lenox Avenue, 175 feet of frontage, this mortgage also covering properties in Kings, Queens and Nassau Counties, twelve parcels in all.

On the property on the north side of Fifty-fifth Street, 367 feet west of Fifth Avenue, 52 feet in width, owned by Frances F. Thompson, the Union Dime Savings Bank has agreed to extend its mortgage for $300,000 to May 1, 1935, at 5½ per cent, $20,000 to be paid off on or before May 1, 1932.

The Bank for Savings took a mortgage for $10,000 from the 2,247 Third Avenue Realty Corporation, Morris Weil, president, and has consolidated this with three other mortgages to make one first lien of $35,000 on 2,247 Third Avenue, which has a width of 18 feet, between 122d and 123d Streets.

has extended its mortgage for $525,000 on the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street, 25 by 100 feet, now owned by the Roxton Realty Company, John S. Burke, president, to July 17, 1935, at 5½ per cent for the next two years and 5 per cent for the following three years.

The Bank of New York and Trust Company took a mortgage for $50,000, due June 5, 1935, at 6 per cent, from Augusta F. Bowen of Setauket, L. I., on her four-fifteenths interest in the property on the block fronting on the north side of Forty-first Street, between Broadway and Seventh Avenue, 40 feet 5 inches on Broadway by 39 feet and one-half inch on Seventh Avenue, the frontage on the street being 141 feet and 2 inches. This property is held under lease by the Bowery and East River National Bank for a term expiring on July 1, 1947.

The Tiffany Realty Company took a mortgage from the S. L. K. Realty Company, Inc., Louis Lichtenstein, president, for $23,500, due July 1, 1931, at 6 per cent, on the property at 539-541 West 163d Street, subject to a first mortgage for $68,000 and to a second for $10,000.

CONFERENCE LINES CUT LUMBER RATES

Reduction to $8 Announced to Meet Competition on Contract Shipments.

EFFECTIVE DURING AUGUST

Quaker Line, Powerful Group on Pacific, Resigns From the Conference Membership.

The United States Intercoastal Lumber Conference, comprising most of the powerful ship lines which transport lumber between the ports on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, announced yesterday that rates have been reduced $3 per 1,000 feet as a means of meeting the competition of ship lines operating outside the conference regulations.

Effective Aug. 1, the rate on lumber carried for shippers under contract arrangement will be $8, and for shippers of the non-contract class, $10 per 1,000 feet. The lumber now is carried at $11 and $13, respectively. The announcement was received in a message to the Munson Steamship Line from the offices o the conference in San Francisco.

The new rates will remain in effect through August, the July rate remaining meanwhile, it was said, and the situation will be adjusted for the ensuing period according to existing conditions at the end of August. The lines affected, which hold membership in the conference, are the Arrow, Munson-McCormick, American Hawaiian, Luckenback, Nelson and Williams. The July rates definitely are conceled for a three-month period and substitute rates are designated for one month.

A further complication to a situation which has been irritating for some time was added by the announcement that the Quaker Line, owned by one of the most powerful lumber groups on the Pacific Coast, headed by Kenneth B. Dawson, has resigned from the conference and will not be governed in its rates by the new regulations. No explanation of the Quaker Line's decision was made.

The message to the Munson Line said of the rate change:

"This change is designed to put conference shippers on a competitive basis with shippers using the non-conference lines. No rate has yet been set for September and the following month."

The intercoastal lumber conference was organized to end the confusion that existed in the lumber trade and is headed by Earl Strange of San Francisco as permanent chairman. Robert C. Thackera of New York, chairman of the United States Intercoastal Conference, 44 Whitehall Street, was chairman of the lumber group for a time, having accepted the post temporarily.

The lumber trade had been in a chaotic condition for some time, but the ship men finally came to terms. The rate was $14 for a long period, but last Summer another break developed and rates tumbled again to $8. It was rumored in some circles that some ship lines charged only $7. The conference readjusted matters and the $11 and $13 schedules were found effective. However, the ship lines outside the conference have worked into the trade of the conference lines by offering lower rates and the conference is now forced to meet the schedules.

RULES ON PILOTAGE ACT.

Stevens Finds New Jersey Law Permits Master to Dock His Ship.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., July 25.—Attorney General Stevens interpreted the Pilotage Act today to mean that master of vessels entering New York harbor by way of Sandy Hook may, if they desire, bring their boats to dock without taking a pilot aboard.

The question was raised by the captains of some of the vessels making port at New York and was referred to the Attorney General by the State Board of Commissioners of Pilotage.

"The statute is a penal statute and must, therefore, be strictly construed," said the opinion, "it has reference only to a person who, not holding a license as a pilot under the laws of the State of New Jersey, or under the laws of the State of New York, holds himself out as a pilot or offers to pilot, in short, a person who fraudulently represents himself as a licensed pilot, and further prohibits all persons from employing any such person to act as a pilot. This is the extent of the Statutory prohibition and for which a penalty may be incurred. The language of the act cannot be construed to extend to or include the master of the vessel."

Firemen Rout Noisy Blackbirds To Enable Citizens to Sleep

DUNKIRK, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—The City Fire Department was called out last night to drive away thousands of blackbirds which flocked into city park and proceeded to hold a convention.

The "delegates" were so vociferous that residents in that section of the city complained to the Mayor that they could not sleep. Firemen played several streams of water on the trees, but it was dawn before the last of the visiting blackbirds had been driven away.

TEXAS WILL HOLD PRIMARIES TODAY

Democrats Who Bolted for Hoover Will Have Chance to Vindicate Action.

DALLAS, Texas, July 25 (AP).—Texas Democrats who left the party two years ago to vote for Herbert Hoover for President tomorrow will have a chance at the State primary to return to the fold or vindicate the bolt that gave the State's electoral votes to a Republican Presidential nominee for the first time in history.

Thomas B. Love of Dallas, a State Senator, one of the eleven candidates for the party's nomination for Governor, has campaigned by upholding his action in leading a revolt within the party in 1928 against the Democratic Presidential nominee, former Governor Alfred E. Emith of New York. He designated himself the only "anti-Tammany" candidate in the race. Republicans will select from a field of five.

Texas's first woman Governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, defeated for re-election four years ago, also was attempting a comeback.

It was believed that 800,000 voters will participate in the Republican and Democratic primaries.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard has been opposed in the campaign by Robert L. Henry, Houston, former Representative and C. A. Mitchner, Sherwood.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, July 25 (AP).—Judge P. A. Martin of the District Court here today dismissed an application for a writ of mandamus seeking to compel the Wichita County Democratic Executive Committee to permit Negroes to participate in tomorrow's primary election.

WARNS SWIM CONTESTANTS.

Wynne Says Those in Race Around Manhattan Risk Getting Typhoid.

When contestants in the swimming race around Manhattan Island scheduled for 10:45 A. M. Sunday reach the starting point at Eighty-ninth Street and the East River they will be met by sanitary inspectors of the Department of Health and warned that they are exposing themselves to typhoid fever, Health Commissioner Wynne announced yesterday. Dr. Wynne said that if he had any legal power to do so, he would prevent the race, declaring that it would be a test of the ability of the swimmers to swim through twenty-seven and a half miles of sewage and avoid typhoid.

Following Dr. Wynne's statement, Martin Stern, secretary of the International Professional Swimmers Association, sponsor of the race, declared precautions would be taken to prevent the swimmers from contracting typhoid fever. The race should show the need for city swimming pools, he added.

"Of all the cases of typhoid of which we have been able to trace the origin, the largest number have come from bathing in polluted waters," Dr. Wynne said.

Mr. Stern pointed out that two of the contestants have already swum around the island without ill effect.

To Sell Wantagh Lots Today.

Joseph P. Day will conduct an auction sale of 383 lots at Sunrise Park, Wantagh, Long Island, at 2:30 this afternoon. The lots are located at the junction of Wantagh State Boulevard, a continuation of Jones Beach Causeway and the Merrick Road, two blocks from Wantagh Railroad Station.

REPORTS THE BRONX RID OF RACKETEERS

Prosecutor Reassures Building Men That Tribute No Longer Will Be Exacted in County.

HE WRITES TO 150 BANKS

McLaughlin Seeks to Remove the Difficulty of Getting Loans and to Aid Prosperity.

District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin of the Bronx asked for a renewal of confidence in Bronx builders and contractors yesterday in a letter addressed to more than 150 banks, trust companies and other organizations, in an effort to bring about a revival of prosperity in the building industry, which suffered severely last Summer because of racketeering activities.

A series of suspicious fires that did more than $3,000,000 damage made it difficult for builders to obtain further loans to finance new projects and a slump in building followed. Mr. McLaughlin gave his assurance that all forms of malpractice had been stamped out, based on a survey since the conviction of the two leaders of the racketeer ring, and called for support of a continuous building program.

Mr. McLaughlin's letter said, in part:

"It is with a great deal of personal satisfaction that the District Attorney of Bronx County can say at this time that corrupt practices in the various branches of the building trades in the Bronx have been stamped out beyond any semblance of doubt. Confidence should once more be restored not alone to the builders, but also to the banking insituations, mortgage companies and other loan enterprises upon whom the builders are dependent for financial support in their building operations."

Mr. McLaughlin said continual inquiry ever since the conviction of Anthony Montforte and Michael McCloskey had satisfied him that no vestige of racketeering remained, and there was no reason why building operations could not go on at a normal pace. Montforte, who was head of the Plasterers' Information Bureau and the United Lathing Company, was sentenced on March 19 to seven and a half to fifteen years in Sing Sing, while McCloskey, a delegate of Lathers' Local 308, was sentenced to five to ten years. They were both charged with extorting money from builders.

"Builders can now undertake their plans without any worry that $5,000 or $10,000 must be added to the contract price for payment to that sinister character, armed with flaming torch and blackjack, known as the racketeer," Mr McLaughlin asserted. "If any of the builders, contractors, banks, mortgage companies and other agencies interested in the building trade harbor any fears that they cannot pursue their business without molestation, I want them to cast doubt aside. The reign of the racketeer in Bronx County is past, and this office will see to it that there shall be no recurrence of it."

B. & O. HALTS DELIVERIES.

"Store-Door" Service is Dropped Pending Conference Thursday.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's new system of freight delivery at the doors of stores and factories was discontinued temporarily yesterday following an alleged threat by other trunk line systems that they too would go into the trucking business.

W. F. Emden, district freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, confirmed the discontinuance. He said it was temporary pending a meeting of the presidents' conference committee of all the trunk lines next Thursday at the Pennsylvania Station.

Mr. Emden refused to go into details regarding the controversy. He said that from his company's point of view its plan involved a saving of two days in the delivery of freight in New York and would not place either competing trunk line railroads or terminal operating companies at a disadvantage.

Four terminal operating companies began suit Thursday in Baltimore against the Baltimore & Ohio to enjoin its "store-door" delivery service.

SWEARS TO BONUS FOR STEEL PROXY

Merger Suit Witness Testifies He Received $2,500 to Vote His Shares.

MORE STOCK CHALLENGED

Eaton Counsel Contends Sun Life of Canada Is Barred by Law From Ownership.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 25.—Nathan A. Kaercher, Youngstown, testified today at the trial of the suit to block the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation that the Sheet and Tube management paid him a bonus of $2,500 to vote his shares for the consolidation.

Kaercher testified that he was the owner of 2,400 shares of Sheet and Tube common and during the battle for proxies sold 1,000 shares to W. J. Morris, financial vice president of Sheet and Tube. He received a check at the Sheet and Tube offices for $152,500. Youngstown Sheet and Tube attorneys contend, however, that the price paid for the stock was $152.50 per share.

Attorneys for Cyrus S. Eaton today began an attack on a second group of shares, totaling 36,631, voted for the merger, which they assert were cast irregularly. Challenges against votes will be continued next week.

Throwing into question the validity of proxies favorable to the merger, executed by corporations, Park Chamberlin, counsel for the plaintiffs, introduced the proxy of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada and a copy of Canadian law.

Denies Right to Own Stock.

Concerning the Sun Life stock, the plaintiffs argue that under Canadian laws the company would have no right to own Bethlehem stock and that it should not have a right to own common stock in Ohio since Ohio insurance companies do not have that right.

The judge told the defendants that all proxies are being introduced conditionally. Objection was raised to the introduction of the Sun Life proxy on the ground that the only objection made to the inspectors at the stockholders' meeting was that the word "by" had not been inserted before the name of the president on the proxy. The judge overruled the objection conditionally. Various corporation proxies were introduced during the day.

The plaintiffs called Walter E. Meub, secretaary and treasurer of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and secretary of the stockholders' meeting held at the Stambaugh Auditorium.

Meub testified that 199 ballots were cast at the stockholders' meeting. Photostatic copies were introduced. The witness said that the ballots were the only means used to cast votes, and that the ballot referred to the sale of the property.

Court Overrules Objections.

Counsel objected to the ballots being introduced, stating that no objections had been made by attorneys at the stockholders' meeting when the ballots were cast.

Judge Jenkins conditionally overruled the objection, stating that there would be "legal questions to be threshed out later."

Luther Day of plaintiffs' counsel, called the court's attention to blank spaces on the original ballots for the number of shares voted by proxy or personally. A number of the ballots had written on them "all shareholders per list," and the names of the persons voting the proxies.

Among the ballots called to the court's attention was one signed in pencil by S. Livingston Mather. The ballot bore no other mark. Questions as to ho wmany shares were counted on this "blank ballot" were objected to and the objection was sustained, on the ground that the record will show.

Adjournment over the week-end was taken.

ANDREWS PARTY FINDS FOSSILS OF MASTODONS

Gets Remains of 25—Explorer Says They Roamed Mongolia 3,000,000 Years Ago.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PEKING, July 25.—The discovery of remarkable fossil deposits on the shores of an enormous lake, now dried, near the borders of Outer Mongolia, was reported by Roy Chapman Andrews who returned to Peking last night.

Buried in a mass of soft mud in which the beasts had evidently been trapped while searching for food, the remains were found by the Andrews expedition of twenty-five to thirty shovel-toothed mastodons (platybelodon) with huge projecting jaws averaging about five and one-half feet in length.

Another bog hole contained the skeletons of ten to fifteen baby mastodons, which were presumably deserted by their parents when they were unable to extricate themselves.

The chief scientific importance of the discovery lies in the fact that it will now be possible to make a perfect reconstruction of a creature of which only a single jaw has previously been found.

PEKING, July 25 (AP).—Roy Chapman Andrews, who returned here last night on a brief trip, said the mastodon remains found in the mud of a dried-up lake near the border of Outer Mongolia indicated one of the most extraordinary deposits in the whole animal kingdom. He said the animals must have roamed Mongolia 3,000,000 years ago.

The Andrews expedition now has a whole age series of shovel-toothed mastodons, from the newly born to the oldest. The explorer said this would make a museum exhibit comparable only to the dinosaurs found in 1923.

The expedition will work carefully along the shoreline of the lake in the hope of finding some place where primitive man, even older than the Peking man, may have been trapped. Later the expedition will move over to Central Gobi in an effort to bring out the skeleton of a huge baluchatherium which was located there in 1928.

"We have found so much already that if we stopped work right now the expedition would still be a huge success," Mr. Andrews said.

American Kills Himself Near Paris.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 25.—Adrien V. Dunwoody, an American citizen, 65, who had been living at St. Cloud on the outskirts of Paris, apparently a man of wealth, committed suicide this morning, throwing himself in front of a train at Val d'Or Station. He is believed to have been ill from an incurable disease.

Austrian River in Reverse Leaves Many Boats Stranded

By The Associated Press.

LINZ, Austria, July 25.—The amazing spectacle of a river flowing backward was beheld by vacationists here yesterday.

The waters of Lake Atter, where President Miklas of Austria is spending his holiday, receded and the strange phenomenon caused the Ager River, which has its source in the lake, to start flowing backward.

Many boats on the lake and at the mouth of the river were stranded. The hydrographic Institute said the occurrence had no connection with the Italian earthquake.

ASKS RESTORATION OF CHICAGO OFFICER

Grand Jury Praises Honesty of Captain Stege, Former Head of Detectives.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The Cook County grand jury, through their foreman, Bernard de Vey, praised Captain John C. Stege as a "capable, efficient and honest officer" today and recommended his reinstatement as Chief of Detectives.

Captain Stege and Captain W. F. Russell, former Commissioner of Police, were before the grand jury for several hours and are reported to have made a good impression by the frankness of their statements. Captain Russell told of accepting the police post after he had refused it when assured that he would have a free hand to break up "racketeering." He was the first witness today and he emerged from the jury room in apparent high spirits, but refused to make a statement to reporters.

It was reported that the grand jury asked Captain Russell about his stock transactions with Alfred Lingle, slain reporter, and that he replied he had given full details to Charles F. Rathbun, Assistant State's Attorney in charge of the Lingle murder inquiry, and that if the jurors desired to obtain the information they could do so from Mr. Rathbun.

One juror is reported to have inquired of Captain Stege whether he was "close" to The Chicago Tribune, and he is reported to have replied that if the "brand" of The Tribune was on his back he was proud to have it; that every time he went to The Tribune for aid in some criminal investigation he received the greatest cooperation.

SPEECH HEARD FROM PLANE

Address From Yancey Craft Over Buenos Aires Is Broadcast.

BUENOS AIRES, July 25 (AP).—For the first time in South America a speech was delivered today from an airplane flying 3,000 feet above the city and broadcast by a radio station.

The speech was made in an airplane piloted by Captain Lewis A. Yancey, American transatlantic aviator, and was picked up by the Compania Internacional Radio, which retransmitted it to the broadcasting station by telephone.

It was the most complex experiment that Captain Yancey has so far conducted here and met with signal success.

S. M. BIJUR SETTLES SUIT.

Cotton Broker Pays in Breach of Promise Action by Margaret J. Camp

Sherman M. Bijur, a cotton broker at 60 Beaver Street, who lives at 108 East Eighty-second Street, settled yesterday a $25,000 breach of promise suit brought against him by Margaret J. Camp, daughter of Charles Lathrop Camp, of 225 West Eightieth Street, by paying $750 cash and permitting her to retain an engagement ring consisting of a 3.17-carat diamond set in a platinum mounting for which he paid $4,147. Supreme Court Justice Schmuck approved the settlement on the application of George Sylvester, Miss Camp's attorney.

The petition said that Mr. Bijur met Miss Camp on March 3 and soon after proposed marriage. After giving her the engagement ring and arranging for a church ceremony and reception, Mr. Bijur changed his mind. The plaintiff is 20 years old, while the defendant is 37. Their marriage was announced on May 1 last to take place at St. Bartholomew's Church on June 7, and they had obtained a license, when the engagement was broken. He is a cousin of the late Supreme Court Justice Nathan Bijur, was graduated from the Columbia Law School, and served as a Captain in the 307th Infantry in the World War.

LAWYER HELD FOR THEFT.

Denies Woman's Charge That He Appropriated $7,000 Fund.

David L. Lehman, a lawyer, with an office at 291 Broadway, alleged to have represented himself as the president of the Lane Huntington Corporation, the legitimacy of which is being investigated by the District Attorney's office, was arrested yesterday on an indictment charging him with the theft of $7,000 from Mrs. Eva C. Eckerson of the Park Royal Hotel at 23 West Seventy-third Street.

Mrs. Eckerson asserted that she gave the money to the lawyer in June, 1927, for the purchase of mortgages on land in Westchester County and charged that he appropriated it to his own use. Lehman entered a plea of not guilty before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions. His bail was fixed at $1,000.

HUDSON

is World's Largest Selling

"EIGHT"

Registrations officially recorded by every State in the Union show that for this year more Hudson Eights have been delivered to consumers than any other eight in the world.

Here is the Why of Hudson Eight Leadership

The public's award of eight-cylinder leadership to Hudson comes in a year when eight-cylinder cars are in the spotlight of motor attention and scrutiny. All eights have been widely and carefully studied; eight-cylinder rivalry has been keen. And out of this situation has come the public's verdict for Hudson.

Proving how Hudson's performance deserves this leadership 25 stock cars were subjected, in a nation-wide test, to a solid week's non-stop run. All conditions of weather and roads were encountered. Some of these runs were made over country highways—some were altogether city driving. In each instance the motors ran without stop for 168 hours—7 days.

Average gas consumption in 124,750 miles was 14.585 miles per gallon. Top speed exceeded 80 miles an hour. Braking efficiency was approximately twice police standard. Acceleration and hill-climbing tests exceeded all previous Hudson records. Not a car or motor failed.

One car in Kansas covered 7,533 miles—one in and near Philadelphia 7,017 miles—better than 1,000 miles a day. Average distance for all cars was 4,990 miles.

This great test proved reliability and performance in every driving condition. It proved economy such as no one ever expected in an eight. It proved smoothness and riding ease, for such runs would be impossible without these qualities. We stand ready to prove to you personally similar abilities and similar leadership.

Victor in California Tests

With nearly all makes submitting bids. Hudson's Great Eight, with 100% score, overwhelmed all competition in tests conducted in the purchase of cars for the department of Highway Control of the State of California.

Wins Famous Tour de France

Against eighty-seven cars from every country Hudson scored 100% in winning the highest honors including the Ansaldo Cup in the nine-day Tour de France, most celebrated of the annual tests staged on the European Continent.
